P
univ.
H.

d4C
d4U

HARVARD COLLEGE
CLASS OF 1899

THIRD REPORT—1909

Digitized by the Internet Archive in 2008 with funding from Microsoft Corporation

http://www.archive.org/details/n3secretarysre1899harvuoft

SECRETARY'S THIRD REPORT

HARVARD COLLEGE

CLASS OF

1899

348953
5. 4. 38.

CAMBRIDGE ·.· PRINTED FOR THE CLASS
CRIMSON PRINTING CO.

Class Committee

*PERCY MALCOLM JAFFRAY

JOHN FORBES PERKINS

HENRY HUDSON FISH

JOHN CHAPMAN McCALL

Secretary

ARTHUR ADAMS

To the Members of the Class of Ninety-nine:

On the occasion of our Decennial, in accordance with custom, I present a report which aims to give in your own words the story of what each one of you has been doing, in the past ten years. I wish it had been possible to get an answer from every member of our glorious Class but there are still several who do not take enough interest to furnish me with the information and more, no doubt, who for the same reason did not know I wanted it. I am glad to say I have been able through the columns of "The Decennial" to locate a good many who had been among the "lost," but there were others whose addresses on my list proved wrong. Some of these have been corrected, however, and the net result is the least number of "lost" men we have ever had. There are still too many in this class.

Since 1905 when the last pamphlet was published ten members have died: Harold Poole Huntress, Winthrop Evarts Brown, Walter Livingston Cutting, Edward Winslow Stevens, Frederick Augustus Emerson, William Harold Millard, Leonard Francis Nicoll, John Stringer Tilney, Jr., Theodore Sedgwick Watson, and Charles Whitney Ward. This makes a total of twenty-eight deaths since we first came together in 1895. I have tried to include in this report a short story of the lives of those twenty-eight men written in each case by a member of the family. It has been impossible to make it complete, as I was unable to get track of relatives in some cases. I acknowledge most gratefully, the assistance I have received from the Harvard Alumni Association, and many classmates, in tracing men who had not kept me informed as to their whereabouts, and from many more who often write me about themselves. It is only by the constant coöperation of all of you in this and other ways that we can, as the years go by, keep alive that Class Spirit for which '99 shall be forever famous.

I wish especially to express my thanks to Henry H. Fish for his assistance in following up clues to "lost" men, and to Henry S. Thompson for his invaluable coöperation in the publication of this book.

Faithfully yours,

ARTHUR ADAMS, Secretary

TREASURER'S REPORT, MAY, 1909.

STATEMENT OF HARVARD '99 CLASS FUND
(Covering years 1899 to Dec. 31, 1908, inc.).

RECEIPTS.		EXPENDITURES.
Class subscriptions,	$9,706.21	Sundries,	$207.76
Sundries,	705.11	Secretary expenses:
Return from investments,	1,388.75	Triennial, $986.00
Bank interest,	471.57	Sexennial, 43.75
Sale of bonds,	2,059.44	Other years, 263.97
Cheque of J. B. Holden, Class Day Committee,	1,682.70		1,293.72
Cheque from 1902, share of Sexennial expense,	665.90	Commencement expenses:
'99 Crew balance,	82.93	Triennial, $2,097.70
Decennial subscriptions,	300.00	Sexennial, 2,420.12
		Other years, 1,697.40
			6,215.22
		Printing,	495.90
		Advertising,	4.52
		Investments,	6,739.68
		Postage and stationery,	51.55
		Alumni Association,	200.00
		Safe deposit box rental,	50.00
		Banks' charges for collection,	5.90
		Balance, Dec. 31, 1908, $1,798.36
		With City Trust Co.,	1,011.50
		With Home Savings Bank,	660.78
		With Provident Savings Bank,	126.08
	$17,062.61		$17,062.61

Total Subscriptions,	$11,255.71	Payments,	$9,706.21
		Overdue accounts,	1,549.50
	$11,255.71		$11,255.71

Bonds bought for the fund:
May, 1900, 1 Chicago & West Michigan R. R. Co., @ $102 & int.,	$1,046.67
Jan., 1901, 1 Utica Electric Light & Power Co., @ 104 & int.,	1,042.22
Sept., 1901, 1 Northern Pacific Great Northern R. R. Co. (C. B. & Q. Collateral), @ 96 & int.,	970.06
Jan., 1902, 1 Georgia & Alabama R. R. Co., @ 190⅜ & int.,	1,095.42
Oct., 1903, 1 Middlesex County, @ par & int.,	1,013.33
July, 1906, 1 Wabash R. R. Co., @ 96.1 & int.,	961.25
July, 1906, 1 City of Helena, Montana, @ 103⅛ & int.,	516.13
Jan., 1907, 1 Colorado & Southern R. R. Co., @ 93.75 & int.,	94.60
	$6,739.68
Bonds sold:
Sept., 1901, Utica Electric Light & Power Co., @ 105 & int.,	$1,059.44
Oct., 1904, Middlesex County (Matured) @ par,	1,000.00
	$2,059.44

Bonds Owned by Harvard '99 Class Fund, Dec. 31, 1908.

	Date of maturity.	Rate of int.	Par value.	Market value Dec. 31, 1908.	Market value date of purchase.
City of Helena, Mont., Refunding Series H,	1926	4.5	$500	$505.00	$515.63
Chicago & West Michigan R. R. Co.,	1921	5	1000	1020.00	1020.00
North. Pac. Gt. North. R. R. Co., C. B. & Q. Collateral joint bond,	1921	4	1000	960.00	960.00
Ga. & Ala. R. R. Co., 1st mortgage,	1945	5	1000	1050.00	1093.75
Wabash R. R. Co., Equip. Gold,	1916	4.5	1000	970.00	961.00
Colo. & South. R. R. Co., Refund,	1937	5	100	98.50	93.75
			$4600	$4603.50	$4644.13

Note:

Jan. 1, 1909, Am. Chem. Co., First, Mort. Gold Bond was purchased @ 95.5 & int.,	1928	5	$1000	$955.00	$955.00

Henry H. Fish, Treasurer.

CLASS OF 1899

THIRD REPORT

Men who Received Degrees

Arthur Adams
Charles Perkins Adams
George Edward Adams
Edward Franklin Alexander
Thornton Stanwood Alexander
Frederick Moulton Alger
¶Herbert Ira Allen
*s*Rufus Bradford Allyn
Robert Eaton Andrews
George Clarence Arvedson
*James George Averell
James Flynt Bacon
George Fisher Baker, Jr.
Leslie Talbot Baker [1900]
Roy Ball Baker
Charles Edward Baldwin
Griffing Bancroft
Paul Bancroft
Henry Francis Barker
[3]Joseph Hood Barnes [1901]
Ezra Baker Barstow
John Thiery Batchelder
Samuel Henry Batchelder
Middleton Goldsmith Beaman
[3]Sterling Sherman Beardsley
William Dee Becker
Edwin Burt Beckwith
[4]Walter James Beggs
Robert Peabody Bellows
Richard Stanwood Benner
Louis Albert Best
Raymond Austin Bidwell
Horatio Bigelow
Howard Lane Blackwell
s[3]Edmund Mortimer Blake
*s*Robert Fulton Blake [1900]
William Grove Blauvelt
Charles Winthrop Blood
[3]Jerome Napoleon Charles Bonaparte
Edgar Boody
Clement Lincoln Bouvé

2 Joined Class Sophomore year.
3 Joined Class Junior year.
4 Joined Class Senior year. s Received the degree of S.B.
* Deceased.
‡ Member of the Graduate School who received the degree of A.B. with the Class.
¶ Received degrees since June, 1899, "as of 1899."

The figures (2 3 4) used above indicate the year in which the men against whose names they are placed became regular members of the Class of 1899 in Harvard College or the Lawrence Scientific School, not the year in which they entered the University.

A date in brackets at the right of the name indicates the year in which the member received his degree not "as of 1899."

[4]Challis Bowker
Thomas Long Bramhall
Frank Doddridge Brannan
Percy Shields Brayton
s[2]George Horace Breed
Robert Boyes Brewster
¶John Francis Brice
Edwin Deering Brooks
John Edward Brooks
Lyman Warren Brooks
[4]Charles Thomas Brown
[4]Clydus Clinton Brown
Edward Bangs Brown
Frederic Nelson Brown
Philip Lamson Brown
[4]RichardCadbury Brown
¶Fred Kirk Bryant
George Phillips Bryant
¶Williams Proudfit Burden
s[2]Robert Emmett Burke
Harry Lionel Burnham
Roger Noble Burnham
s[2]Henry Turner Burr
Paul Burrage
Ward Cotton Burton
Charles Stewart Butler
[2]Ralph Fanning Butts
s[4]John Winford Byers
[4]Alva John Calderwood
Allan Reuben Campbell
James McDougal Campbell
[2]Sherman Campbell
Philip Greenleaf Carleton
Otis Johnson Carlton
Charles Lancaster Carr
William Walcott Carter
[3]Arthur Freeborn Chace
Daniel Kayser Catlin
Theron Ephron Catlin
Louis Raymond Chapman
Sidney Marsh Chase
*s*Herbert Neal Cheney
Harry Gilbert Chesley
Charles Francis Chessman
Edwin Otis Childs, Jr.
s[2]Jesse Briggs Churchill
Roger Clapp
[4]Edward Palmer Clark
Thomas Wood Clarke
Charles Henry Cleaves
Francis Douglas Cochrane
William Balch Coffin
*s*Lockett Gwin Coleman [1900]
[4]Forrest Foster Collier
Philip Howard Cook
Carleton Sprague Cooke
Howard Coonley
[3]Edward Prentiss Costigan
John Page Cotton
Benjamin Taber Creden
George Glover Crocker, Jr.
James Leo Crowley
Bridgham Curtis
James Freeman Curtis
*s*Robert Parsons Cushing
*s*Samuel Clark Cutler
*Walter Livingston Cutting
*s*Fred Wallis Daggett
Israel Damon
[3]Charles Stout Davis
Edward Perkins Davis
‡Frederick Augustus Davis
Pierpont Davis
[3]Austin Phelps Dean
Horace Bunce Dean
*s*Lewis Amory De Blois

John Archibald Denholm
George Hurst Denison
Joseph Charles Dennis
Henry Sturgis Dennison
George Kirkham Denny
*s*Ira Harris Derby
Stephen Hasket Derby
Walter Joseph Desmond
*John Edward Devlin, Jr.
*s*Manuel Dionysius Diaz
Benjamin Harrison Dibblee
William Reynolds Dickinson
*s*William Parry Jones Dinsmoor [1900]
James Drummond Dole
Malcolm Donald
Wallace Brett Donham [1898]
Alphonso Augustus Dority
Henry Payson Dowst
Edward Bailey Draper
George Edward Dudley
Graham Duffield
[3]Frank James Duffy
[4]George Harrison Durand
Arthur Foster Durgin
George Damon Dutton
George Jones Dyer
John Lathrop Dyer
William Dunnell Eaton
*Calvin Sumner Edgell
Edward Everett Elder
Thorndike Howe Endicott
Charles Sidney Ensign, Jr.
Mansfield Estabrook
Lawrence Eckley Eustis
Alexander Bigelow Ewing
Alfred Stacey Eyre
[4]Wilson Reuben Failing
Blair Fairchild
Francis William Falvey
John Wells Farley
Daniel Haddock Farr [1900]
Thomas Keith Faxon
Roades Fayerweather
Julius Cæsar Feder
¶Henry Warren Finney
Alfred Lawrence Fish
Henry Hudson Fish
Walter Scott Fitz
Cornelius Gregory Fitzgerald
Edwin Adler Fleisher
[4]George Elliott Fleming
Daniel Howard Fletcher
[4]Harry Wood Forbes
Joseph Dunderdale Forbes
George Herbert Foster
[2]Walter Paul Frank
[3]Bertram Adolph Franklin
[4]Sargent Prentiss Freeling
Philip French
Gustav Adolph Fried
Donald McKay Frost
John Whipple Frothingham
[4]James Carlyle Fyshe
Edmund Vernon Gage
Archibald Victor Galbraith
John Sayward Galbraith
Roy Garland
[2]Thomas Garrett, Jr.
¶James Augustus George
William Churchill Gerrish
Frank Edwin Gibbs, Jr.
*s*Lloyd Oakes Gifford
[4]Charles Ellery Gilbert
[2]Rodman de Kay Gilder
Fred Goldfrank

[2]Jules Eckert Goodman
George Alfred Goodridge
Martin Furber Goodwin
Donald Gordon
[4]William Catron Gordon
[4]Denis Webb Granberry
Frank Butler Granger
[4]Willis Howard Grant
Bartholomew Francis Griffin
[4]Arthur Floyd Griffiths
*s*Thomas Watson Griggs
William John Gunn
[4]Edward John Hall
George Duffield Hall
Henry Marion Mall
John Halliday
Charles Augustus Hamilton
[4]Theodore Ely Hamilton
William Clinton Hanson
[4]Arthur Search Harding
Thornton Sherburne Hardy
*s*Frederick William Harley
Edward Dexter Harlow
James Taylor Harrington
Fred Warren Harris
Richard Brown Harris
Roland Winslow Harris
Walter Capen Harris
[4]Charles Woodroffe Harvey
Edward Kirk Haskell
[4]John Winslow Hathaway
Percy Duncan Haughton
¶Frank Hayden
Harold Buckminster Hayden
[2]William Solomon Hayes
[4]William Healy
[4]Cicero Adolphus Henderson
Frank Wilson Cheney Hersey
*s*Harry Brewer Hewitt
s[2]William Albert Hickman
Horace Edwin Hildreth
[4]Frederick Borden Hill
Henry Horace Hill
*s*Richard Osgood Hodges
[2]Robert Louis Hoguet
Marshall Sumner Holbrook
Joshua Bennett Holden, Jr.
*s*William French Hollings Massey Bryant Holmes
Tyler Lee Holmes
¶Frank Herbert Ford Holt
John Alden Homans
Chauncey Wray Hood
Roland Gage Hopkins
James Carleton Howe
Dexter Hunter, Jr.
Constant Davis Hutington
*Harold Poole Huntress
Lyman Eugene Hurd
Henry Minor Huxley
Mark Hyman
[4]Silas Isidore Hyman
Eldred Edward Iungerich
Robert Appleton Jackson
[4]Carl Gottfried Jahn, Jr.
Henry James, Jr.
Irving Lindsley Jameson
Howard Cornelius Jenness
Pliny Jewell, 2d
Denis David Johnson
[3]Virgil Victor Johnson
[4]Charles Haven Ladd Johnston
Joseph Albert Jones
Reginald Francis Jones
Paul Munroe Keene
Jarvis William Keiley

[4]John Alexander Hull Keith
Waldo Shaw Kendall
George Baron Kerper, Jr.
Lester Bateman Keyes
[2]Homer Huntington Kidder
Arthur Goss Kilbourn
Henry Horton Kimball
[2]Homer Penfield Donaldson Kingsbury
Eugene Schreiber Klein
Clarence Hinckley Knowlton
¶Laurence La Forge
Clement Richmond Lamson
John William Lane
Arthur Brooks Lapsley
Howard Cowing Laverack
Henry Hamilton Lay
William Merrill Leavitt
*s*Edward Brown Lee
[3]Maurice Brown Lee
¶Morris Matthews Lee
Michael Edward Leen
Robert Ainsworth Leeson
Emanuel Lissner
Edward Hubert Litchfield
Henry Demarest Lloyd
s[2]Cornelius Wygant Lockwood
Joseph Lovejoy
Julius Lucht
Lynch Luquer
Wilbur Henry Lynch
*s*Charles Francis McCaffrey
[3]Charles Nicholas McCall
[2]John Chapman McCall
George Nelson McDaniels
Charles Henry McDuffie
William John McGurk
Ralph McKittrick
Albert Rand MacKusick
Henry Percy Macomber
Leigh Theodore Macurdy
John Albert Macy
Clarence Churchill Mann
Charles Francis Marden
[4]Frank Monroe Marsh
Robert McCurdy Marsh
Edmund Roberts Marvin
George Decker Marvin
Mortimer Phillips Mason
[2]George Leroy Masten
[3]Brooks Matteson
Welles Meriam
Stanley Wilson Merrell
Benjamin Paul Merrick
[2]Fullerton Merrill
Raymond Merrill
*William Harold Millard
[4]Percy Chase Miller
Philip Lee Miller
[4]Royal Ransom Miller
[4]Carl Elias Milliken
Frank Joseph Mooney
Charles Hyndman Morris
Samuel Vining Morse
William Gibbons Morse
‡Howard Ansel Morton
*s*William Luther Mowll
*s*James Ambrose Moyer
[4]John Tucker Murray
William Donaldson Murray
Samuel Pike Negus
Arthur Edward Newhall
John Taylor Gilman Nichols, Jr.
Malcolm Edwin Nichols
Thomas Nickerson

‡Don Obert Noel
John Watkinson Norton [1900]
Frederic Russell Nourse
James Nowell
s¶Albert James Nute
Henry Everett O'Brien
[4]Allen Grant Odell
Max William Oliver
[4]Charles Ellmore Overholser
[3]Walter Reed Dale Owen
*s*William Stanley Parker
Lewis Hines Parsons
Horace Evans Pastorius
*Conrad Magruder Patten
Langdon Pearse
John Forbes Perkins
Russell Perkins
Edwin Elden Perry
Sidney Peterson
*s*John Charles Phillips
Walworth Pierce
Fayette Rumsey Plumb
George Morrison Poland
Clarence Händel Pond
Elwyn Waller Poor
Charles Prescott Poore
[4]Carleton Estey Preston
*s*Frank Howard Purington
William Carter Quinby
Robert Ewart Ramsay
*Philip Green Randall
William Lee Raymond
George Hale Reed
Eliot Wickham Remick
*s*Oliver Filley Richards [1900]
‡Daniel Artemas Richardson
Frederic Leopold William Richardson
Otis Weld Richardson
Henry Milnor Rideout
[4]Andrew Jackson Ritchie
Chandler Robbins
Thomas Hinckley Robbins
William Bradford Robbins
Deen Lombard Robinson
*s*Franklin Duane Robinson
*s*James Thomas Roche
[2]Edgar Walter Roovers
Willet Crosby Roper
James Birch Rorer
John Easton Rousmaniere
Charles Almon Ruggles
[2]Arthur Brown Ruhl
Fred Adams Russell
*s*Michael Healy Ryan ¶Henry Sampson, Jr.
*s*James Forrest Sanborn
Cyrus Sargeant
George McClure Sargent
Maxwell Sands Savage
[4]Alfred Garrett Scattergood
Barthold Ernest Schlesinger
William Mansfield Scudder
Edmund Hamilton Sears
Edwin Alfred Seasongood
[4]Harry Martin Shafer
Hollis Hunnewell Shaw
Robert Gould Shaw, Jr.
Samuel Parkman Shaw, Jr.
¶*s*Arthur Noyes Sheldon
John Henry Sherburne, Jr.
William Anthony Sherman
Howard Everett Shore
[4]John MacAlpine Siddall
Walter George Silberberg
Alvan Tracy Simonds

[3]William Sloan Simpson
*s*Curlys Lyon Slocum
Clarence James Smerdon
Adelbert Julius Smith
[2]Felix Koerner Smith
Philip Sidney Smith
William David Smith
Francis Joseph Snite
Pierce Edwards Somers
Arthur Cushing Spalding
Vivian Spencer [1898]
Willing Harrison Spencer
William Parsons Stanley
Eben Blaine Stanwood
Harry Ney Stearns
Marshall Stearns
Charles Henry Stephens
[4]Henry Hatch Dent Sterrett
s*Edward Winslow Stevens
[4]Malcolm Enos Stickney
George Russell Stobbs
Francis Russell Stoddard, Jr.
Henry Whitney Stowell
George Russell Stratton
[3]Harry Carter Strong
James Butler Studley
‡Albert Morey Sturtevant
Michael Xavier Sullivan
Frederick Charles Sutro
Frederick Rotch Swift
*s*Charles Nicoll Talbot
Henry Talmadge, 2d
Frederick Bourne Taylor
¶Valentine Taylor
William Joseph Taylor
Everit Bogert Terhune
Everett Belknap Tewksbury
Farwell Edward Thayer
George Washington Thompson
[2]Henry Smith Thompson
[4]Ernest Alger Thornhill
George Shepley Tiffany
Frank Calvin Tilden
Fenton Tomlinson
Burt Adams Tower
Philip Melancthon Tucker
Frederic Alonzo Turner, Jr.
Winsor Marrett Tyler
Leo Ullmann
George Charles Vedder [1901]
Edward Harmon Virgin
Edwin Earle Wakefield, Jr.
Artemas Ward, Jr.
*s*Harry C. Ward
*s*John Ware
Leonard Everett Ware
*Theodore Sedgwick Watson
Evans Webster
Frederick Sussman Weis
‡Robert Maximilian Wernaer
Carlton Ames Wheeler
Harry Allen Wheeler
Brainerd Hunt Whitbeck
Charles Stevens White [1900]
Frank Owen White
Henry Preston White
s[3]Richard Albert White Malcolm Douglas Whitman
[2]Frank Hayden Whitmore
*s*George Brackett Whitney
Howard Fletcher Whitney
*s*Stephen Cook Whorf
Samuel Charles Wiel
Walter Atwood Wight
[4]Charles Edward Williams
Harold Williams, Jr.

Horace Dudley Hall Williams
Robert Winslow Williams [1900]
[2]Edwin Bidwell Wilson
*s*Louis Thornton Wilson
William Porter Winch
Henry Melvin Wing
Walter Pellington Winsor, Jr.
Alvin Walter Wise
Everett Sidney Wise
*s*Edwin Joseph Wolbach
Roger Wolcott
Harry Felix Wolff
Samuel Lamson Wonson
Charles Dane Woodberry
*s*Alfred Millard Wose [1902]
Lawrence Worth Wright [1900]
Walter Francis Wyeth
Frederick Wesley Wyman

Special Students and Affiliated Members

Ernest Germaine Adams
Hugh White Adams, Jr.
Lawrence Page Adams
Raymond Morrison Dow Adams
Walter Adams
Francis Victor Alexandre
Arthur Samuel Allen
Arthur J. Austin
Peter Auten
Ross Wakefield Baker
Harold Pulsifer Bale
Herbert William Barker
William Lambert Barnard
George Emerson Barrell
John Conner Barron, Jr.
Henry Lincoln Bartlett
John Milton Benjamin
Morton Burdett Birge
Cameron Blaikie
Francis Wickes Blatchford
Edwin Augustus Boardman
Arthur Hamlen Boynton
Alonzo Edwin Branch
Charles Henry Brown
*Winthrop Evarts Brown
Emile A. Bruguiére, Jr.
Louis F. Buff
Howard Benjamin Burlingame
John Appleton Burnham, Jr.
Perry Lawton Burrill
Clarence Kipp Bush
Carleton Collier Butters
Maurice Viele Campbell
Lewis Bodman Canterbury
Aretas Blood Carpenter
Egisto Fabri Chauncey
Howard Clapp
Howard Clarke
Thomas Henry Clarkson
Arthur Cockcroft
John Joseph Colbert
George Albert Cole
Silas Cobb Coleman
Arthur Joseph Collins
Lewis Kingsbury Conant
Frederick Meade Conklin
James Bennett Connolly
William Henry Conroy

*Deceased.

CLASS OF 1899—THIRD REPORT

Allan Burton Craven
John Henry Cunningham, Jr.
Barton Wood Currie
Harry Howard Cushing
Burwell Smith Cutler
Charles Willoughby Dayton, Jr.
Frederick Charles Dickson
Jeremiah Joseph Doherty
James Joseph Donahue
Jean Paul Dresser
Robert James Dunham
John Wilde Dyar
George Clifton Edwards
Newton Ehrmann
*Frederick Augustus Emerson
Augustus Batchelder Emery
*Charles Frederick Allen Evans
Ernest Fahnestock
Dexter Fairbank
Wallace Strong Farnham
Herbert Gladding Farquhar
Addison Grant Fay
Reginald Lovejoy Fernald
Ernest Foss
Clifton Morton Foster
*Raymond Mott Frost
Maurice Bernard Fuller
John Leighton Gleason
Bernard William Glenn
William Valentine Goldie
James Benton Graham
Albert Snow Graves
Maurice Edward Griffin
Charles William Hardy
Clarence Samuel Harper
Walter Richmond Harper
Herbert Chevalier Haseltine
Richard Bertrand Hayes
*Roy Sidney Hedges
Lewis Warner Henry
William Webster Hill
Edgar Garrison Holt
*Frederick Mary Hone
Richard Thomas Howard
Charles Roswell Howe
*George Allen Hoyt
Giles Milton Hoyt
George Ryland Humes
James George Hutchinson
Harry Adams Irish
Francis Turner Jackson
*Percy Malcolm Jaffray
*Charles Shimmin Jeffries
Richard Henry Joy
Benjamin Williamson Keen
Maurice Dunlap Kenton
*Frederick Henry Keyser
Roland Marshall King
Karl Henry Kompfe
*Hobart Uri Lamprey
Frank Lawrence
Charles Robert Lawson
James Marsland Lawton
John B. Legnard, Jr.
Claude Clifton Leitner
LeRoy Walter Leland
Howard Chilson Leonard
William Leshner
Rudolph Garrigue Leypoldt
Dean Sherwood Luce
Charles Herbert McClare
George Madison McCoy, Jr.
Wallace Estill McHenry
Charles McKey
George Gibson McMurtry
Walter William McNeil

CLASS OF 1899—THIRD REPORT

Ernest Carlton Mains
Ralph Eugene Mason
Samuel Raymond Maxwell
Wyndham Robertson Mayo, Jr.
George T. Johns Mercure
Albert Richard Meyer
Samuel Frederic Mills
Hugh Devereux Montgomery
*Robert Hale Morrison
Frank Winfred Morse
William Curtis Morton
Florence John Murphy
George Addison Nelson
Thomas Stead Ross Nelson
William Stanley Nichols
*Leonard Francis Nicoll
John Warner Norton
Allen March Nowell
Everard Lawrence Oliver
Walter Jay Osborn
Frank Wellman Osborne
Sidney Otis
Alwin Max Pappenheimer
Charles Austin Parker
Henry Caldwell Parker
Ira Harrison Parsons
Greenleaf Whittier Pickard
Louis Butler Preston
Mahlon Foster Proctor
Clarence Sanborn Quinn
*Eugene Maurice Rabador
Robert Irwin Rees
Laurence Russell Reynolds
Arthur Waldo Rice
Harry Pringle Robinson
John Morris Rogers, Jr.
Frederic Delano Root
Wayland Ross
Howard Prettyman Sanders
Adolph Monell Sayre
John Bernhardt Selander
Joseph Edward Sharkey
Frank Crayton Shaw
Elliott Fitch Shepard
Carleton Farrar Sherman
Robert Waterston Sherwin
Ralph Slye
Caleb Edward Smith
Harry St. Clair Smith
Benjamin Pettit Snyder
Walter Soderling
Charles Frederick Speare
Thomas Hyacinth Stack
Charles Goold Stevens
Elmer William Stout
George Leverett Stowell, Jr.
William Parker Straw
Michael Henry Sullivan
George Alexander Swan
George Burrows Taylor
George Robert Taylor
William Couillard Thompson
Wirt Lord Thompson
Clarke Thomson
*Everett Abbott Throop
*John Stringer Tilney, Jr.
Donald Tucker
Donald Fraser Urquhart, Jr.
Robert Putnam Vail
Fred Vorenberg
*Charles Whitney Ward
James Edward Webster
Bertram Claude Weill
Horace Hatch Werren
Charles Euclid White
Clarence Morton Whitman

Nathaniel Theodore Wilson	John Wesley Work
Ralph Graham Wilson	Reuben Irving Wright
Oliver A. Wolcott	Arthur Lowman Wyler
*Lawrence Arthur Woodward	Ernest Adams Young

NUMBER IN THE CLASS

Number of A.B. degrees	463
Number of S.B. degrees	49
Whole number of degree holders	512
Number of temporary members	208
Whole number in the class	720

RECORD OF THE CLASS

ARTHUR ADAMS

In September, 1899, I entered the office of Mr. Alfred Bowditch, Harvard '76, engaged in the care and management of trust property. In October, 1902, I left him to become vice-president and secretary of the Adams Trust Company, a new company which had just been organized. In spite of the name I had no other connection with it, except as a director and a very small stockholder. In May, 1906, the Adams Trust Company was taken in by the American Loan and Trust Company, and I left it to become vice-president of the City Trust Company, Boston, where I still am. My address is 50 State Street, Boston. I have taken no very long trips, except one or two to various cities in the United States to attend conventions of the American Bankers Association. I am not married. I am a member of the Somerset, Tennis and Racquet, Exchange, Eastern Yacht, Quincy Yacht, the Harvard Union, Harvard Club of Boston, and Harvard Club of New York. My chief pastime, outside of business hours, has been yachting and I had the pleasure of taking part in the German-American races for the "Roosevelt Cup" at Marblehead in 1906, as one of the crew of the "Auk," designed by E. A. Boardman '99. The "Caramba," also designed by Boardman, was another of the American competitors. The third was the "Vim," which won the cup. I am also much interested in charity and am treasurer of The Farm and Trades School, a school for poor but good boys, and of the Sailors Snug Harbor of Boston, a home for old and destitute sailors who have sailed for five years under the American flag, and I am a director of the Associated Charities of Boston, and clerk of the board.

CHARLES PERKINS ADAMS

For a year after my graduation, I was in the envelope business in New York City. Then I entered the banking business with Kinnicutt and DeWitt in Worcester. On January 1, 1906, Messrs. Kinnicutt and DeWitt retired and were succeeded by the firm of Kinsley and Adams, made up of Edward W. Kinsley, my brother Ernest G. Adams, and myself. I married Mary Wakefield Gale, of Weston, in 1902, and have three daughters, Ruth, born on August 16, 1903, Justine, born on December 18, 1904, and Ellen, born on May 17, 1906. I served for several years on the Republican City Committee in Worcester, and have just completed a two years' term as a member of the Worcester Common Council, and during the year 1908 was chairman of the executive board of the Citizens' No-license Committee which carried the city for no-license. I am a member of the Worcester Club, the Worcester Harvard Club, the Commonwealth Club, and the Tatnuck Country Club.

ERNEST GERMAINE ADAMS

After leaving college I was in the banking business in Boston, until January 1, 1904. On the above date I came to Worcester in the employ of Fisk and Robinson, bankers, New York and Boston. On January 1, 1906, I became a member of the firm of Kingsley and Adams, bankers, correspondents of Kidder, Peabody and Company. My brother, Charles P. Adams, also of our class, is a member of this firm. Early in 1898, I joined the First Corps of Cadets, Massachusetts Volunteer Militia, and rose through the different grades to second lieutenant of Company A. I resigned from the corps in February, 1908. I am a member of the Tatnuck Country Club of Worcester, the Commonwealth Club, Worcester, and the Boston Yacht Club. I own a small yawl yacht, "Aspinet," and spend my summer vacations cruising on the Maine coast. On October 14, 1902, at Weston, I was married to Mary Edith Russell, daughter of Reverend Charles F. Russell, and on August 5, 1903, our first child, Margaret Germaine Adams, was born at Cambridge. My daughter Margaret was killed instantly in a railroad collision at Wayland, on November 24, 1903, and my wife was very badly hurt. I am thankful to say that Mrs. Adams has almost entirely recovered from her injuries. We have had two children since then, a girl, Elizabeth, born on June 23, 1906, and a boy, Edward Payson, born on June 4, 1907. I know of nothing more of interest.

GEORGE EDWARD ADAMS

I am a lawyer. I was married to Gladys Bartlett Hartley, daughter of Frederick W. and Jemima A. Hartley, on April 6, 1904. We have two children, Esther Redfern Adams, born on April 27, 1905, and Jean Adams, born on February 10, 1909. I am a trustee of the Quincy City Hospital, and have been a member of the city council of Quincy for five years. I am also trustee of the Quincy Savings Bank and attorney for the same.

HUGH WHITE ADAMS, JR.

I am a lawyer with an office at 826 H. W. Hellman Building, Los Angeles, California.

RAYMOND MORRISON DOW ADAMS

I was ordained deacon in Trinity Church, Boston, on June 10, 1900, and advanced to the priesthood, in St. Paul's Church, Lancaster, New Hampshire, on July 1, 1901. My residences since June, 1900, have been at Lancaster, New Hampshire; Boston; Milford, New Hampshire; and Stafford Springs, Connecticut. I am a member of the North Star Lodge, Chapter, Commandery of K. T., and Lodge of Perfection, at Lancaster, New Hampshire; and Evening Star Council, R. and S. M., Colebrook, New Hampshire; and New Hampshire Consistory, 32nd degree, Nashua, New Hampshire. Also I am a member of the Appalachian Mountain Club, Boston, and of the American Forestry Association, Washington, District of Columbia; the Society for the Protection of New Hampshire Forests, Concord, New Hampshire; and of the Anglican and Orthodox Eastern Churches Union. I have contributed to "Applachia," and a Sunday school catechism. At present I am rector of the parish of Grace Church, Stafford Springs, Connecticut. At Dorchester, on August 15, 1907, I was married to Lucinda Maria Bent, daughter of Joel Woodbury and Elizabeth (Huston) Bent.

WALTER ADAMS

At the present time I am agent for the Linen Thread Company, Chicago, Illinois, and manager and treasurer of the American Net and Twine Company, Chicago, Illinois.

EDWARD FRANKLIN ALEXANDER

During the season of 1899-1900 I taught in the high school at Carrollton, Illinois. In 1900-1901 I was a graduate student at the University of Cincinnati, taught in the public night schools, and tutored. During the next two years, 1901 to 1903, I was instructor of Latin at the University of Cincinnati. In the fall of 1903 I entered the Cincinnati Law School, University of Cincinnati, and was graduated LL.B. in 1906. Since then I have been practising law. My present location is Brighton Bank Building, Cincinnati, Ohio. Since 1905 I have been teaching in the East Evening High School of Cincinnati.

THORNTON ALEXANDER

I am an attorney at law, practising at Los Angeles, California. On August 31, 1903, at Highland Falls, New York, I was married to Estabrook Galloway, daughter of John and Elizabeth C. Galloway. We have no children. I have written no books, nor articles.

FREDERICK MOULTON ALGER

My present occupation is general business. At the election last November I was made elector-at-large for the state of Michigan on the Republican ticket. I belong to the following clubs: Yondotega, Country, and University clubs of Detroit; Harvard, University, and Grolier clubs of New York; Metropolitan, and Army and Navy clubs of Washington. I have visited Great Britain, France, Germany, Austria, Italy, Spain, Egypt, Ceylon, Siam, the Philippines, China, Japan, Mexico, Cuba, and Puerto Rico. I was married to Mary Eldridge Swift, daughter of Edward Young and Irene Battell Swift, on May 2, 1901, at Detroit. We have two children, Frances Alger, born on December 23, 1904, and Frederick Moulton Alger, Jr., born on August 7, 1907.

ARTHUR SAMUEL ALLEN

My present occupation is that of manager of the western office of the Lanston Monotype Machine Company, at Chicago. I have written a few unimportant articles on printing. I have been devoted to this work all my life. In the interests of various machines for the advancement of printing, I have travelled in the principal cities of America. I am a member of the National Automobile Club of New York, and the Boston Typothetae. On February 13, 1899, at Pawtucket, Rhode Island, I was married to Clara Burnham North. We have two children, Elizabeth Allen, born on May 30, 1903, and Arthur Samuel Allen, born on May 8, 1907,

HERBERT IRA ALLEN

Since graduation I have taught in the Deering High School, Portland, Maine, as instructor of chemistry and other sciences. Lately I have been elected principal of the school. During this period I have been more or less active along the lines of commercial chemistry, making a special study of the chloric compounds. In collaboration with another, I have perfected and patented an electrolytic cell for saline solutions, and the process is now in successful commercial operation. On April 18, 1901, at Attleboro, I was married to Flora Belle Marsh, daughter of Caleb R. and Lillian De S. Marsh. We have had one son, Ralph E. Allen, born on January 18, 1906, who died on January 21, 1906.

ROBERT EATON ANDREWS

In the fall of 1899 I entered the Harvard Medical School, receiving the M.D. degree in 1903. For the following two years I lived as a medical house officer at the Boston City Hospital. Following this I received the six months' appointment as assistant to the out-patient physicians. Since then I have been engaged in the general practice of medicine and now have offices in Quincy Chambers, Cambridge (formerly called Quincy Hall, but now no longer a dormitory). I am a member of the Massachusetts Medical Society, Boston Medical Library, Boylston Medical Society, and the Cambridge Medical Improvement Society. For the past two years I have been examiner for a large life insurance company, and am on the dispensary staff of the Cambridge Anti-tuberculosis Association. I am a member of the Colonial Club.

GEORGE CLARENCE ARVEDSON

My "career" has been pretty various. My first year was in the shoe business. I rose to order clerk so quickly that I returned to Harvard, and came near falling into the ministry. Then I struck out to be a great philosopher and wise man with Professor Royce as the first ideal to reach on the way past all the others. I taught at the Brooklyn Latin School, sprinkling the absolute truth along the wayside, and tanking up at Columbia, and at New York University in preparation for a thesis on "The World and the Individual." This thesis was to be the surpassing of the first ideal. At about this time, however, came the Carnegie Foundation for aged and indigent teachers with prospects of future offers of worldly substance incompatible with the dreams of a Socratic old age. So after a year at the Brown School, Providence, to think it all over, I entered the Harvard Law School, the faculty of which now want me to accept the degree of J.C.D. (Juris Communis Doctor). My only other honor was an A.M. in 1901.

PETER AUTEN

I am a partner and vice-president of Auten and Auten, bankers, Princeville, Illinois. I stick closely to the banking business, mixed with settling of estates in a semi-legal fashion, and care of property. As there is no lawyer in Princeville, and it is a good, live town of a population of one thousand, I am a good deal of a T. D. (Trouble Doctor). I get about two weeks vacation each year, and a little travelling on business. I was village trustee (alderman) from 1898 to 1906, having the compiling and editing, largely, of a book of revised ordinances in 1900. With my father, I wrote a local history of "Princeville Township" to go in a Peoria County history, in 1902. I am president of the board of trustees of the Princeville Presbyterian Church. I built a house before marrying on October 21, 1903, and am happily married and proud of my wife, Arizona Lufkin, daughter of John Edwin and Chloe (Bagg) Lufkin. We have had one child, John Lufkin Auten, born on Februray 20, 1905, who died on September 19, 1906.

JAMES FLYNT BACON

A present I am the manager of a retail millinery store at 160 Tremont Street, Boston. I go abroad each season for the purpose of buying. On November 30, 1905, at Cambridge, I was married to Maude Milling, daughter of James and Ellen Milling.

GEORGE FISHER BAKER, JR.

I am vice-president of the First National Bank of New York and a member of the University Club of the same city.

ROSS WAKEFIELD BAKER

I was in the wholesale dry goods business in New York until about a year ago, when I was obliged to discontinue on account of ill health. I was married on October 24, 1901, at Dedham, to Bessie Mary Smith, daughter of Charles Hunt and Mary Hardy Smith. We have two children, Jane Humphrey Baker, born on July 29, 1903, and Elinor Hunt Baker, born on May 24, 1906. Both were born at East Orange, New Jersey.

ROY BALL BAKER

I have been in the marine insurance business for the past seven years, and have made my home at Waltham, where I served for three years on the board of aldermen of that city. I have served on the staff of Brigadier General Whitney with rank of captain for five years. On June 8, 1908, at Boston, I was married to Eliza Kneeland Tower, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin L. M. Tower.

CHARLES EDWARD BALDWIN

At college I specialized in chemistry, and on leaving, entered the laboratory of Stone and Webster, Boston. This proved to be for a short time only, for with the beginning of the school year I registered at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and was granted the degree of S.B. in June, 1900. My thesis, "Some Properties of Cellulose Tetracetate," was anticipating the work I took up immediately in the employ of the Cellulose Products Company in their Boston laboratories. This company had been formed to develop products of wood fibre, principally, through its solution, viscose so called. All researches except one were given up late in 1901, and I followed the fortunes of this one, artificial silk, to Philadelphia early the next year, as an assistant chemist and demonstrator during the promotion. With the formation of the General Artificial Silk Company, a mill was obtained in Lansdowne, Pennsylvania, where further development was carried on, and I served successively as chemist, assistant superintendent, and superintendent.

On February 17, 1903, I married, at Lowell, Marianne Moseley Perry, daughter of Oliver Hazard and Augusta Haggett Perry, and took up residence in Lansdowne. Shortly after this I went abroad in the interests of the silk company, and spent my time in London and Paris. The next event, and of great importance, was the arrival of the first child, a boy, Perry, on February 26, 1904.

The silk company became bankrupt in October, and, on November 1, 1904, I established myself with the Bergenport Chemical Works of the Standard Oil Company, at Constable Hook, New Jersey, manufacturing oil of vitriol, which is used in refining the high grade oils. It is here that I am at present employed as assistant superintendent, to which position I was appointed on July 1, 1908. Since moving from Pennsylvania, I have lived on Staten Island, at West New Brighton. Here two more sons have been born, Charles Edward, Jr., on April 6, 1905, and Lawrence Perry, on January 30, 1909. All three, later in Harvard, should prove worthy representatives as sons of '99.

GRIFFING BANCROFT

I was admitted to the bar in 1901, but have never practised. I have been engaged in attending to family real estate in San Diego. I have recently become owner of a large farm, and devote a great deal of my time to raising olives and horses. I belong to the Country Club, the Cuyamaca Club, the Elks, and the University Club of San Diego, California. On October 30, 1901, at Los Angeles, California, I was married to Ethel Works, daughter of John D. and Alice B. Works. We have two children, Ethel Barbara Bancroft, born on December 18, 1903, and Griffing Bancroft, Jr., born on February 18, 1907.

PAUL BANCROFT

Since graduation I have had charge of property in San Francisco, and the construction of buildings. Among other buildings, I erected, and had charge of the management of "St. Dunstan's," the first large modern apartment hotel to be constructed in San Francisco. Since the conflagration I have been engaged in the real estate business, and have done my share in the reconstruction of San Francisco. I am a member of the board of supervisors which succeeded the famous "Boodle Board." I am a member of the University Club of San Francisco. On August 6, 1902, at San Diego, California, I was married to Louise Jane Hazzard, daughter of George W. Hazzard. We have one child, Hubert Bancroft, born on June 26, 1904.

HENRY FRANCIS BARKER.

After graduation I worked in Boston, most of the time in national banks, later as secretary. I left Boston in 1906 for Washington, District of Columbia, where I was employed as clerk in the War Department. I resigned in the spring of 1907 and am now proprietor of a men's furnishing store at 233 New Jersey Avenue N. W., Washington, District of Columbia. On September 18, 1907, I married Charlotte Estella McMullen, daughter of Marion and Mary McMullen, of Fairfax Court House, Virginia. We have no children. I have done nothing in a literary, scientific, or political way. I belong to one club, the Washington Sängerbund (German musical and social club).

HERBERT WILLIAM BARKER

From 1903 to 1906, I studied for holy orders at the Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge, and at the General Theological Seminary, New York. I was ordered deacon May 6, 1906, by the bishop of Massachusetts, at Trinity Church, Boston. My diaconate was served at Calvary Church, New York. I was ordained priest, May 9, 1907, by the bishop of Massachusetts, at Christ Church, Quincy. From that time to the present, I have been officiating as curate at St. Stephen's Church, Providence, and vicar of Holy Nativity Chapel, Thornton, Rhode Island. I have recently accepted the position of curate at St. John's Church, Wilmington, Delaware, the transfer to be effected in April.

CLASS OF 1899—THIRD REPORT

WILLIAM LAMBERT BARNARD

I received the degree of LL.B. from the Boston University Law School in June, 1901, and in September of that year was admitted to the Massachusetts Bar. Since then I have practised at my profession, sharing offices in Boston with two '97 men, William H. Vincent and S. R. Wrightington, and expect to continue with them as long as they recognize the just supremacy of '99. I have contributed numerous historical and technical articles, all on yachting subjects, to Country Life in America, the Rudder, Power Boating, and other yachting magazines. In 1902 and 1903 I won third and first prizes, respectively, in the two cruising competitions of Forest and Stream, but I am not yet guilty of writing a book. I was married on November 25, 1903, to Lucy Pearson, daughter of Charles Henry and Louler (Newton) Pearson, and have lived, ever since, at Hingham. Every time my automobile friends come to see me they are arrested for exceeding the speed limit, which increases my business but decreases my friendships. I have no children, but a boat, black cat, and cocktail shaker keep me hustling for funds. I do not belong to any durned learned societies, and although I hold the office of harbor master of Higham, it is not one of profit (my commission reads—"to serve without pay"), or of honor (at low tide there is n't any harbor), or even of trust (the selectmen won't appoint me for more than a year at a time). I belong to several yacht clubs, but the only foreign country I have visited is the New York Yale Club—a queer place where football, baseball, and rowing are unknown, and the words "I bet" cause men to shudder and slink away. Thanking you, again and again, dear Mr. Arthur Adams, for this publicity, I am what I am, when I am—if I am.

JOSEPH HOOD BARNES

I was two years in the Graduate School, from 1899 to 1901. The next year I was with the New York Life Insurance Company in Boston. In October 1902, I took the position of private tutor and companion to the four sons of Mr. James A.

Garland of New York, and stayed with this family in this position until September, 1905. The next year I was superintendent of Mr. Garland's farm at Bristol, Rhode Island. The following year I went abroad with George W. H. Allen of Morristown School, as his tutor, and travelled in England, Belgium, Germany, France and Switzerland, remaining about ten months. I spent the year 1907-1908 in Tuxedo Park, New York, tutor to Eben Richards, Jr. At present I am travelling in California with William Weightman, 3d, of Philadelphia as his tutor and companion, having been with him since July, 1908, in various places,—Watch Hill, Rhode Island; Ontario, Atlantic City, and New York. I hope to return to the farm and a permanent address next year.

GEORGE EMERSON BARRELL

I am a dentist practising at 179 Newbury Street, Boston. My life since graduation has been uneventful.

JOHN CONNER BARRON

When I left college I spent some months in New Mexico to recover my health. Since that time, and until two years ago, I acted as private secretary to my father, who was vice-president and later president of the United New Jersey Railroad and Canal Company. Two years ago I met with a severe accident and have had no occupation since then. I am a member of the Harvard Club of New York. On November 24, 1908, at New York, I was married to Mary Richards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Richards.

EZRA BAKER BARSTOW

After leaving college, I took a rest from arduous duties for a while, and then embarked on the financial sea as a bond salesman. After having many long heart to heart talks with bankers who did not want to buy bonds and some short ones with those who did, I combined the bond business with that of note broker and opened a small office under my own domination, which has so far managed to weather the stormy bil-lows of a panicky financial sea, and to see daylight ahead. In order not to lose the interest in sports which was built up in every member of "the greatest class that ever went to college," I formed, in company with others, and was chosen president of the Armory Athletic Association, in whose club house high-grade athletics, both amateur and professional, may be enjoyed by the members. Boxing is one of the chief attractions, and has been conducted along lines satisfactory to all. As to anything I have written since leaving college, there has been nothing except my name on some checks of more or less doubtful value, but I am, always have been, and always shall be glad to write my name down as a member of the Class of '99, "the best there ever was."

HENRY LINCOLN BARTLETT

After leaving Harvard I attended the Northwestern University Medical School in Chicago. Upon graduation I was appointed resident physician at the Chicago Charity Hospital, leaving that place in a short time to accept a similar position at the Chicago Post-Graduate Hospital. After a year in this place I was appointed to the house staff of the Alexian Brothers' Hospital, Chicago. Staying here two years, I left to take up private practice in Chicago, locating on the South Side. During this time I was clinical assistant in gynecology at the Post-Graduate Medical School; medical examiner for the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York; the Bankers' Life Insurance Company of Des Moines, Iowa; surgeon for numerous accident insurance companies; and medical director of the Northwestern Mutual Benefit Association. On June 10, 1906, I was married to Mathilde Marie Budach, daughter of John G. and Anna E. Budach. In 1907, for reasons of health, I left Chicago for the South and am at present residing at Sebastian, Texas.

SAMUEL HENRY BATCHELDER

After I was graduated from the Law School in 1902, I was associated with Peabody and Arnold, in the practice of law at 16 State Street, Boston. In 1905 I became a member of this firm. I was a member of the Common Council of the City of Salem from 1903 to 1907, and in 1908 was elected its president. On June 29, 1905, at Salem, I was married to Mabel Augusta Trumbull, daughter of Edward B. and Elizabeth F. Trumbull. We have one child, Edward Trumbull Batchelder, born on April 13, 1906.

MIDDLETON BEAMAN

After receiving the degree of LL.B. at the Harvard Law School, I entered the office of Hon. Charles S. Hamlin. In 1904, I became a member of the editorial staff of the "American and English Encyclopaedia of Law." Since November 1, 1907, I have been law librarian of the Law Library of Congress and of the Supreme Court. I am joint author of Scott and Beaman's "Index Analysis of the Federal Statutes." I am a member of the American Political Science Association and of the Boston and District of Columbia bars.

STIRLING SHERMAN BEARDSLEY

Since graduation my life has been that of a breadwinner. Most of the time I was employed by a firm, members of the New York Stock Exchange, and while with them learned the stock and bond business. At one time I was cashier of the United Box Board and Paper Company. At present I am a member of the New York Cotton Exchange. I have been abroad three times. The year of my graduation, I spent the summer in Europe, visiting the British Isles, France, Holland, Belgium, Switzerland, and Germany. On January 6, 1904, I married Anna Marie Wilson, daughter of Henry B. and Mary Elizabeth Wilson, and have one daughter, Elizabeth Beardsley, born on October 28, 1904.

WILLIAM DEE BECKER

After graduation at Harvard, I took an LL.B. degree at the St. Louis Law School of the Washington University, being graduated in June, 1901. I was class orator for the St. Louis Law School in 1901. I began the practice of the law in partnership with Harry Troll, under the firm name of Becker and Troll. On Troll's election as public administrator in the fall of 1904, I formed a law partnership with Judge W. W. Henderson under the firm name of Henderson and Becker, which continues up to the present time. I am now, and have been for two years, president of the Union Club of St. Louis. I am a member of the Missouri Athletic Club, am a 32nd degree Scottish Rite Mason, and also a Shriner. I am a director of the Lock Safety Pin Company of St. Louis and also a director of the J. P. Becker Dry Goods Company of East St. Louis, Illinois. On June 10, 1902, at St. Louis, I was married to Margaret Louise McIntosh, daughter of John and Florence Lavinia McIntosh. We have one son, Alan Dee Becker, born on March 6, 1907, at St. Louis.

EDWIN BURT BECKWITH

In the fall of 1899 I entered the office of C. B. Patterson, of New York, for the practice of mental healing. In May, 1900, I assumed the business management of the Alliance Publishing Company, Incorporated, which not only published books, but two magazines, "The Arena," edited by B. O. Flower, and "Mind," edited by John Emery McLean. In April, 1903, I left New York and came to Chicago, where I became secretary and manager of the Stockham Publishing Company, publishers of subscription books. In the fall of 1905, I took up the study of medicine, and thanks to my A.B. from Harvard, was allowed by Illinois law to complete the work in three years. My school practice is "high potency" homeopathy, but I am devoting myself especially to spinal deflections and diseases. I am a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, medical director of the Illinois Orthopedic Sanitarium, and editor and publisher of "The Hering Quarterly," a magazine devoted to the propaganda of homeopathy.

CLASS OF 1899—THIRD REPORT

WALTER JAMES BEGGS

I am a teacher of Latin in the Cleveland High School, St. Paul, Minnesota. The year after graduation I spent in the Harvard Graduate School, specializing in the classics, and received final honors in classics with the A.M. degree in 1900. In the summer of 1900 I was elected to a position as teacher of classics in the St. Paul high schools and have been employed there in that capacity ever since. The summer of 1900 I spent in teaching Latin in Grove City College, Grove City, Pennsylvania, and the summer of 1901 in teaching Greek in the same institution. The remaining summers since graduation I have spent on the old homestead farm near Sandy Lake, Pennsylvania. I am a member of the Minnesota Educational Association, the National Education Association, the St. Paul Institute of Arts and Sciences, and the St. Paul High School Teachers' Club, having been president of the last-named organization for the academic year of 1907-1908. I am also a member of the Harvard Club of Minnesota. I have devoted considerable attention to church and Sunday school work and at present I am superintendent of the Sunday school of the Arlington Hills Presbyterian Church of St. Paul. Taking advantage of the proximity of the University of Minnesota, I have pursued a certain amount of graduate work in Latin and Greek in that institution and have done undergraduate work in Hebrew, French, and Spanish.

ROBERT PEABODY BELLOWS

On leaving college, I travelled in this country as far west as California, and then returned to Boston, choosing as my profession architecture. Having had some slight training at Cambridge, I was counselled and resolved to learn next something of the practical side of the profession. For several years, therefore, I toiled in the offices of Peabody and Stearns on such varied work as draughting, "checking" steel, superintending and pile driving. After a year at the Institute of Technology, my studies led me to Europe where I passed some six years, completing the course in architecture at the Ecole des Beaux Arts, and travelling extensively. My present office is on the top of Beacon Hill, 8 Beacon Street, Boston.

RICHARD STANWOOD BENNER

I am a physician practising at Springfield. On November 18, 1908, at Springfield, I was married to Marion McClean, daughter of George Chesley and Vrylena McClean.

RAYMOND AUSTIN BIDWELL

I entered the Harvard Law School in the fall of 1899 and was graduated in 1903. A year's absence was required, 1901-1902, because of ill health. In March, 1903, I was admitted to the Massachusetts Bar, and in the fall of that year formed a partnership with John A. Denison for the practice of the law in Springfield, under the name of Bidwell and Denison. The firm dissolved January 1, 1907, and each partner continued the practice of law individually. On April 19, 1905, I was married at Washington, Iowa, to Bertha Dawes Upham, daughter of Willard Putnam and Caroline Bidwell Upham. The clubs with which I am associated are the Country Club of Springfield and the Economic Club of Springfield, of which I am secretary and treasurer. My only connection with politics thus far has been as a member of the Republican City Committee.

HORATIO BIGELOW

After my marriage in August, 1899, my wife and I spent our honeymoon in northern Japan. Returning in October of the same year we went to Coulterville, Mariposa County, California, where I took a position with the Merced Gold Mining Company, and started in to learn the mining business. We remained there until January, 1900, when I accepted an offer from the Seattle Electric Company (Stone and Webster) and moved to Seattle to engage in the street railway business. After several years in the construction department, rebuilding the principal lines of the Seattle Electric Company, and constructing the line between Seattle and Tacoma, I was promoted, in the fall of 1902, to the position of assistant superintendent of the Seattle Electric Company. In January, 1903, I visited Boston and while there accepted Stone and Webster's offer of the general managership of the Ponce Electric Company, Ponce, Porto Rico. My stay in Porto Rico was a short one. I returned to the States to take up the position of superintendent of the Montville and Norwich Street Railways. I have lived in Norwich since, spending my summers at New London or Eastern Point, Connecticut. When the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company, through its subsidiary company, the Consolidated Railway Company, bought up the railways with which I was connected, the New London and Willimantic Street Railways were added to my duties as superintendent of the "New London Lines" division. In June, 1907, the company started operating electric cars over the steam road, and in connection with steam service between Tafts and Central Village, this service was also included in my division. On April 1, 1908, I resigned my position with the Connecticut Company, successor of the Consolidated Company, and I have taken up no new duties at this date, January 8, 1909. I have served on the railroad committee of the local board of trade, and as vice-president, for Connecticut, of the New England Street Railway Club. I belong to the following clubs: Norwich Club, Norwich Golf Club, Open House Club of Norwich, Shennecossett Golf Club of Eastern Point, Country Club of Brookline, Eastern Yacht Club of Boston, Union Club of Boston. I am also a member of the American Society of Electrical Engineers and the Connecticut Society of Civil Engineers. I have four children, Horatio Bigelow, Jr., born at Seattle, Washington, on July 21, 1902; John Ripley Bigelow, born at Norwich, Connecticut, on October 16, 1903; Nancy Bigelow, born at New London, Connecticut, on July 18, 1905; and Mary De Ford Bigelow, born at Eastern Point, Connecticut, on June 25, 1908.

MORTON BURDETT BIRGE

I left college during my first year. Two years later I went into newspaper work in which I have remained ever since. I am at present, March 31, 1909, employed in the editorial department of the Boston American as "re-write man." The only foreign country which I have visited is England. I spent six weeks in London in 1897. On October 15, 1906, I was married at New York City to Elizabeth Josephine Price, eldest daughter of Archibald Beauregard and Estella Baxter Price of Revere.

HOWARD LANE BLACKWELL

Since graduation my time has been filled as follows: 1900, A. M. (Harvard); 1900-1901, engineering department of the Crocker-Wheeler Company, manufacturers of electrical machinery, Ampere, New Jersey; 1901-1902, assistant in physics, Harvard University; 1902, I went to England, France, and Switzerland; 1902-1905, graduate student, Harvard University; 1905, Ph.D. (Harvard); 1905-1906, fellow for research in physics, Harvard University; 1906 to present date, comptroller of Harvard University, and fellow for research in physics. On June 8,1907, at Cleveland, Ohio, I was married to Helen Electa Thomas, daughter of John and Margaret Hannah (Bouton) Thomas. I am a member of the American Physical Society, and an associate member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

CAMERON BLAIKIE

I am a broker. I am a member of the Harvard Club of New Jersey in which I am a member of the executive committee, the Harvard Club and Andover Club of New York, and the Englewood Field Club. On June 28, 1905, at East Orange, New Jersey, I was married to Cornelia Alling Millar, daughter of Franklin Babcock and Susan Palmer Millar. We have one child, Cameron Blaikie, Jr., born on June 19, 1907, at Englewood, New Jersey.

EDMUND MORTIMER BLAKE

In the summer of 1899, following graduation at Cambridge, I was appointed assistant instructor in the Harvard Summer School of Engineering, with headquarters at Chilmark, Martha's Vineyard. In October, 1899, I entered the office of my father, Percy M. Blake, at Newtonville, as assistant engineer on sanitary and hydraulic work and continued in that position until July, 1900. From July to the last of October, 1900, I was draughtsman on steel design and construction with the Eastern Bridge and Structural Company, at Worcester. Late in October, 1900, I accepted the position of assistant engineer with the New York Rapid Transit Railroad Commission, William Barclay Parsons, chief engineer; being directly under Alfred Craven, division engineer. My work was confined mostly to the Forty-second Street section. I was promoted one grade in the summer of 1901. I held this position until early in February, 1902, when a leave of absence was obtained and one month spent as designing draughtsman with the Brown Hoisting Machinery Company at Cleveland, Ohio. I resigned my position on the New York Subway early in March, 1902, to accept the position of principal assistant with my father, Percy M. Blake, Newtonville. From this time until January 1, 1906, I was engaged on sanitary, sewerage, hydraulic and water power work, having charge part of this time of the designing and construction of a ten million gallon reservoir for the Portland Water Company, at Sebago Lake, Maine. I also prepared material and testified in two water works valuation cases heard before special commissions. On January 1, 1906, I opened an office at 8 Beacon Street, Boston, for the private practice of civil engineering, taking into partnership Mr. Henry A. Symonds on February 1, 1908. During this time I designed and had charge of the construction of the water works systems for Westford, Wrentham, Wareham, and Provincetown, and Hampton Beach, New Hampshire. I promoted, organized, designed, and constructed the Westford Water Company plant and brought about the financing of the Hampton Beach Water Works Company, designing and constructing the same.

During this time I investigated and reported upon the Pikes Peak Hydro-Electric Company's plant at Manitou, Colorado, for Cleveland capitalists. Also I carried on a campaign to secure the passage of a gas ordinance by the city council of Joliet, Illinois, for the People's Gas Company of Joliet. I had the privilege of a four months' trip abroad in 1905, with an honorary commission from the United States Department of Agriculture to investigate and report upon certain drainage and irrigation projects in Italy, between the Po and Adige rivers. I also made a careful study of construction methods on the Paris subways and London tunnels. In September, 1908, I dissolved partnership, gave up private practice in Boston and accepted the position of manager of the Idaho Irrigation Company, Limited, for J. G. White and Company, Incorporated, of New York City. I have since been elected one of the three vice-presidents of the company. This company controls one hundred sixty-five thousand acres of land under the Carey Act in southern Idaho, for which it is constructing the necessary irrigation works. It controls and is developing two new towns situated upon its tracts. The total cost of this project will approximate three million dollars. On October 21, 1902, at Cleveland, Ohio, I was married to Clara Allen Drake, daughter of William D. and Mariva O. Drake. My first wife died on December 11, 1907. On February 17, 1909, at Boise, Idaho, I was married to Grace Edna Twiggs, daughter of the late John Ward and Mary C. Twiggs.

ROBERT FULTON BLAKE

After leaving Harvard I went to the Fore River Shipbuilding Company where I spent a year in practical ship building work. My work in Harvard had all been along this line, and I spent two years post-graduate work, under Professor Hollis, in marine engineering and naval architecture. I then had just under a year travelling in Europe, studying the shipbuilding yards of Great Britain, Germany, and France, in which countries I visited almost all of the large yards. Returning, I went again into the Fore River yards for another year, but ship building was at such a low ebb that I finally left Fore River and went into the Submarine Signal Company. This company was just coming into commercial work at that time, having spent many years experimenting. I am still with the Submarine Signal Company in work which is more interesting than anything else I could imagine. I am expecting to leave in a few days for South America on work for the company. I have visited most of the countries of Europe and expect to see Brazil, Chile, Argentine, Uraguay, Peru, and so forth, on this trip south. I belong to the Union Boat Club and Papyrus. As far as offices of honor and so forth go, the only thing I can claim is that I have stroked the Harvard Gentlemen's Eight to victory over Yale three years running.

FRANCIS WICKES BLATCHFORD

I was graduated from Rush Medical College, Chicago, in the spring of 1902, and then served an internship for a year in the Chicago Lying-In Hospital. I was then assistant to Bayard Holmes, M.D., for eight months, after which I was assistant to Robert H. Babcock, M.D., for two years. Upon leaving Dr. Babcock, I settled in Winnetka, Illinois, for the general practice of medicine, where I now am. In the fall of 1903 I married Frances Keene Larned, daughter of Walter C. and Emma Scribner Larned, of Lake Forest, Illinois. We have three children, two girls and a boy: Ella Marion Blatchford, born on November 21, 1904; Elsie Blatchford, born on November 5, 1906; and Francis Wickes Blatchford, born on November 29, 1908. I am a member of the American Medical Association, Illinois State Medical Society, Chicago Medical Society, and Chicago Pathological Society. I am a member of the University Club of Chicago, Chicago Literary Club, Saddle and Cycle Club, and Chicago Harvard Club, of which latter I was secretary-treasurer for the year 1906-1907.

WILLIAM GROVE BLAUVELT

After leaving college I spent two years at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology getting the degree of S.B. in the electrical engineering course. In the fall of 1901 I entered the engineering department of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company in Boston. When in 1907 the headquarters of this department were transferred to New York, I moved to that city and am still with the company.

CHARLES WINTHROP BLOOD

I am still practising law, being associated with the firm of Saltonstall, Dodge and Carter.

EDWIN AUGUSTUS BOARDMAN

On leaving college I went into the Merchants National Bank of Boston for two years and a half, and from there went into the business of naval architect and yacht brokerage, in which I stayed until January 1, 1907. I then became associated with Bartlett Brothers and Company, bankers and brokers, with offices at 60 State Street, Boston. I married Elvira Bartlett, daughter of Nelson States and Isabel Bullock Bartlett, on April 30, 1900, and have two children, Isabel, born on February 12, 1901, and Elvira, born on January 5, 1909, both in Boston. I have written several articles on the designing and handling of the small racing yachts, and I have also written a book which will be published this spring. I have always been interested in this line of yachting sport, and have made a study of the same from actual practice. I am sorry to say there are no books on this particular branch of this most interesting sport. I have taken some exceptionally interesting trips in connection with the international yacht races in which I have participated. We went to Canada in 1905 after the "International Seawanhaka Cup," then held by the Canadians, and were successful in our attempt to bring it back to the United States, winning the event in three straight races. Two of my boats were chosen on the American team to defend the "Roosevelt Cup" against Germany in 1906, one of which I had the pleasure of sailing in the final races. In 1907, I formed one of the crew of Harvard men to go to Germany to try for the "Emperor's Cup" at Kiel, in which the American boats were unsuccessful, being smothered in the heavy weather at Kiel. I had the honor and pleasure to meet on this trip the Emperor of Germany, his brother, Prince Henry of Prussia, and his son, the Crown Prince of Germany, with all of whom I had the opportunity to talk yachting. Later on in the same summer we went to Spain and I had the pleasure there of meeting the King of Spain and his associates, also in a yachting way, which was most agreeable. I am a member of the following clubs: Tennis and Racquet Club of Boston, Eastern Yacht Club of Boston, Manchester Yacht Club, Harvard Club of New York, and Harvard Varsity Club of Cambridge, which, by the way, is an excellent institution and should be encouraged.

EDGAR BOODY

On September 5, 1903, I was married to Margaret Howard Liscomb, daughter of Orlando Parkhurst and Cornelia Speed Liscomb. We have two children, Elizabeth Clement Boody, born on June 6, 1904, at Arlington, Vermont; and Edgar Boody, Jr., born on November 1, 1907, at Englewood, New Jersey.

CLEMENT LINCOLN BOUVE

I am at present a lawyer, member of the Suffolk Bar and Philippines Bar. I married Mary McLean, daughter of Angus and Katharine McLean, on September 10, 1906, at Manila, Philippine Islands. We have two children, a girl, Margaret Bouvé, born on September 17, 1907, and a boy, James McLean Bouvé, born on December 5, 1908. My only degree is the A.B. received from Harvard in 1899. I have written one book, "Handbook for Noncommissioned Officers of Coast Artillery."

I belong to the St. Botolph Club of Boston. I was secretary to Edward H. Strobel, when he was general adviser to the government of Siam. For three years, 1906-1908, I was assistant district attorney of the city of Manila, Philippine Islands. I have visited England, Canada, France, Germany, Italy, Switzerland, Norway, Sweden, Russia, Siberia, Japan, Malay Archipelago, Siam, China, the Philippines, Ceylon, and Egypt.

ARTHUR HAMLEN BOYNTON

Professor Copeland used to tell me that my compositions were "N. G." and I knew he was right. I have not improved any in that line. Suffice it to say that I am a travelling salesman and engineer, selling and installing cooking apparatus for hotels, clubs, and institutions. I was married at Melrose Highlands, on April 6, 1904, to Kate Maude Cross, daughter of Frank Thomas and Adelaide Herbert Cross. Up to date we have two as fine youngsters as ever were, Laura White Boynton, born on January 14, 1906, and Francis Hamlen Boynton, on June 20, 1908. I hope to live to see the boy graduted from Harvard. Some of us connot be famous, but all who will, can earn an honest living and a happy home.

THOMAS LONG BRAMHALL

For the last two years, I have been assistant principal of the Glen Ridge School, Glen Ridge, New Jersey. On August 12, 1908, I married Jennie May Flood, daughter of Frank and Mary (Graham) Flood, at Wollaston.

FRANK DODDRIDGE BRANNAN

After my graduation in June, 1899, I spent three months travelling abroad, in England, Germany, Switzerland, and France. Upon returning to Cambridge I entered the employ of the publishing firm of Houghton, Mifflin and Company, with whom I remained for about four years. I then went into the publicity and advertising business with the Publicity Bureau in Boston. About this time I became very much interested in the development of the gasoline engine and the automobile, and in 1906 acquired an interest in the Harvard Marine and Automobile Company of Cambridge, manufacturing gasoline engines for motor boats and automobiles. In the fall of 1908 this company was consolidated with the Teel Manufacturing Company of Medford, builders of automobile specialties, and now about to begin the manufacture of motor delivery wagons and motor trucks. I am at present a special factory representative of the Teel Manufacturing Company, and am also interested in the Harvard Automobile Company of Cambridge, as agent for the Buick line of automobiles.

PERCY SHIELDS BRAYTON

My history will be as dry as the usual autobiography. The thirst for imparting the knowledge acquired at Harvard led me to the reckless idea of teaching. For the purpose of acquiring more knowledge to hammer into the heads of the unfortunate youth of New England, I spent the summer of 1899 in the Harvard Summer School. On August 29, 1899, I was married to Mabel Persis Allison, daughter of James and Sarah Jane Allison, in Dublin, New Hampshire. Early September of that year found me at Nichols Academy, Dudley, an institute at that time of three teachers and fifty pupils. I had classes in French, Greek, mathematics, and all the sciences that man ever invented. The pupils recited to me, and I hope they learned something—from the books. If so, it was not at all my fault. I spent two years in this quiet country village, and then moved on to the Keene, New Hampshire, High School, where I had classes in physics and chemistry, with a little mathematics thrown in. On July 27, 1902, our first child, Theodore Allison Brayton, was born in Keene. Finding Keene too far from the Class of '99, I decided to get back nearer Cambridge, and in May, 1903, I came to the Medford High School, where I have remained ever since. At first I taught mathematics and physics, and now confine my attention wholly to physics, sending each year a few to Harvard to take the famous physics examinations devised by some genius in that department. Doubtless you all remember your own attempt at them. On November 13, 1908, my second child, Donald Stuart Brayton, was born at the Elliot City Hospital, Keene, New Hampshire. My summers have been spent anywhere from the wilds of Rhode Island to the metropolitan districts of Prince Edward Island. Recently we have confined ourselves to the hills of Ashburnham, where we have camped out in tents for two years. I have now purchased my own camping ground on the top of one of those hills and shall spend my summers there. My literary work has been mostly of the correcting order. My only production is a set of experiments in physics for use in the Keene High School. I am a member of the American Institute of Instruction, National Education Association, Eastern Association of Physics Teachers (at present its treasurer), New England Association of Chemistry Teachers, Medford Historical Society, Medford Teachers Club, and the Medford Unitarian Club (at present its secretary and treasurer). I have also served for two years as president of the Alumni Association of Cushing Academy. I have been so busy trying to learn how to teach that I have had little time for social clubs and secret societies. Two winters I took special courses in electrical engineering at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Well, I said this would be dry. You see how I have profited from instruction in English in college. We shall expect wonderful productions from our English stars,—Macy, Rideout and Company, and legal phraseology from half the class, but what do you expect of a poor pedagogue? Hurrah for '99! Three cheers for Harvard and down with Yale!

GEORGE HORACE BREED

Since graduation from the Lawrence Scientific School in architecture, I have followed the house building trade and it has given me varied experiences in Boston, Pittsburg, and

New York. At present I am located with Carrère and Hastings, one of the leading firms of architects in the city of New York. The winter of 1903 and 1904 I spent in Paris studying in the ateliers of the Ecole des Beaux Arts. The spring and summer of 1903 were occupied in an extended trip through continental Europe, and in the following spring through England and its cathedral towns. The summer of 1906 I took another short trip with a party of friends through England and the continent, visiting all the principal cities and returning via the Mediterranean. For the present I call my home New York. Of course I belong to the Harvard Club and spend much of my time there. I am also an enthusiastic member of the New York Fencers' Club, which gives me exercise in winter, and the Ardsley Country Club for tennis and golf in the summer.

ROBERT BOYES BREWSTER

After graduation I attended the Harvard Law School and was graduated in 1902. In 1903 I formed a partnership for the general practice of law with G. M. G. Nichols, Harvard Law School 1903, with offices at 40 Merrimack Street, Haverhill, which is my present business address.

EDWARD DEERING BROOKS

I was five years in various departments of the Old Colony Trust Company, and two years in the real estate office of Meredith and Grew, Boston. Then I went into the office of Laurence Minot, trustee in the care and management of real estate, and am still there. I am treasurer of the Dedham Tennis Club, a position of "honor or trust", it is not of profit.

JOHN EDWARD BROOKS

Some months after graduation I entered the employ of the Old Colony Trust Company, Boston, and worked there for two or three years. My efforts there, while not productive of great wealth, gave me fairly good experience, as I had the advantage of working in various departments of the business. I then entered the employ of Steere and Burr, note brokers, with headquarters in Boston and offices in New York and other centres. For several years I spent most of my time as salesman travelling in New England. In July, 1905, this firm dissolved and I entered as partner the present firm of C. E. Steere and Company, Boston and Chicago. On April 27, 1907, I married Helen French, daughter of John J. and Frances M. (Stratton) French, of Boston. I am a member of the Harvard Club of New York and the Union Club, Boston.

LYMAN WARREN BROOKS

Since leaving college in 1899, I have been engaged in the real estate business in Cambridge. I am studying law and expect to take the bar examination in June, 1909, unless it conflicts with the decennial celebration, in which case the bar examination will come later. I have been married since November 26, 1900, to Helen W. Burgess, daughter of Emma W. Burgess, and have one child, Eugene Burgess Brooks, born on April 15, 1907, who will go to Harvard in the class of 1929. That year will include two nines and that means so much, that I shall see to it that he graduates then or never. I do not belong to any learned societies and have written no books; I have written some articles in daily papers; will have the degree of LL.B. soon; belong to the Winsor Club of Watertown, but I have visited no foreign countries except New Haven, Connecticut, last November.

CHARLES HENRY BROWN

I am occupied in looking after my interests in Omaha and Nebraska, consisting of real estate, farms, banks, stocks, and so forth. I am a director in the Omaha National Bank; National Bank of Ashland, Nebraska; Battle Creek Valley Bank, Nebraska; president of the Omaha Safe Deposit and Trust Company; treasurer of the Omaha Realty Company; secretary of the Brown Realty and Investment Company, Omaha; and secretary of the Boulevard Park Improvement Company, Omaha. I have held the office of secretary of the Omaha Commercial Club, director of the Omaha Field Club, treasurer of the Jacksonian Club of Nebraska, and treasurer of the Harvard Club of Nebraska. Besides the clubs mentioned above, I belong to the B. P. O. Elks, Nebraska Sportsmen's Club, and Business Men's Association of Omaha. I have travelled through Canada and Mexico.

CLYDUS CLINTON BROWN

In 1899-1900 I was a student in the Graduate School of Harvard University, receiving an A.M. in 1900. From 1900 to 1902 I was the principal of the high school at Guthrie, Oklahoma. From 1902 to 1906 I was supervising teacher at Borongon and Catbayog, Samar, Philippine Islands. On August 8, 1906, I was married to Eleanor M. Brazee, at Mt. Pleasant, Michigan. The next year I was the head of the department of modern language, Wichita High School, Wichita, Kansas. Since 1907 I have been superintendent of schools, Blue Rapids, Kansas.

EDWARD BANGS BROWN

On leaving college I determined to follow advertising as a career—ill health having compelled me to give up the law after spending my senior year in the Law School. As a preliminary training I spent a year with the Lakeside Press, Chicago. Following that I became connected with the advertising department of the Sherwin-Williams Company, paint manufacturers, at their Chicago office, later being transferred to the main office of the same company at Cleveland, Ohio. I then became advertising manager of the Peerless Motor Car Company, Cleveland, leaving that position to become interested in the Bailey Company, Cleveland, an advertising agency. Later I transferred my interest to the Burrell Advertising Company, another Cleveland advertising agency, which connection I continued till the first of the present year. Since that time I have been connected with the Hampton Advertising Company, New York, one of the largest agencies in the advertising field. I married Helen Russell Goodale, daughter of James J. and Harriet (Fullerton) Goodale, of Cleveland, on June 30, 1902, at Nottingham, Ohio, and we have one child, Barbara Brown, born on March 5, 1908.

FREDERIC NELSON BROWN

Since my graduation I have been a pedagogue and a Jerseyite, having spent three years as teacher in the high school of Bloomfield, one year as superintendent of schools at Merchantville, and six years as superintendent at Verona. During this time I have written three text books, have been the presiding officer of the Essex County School Masters' Association, and have travelled in the British Isles and France. On June 29, 1904, I married Edith Louise Sawyer, at Boston. We have no children. I am a member of the New Jersey Harvard Graduates' Club.

PHILIP LAMSON BROWN

Since October 1, 1908, I have started a law publishing and selling establishment at 8 Pemberton Square, Boston. I am a trustee of the Belmont Public Library. I belong to the Somerset and Union clubs of Boston, and Harvard Club of New York. I have been abroad in England and Europe several times.

RICHARD CADBURY BROWN

I received an A.B. degree from Haverford College in 1897; taught at the Westtown School, Chester County, Pennsylvania, in 1897-1898; received an A.B. degree from Harvard College in 1899 and an A.M. degree from the College in 1900. I taught at Wilmington College, Ohio, in 1900-1901; at Westtown School from 1901 to 1903. The most of my work, both at Harvard and in teaching, brings in Latin or Greek. I went to Bootham School, York, England, to teach gymnastics, 1903-1904, in which time also I travelled somewhat in Italy. I taught in the Friends' Select School, Washington, District of Columbia, in 1904-1905. In November, 1905, I entered the employ of the J. B. Lippincott Company, publishers, Washington Square, Philadelphia, where I am now employed as a proof reader. On December 3, 1904, I married Annie Browning, daughter of Napoleon and Annie M. Browning, of Brookline, and our daughter, Emma Perry Brown, was born on July 21, 1906, at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

FRED KIRK BRYANT

Since graduation I have been engaged in the newspaper business, first in West Virginia, and later in Chicago.

GEORGE PHILLIPS BRYANT

Upon graduation I entered the Harvard Law School and worked in real estate matters during the course. I was graduated in 1902 and started for myself at 5 Tremont Street, Boston, on October 8, 1902. On January 1, 1905, I moved to Kimball Building, 18 Tremont Street, Boston. I was married on October 2, 1907, at Waltham, to Edith Helen Poole, daughter of Charles A. and Helen D. Poole, and on June 15, 1908, went to California with my wife. I saw while there Walter Desmond '99 who was fast becoming "Poohbah" of Long Beach. I spent three months at some mines in Nevada, inspecting them for parties interested. I returned to Boston on October 1, 1908, where I am again practising law. I became interested in the old English sport of archery in 1904, and won the national and Olympic championships at St. Louis, in 1904, and the national championship the following year at Chicago. My son Phillips Bryant was born on January 22, 1909, at Medford.

LOUIS F. BUFF

I am still secretary of the Buff and Buff Manufacturing Company, makers of scientific instruments. On October 7, 1907 I was married to Lena Gertrude Frost, daughter of James Riggs Frost, and have one daughter, Laura Edith Buff, born at Boston, on September 7, 1908. I am a member of the Jamaica Club, Eliot Club, Harvard Club of Boston, Boston Society of Civil Engineers, and the Technical League of New York City.

ROBERT EMMETT BURKE

I was junior master of the Mechanic Arts High School, Boston, from October, 1899, to February, 1904; and master of the Boston Normal School from February, 1904, to January, 1907. I am now assistant superintendent of the Boston Public Schools, and have been since January, 1907. I am a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the American Academy of Political and Social Science, the National Geographic Society, the National Conference of Charities and Correction, the Twentieth Century Club, the Appalachian Mountain Club, and the Boston City Club. I have had one European trip, during the summer of 1908.

HOWARD BENJAMIN BURLINGAME

[Mr. Burlingame gives no other information about himself than his address which is 25 Day Street, West Somerville.]

HENRY LIONEL BURNHAM

I received an LL.B. from Harvard in 1902, and was admitted to the Massachusetts Bar on March 7, 1902. On that occasion I changed my name from Harry to Henry. The Class may recognize the change or not, as it sees fit. I engaged in newspaper work for a short time immediately after graduation from the Law School. I was in the law office of Richardson, Herrick and Neave, Boston, from September, 1902, to August, 1904. Since September 1, 1904, I have been in independent practice at 15 State Street, Boston.

CLASS OF 1899—THIRD REPORT

JOHN APPLETON BURNHAM, JR.

I have been in the automobile business for nearly ten years. The clubs to which I belong are as follows: Somerset, Tennis and Racquet, Boston Athletic Association; New York, Eastern Corinthian, and Manchester yacht clubs.

ROGER NOBLE BURNHAM

During the last ten years I have lived mostly in New York and Boston, devoting myself to art in several of its branches, especially to sculpture. After graduating I went seriously to work in my own studio in Boston, studying anatomy with Caroline Hunt Rimmer. The next year I spent some time in New York modeling a bust of William H. Crane, as David Harum, which was done in the "Green Room" of the Garrick Theatre. In the spring of 1903 I went to New York to work under Karl Bitter, head of the sculpture department for the World's Fair, in his private studio, and in the large shop in Hoboken where the enlarging of the statuary for the Fair was carried out. From there I went into the studio of George Brewster, in New York, assisting him on some of the large medallion heads of the great artists that decorate the outside of the permanent Fine Arts Building in St. Louis. In the winter of 1904 I won the Henry O. Avery Prize, offered each year by the Architectural League of New York. I remained several years in New York doing private orders for portraits in relief, advertising work, and working with other sculptors, interior decorators, and so on. In the fall of 1902, before leaving Boston, I helped our classmate, the Rev. Charles W. Harvey, to organize the "Jefferson Dramatic Club" of Brookline, in which I played several important rôles. From this time on, much of my social life was given to amateur theatricals and, wishing to have some practical training, I took the full course at the American Academy of Dramatic Arts, in New York, receiving my diploma in March, 1907. The following season I went on a tour of twenty-eight weeks with Joseph and William Jefferson, in "The Rivals." For the last year I have had my studio in my home in Brookline, where I have devoted myself to commissions for portrait busts and bas-reliefs, being especially successful with children. I lecture on the processes of sculpture, and have invented, in my spare time, a railroad device which promises success. I am a member of the Aero Club of New England. At one time I was a member of the Harvard Club of New York.

HENRY TURNER BURR

After graduation I worked for a year in the Graduate School at Harvard and served as assistant in geology and geography. I received the S.M. degree in 1900. In September, 1900, I was appointed instructor in geography and zoology in the Normal School at New Britain, Connecticut. After serving four years at New Britain I was made principal of the Normal School at Willimantic, Connecticut. I have held this position for five years. During the summer of 1900 I served as assistant in geography at the Harvard Summer School, and had charge of the work in this course during the succeeding four years. I gave a short course in geography at the Yale University Summer School in 1906. I was married in 1901 to Ada Marilla Harding, daughter of Smith and Jeanie M. Harding, of Westfield. I have two children, Emerson Holt, born on October 28, 1902, and Elizabeth Harding, born on September 27, 1905. During my course in the Graduate School I published four small pamphlets giving the results of geological investigations. I am a member of several teachers' associations in Connecticut, of the National Educational Association, and the American Institute of Instruction. I am also a member of the Graduates' Club at New Haven and of the Willimantic Board of Trade.

PAUL BURRAGE

I am still in the general insurance business at 114 Water Street, Boston, where I have been for the past seven years, being associated with Gilmore and Coolidge, the general agents for the Norwich Union of London, the Fidelity and Casualty Company of New York, and other companies. I have recently acquired the renewal account of another insurance broker, which gives me a large and particularly desirable line of business to place with the various companies.

WARD COTTON BURTON

I am the secretary of the Plymouth Fur Company, Minneapolis, Minnesota, secretary and assistant manager of the Plymouth Clothing House of St. Paul and Minneapolis, Minnesota, and director of the Boston Clothing Company, St. Paul, Minnesota. During the winter and early spring of 1903, in company with W. D. Walker '97, I travelled in England and the continent of Europe. In 1904, in the winter and spring, I visited most of the countries bordering on the Mediterranean, and in the spring and early summer of 1906, in company with A. B. Ruhl '99, I visited San Juan, Curacao, and the countries on the north and west coasts of South America as far south as Callao, Peru. I returned from Callao to New York with E. W. Ames '96, stopping for a time at Jamaica. In the winter and spring of 1907 I visited Cuba and Mexico—making an extensive trip in southwest Mexico in company with the members of the German and Belgian diplomatic staffs. I spent January and the first part of February of 1908 in England. I am a member of the Society of Colonial Wars, Minneapolis Club, Minikalida Club, Lafayette Club, Minnetonka Yacht Club, Beverly Yacht Club, Minneapolis Amateur Hockey Association, Harvard Club of Minnesota, and Harvard Club of New York. I have devoted much time to the development of yachting, tennis, and hockey throughout the Northwest and West, and in this connection have held the following offices: vice-president of the Western Lawn Tennis Association; Western Lawn Tennis Association representative at the United States Lawn Tennis Association meeting, 1909; president and director of the Minnesota State Lawn Tennis Association; president and treasurer of the Minneapolis Amateur Hockey Association; chairman of regatta and sports committees of the Minnetonka Yacht Club; and consulting director of courses during regatta of 1908, of the Inland Lake Yachting Association. In 1900 I assisted in training the University of Minnesota track team, having special charge of the high jumpers and pole vaulters. I have, for five years, had charge of the Minnesota Interscholastic Tennis Tournament. I have twice held the lawn tennis championship in singles for the state of Minnesota, and with different partners, the championship in doubles of Wisconsin three times, of Minnesota twice, and of the Northwest once. I have contributed to Collier's Weekly, August, 1905, an article, "Yacht Racing on the Inland Lakes," and for The Bellman, September, 1906, 1907, 1908, articles on yachting and on tennis.

CLARENCE KIPP BUSH

Those of you who knew me at all well in college knew of my great interest in metaphysical ethics. I have taken my life thus far as a sort of laboratory in which to study the great problems which have appealed to me under this head. The success or failure of my plans in other directions I have regarded as of no account, any more than I would regard with any seriousness the winning or losing of a hand-ball game or a tennis match. In a material way my success has been mainly negative as could be readily guessed from the above, although, as a majority of the negative class, I have "'opes". When fellows whom I meet ask me how I am getting on, my reply is that I am satisfied and I am the one to be suited. In the physical life I go to the extreme of simplicity. I sleep out of doors summer and winter in a rain-proof sleeping-bag, in my back yard, right out in the open, without springs, mattress, roof, or tent. I have an out-door hand-ball court, gymnasium, and tennis court. Those who have weak stomachs may be interested in my diet. For six years I have lived wholly on milk and cereals, the latter consisting chiefly of what is known as shredded wheat. At present writing my weight, in street clothes, is 190 pounds, and I should add that I have not had a severe cold or known the slightest physical distress or indisposition for years. I am at present living in a part of Natick near the Charles River, one of the most delightful country sections in Massachusetts. For occupation I have some patents, connected with the milk and butter business, to which I am giving most of my time. I should suggest that the members of the Class with their companions secure their seats for the Yale football games together.

CHARLES STEWART BUTLER

After leaving college I studied law at the Harvard Law School for two years and then continued the study of law at the New York Law School in New York City, graduating from that school and being admitted to the bar in 1903. At that time I was a clerk in the office of De Forest Brothers, 30 Broad Street, New York City. In the autumn of 1903 I entered the office of Evarts, Tracy and Sherman, 52 Wall Street, and continued there as a clerk until February, 1907, when I opened an office for the general practice of the law, sharing my office with Henry Talmadge, 2d, who was a classmate of ours in college. On September 15, 1908, I became a partner of William M. Seabury, taking offices in the Mutual Life Building, 32 Nassau Street. I am a member of Squadron A, National Guard, State of New York, and have now been enlisted over five years. I am a member of the Harvard Club of New York, and also the University Club, and Down Town Association of that city.

CARLETON COLLIER BUTTERS

At present I am a cashier for Weld, Grew and Company, brokers, 27 State Street, Boston. My clubs are the Boston City Club, Old Belfry Club of Lexington, and the B. C. and W. Club of Concord.

RALPH FANNING BUTTS

I attended the Albany Law School for one year, 1901-1902, and was admitted to the bar in New York in July, 1902. I have practised law in Poughkeepsie since my admission to the bar. I was assistant district attorney of Dutchess County, New York, from January 1, 1907, to January 1, 1908. I belong to various clubs and societies in Poughkeepsie. On May 27, 1903, at Amenia, New York, I was married to Harriett Van Alstyne Tripp, daughter of Franklin Arnold and Minnie Van Alstyne Tripp. We have three children, Franklin Arnold Butts, born on September 26, 1904, Dorothy Elizabeth Butts, born on November 29, 1905, and Marion Van Alstyne Butts, born on April 7, 1907, all at Poughkeepsie, New York.

JOHN WINFORD BYERS

After I was graduated in 1899, I came back to Harvard as a candidate for an A.B., the degree I received having been an S.B. Securing an appointment with eight others as electrician under the United States commission at the Paris Exposition of 1900, I left Harvard in January for France, where I worked one year, first as electrician, and later as United States guard. While in Paris I received an offer to teach school in Montevideo, Uruguay, South America, and left immediately for South America, where I spent another year, returning to the United States by way of the Andes, the west coast, Chile, Peru, Panama, Mexico, and so forth, securing my present position as teacher in the Hitchcock Military Academy, San Rafael, California, the day I landed in San Francisco. I have been here seven years and have an interest in the business besides my salary.

ALVA JOHN CALDERWOOD

I have been an instructor in Latin at Grove City College from 1899 to 1901, and professor of Latin in the same College since 1901. I received the degree of Ph.D. in 1908. I have visited England, France, and Germany. On July 2, 1900, at New Bedford, Pennsylvania, I was married to Leonora Neal, daughter of James and Rebecca Neal. We have one child, Helen Frances Calderwood, born on November 30, 1902, at Grove City, Pennsylvania.

ALLAN REUBEN CAMPBELL

On leaving the Harvard Law School in 1902, this member went to New York City and lived for a year with H. F. Wolff '99, in the so-called "Tenderloin," during which this member was appointed notary public, admitted to the bar and to the Harvard Club, and employed by Reed, Simpson, Thacher and Barnum, lawyers. This member began in May, 1905, to practise law in his own name, inserted between those of Mark Hyman '99, and William D. Eaton '99 as his partners. Since that date this member has been principally and regularly engaged in that business, interrupted by the '99 sexennial, a winter's rest in Sicily (Italy and France visited), marriage to Gertrude Helen Du Bois, and the birth of a son (Walter Lowrie Campbell, born on July 31, 1908). This member belongs to the Loyal Legion of the United States; is secretary to a committee of Harvard Law School graduates devoted to supporting the market for Harvard unemployed in New York law offices; and has lectured in 1906-1907 and 1908-1909 in the Harvard Law School on New York practice.

JAMES McDOUGALL CAMPBELL

Since leaving New York in 1901 I have been in Huron, South Dakota, more or less constantly. I am connected with the First National Bank of this city as vice-president and director, and have been engaged in the loan and real estate business and various other enterprises in this vicinity. Outside of keeping my nose pretty close to the grindstone in a business way, my life has perhaps been uneventful. There are, however, some compensations for living here that offset many of its disadvantages, to those who like out-door sports, such as first-class shooting, fishing, riding, and so forth. At Minneapolis, on June 4, 1903, I was married to Martha Leona Pelton, daughter of Mary L. and the late J. N. Pelton. We have one daughter, Mary Alice Campbell, born on August 15, 1904, at Huron, South Dakota.

LEWIS BODMAN CANTERBURY

Since leaving college I have devoted my time exclusively to vocal music, teaching continuously at my present studio, 218 Tremont Street, Boston, and occupying, at the same time, positions in several quartet church choirs. I have held such positions in Tremont Temple, Boston; Eliot Church, Newton; Commonwealth Avenue Baptist Church, Boston; Piedmont Church, Worcester; and, at the present time, the First Parish Church, Cambridge. These musical interests have occupied my time to such an extent that I have had little or no time for travel, or even a desirable amount of social life. I belong to no clubs, have written no books, and held no offices. On October 16, 1900, I was married to Laura Annette Marceline, daughter of Charles Godfrey and Martha Finley Marceline, of Boston. We have two children, Sylvia Marceline Canterbury, born on May 24, 1901, and John Bodman Canterbury, born on June 4, 1906.

PHILIP GREENLEAF CARLETON

After graduation from Harvard College in 1899, I accepted a position as tutor in English in Columbia College for the year 1899-1900. The next year I was instructor in English in Columbia College. In both years, most of my work was in argumentative composition. In June, 1901, I resigned my position in order to begin the study of law. In the years 1901-1902, 1903-1904, 1904-1905, I was enrolled in the Harvard Law School, and took my degree of LL.B. with the class of 1905. During these years I was also teaching English in Harvard College, and in the year 1902-1903 gave my entire time to teaching, as chief assistant to Professor G. P. Baker in the argumentative courses. From 1902 to 1905 inclusive

I was instructor in English in Harvard College. In 1905 I resigned this position in order to practise law. From 1905 to the present time I have been associated with Walter I. Badger, Yale 1882, a prominent trial lawyer of Boston. My work has been almost entirely concerned with the preparation and trial of cases in court. I am not married, have written no books, and have travelled but little.

OTIS JOHNSON CARLTON

In August, 1899, I entered the law offices of Hon. William H. Moody, now an associate justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, and his associate, the late Joseph H. Pearl, situated in Haverhill, for the study of the law. I took the state bar examination in July, 1901, and the following September was admitted to the Essex Bar. Thereafter I formed an association with the late Mr. Pearl, which continued until October, 1904, when I became special assistant to the attorney-general, in the department of justice, in Washington, District of Columbia, Judge Moody then being attorney-general. I remained in Washington until the summer of 1907, when I returned to Haverhill to engage in practice. During the last year of my work in Washington I had charge of prosecutions under the national eight-hour law. On January 1, 1908, with Francis H. Pearl, I formed a co-partnership for the general practice of the law, with offices at 83 Merrimack Street, Haverhill. In 1903 and 1904 I served as an alderman of the city of Haverhill. I belong to the Fortnightly, Pentucket, Wachusett, and Island clubs. I have visited no foreign countries except for two short vacations: one spent in Canada, and the other in Jamaica. Recently I have been very much interested in the amendment to the Haverhill city charter, founded upon the Galveston and Des Moines plans, and in the election of competent and honest men to the public offices, created by the adoption of the said amendment. I had the honor to speak at a public meeting in Gloucester upon the charter amendment, similar to the one recently adopted in Haverhill. On February 14, 1905, I was married to Florence Nealley, daughter of Edward Hammond and Ella Nealley Hoyt, of Haverhill. To us has been born one child, a daughter, Harriet Hammond Carlton, on January 21, 1908.

ARETAS BLOOD CARPENTER

I am a paper manufacturer, at Manchester, New Hampshire, treasurer of the Amoskeag Paper Mills and of the Manchester Hardware Company, and a director of the Second National Bank of Manchester. On October 18, 1899, at Manchester, New Hampshire, I was married to Alice P. Burnham, daughter of Henry E. and Elizabeth Burnham. We have two children, Elizabeth Carpenter, born on July 1, 1900, and Eleanor Carpenter, born on December 9, 1902.

CHARLES LANCASTER CARR

From college I went to the Law School and took my LL.B. in 1902. For two or three years I was associated with older members of the bar in Boston; since then I have practised law in the same city on my own account. In 1907 I was elected to the Common Council of the City of Boston for the year 1908; and in the fall of 1908 I was elected to the board of aldermen of the same city for the year 1909. I am a member of the Republican Club of Massachusetts and a few other political clubs; of the Dorchester Yacht Club; of the Boston City Club and a few other social clubs. I am president of the Dorchester Conference of the Associated Charities of Boston and a member of the executive committee of the Dorchester Relief Society.

DANIEL KAYSER CATLIN

After graduation from the Harvard Law School in 1902, I spent a year in going around the world with my brother. On my return to St. Louis in 1904 I took up the practice of the law for two years in the office of Stewart, Eliot and Williams, after which I entered my brother's office where I now am. I was married on November 1, 1904, at Boston, to Gertrude Loring Hamlen, daughter of Nathaniel and Gertrude Loring Hamlen, and we have two children born to us, one daughter, Gertrude Loring Catlin, born on May 7, 1907, at Boston, and one son, Daniel Catlin, 2d, born on December 19, 1908, at St. Louis. We reside most of the year in St. Louis but spend the summer months at Dublin, New Hampshire. I belong to the University, Racquet, Noonday, and Country clubs of St. Louis; the University and Harvard clubs of New York; and the Tennis and Racquet Club of Boston.

THERON EPHRON CATLIN

After graduation from the Harvard Law School in 1902, I went around the world with my brother. On my return to St. Louis in the fall of 1903 I was admitted to the Missouri Bar. Shortly afterwards I became interested in politics, taking an active part in city and state campaigns. In 1906 I was elected to the Missouri Legislature in which I served for two years, not being a candidate, however, for re-election in November last. In St. Louis I belong to the University, Racquet, Noonday, and Country clubs; in New York to the Harvard and University clubs. I am not married.

ARTHUR FREEBORN CHACE

I received the degrees of M.D. and A.M. from Columbia University in 1903. I am a fellow of the New York Academy of Medicine, and secretary of the corporation of the New York Post-Graduate Medical School and Hospital. I have travelled through almost all of the European countries. I am a member of the Harvard Club of New York City.

LOUIS RAYMOND CHAPMAN

After graduation I attended the Harvard Law School until June, 1900. In September, 1900, I entered the Boston University Law School and received my LL.B. degree from there in June, 1902. I was a member of the Phi Delta Phi, Webster Chapter (B. U.) while there. In July, 1902, I was admitted to the Massachusetts Bar. From December, 1902, to February, 1905, I was practising law with Judge George S. Wentworth, Edward T. Baker, and Sprague and Morse, and on my own account at 728 Exchange Building, Boston. On February 28, 1905, I began to practise law with William B. Sprout, keeping an office of my own at 1010 Kimball Building, 18 Tremont Street, Boston, after June 23, 1906. From January, 1907, to the present date I have been practising law on my own account with an office at 1011-1013 Kimball Building, 18 Tremont Street, Boston. I have been a member of the Republican League Club of Ward 10, Boston. Since September, 1908, I have been active in politics in Ward 10.

SIDNEY MARSH CHASE

Since college I have spent a short time at a Boston Art School; then had a trip to California, and one abroad; more recently I have lived at Wilmington, Delaware, as a member of Mr. Pyle's Art Colony. At present I have my studio in Haverhill.

EGISTO FABRI CHAUNCEY

From 1898 to 1900 I was a student in the Episcopal Theological Seminary, Cambridge. In 1900 I received the degree of B.A. and was ordained deacon. From 1900 to 1904 I was curate at St. George's Church, New York City, and in 1901 I was ordained priest. During the years 1904 to 1906 I was an associate minister of the Church of Holy Trinity, Brooklyn, New York. I married Edith Lockwood Taft, daughter of Enos Nelson and Julia M. Taft, on April 20, 1904. Our son, Henry Chauncey, was born on February 9, 1905, at Brooklyn, New York. At present I am rector of St. Mark's Church, Mt. Kisko, New York.

HERBERT NEAL CHENEY

I entered the employ of the Boston Gas Company in July, 1899, and have remained with them ever since, being now engineer in charge, Calf Pasture Station, Boston Consolidated Gas Company. I am a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, of the New England Association of Gas Engineers, and of the Guild of Gas Managers of New England. I was married on November 21, 1900, to Bertha Riggs Mawson, at Allston, and have one child, Josephine, born on November 27, 1901.

CHARLES FRANCIS CHESSMAN

During the winter of 1899 and 1900 I studied for the teaching profession at the Bridgewater State Normal School. In July of the following year, 1900, I went to Europe, visiting Scotland, England, Holland, France, Switzerland, Italy, Greece, Constantinople, Roumania, Austria, Hungary, Germany, and Belgium, returning home about the first of May, 1901. The following winter I taught in the Weingart Institute, a private school in New York City. In the fall of 1903, I went to Weston, Oregon, and taught for a year in the Eastern Oregon State Normal School at that place. The next summer, 1904, I went to Berkeley, California and entered the graduate school of the University of California, remaining the full college year. The next summer, 1905, I visited Riverside, California and while there nearly died of typhoid fever. I left the hospital early in the month of September, and on September 28, 1905, at Los Angeles, California, I was married to Violet Elizabeth Bowlby, daughter of John Quincy Adams and Georgianna (Brown) Bowlby. In October I went to Grants Pass, Oregon, and in November got a country school at Waldo, Oregon. In the fall of 1906, I secured the principalship of the grammar grades in Lewiston, Idaho. After teaching in that capacity for five months I was offered the same position in the Lewiston State Normal Training School. Since that time, February 1, 1907, I have been connected with the normal school. My present position is that of registrar and instructor in Latin.

EDWIN OTIS CHILDS, JR.

My successes since college days have been ordinary. I have done no wonderful things. While a senior in college I attended lectures in the Law School and after graduation I entered Boston University Law School where I received my LL.B. in June, 1901. I was admitted to the bar immediately and have been practising law in Boston ever since. My present office is at 409-10 Sears Building. I was married to Mildred Etta Roy, daughter of Felix and Etta Roy, of Watertown on January 11, 1908. I am a member of the Massachusetts Republican Club and the Middlesex Club. I have been active in politics in the city of Newton, where I was born and still reside, but have held no public office save that of a member of the board of health. Practically all of my spare time since college days has been spent in organizing and carrying on the work of the Nonantum Boys' Club—a club for young fellows in the mill district of Newton. Starting with a group of twenty-five lads, the club has grown until it now has a membership of four hundred and twenty-five, of all ages and nationalities. The club motto is "a better citizen," and realizing that the boys of today will be the men of tomorrow, I am doing my humble part towards making them good citizens. I have been a member of the board of directors of the Newton Young Men's Christian Association since 1898, and for several years have been the president of the Good Citizenship Association of Newton, and the Nonantum Boys' Club. I have worked with my classmates, Ensign and Stratton, to some extent in carrying on the "Tribune-Enterprise," the weekly paper which Stratton edits in Watertown.

HOWARD CLAPP

After leaving college I was in business for a while and then entered the Harvard Dental School in 1903, being graduated with the degree D.M.D. (cum laude) in 1906. Since that time I have practised dentistry, first at 130 Commonwealth Avenue, later at my present address, 238 Newbury Street. I am a member of the following societies: Harvard Dental Alumni Association, Massachusetts Dental Society, and the National Dental Society.

ROGER CLAPP

I am practising law in Boston.

EDWARD PALMER CLARK

My present occupation is designer and architect for Alley and Emery, interior decorators, 40 Beacon Street, Boston.

HOWARD CLARKE

I have been somewhat migratory since my premature exit from Cambridge, finally settling in New Mexico about five years ago. The call of the sheep drew me here, and the wool on their backs has enabled me to eat heartily ever since. I am treasurer of a corporation in this city which manufactures all manner of leather goods. Of course, living where I do I am interested in mines. Before settling here I was in business in Chicago, afterwards in Honolulu, still later in the city of Mexico, then here. No longer a rolling stone, I am beginning to acquire a little moss. I belong to half a dozen clubs all over the country, which I never attend, have written voluminously, in a political strain, without compensation, and still play tennis like mad whenever I have time. On April 25, 1906, at Albuquerque, New Mexico, I was married to Ada Harthorne Campfield, daughter of George A. and Dora Harthorne Campfield. We had one child, Beverly Campfield Clarke, born on December 28, 1907, at Albuquerque, who died on the next day. My wife died on January 2, 1908.

THOMAS WOOD CLARKE

After leaving Harvard in 1898, I entered the medical department of the Johns Hopkins University, returning to Cambridge in June, 1899, to receive my degree with my class.

Graduating from the Johns Hopkins Medical School in 1902, my class standing was such as to give me my choice of appointments on the house staff of the Johns Hopkins Hospital, and I selected that of medical house officer on the service of Dr. William Osler. In this capacity I served for one year. In the fall of 1903, I went to Cleveland, Ohio, where I served for two years as resident physician to the Lakeside Hospital and for a few weeks as acting assistant resident gynecologist. While in Cleveland I became a member of the University Club, the Academy of Medicine, the Ohio State Medical Society, and Troop A, Ohio National Guard. In the fall of 1905, I went to Europe to make a special study of the diseases of children. My first stopping place was in London, where through the influence of Dr. Osler, at that time recently appointed Regius Professor of Medicine at Oxford, I was appointed "clinical clerk" in the Hospital for Sick Children, Great Ormond Street, and had the honor of serving for six months under Dr. Archibald Garrod, F.R.C.P. At the same time I spent two mornings a week at the Royal London Ophthalmic Hospital. In April, 1906, I took a flying trip through Belgium, and then went to Berlin, where I was appointed volunteer assistant in the polyclinic of Professor Heubner in the Charite Krankenhaus. After four months more in Dresden and Vienna, I returned by invitation to London, where I became acting clinical assistant in the Hospital for Sick Children, serving under Dr. Robert Hutchison, F.R.C.P., and also research student in Dr. Garrod's laboratory of chemical pathology at St. Bartholomew's Hospital. While there, through some small discoveries I was able to make in connection with a rare form of blood disease, I was invited to address the Royal Medico-Chirurgical Society, and to open the discussion at a meeting of the Pathological Society of London. Returning to America in April, 1907, I spent six months with my family in Utica, New York, and then entered on my duties as fellow of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research in New York City, where, under the auspices of Dr. L. Emmett Holt, I have been studying the chemistry of the digestion of milk by the young infant, and at the same time have served as acting clinical assistant in the children's department of the medical department of the Vanderbilt Clinic of Columbia University. On July 1, 1908, I opened an office at 125 West Seventy-sixth Street, New York, for the practice of medicine. I am a member of the New York County and State Medical societies. I have recently been taken on the editorial staff of the Medical Record, and have become associated with Dr. Henry Hall Forbes, of New York, for the practice of medicine, in his office at 96 Park Avenue, New York, next door to the Murray Hill Hotel. I am a member of the Harvard Club of New York. I am not yet married, but intend to be as soon as possible. Though I have written no books, I have been fairly active in writing for the medical journals. The following article have appeared: from Cleveland—"Repeated Copious Hæmoptysis from an Aortic Aneurism," Johns Hopkins Hospital Bulletin, 1905; "The Value of Massive Doses of Salycilates in the Diagnosis and Treatment of Acute Articular Rheumatism," American Journal of Medical Sciences, 1906; "Copious Water Drinking and Polyuria in Typhoid Fever," ibid 1905; "A Case of Congenital Hepatoptosis, Showing a Mese-hepar," ibid 1905; "Pulmonary Gangrene Following Foreign Bodies in the Bronchi," ibid 1906; and "The Value of Alchohol in Carbolic Acid Poisoning," Journal American Medical Association, 1906. From London—"The Use of Rubber Gloves in Medical Wards," Lancet, June, 1906; "A New Case of Alkaptonuria," Bio-Chemical Journal, 1907; "Idiopathic Cyanosis due to Sulph-hæmoglobinæmia," Lancet, 1907; "On Sulph-hæmoglobin," Journal of Physiology, 1907. From New York (to be published shortly)—"The Effect of the General Health on the Conformation of the Jaw," American Orthodontist, 1909; "The Gastric Digestion of Infants," American Journal of Medical Sciences, May 1909; "The Effect of Certain of the So-called Milk Modifiers on the Gastric Digestion of Infants," ibid, June, 1909; "Some Rare Forms of Cyanosis," American Journal Medical Sciences, 1909; and "Medical Progress and the Lower Animals," Presbyterian Hospital Quarterly Magazine, New York, April, 1909.

THOMAS HENRY CLARKSON

On April 30, 1906, at Boston, I was married to Jessie Marie McKinnon.

CHARLES HENRY CLEAVES

[Mr. Cleaves gives no other information about himself than his address, which is Rockport.]

WILLIAM BALCH COFFIN

Immediately after graduation I sailed for Europe with W. G. Quincy '01. During the summer we visited the following countries, England, Scotland, France, Switzerland, Germany, Belgium, and Holland, bicycling and tramping part of the time. Returning home in the fall I entered the office of N. W. Harris and Company, bankers, of Boston. After serving in various office-boy and clerical positions, I was sent out to the Chicago office of the same concern in October, 1901. There I worked in the municipal buying department, travelling much of the time to attend bond sales in the middle western states. After a year in Chicago, I came back to Boston and went out as a bond salesman covering the western part of Massachusetts. About this time I decided to make a radical change in occupation. Consequently, in the fall of 1904, I entered the Massachusetts Institute of Technology as a student in architecture. I remained there three years, working in an office part of the summer vacation. In May, 1907, I received the degree of S.B. in architecture and the following month I went to work for R. Clipston Sturgis '81, architect, Boston, where I have since been employed as draughtsman. In April, 1908, I became engaged to Dorothy Winsor Soule of Brookline, daughter of Charles C. Soule, '62. On May 6, 1909, I joined the ranks of the married men of '99. I might add that since graduation I have been interested in various sports, confining my efforts chiefly to tennis in the summer, river skating and skiing in the winter, and quick-water canoeing in the spring. I am a member of the Harvard Club of Boston, the Boston City Club and the Boston Architectural Club.

GEORGE ALBERT COLE

On leaving college just before the mid-year examinations of our senior year, I entered the treasurer's office of the United States Oil Company in Boston where I remained until the spring of 1899. At that time I entered the employ of the Durable Wire Rope Company and travelled for this company. In the fall of 1900 I settled in Buffalo as agent for that territory for the Durable Wire Rope Company. On April 24, 1901, I married Mary Elizabeth Wood, daughter of Charles Henry and Elizabeth Lowell Hancock Wood, of Brookline, and continued to live in Buffalo. In the fall of 1901 I entered the employ of A. J. Wright, of Buffalo, New York, banker and broker, and a member of the New York Stock Exchange. In the fall of 1902 I entered the employ of the Ryder Belt and Cordage Company, as its secretary. On February 12, 1902, a daughter, Elizabeth Lowell Hancock Cole, was born. I remained with the Ryder Belt and Cordage Company until April, 1905, at which time I moved back east with my family, and took up my residence in Hingham, where I am still residing. Since my return I have been engaged in the real estate and insurance business with an office at 50 Congress Street, Boston. On August 13, 1906, a son, Morton Cole, was born.

LOCKETT GWIN COLEMAN

Upon graduation I entered the service of the Grand Trunk Railway, Montreal as machinist apprentice. After a few months I went to the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad at Scranton, where I remained for some months in various positions. I entered the service of the Rogers Locomotive Works in 1901 and returned to the Grand Trunk in 1902, in whose service I have been ever since. At present I am assistant superintendent of the eastern division at Belleville, Ontario. On June 12, 1906, at Montreal, Canada, I was married to Kathleen Davidson, daughter of C. P. and Alice Watice Davidson. We have one son, Lockett Coleman, born on May 30, 1907, at Belleville, Ontario.

SILAS COBB COLEMAN

On January 16, 1904, at Lansing, Michigan, I was married to Daisy Isabel Derby, daughter of James Daniel and Agnes Leonore Bancroft Derby. Our first child, Leonora Coleman, born on August 8, 1905, died on September 15, 1905. Our second child, Catherine Coleman, was born on September 7, 1907.

FORREST FOSTER COLLIER

In 1902 I was graduated from the Harvard Law School and during the year 1903-1904 I was an alderman of the city of Chelsea. After 1904 I moved from Chelsea to Billerica. For the past four years I have been a member of the legal department of the Boston Elevated Railway. Since October 1, 1908, I have been associated with George V. Leverett and Howard K. Brown, both Harvard men, for the general practice of law, at 53 Devonshire Street, Boston, although I am still acting as a trial attorney for the Boston Elevated Railway. On October 29, 1903, I was married to Lucy Bryant Foster, at Billerica. I have had four children, Forrest Foster Collier, Jr., born on August 8, 1904; Dudley Foster Collier, born on January 13, 1906; Bryant Foster Collier, born on April 14, 1907; and Janet Foster Collier, born on May 28, 1908. My son, Bryant, died on June 5, 1908.

ARTHUR JOSEPH COLLINS

I continued in Harvard during the academic year 1899-1900 and received an A.M. degree in June. On July 10, 1900, I was elected superintendent of schools in the Sheffield District, in the southwestern corner of Massachusetts, where I had the supervision of schools in five towns. At the end of four years I was elected superintendent of schools in the old town of Danvers, just outside of Boston. After three years of service I was called to a much better position as superintendent of schools in Lewiston, Maine, the second city in the state. My entire time has been given to school work, and my addresses to clubs and societies, as well as my papers before state and county conventions, have generally been on school topics. Public playgrounds, domestic science, and medical inspection of schools have received considerable attention, and the establishment of these departments in Lewiston is largely due to my efforts. I am a member of the Maine Academy of Medicine and Science, an incorporator of the Central Maine General Hospital, and I belong to the Methodist Episcopal Church, Masonic Order, and several local societies. On September 29, 1896, at Tacoma, Washington, I was married to Mary Gertrude Hankey, daughter of August and Catherine Hankey. We have two sons: Homer Arthur Collins, born on July 19, 1897; and Albert Norman Collins, born on April 7, 1902.

LEWIS KINGSBURY CONANT

Since leaving college, I have been associated with the E. V. Mitchell Company, Medfield, in the manufacturing of ladies' and children's hats. At present I am a director and general manager of the company. I am first vice-president of the Medfield Board of Trade, director of the Medfield Co-operative Bank, and secretary of the school committee. I have stayed fairly close to Massachusetts since my marriage on September 2, 1903, to Edith May Harwood, daughter of Willard and Mary Baxter Hamant Harwood.

JAMES BENNETT CONNOLLY

I am an author and have written the following books: "Out of Gloucester," "The Seiners," "The Deep Sea's Toll," "The Crested Seas," "Jeb Hutton," and "An Olympic Victor."

These have been published by Charles Scribner's Sons, New York; Hodder and Houghton, London; Duckworth, Turner and Company, London; and I have also written some stories translated and published in Stuttgart, Germany. I am a member of the Society of the Army of Santiago de Cuba and the American Institute of Arts and Letters. I have made two trips to the Arctic Ocean, ten or twelve trips to Europe, and trips to South America, and various parts of North America. On September 28, 1904, at South Boston, I was married to Elizabeth Frances Hurley, daughter of William J. and Ann Hurley.

WILLIAM HENRY CONROY

On February 11, 1905, at New York, I was married to Blanche W. Dingee, daughter of Albert H. and Emma Ivins Dingee.

PHILIP HOWARD COOK

I am a general practitioner of medicine, making something of a specialty of the X-ray. I am skiagrapher to the Worcester City and Memorial hospitals, and physician to outpatients on the staff of the former. I have published "Fractures of the Tarsal Scaphoid Bone" in the Annals of Surgery, October, 1907, and sundry case reports. I am a member of the Massachusetts Medical Society, Owl Club (medical), Aesculapian Club of Boston, Worcester Harvard Club, Economic Club, Worcester Golf Club, and a secret order. My experience of foreign countries has as yet been confined to a vacation trip to New Brunswick. Profession and pocket-book combined have proved a contra-indication. To these facts I have little to add. My life has been the usual routine of a city physician.

CARLETON SPRAGUE COOKE

I have been a member of the firm of Vanderpoel and Freedman, lawyers, since 1903. I have contributed various professional articles to periodicals and journals. I am a member of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, and of the Harvard Club of that city. On April 10, 1902, I was married to Miriam Wilder Goodwin, daughter of Almon and Maud Wilder Goodwin. We have one son, Almon Goodwin Cooke, born on September 4, 1904.

HOWARD COONLEY

Immediately after leaving college, in company with Walworth Pierce, I took a fourteen months' trip around the world, visiting Japan, China, Malay Peninsula, Java, Burmah, India, Ceylon, Egypt, and the continent. Upon returning to this country I entered the employ of the Walter Baker Company, Limited, first in their Chicago office, later being sent to New York City. In 1903 I left the Walter Baker Company, Limited, and with my brothers J. S. Coonley, 1895, and P. L. Coonley, 1903, started a plant at Clyde, Illinois, just out of Chicago, for the manufacture of enameled cooking utensils. At that time I was vice-president of the company, but in 1905 I was made president, my brothers retiring from active management. As is the case with most new factories, the first three years were very trying ones, but since that time we have been progressing steadily, and in spite of the depression, have just completed a very satisfactory year. I was married on April 18, 1901, to Leslie Walker May, daughter of George P. and Alice Walworth May, of Boston, and have three boys, Howard Coonley, Jr., born on August 16, 1902, John Clark Coonley, born on September 24, 1904, and Dudley Avery Coonley, born on May 24, 1908. We live at Riverside about ten miles west of Chicago. I belong to the University Club, Union League Club, and City Club, all of Chicago; the Riverside Golf Club, the Harvard Club of New York, and the Harvard Union. I am the president of the Coonley Manufacturing Company of Clyde, Illinois, vice-president of the Decalcomania Company, and director in the C. B. Live Stock Company, and in the Link Belt Company of Chicago, Indianapolis, and Philadelphia.

EDWARD PRENTISS COSTIGAN

I have practised law in Denver, Colorado, continuously since the year of my graduation. My experience has been general, with particular emphasis, possibly, on real estate and mining business. At various times I have represented western merchants and commercial interests before the Interstate Commerce Commission. I have appeared in the courts and elsewhere as attorney for such organizations as the League for Honest Elections, the Law Enforcement League, the Direct Primary Elections League, the Colorado Anti-Saloon League, and the Civil Service Reform Association of Denver, being the present president of the last named body. In 1906 I delivered an address before the Colorado Bar Association, reported in the Association's volume for that year. On June 12, 1903, at Denver, Colorado, I was married to Mabel Gertrude Cory, daughter of Jerome B. and Amanda McLeon Cory.

JOHN PAGE COTTON

After leaving college I spent about a year in the Windward Islands, principally in the Barbados and Trinidad. On my return to Boston I entered a real estate office as a clerk. After about a year I found the firm was not making enough money to support me. I therefore retired. Since that time I have been with Wellington, Sears and Company, a commission house for the sale of cotton—piece-goods. Within the last two years I have been interested in municipal politics and have already advanced to the position of treasurer of the Republican Ward 22 Committee.

GEORGE GLOVER CROCKER, JR.

After graduation I entered the Harvard Law School where I was graduated in 1902 and was admitted to the Suffolk Bar in the same year. I began practice the fall of that year and in the next year went into partnership with my cousin, George U. Crocker, Harvard '84, giving special attention to trust estates and probate matters. I am treasurer, director or clerk of several business corporations, and treasurer of the Massachusetts Charitable Society. On June 8, 1905, I married Julia Hurd Hutchins, daughter of Constantine F. and Mary S. Hutchins, and have two children, George Glover Crocker, 3d, born on May 21, 1906, and Constance Crocker, born on May 26, 1908. I am a member of the Country Club of Brookline, and the Exchange Club of Boston.

JAMES LEO CROWLEY

I received my LL.B. from Boston University in 1904 and I am now an attorney at law.

JOHN HENRY CUNNINGHAM, JR.

If possessed of egoism instead of modesty, the secretary's request for this narrative would be more cheerfully received. To be brief, my occupation is healing the sick. I have not found time to study the emotional life, nor to raise children, which may be readily understood by the answer to the next question—"Books or Articles you have written." 1. "Experiments on Saprolegnia Ferax," Journal of the Boston Society of Medical Sciences, 1899. 2. "Hypernephroma" (with Dr. Paul Thorndike), Boston Medical and Surgical Journal, 1903. 3. "A Table for Operations on the Kidney," Boston Medical and Surgical Journal, 1903. 4. "Gastric Dilatation and Tetany," Annals of Surgery, 1904. 5. "A Frame for Treatment of Fractures of the Lower Extremities," Boston Medical and Surgical Journal, 1903. 6. "A Study of the Various Forms of Prostatic Hypertrophy from Post Mortem Specimens and by the Cystoscope, with Reference to the Operation," Annals of Surgery, 1905. 7. "The Cases of Renal and Ureteral Calculi at the Boston City Hospital," Boston Medical and Surgical Journal, 1905. 8. "A Method of Producing Ether Narcosis by Rectum, with a Report of Forty-one Cases," Boston Medical and Surgical Journal, 1905. 9. "Treatment of Prostatic Hypertrophy. The Consideration of the Various Methods of Treatment Based upon the Mortality and the Report of Twenty-four Cases of Medium Perineal Prostatectomy,'' Boston Medical and Surgical Journal, 1907. 10. ''Recurrent Intermittent Retention of Urine Occurring with the Remissions in a Case of Pernicious Anæmia—the Final Result of a Bottini Operation for Associated Prostatic Hypertrophy,'' Annals of Surgery, 1907. 11. ''A Soluble Bobbin for Intestinal Anastomosis,'' Boston Medical and Surgical Journal, 1907. 12. ''Rectal Anesthesia,'' Boston Medical and Surgical Journal, 1907. 13. ''Filariasis,'' Annals of Surgery, 1906. 14. ''Congenital Occlusions of the Male Urethra,'' American Journal of Dermatology and Genito Urinary Diseases, 1907. 15. ''Acute Gonorrheal Epididymitis with Special Reference to the Operative Treatment,'' Boston Medical and Surgical Journal, 16. ''Preparation of Patients for Prostectomy and their After-Care.'' 17. ''Experimental Anuria.'' 18. ''The Treatment of Syphilis with Special Reference to the Injection Method.'' 19. ''The Value of the Ureta Catheta in the Diagnosis of Stones in the Ureta and Septic Conditions of the Kidney.'' 20. ''Prolapse of the Rectum.'' 21. ''Diseases and Surgery of the Genito Urinary System'' (with Dr. Francis S. Watson), Lea and Febiger, Philadelphia, 1908. Whatever merit there may be in this profusion of apparent knowledge is of course questionable. Among them there are two which if any, might receive special mention; one, ''The Method of Etherization by Rectum,'' which method was the result of overworking of the writer's brain, and which method has become adopted in certain classes of cases, in foreign countries as well as in our own. The other is the text book on diseases of the genito-urinary system, written with Dr. Francis S. Watson, through whose kindness I was made a joint author. I can recommend this book to the members of the class as being the most complete work in English or any other language. As to ''membership in learned societies,'' I have the misfortune of having to pay dues yearly to the following list: American Association of Genito-Urinary Surgeons, American Urological Association, American Medical Association, Massachusetts Medical Association, Boston Society of Medical Sciences, and Boston Medical Library Association. I regret that I cannot say much regarding any "office of profit," being always reduced to the least common denominator financially. As to "honor or trust," I have no acquaintance. It might here be stated, however, that I hold the position of visiting surgeon to the Long Island Hospital, Boston, and also the position of assistant visiting surgeon at the Boston City Hospital. "The clubs" where the idle hours are shortened are: the University Club, Boston Athletic Association, Boston Yacht Club, Harvard Club of New York, and Harvard Club of Boston. The "foreign countries visited" have been under the auspices of the Harvard Travellers Club.

BRIDGHAM CURTIS

After graduation from the Columbia Law School in 1902, I was admitted to the New York Bar and entered the office of Guthrie, Cravath, and Henderson. I left that office in 1905 and entered the office of Simpson, Thacher, and Bartlett, where I have since remained.

JAMES FREEMAN CURTIS

In the autumn of 1899 I entered the office of Williams and Appleton, dealing in real estate and kindred business, where I became a promoter of various enterprises all of which "went broke" with varying degrees of speed and accuracy. I then went to a business college to learn bookkeeping; next to Montague Chamberlain's new auditing company, where I had five weeks of delightful leisure; then I became office boy in a bond house, whence I went to the Law School in the fall of 1900. While there I was a member of the Pow Wow and Williston Law Clubs, the Choate Chapter of the Phi Delta Phi Fraternity (hush!) and an editor of the Law Review. In the summer of 1901 I went abroad and looked over the good things of England, Scotland, France, Belgium, and Holland, being accompanied at various times by the two Catlins, H.

James, F. Curtis, and R. S. Warner. In the following summer I went west over the Canadian Pacific Railroad with R. A. Jackson, penetrating as far north as Skagway, Alaska, and as far south as Los Angeles. We saw most of the natural beauties of the continent and a few artificial ones. In July, 1903, I took (and passed) the Massachusetts Bar examinations and in September entered the office of Storey, Thorndike, Palmer, and Thayer in Boston, where I immediately added to the lustre of an already brilliant bar. I stayed there till February, 1906, when I left to become an assistant attorney general under Mr. Malone, who had just been elected to office. On March 1, 1909, I resigned and became assistant district attorney for Suffolk County. I have written no books nor articles, nor do I hold membership in any learned societies, though I have frequently been put up at the York Harbor Reading Rooms. I received the degree of LL.B. from Harvard in 1903. My office of profit I have above described. I hold one of a little honor, but no profit, to wit: membership in a commission to revise and codify the laws relating to insane persons; the other two members being eminent alienists, find me an excellent subject. I belong to the Tavern, Tennis and Racquet, Country, Essex County, Longwood Cricket, and Harvard clubs of Boston and New York.

ROBERT PARSONS CUSHING

I am at present chief chemist with Kistler, Lesh and Company, tanners, Lock Haven, Pennsylvania. On June 2, 1903, at Brookline, I was married to Florence Walter Turner, daughter of Walter Allan and Augusta S. Turner. Since January, 1903, I have lived at Lock Haven, Pennsylvania.

SAMUEL CLARK CUTLER

The Decennial No. 1, under date of February 1, has just arrived, and I have taken great pleasure in reading every word of it. For the last few years I have been living in a city infested with Yale men, and regret to say that I have even become so degraded as to occupy the same suite of rooms with two of them. They are, however, very decent fellows, notwithstanding the fact that they are Yale men. You who live in the East, who are continually bumping up against Harvard men, and '99 men, cannot realize how good it seems to receive a publication on the order of the Decennial. It seems like a letter from home, and I feel sure that if this publication is continued, that it will have a great influence in lowering the obstacles in the path of those members of the Class living outside of New England, in their scramble to Cambridge next June. The Harvard Club had the pleasure of entertaining Mr. J. D. Greene at its annual dinner last Friday night. He inspired all present with the new sentiments in Cambridge; and, with the help of the meeting of the Associated Harvard Clubs in Cincinnati, in the spring, I believe you can count on the Middle West being well represented. Owing to my naturally modest disposition, I have not told you much of the story of my life, for it has been somewhat uneventful and only fairly profitable. Immediately upon leaving college I went to Philadelphia, working for the B. F. Sturtevant Company. In the course of two years I developed into a general utility man, and in January, 1902, was offered the position of manager of the Cleveland office. In 1906 I bought an interest in the Republic Belting and Supply Company, of this city, formerly the Bodifield Belting Company, and was made vice-president of that concern. In making this change I resigned my former position, but continued to handle the products of the B. F. Sturtevant Company for the above concern. Last March I sold my interest in this concern and have continued to represent the Sturtevant Company in the northern half of Ohio, I am a member of the University, Hermit, Union, and Harvard clubs of Cleveland, also the Chamber of Commerce, and have just completed a five year enlistment in Troop A of the Ohio National Guard. This organization, known as the Black Horse Troop, is one of the best in the country, and has acted as escort for all the Ohio presidents. I expect to accompany them to Washington next month, where they will act as the personal escort of President-elect Taft.

WALTER LIVINGSTON CUTTING

Walter Livingston Cutting was born at Pittsfield on August 11, 1875. His father was Colonel Walter Cutting, of New York, his mother, Maria Center Pomeroy, of Pittsfield. He was educated in a private school in Pittsfield and Cutler's School, New York, until he entered Groton School, on October, 18, 1888, from which he was graduated in 1895. He took an active interest in athletics and played on the school nine. He was confirmed while at Groton by Bishop Phillips Brooks. He entered Harvard in September, 1895, and was graduated in 1899, and then took the agricultural course in the University of Wisconsin, during the winter of 1899-1900. He spent the summer of 1901 travelling abroad, after which he settled down at Meadow Farm, Pittsfield, and remained there until his death, as manager of this farm which was owned by his father. On November 18, 1905, he married Marian Decatur Mayo, at Norfolk, Virginia. Colonel Cutting died on July 23, 1907, and his son died suddenly six weeks later, on September 2, 1907, at Kittery Point, Maine, and was buried at Pittsfield.

M. C. H.

FRED WALLIS DAGGETT

I have been engaged for the last five or six years as a superintendent of construction on a variety of engineering enterprises, and of late have been devoting my attention to re-inforced concrete building work, and have designed and built several factory buildings and houses. I have made a few small contributions to the technical press on these matters, and am an associate member of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

ISRAEL DAMON

After a year, 1899-1900, in the Harvard Graduate School, I accepted a position as assistant in the Latin and Greek department of Adams Academy, Quincy. Leaving this position in 1901, I took charge of the work in ancient and modern languages at Rock Ridge Hall, Wellesley Hills. Here I remained in this line of work until the summer of 1904. In the fall of 1902, I was married to Effie Eacret, daughter of Michael and Elizabeth H. Eacret, of Englewood, New Jersey. During the remainder of the year 1902 we lived at Wellesley Hills. In 1903 we went to Newton Highlands, although I continued teaching at Rock Ridge Hall until June, 1904. While in Newton our first child, Godfrey Eacret Damon, was born on December 9, 1903. In July, 1904, I obtained a position, where I am at present engaged, as the head of the Latin and Greek department in Belmont School, Belmont California. Here our second child, Helen Elizabeth Damon, was born on September 11, 1907.

EDWARD PERKINS DAVIS

After graduation from college I started in the real estate business in which I have been ever since. I spent seven years in Boston and in September, 1906, started in business for myself in St. Paul, Minnesota, where I am now located and where I am managing and looking after real estate for other people. Since coming out here I have been much interested in advancing the interests of Harvard in this part of the country, and in 1907 was elected secretary of the Harvard Club of Minnesota, which office I still hold. On October 10, 1908, I was married to Agnes Blake of Brookline.

PIERPONT DAVIS

After being graduated from the Harvard Law School in June, 1902, I went abroad and visited England, France, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Switzerland, Austria, and Italy, returning to New York City in October of that year, where I entered the office of Dos Passos Brothers, attorneys, as law clerk. In April, 1903, I passed the bar examination and the next month was admitted to the practice of the law in the state of New York. In May, 1904, I left Dos Passos Brothers and began to practise law on my own account, being associated in business with Thomas Kearny with offices in the Mutual Life Building, 32 Nassau Street. On January 1, 1905, Mr. Kearny and I formed a partnership for the practice of law, under the firm name of Kearny and Davis, which has existed up to the present time, our office address remaining the same. Besides being admitted to practise law in New York State, I am a registered patent attorney at Washington, District of Columbia, and have been admitted to the practice of law in the circuit court of the United States and circuit court of appeals, second circuit. I am a member of the following clubs: Bar Association of the City of New York; the New York County Lawyers Association; the Harvard Union; and Knickerbocker and Ibis clubs of New York City.

CHARLES WILLOUGHBY DAYTON, JR.

For three years after leaving Harvard I was in the law office of Coudert Brothers in New York City. Shortly after my admission to the bar in 1901, I became associated with my father in his law office and remained with him until his retirement from practice on January 1, 1907, which was caused by his election as a justice of the supreme court of the state of New York. From January, 1907, to September, 1907, I was in partnership with Alfred Hayes, Jr., who retired from practice on the latter date to become a professor in the Cornell Law School, a position which he now holds. Since Mr. Hayes' retirement I have continued to practise law alone. I am a member of the Association of the Bar of New York City, Bar Association of New York State, New York County Bar Association, Harvard Club of New York, New England Society, Sons of the Revolution, Society of the Colonial Wars, Tammany Society, Manhattan Club, Harlem Democratic Club, Friendly Sons of St. Patrick, and St. Andrew's Golf Club, of which I am secretary.

HORACE BUNCE DEAN

I taught in the high school (for whites) at Evansville, Indiana, as head of the history department in 1899-1900; in public grammar schools, numbers one hundred and fifty-four, ninety, and seventy in New York City, from June, 1900, to April, 1902; in the Green Street German American School in Newark, New Jersey, in May and June, 1902; in a public grammar school (for whites) in Livingston, Alabama, in 1902-1903; in Frederick College, a state-aided private grammar and high school for white boys and young men, at Frederick, Maryland, in 1903-1904; I worked in woolen mills in Massachusetts and Connecticut from June 10, 1904 till January 15, 1906. The more prosperous of the concerns by which I was employed were the American Woolen Company, with factory at Moosup, Connecticut, and S. Slater and Sons, Incorporated, of Webster. I have read proof for the past three years and two months, except during the autumn of 1908, when for several weeks I worked as retail book salesman for E. P. Dutton and Company, 31 West Twenty-third Street, New York, and for R. E. Sherwood, 48-50 Maiden Lane, New York. At present I am head reader at the Nation Press, 20 Vesey Street, New York. I have been employed as proof reader by the Boston Transcript, for two years; the New London Day; and Doubleday, Page and Company, 133 East Sixteenth Street, New York. I studied the philosophy of education and American history at Cornell during the summer of 1901, and the history of education at Teachers College, Columbia, in 1901-1902. My vacations have been spent loafing at the following places: Cambridge, 1899; Colebrook, Connecticut, 1900; Buffalo and Springville, New York, 1901; Patterson, New York, 1902 (I did light gardening); Palmer Place, Woodstock, Connecticut, 1903 and 1904; Wellesley, 1907 (I went canoeing in the afternoons after having read proof till half past three in Boston); Brooklyn, and New Brighton, New York, and East Hartland, Connecticut, 1908. I am single. During the last decade I have been in excellent health. I belong to the Young Men's Christian Association. I enjoyed the Harvard Union privileges during 1907. Hearty greetings to all of you.

LEWIS AMORY DE BLOIS

After leaving college, I spent nine months in the shops of the General Electric Company at Schenectady, leaving that place for St. Louis, where I earned a modest stipend for three years with the local Edison Company as electrical engineer. I then spent three months abroad in France, Italy, and Greece, and for a year afterwards hunted a new job, during which period I was variously employed in New York, Pittsburg, and Quincy, eventually entering the employ of the DuPont Powder Company of Wilmington, Delaware, with whom I have remained ever since. I occupy the position of an engineer in the light, heat, and power division, and am especially interested in the manufacture of smokeless powder and high explosives. Two years ago while in the hospital in San Francisco with appendicitis, the earthquake occurred and very nearly finished the business. However, after several complications, operations, and a close acquaintance with numerous hospitals, I have come out of it both poorer and wiser, as well as richer for an eight months in Italy, Dalmatia, Bosnia, and Spain, and am now hard at work again.

JOHN ARCHIBALD DENHOLM

In November, 1899, I entered the employ of Wright and Colton Wire Cloth Company, Worcester, and am now assistant treasurer of the same company, the name of which is now Wright Wire Company. I was married on September 15, 1902, at Worcester, to Edith Lydia Warren, daughter of William Everett and Sarah Houghton Warren, I have one daughter and one son, born as follows: Barbara Denholm, on August 11, 1903; John Archibald Denholm, Jr., on January 3, 1906. Both children were born at Worcester. I am a member of the Tatnuck Country Club, Winter Club, Worcester Harvard Club, and Worcester Economic Club.

GEORGE HURST DENISON

Since leaving the Harvard Law School I have been here in Syracuse. I was admitted to the bar in 1903 and practised law for four years, with White, Cheney and Shinaman. I am at present with the Heffron Company of Syracuse, manufacturers. I am a member of the Citizens and Century clubs of this city. I think that is about all.

JOSEPH CHARLES DENNIS

After graduation I attended the Harvard Law School from which I was graduated in 1902. I am now engaged in following the law in the glorious Northwest, having settled in Tacoma, the best city in the country. I am in partnership with Thomas F. Ray, Harvard '92, the firm name being Ray and Dennis. Harvard has no more enthusiastic graduates than those who have settled in the Northwest. At Tacoma, Seattle, and Spokane, we have formed Harvard clubs, and the Harvard men are pulling together in good shape. I have little to report in regard to myself, except that I am doing well and hope to get to Cambridge in June.

HENRY STURGIS DENNISON

I started with the Dennison Manufacturing Company as a laborer, July 17, 1899, and became a foreman in the sealing wax department in December, 1900. I was transferred to the office in 1902 and appointed manager of works in August, 1906. In town affairs I was secretary of the committee to investigate the purchase of the Framingham Water Company, and was chairman of the committee to effect the purchase, and in 1907 chairman of the water commissioners. I am also a trustee and vice-president of the Framingham Hospital. I was married to Mary Tyler Thurber, Bryn Mawr, 1899, in 1901. My first child, Helen Dennison, was born on October 7, 1903; Elizabeth Thurber Dennison on May 30, 1905; and Henry Thurber Dennison on December 27, 1906, who died on September 22, 1907. I am a member of the Boston Harvard Club, Veteran Association of First Corps Cadets, Framingham Country Club, Boston Merchants Association, and Framingham Harvard Club.

GEORGE KIRKHAM DENNY

After graduation I spent a year in Europe and the Far East on a pleasure trip, and on my return entered the employ of the banking house of Harvey Fisk and Sons. I was in their Boston office for about two years and since then have been in their New York office.

STEPHEN HASKET DERBY

After graduation from college, I entered the Harvard Law School in the fall of 1899 and received my degree of LL.B. in June, 1902. While there I was an editor of the Harvard Law Review and a member of the Kent Law Club. I was admitted to practice in Massachusetts at the close of my second year at the school, but at the conclusion of my course, visions of opulence and power in the West drew me from my birth place in the Hub (I had never been west before, save for one short visit to California, and that is probably why it appealed to me). My first thought was of Seattle, but I received and accepted an attractive offer to enter the office of General A. S. Hartwell '55 (then visiting Boston) in Honolulu. Unfortunately General Hartwell was taken ill just before we were to start, but, filled with the spirit of adventure and anticipation, I decided to go on anyway. My expectations were fairly well justified, for within two weeks of my arrival in Honolulu I was given a place in the office of Messrs. Kinney, Ballou and McClanahan, at what then seemed to me a princely salary. A little over a year thereafter I was given a small interest in the business and eventually became a regular partner, the firm, after various changes, finally assuming the name of Kinney, McClanahan and Derby. I remained in Honolulu from July, 1902, until September, 1907. While there I did legal work of all kinds, arguing over fifty cases before the supreme court of the Islands, rode a small polo pony all over Oahu, played tennis extensively, swam, admired the tropical scenery, and learned to play bridge. All '99 men desiring information as to Honolulu should apply to me, for it is a delightful place to visit. Inter alia, I was a member of the following clubs there: University and Harvard Club of Hawaii, Pacific Tennis, and Oahu Country Club. I was a district magistrate for a short period, learning much in that position of the various nationalities which abound in Hawaii (I married several, sent others to jail, and made all who could afford it contribute liberally to the coffers of the Territory). I was also a member of the committee on admissions to the bar and an election inspector. In the fall of 1907 I decided to migrate with my partner, E. B. McClanahan, to San Francisco in order to get into a broader field. It was rather hard to give up a substantial position, which promised a good deal in the future, in order to again become one of the common herd, but, belonging, as I did, to the Class of '99, I was not afraid to try it. For about nine months I swung around on a chair in my office, but the clouds then began to break and I am now trying to struggle slowly up the ladder. San Francisco, in its reconstruction and reform period, has proved a most interesting place in which to live and work. Our firm aims to specialize in admiralty practice, of which we have had a good deal both here and in the Islands, but we also do a general business, and of course I expect all '99 men to send me their San Francisco legal work. My clubs here are the University, Harvard, and California Lawn Tennis. Our firm name is McClanahan and Derby, and we have three rooms in the Merchants Exchange Building, which are always open to deserving litigants. My home address is the University Club. I think that covers the situation.

BENJAMIN HARRISON DIBBLEE

After leaving the University I spent one year in the gold mines of Grass Valley, California. Then I spent three years in business with Stone and Webster, Boston. I returned to California in 1903, and entered the employ of the bond house of E. H. Rollins and Sons, San Francisco, where I have been ever since. On April 27, 1905, at Ross, California, I was married to Isabel Kittle, daughter of John G. and Harriett de Witt Kittle. I have never written anything but "In the Class of '99," which is now a classic.

WILLIAM REYNOLDS DICKINSON

In September, 1899, I entered the law school of Northwestern University, Evanston, where in due course, in 1902, the degree of LL.B. was given me. In the meantime, at the Commencement of 1900 I was made an A.M. by Harvard. Upon leaving the law school I was admitted to the office of Wilson, Moore and McIlvaine, of Chicago, where I have practised ever since. Last fall I became a member of the firm. The last and most important event to be chronicled is my marriage on June 15, 1908, to Anna Mary Wilson, daughter of John P. and Margaret C. Wilson, of this city. We went abroad for our wedding trip, and after a fortnight in London and Cowes, spent the summer mainly in Switzerland and France. We have taken an apartment this winter and are now enjoying the trials and tribulations of housekeeping. My clubs are the University Club, City Club, and Saddle and Cycle Club, all of Chicago.

WILLIAM PARRY JONES DINSMOOR

I spent another year in college to get my degree, which was an S.B. In September, 1900, I went to Claremont, New Hampshire, with the Sullivan Machinery Company, and was sent, by them, in the spring of 1901, to Denver, Colorado. Since that time I have successively filled the positions of machinery salesman, office manager, and district manager, for that company, with headquarters in Denver. This was broken by a short time spent as district manager for the same company at El Paso, Texas. At the present time I am district manager in Denver. In the summer of 1902 I met Ruth Bill Carpenter, daughter of Mason Bill and Frances Brainerd Carpenter, in Denver, and after the usual formalities and informalities we were married on January 20, 1904. Unfortunately no children have made their appearance. I have had no time to write books even if it were possible. I have written a few articles for technical papers. I am a member of the American Institute of Mining Engineers, and of the Denver Club, and University clubs of Denver and Salt Lake City, also of the Colorado Scientific Society. I feel that I am a long distance from Cambridge and certainly see very few '99 men, fewer than I should like. I like the West, both its people and the country, and thoroughly believe in its future.

JEREMIAH JOSEPH DOHERTY

I was admitted to the Massachusetts Bar in 1900. In 1906 I was appointed assistant clerk of the police court of Lynn for the term of five years. I was married on January 15, 1908, at Lynn, to Josephine V. Connor.

JAMES DRUMMOND DOLE

I am president and manager of the Hawaiian Pineapple Company, a concern engaged in the growing and canning of pineapples, with headquarters at Honolulu. I am president of the Hawaiian Pineapple Growers Association. On November 23, 1906, at Jamaica Plain, I was married to Belle Dickey, daughter of Charles H. and Anne Alexander Dickey. We have one son, Richard Alexander Dole, born on October 28, 1907.

MALCOLM DONALD

I was graduated from the Harvard Law School in 1902; was in the office of Gaston, Snow and Saltonstall, lawyers in Boston, from 1902 to 1904; in law partnership with Jeremiah Smith, Jr., from 1904 to 1907; and since then have been a member of the law firm of Fish, Richardson, Herrick and Neave, Boston. I was married on June 4, 1904, at Boston, to Katharine Storey, daughter of Moorfield and Gertrude Cutts Storey. We have two children, Alexander Donald, born on July 24, 1905, and Barbara Donald, born on March 4, 1909, both at Milton.

WALLACE BRETT DONHAM

From 1898 to 1901 I was in the Harvard Law School and assisted in government courses in the college. I received my LL.B. in 1901. From 1901 to the present date I have been in the Old Colony Trust Company, since April, 1906, as vice-president. During 1903-1904 I taught a half course in equity in the law school, at Harvard. On April 7, 1903, I was married to Mabel C. Higgins, daughter of Warren R. and Frances C. Higgins. We have two children, Richard Donham, born on March 18, 1905, and Philip Donham, born on May 10, 1908.

ALPHONSO AUGUSTUS DORITY

Immediately after leaving college I tried selling books on the subscription basis, but as the title of "Book Agent" did not suit me, I decided to do something more agreeable. I obtained, in the fall of 1899, temporary employment with the Lawyers Surety Company, where I stayed until March, 1900, when my employment was terminated through no fault of mine. I was given the usual two weeks' notice, and as my first application for employment was successful, I was not out of work at all. I was employed by the American Bonding Company of Baltimore, with which I am still connected. I am at their Boston office, 92 State Street, as resident assistant secretary. On January 1, 1896, at Manchester, New Hampshire, I was married to Cornelia Halsey, daughter of Edmund R. and the late Harriet Whitney Halsey. We have two children, Oleva Hubbard Dority, born on October 31, 1898, and Edmund Remson Dority, born on January 13, 1901.

HENRY PAYSON DOWST

After graduation I went to Calais, Maine, as assistant to my father, H. F. Dowst, at that time general manager of the Washington County Railroad. I became interested in advertising through doing publicity work for the railroad company. After leaving the railroad business in the fall of 1901, I went to Portland where I lived during the winter.

After that I moved to Providence, living there until February, 1903. Then I came to Boston. Up to December 10, 1904, I was with three different concerns, doing advertising work, but at that time entered into partnership with Albert W. Ellis, forming the firm of Ellis and Dowst, advertising agents. The name "E-Jep Co.", under which we at first did business, has been discarded. The business is growing at a satisfactory rate. I am a member of the Advertising Men's Club of Boston, the University Club of Boston, and B Company, First Corps of Cadets, Massachusetts Volunteer Militia. On April 18, 1900, I was married, at Ashland, Virginia, to Margaret Evangeline Starr, daughter of William G. and Elizabeth Leigh Starr. Our first child, Elizabeth Leigh Dowst, born on February 27, 1902, at Portland, Maine, died on January 6, 1903. We have had two children since then, Henry Starr Dowst, born on August 7, 1904, at Newton, and Loring Blackstone Dowst, born on March 3, 1906, at Everett. Since writing the above, the firm of Ellis and Dowst has been dissolved, and I have associated myself with the H. B. Humphrey Company, advertising agents, at 44 Federal Street, Boston. Under the heading of "Offices of Profit, Honor or Trust," I might add that the editorship of the Decennial is the most exalted station I have reached to date.

EDWARD BAILEY DRAPER

I am a lawyer and member of the Massachusetts Legislature. In 1907 I served on the committee on street railways and, in 1908, on the committee on judiciary. I am a member of the University and Harvard clubs of Boston.

JEAN PAUL DRESSER

I have been engaged in the publishing and arts and crafts business, and am now, in 1909, entering upon the work of the ministry, in the Church of the New Jerusalem. I was married on August 2, 1906, at Dublin, New Hampshire, to Faith Lear Storer, daughter of Jacob Jones and Mary Louisa Storer. I have travelled and studied a year and a half in Europe, having visited England, France, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Switzerland, and Italy.

ROBERT JAMES DUNHAM

I am in the financial department of Armour and Company, Chicago, Illinois. I hold the positions of president and director in the following companies: Union Stockyards Company, Limited, Omaha, Nebraska; Fort Worth Stockyards Company, Fort Worth, Texas; Sioux City Traction Company, and Sioux City Service Company, both of Sioux City, Iowa; and Chicago Navigation Company, Chicago, Illinois. I am a director in the following companies: Stockyards National Bank, and North Fort Worth Townsite Company, both of Fort Worth, Texas; Union Stockyards National Bank, South Omaha, Nebraska; the Standard Asphalt Rubber Company, Chicago, Illinois; and the Bourbon Stockyards Company, Louisville, Kentucky. On December 6, 1899, at Chicago, I was married to Ethel Louise Richardson, daughter of Augustus Phelps and Jessie Spelman Richardson. We have four children; Caryl Dunham, born on December 21, 1900; Robert James Dunham, Jr., born on February 14, 1904; Josephine Dunham, born on April 18, 1906; and Augustus Phelps Dunham, born on April 8, 1909.

GEORGE DAMON DUTTON

Since leaving college I have been with E. P. Dutton and Company, publishers, New York, of which concern I am the treasurer. I am a member of the Harvard Club of New York and the Ardsley Club.

JOHN WILDE DYAR

I am a member of the following clubs: Detroit Club, Harvard Club of Michigan, Harvard Club of New York City, University Club of Detroit, Detroit Boat Club, Detroit Racquet and Curling Club, and Country Club of Detroit.

GEORGE JONES DYER

I became employed in the office of Moffat and White, members of the New York Stock Exchange in the winter of 1900-1901, remaining with them until the spring of 1903, when I formed a partnership with two others under the firm name of Crawford, Dyer, and Cannon, members of the New York Stock Exchange, with offices at 1 Nassau Street, New York. I retired from this firm in November, 1907, on account of ill health, and have taken up no occupation since then. I served six years in Squadron A, National Guard of New York, from 1901 to 1907. I belong to the University and Harvard clubs of New York. In the fall of 1906 I visited France, and in the spring of 1907 took a trip through Mexico.

JOHN LATHROP DYER

I began the practice of the law in Boston in 1901 and have continued practice there up to the present date, with an office in the Tremont Building. I was a member of the Cambridge City Council during the years 1903-1904. I am a member of Mt. Olivet Lodge, A. F. and A. M., Cambridge; Cambridge Royal Arch Chapter; and Cambridge Commandery. On February 12, 1902, at Cambridge, I was married to Alice Salmon, daughter of James Henry and Henrietta Salmon. We have two children, Mary Lathrop Dyer, born on July 15, 1903, and Henry Salmon Dyer, born on January 7, 1907.

CALVIN SUMNER EDGELL

Calvin Summer Edgell was born in Gardner on July 11, 1877. His parents were John D. and Sarah A. Edgell. He attended the public school in his native town, was for two years in its high school, and completed his preparatory studies for Harvard University at Phillips Andover Academy, having entered in 1892 and being graduated in 1895. While there he was president of the senior class one term and member of the Banjo Club, and Guitar and Mandolin Club. He entered Harvard University in 1895. He was a member of Track and Field Team and won prizes in 1897 and 1899. He was a member of the Guitar and Mandolin Club and of the Pi Eta Society. He was graduated "cum laude" from Harvard with Class of '99. After graduation he entered the employ of the Heywood Brothers and Wakefield Company as a foreman. He was married on June 4, 1902, to Dell M. Jackson, at Denver, Colorado. In February, 1903, his health failed and unmistakable indications of tuberculosis were manifested in repeated hemorrhages. His physicians recommending a change of climate, he went to Colorado in October, 1903, but without improvement. He continued to decline and his disease having assumed an incurable phase he passed away on November 30, 1903, in his twenty-sixth year. He left a widow and an infant daughter, Harriet Edgell, born on June 3, 1903. Mr. Edgell was a young man of cheerful and happy disposition, pleasing address, genial manners, high character, and universally beloved by all with whom he associated.

J. D. E.

GEORGE CLIFTON EDWARDS

I am the editor of the Laborer, a socialist and union labor weekly, at Dallas, Texas, and a steady labor agitator. I married, on December 23, 1904, Octavia Nichols, A.B. University of Texas, 1904. We have had two daughters, Purnell, born on July 31, 1906, and Elva Gray, born on February 9, 1908, the former of whom died on November 22, 1907. I write frequently for local papers but mostly in line with the socialist agitation. I was socialist nominee for governor of Texas in 1906. I was a member of the Dallas charter convention, 1906-1907, and author of various radical provisions in the charter passed by the legislature for Dallas in 1907. I am a member of the Socialist Party, Unitarian Church, Kappa Sigma Fraternity, Odd Fellows, Woodmen of the World, and Federal Labor Union. I was formerly a teacher in Dallas High School, for about six years, until I was refused re-election because of my being a socialist.

NEWTON EHRMANN

After leaving Harvard I became associated with the J. B. Pace Tobacco Company as its secretary, and after disposing of my interest in this corporation, I became secretary of the County Realty Company of New York City, and am at the present time engaged in operating in real estate. I have taken an active interest in politics, affiliating myself with the Republican party, but have never accepted any political office. I am a member of the Harmonie Club, a social organization, and of a Republican club in my district, the Twenty-ninth Assembly District.

EDWARD EVERETT ELDER

After graduation I attended the Harvard Law School and received the degree of LL.B. (cum laude) in 1902. While in the Law School I belonged to the Choate Law Club and to the Parsons Law Club. In the same year I was admitted to the bar, and entered the Boston law office of Samuel J. Elder and Edmund A. Whitman, where I remained until July, 1903. I then entered private practice in partnership with Albert R. MacKusick '99, and later the firm was enlarged by the addition of John G. Brackett '01. Upon MacKusick's retiring from the firm in 1907 to form another association, the firm name became Elder and Brackett, which it has since remained. My office is 6 Beacon Street, Boston. While residing in Boston, shortly after graduation from the Law School, I was a member of the executive committee of the Public School Association, a non-partisan organization active in school reform. In 1904 I moved to Medford, and in 1907 was appointed city solicitor, which position I now hold. On April 8, 1907, I married Alice Esther Stowell, daughter of Eugene Alexander and Helen Louise Stowell, of Brookline. I have one daughter, Elizabeth, born on February 1, 1908. I am a member of the Bar Association of the City of Boston, Medford Club, Medford Historical Society, Mount Hermon Lodge, and Medford Citizens Association.

THORNDIKE HOWE ENDICOTT

The summer after graduation I spent abroad and on my return entered the Medical School where I remained till Christmas. I then went into a bankers's office for a few months and the next spring went to New London with the Eastern Shipbuilding Company, which was organized to build the Hill steamships "Dacotah" and "Minnesota." After about seven months I returned to Boston and in January, 1901, entered the purchasing department of Stone and Webster. In March, 1903, I was sent to Tacoma as purchasing agent of the Columbia Improvement Company, a construction company controlled by Stone and Webster, which was engaged in developing the water power of the Puyallup River for distribution to Seattle, Tacoma, and the surrounding district. Our job was practically completed in about a year and in April, 1904, with one companion I started on a prospecting trip to the Finlay River in British Columbia. A year and a half later I returned to civilization via the Peace River and Edmonton, and after a few months spent in Washington, California, Idaho, and British Columbia, I came back to Boston in August, 1906, and entered the employ of the Stone and Webster Engineering Corporation as purchasing agent, which position I now hold. I am a member of the Harvard Travellers Club and the University Club of Boston.

CHARLES SIDNEY ENSIGN, JR.

I completed my college work in 1898, so that I was granted a leave of absence from the college during the year 1898-1899, which I spent at the Harvard Law School. From 1899 to 1901 I was connected with Ginn and Company, Boston, publishers of school text books. I was graduated from the Boston University School of Law in June, 1903, with the degree of J.B. (cum laude). During my last year there I was elected vice-president of my class. In August, 1903, I was admitted to the Massachusetts Bar. From August, 1903, to May 1, 1904, I was again with Ginn and Company, Boston. Since May 1, 1904, I have been in the active practice of the law with offices at 30 Court Street, Boston. I was married on October 11, 1905, at Newton, by Reverend Wolcott Calkins, D.D., to Florence Shepard Page, daughter of George Shepard and Emily Frances (De Bacon) Page, of Stanley, New Jersey. On September 12, 1906, a son was born to us, named Charles Sidney Ensign, 3d; he lived only until the following day. I am a member of the Hunnewell Club, of Newton.

MANSFIELD ESTABROOK

I received the degree of S.B. in mechanical engineering at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1901, and since that time have been in New York. I am with the Niles-Bement-Pond Company, 111 Broadway, manufacturers of machine tools and electric cranes. I am a member of the Harvard Club of New York, the Machinery Club of New York and the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

ALEXANDER BIGELOW EWING

I am at present in the banking business with Bond and Goodwin, 35 Congress Street, Boston. I am a member of the University Club of Boston. Since leaving college I have travelled in Europe and in Porto Rico.

LAWRENCE ECKLEY EUSTIS

After graduation I travelled in Europe with T. H. Endicott and R. A. Jackson, both of 1899, for three months, taking in Holland, Belgium, Germany, Switzerland, France, and England. I worked from October, 1899, to March, 1900, in a hosiery mill at Ipswich. In May, 1900, I started work for Stone and Webster of Boston, in the engineering department, where I stayed for about three years. Then for two years I was private secretary to C. F. Wallace, who had the general oversight over the engineering department, and was handling several water-power developments for the firm. From March, 1905, to April, 1907, I was in St. Croix Falls, Wisconsin, and Minneapolis, Minnesota, as assistant to G. O. Muhlfeld, superintendent in charge, for Stone and Webster, of the construction of a concrete dam and power station. From April, 1907, to the present time I have been located in Boston as assistant to G. O. Muhlfeld, construction manager for the Stone and Webster Engineering Corporation.

ALFRED STACEY EYRE

In looking over the enclosed blank, there seems very little to record of interest. I am neither married nor dead. I am the assistant manager of Miller and Company's Boston office, at 55 Congress Street, Boston.

ERNEST FAHNESTOCK

I left Harvard to go to a medical school in 1896. I was graduated at the College of Physicians and Surgeons (medical department of Columbia University) in 1900. I worked in medical and surgical clinics during 1900-1902. I was on the house staff of the J. Hood Wright Hospital from 1902-1904, assistant visiting surgeon of the J. Hood Wright Hospital from 1906-1909, and visiting surgeon of the J. Hood Wright Hospital from 1909 to the present time. I have been chief of the surgical clinic of the University and Bellevue Hospital Medical College since 1906. On February 15, 1905, at New York, I was married to Georgette Waters (Mrs. Edward Perry), daughter of Edward Ritzema and Henriette Cardoze De Grove. Besides my two step children, Marion Henriette Perry and Edward Ritzema Perry, I have two of my own, Mildred Helen Fahnestock, born on December 1, 1905, and Evelyn Fahnestock, born on February 26, 1909. I am a member of the Union, Riding, and New York Yacht clubs. I have visited Scotland, England, France, Switzerland, and Italy.

WILSON REUBEN FAILING.

After graduation from college I took one year post-graduate work at Harvard University, earning the degree of A.M. Then I went to White Plains, New York, as vice-principal of the high school. At the end of four years I accepted the vice-principalship of the high school at Port Chester, New York. Three years later I accepted a position as assistant teacher of physics in the Commercial High School, Brooklyn, New York. I was married at Fort Plain, New York, on December 28, 1900, to Ethel Helen Bauder. We have two children, a son, Wilson Bauder, born on June 30, 1903, and a daughter, Helen Jessie, born on July 9, 1907. I am a member of the Physics Club, of the Association of Men Teachers and Principals of the City of New York, and also of the New York State Science Teachers' Association. At present I am living at 388 Welling Street, Richmond Hill, New York.

DEXTER FAIRBANK

Nothing is to appear under this item as it might be used against me. On December 29, 1906, at Louisville, Kentucky, I was married to Evelyn Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Young. We have one son, John Young Fairbank, born on June 22, 1908.

BLAIR FAIRCHILD

When I left college I went to Florence, Italy, where I stayed somewhat over a year, studying music. Then I returned to America and was for two winters in an office on Wall Street. At the end of which time I left business and went to Teheran, Persia, attached to the United States Legation there, spending some months in Italy and Constantinople on my way. I returned home in December, 1902, and was married in New York on January 1, 1903, to Edith Cushing, daughter of Thomas Forbes and Fanny Grinnell Cushing. I left home in February and went to Paris, where I lived nearly five years (returning to America for a short time almost every year) and studied musical composition, which is my present occupation. The things I have written include a number of songs and instrumental works (chamber-music and orchestral). I am a member of the Harvard Club and the Knickerbocker Club of New York, where I now live.

FRANCIS WILLIAM FALVEY

I was graduated from the Harvard Law School in 1902, and since then have been a member of the firm of Falvey Brothers and Company, a department store. In 1905 I was a member of the Boston School Committee. I am treasurer of the Trade Association of South Boston, and chairman of the membership committee of the Boston City Club.

JOHN WELLS FARLEY

The year after graduation I spent in a trip around the world, starting west from Vancouver and making the regular tour. Upon returning I was employed for a short time by Stone and Webster and then entered the Law School in the fall of 1900. That fall I started to play football but was injured in the Columbia game for the rest of the season. I attended the Law School for three years continuously with the exception of short periods of absence on account of tutoring and on account of coaching the University of Maine football team in the fall of 1901, and the Harvard, in the fall of 1902. The summer of 1903 I made a trip to Alaska and British Columbia, returning to coach the University of Maine football team in the fall. In November, 1903, I entered the law office of Long and Hemenway in Boston. Since then I have been engaged continuously in the practice of the law with Long and Hemenway and Alfred Hemenway in Boston. In August, 1907, I was appointed secretary and assistant counsel of the Boston Finance Commission and for the past eighteen months have been engaged in the work of that commission as well as the practice of law. On January 1, 1909, the firm of Long and Hemenway was succeeded by the firm of Hem-enway, Barnes and Farley, of which I became a member and I am now practising law under those circumstances.

WALLACE STRONG FARNHAM

On September 16, 1903, at Waterbury, Connecticut, I was married to Ruth Agnes Blair, daughter of John and Mary W. Blair.

DANIEL HADDOCK FARR

After spending a year in the Graduate School I left, in the summer of 1900, for a year's trip abroad, during which time I visited England and France on a wheel and later went to Spain, Italy, Sicily, Egypt, Greece, and Turkey. I came back to my home in Philadelphia, marrying Florence Zell Fagan of that city on June 5, 1902. After a trip to Europe I engaged in the art business until the death of my wife, on January 21, 1904, and of my child, Florence Farr, on January 6, 1904, when I went to Europe again and in the fall of that year started business with the art firm of M. Knoedler and Company of New York, Paris, and London, settling in New York City. The last four summers I have been connected with M. Knoedler and Company's London office at 15 Old Bond Street. I have joined the Racquet and Tennis Club, and also the Harvard Club of New York. I married again on January 10, 1907, Adelaide Linton Jordan, and we have one child, Adelaide Farr, born on January 9, 1908, in New York.

THOMAS KEITH FAXON

Not long after leaving college I became associated with the American School of Correspondence, of Boston, and remained with it until its removal to Chicago, Illinois, in the spring of 1901. Then followed immediately three years as a solicitor for the New York Life Insurance Company, two years of which were spent in Worcester, and one year in Boston. During the next four years I was a solicitor for the Columbian National Life Insurance Company of Boston, with headquarters at Worcester. In June of the year 1908 I accepted the position of manager of the health and accident department of the above company for Worcester County, which office I now hold.

ROADES FAYERWEATHER

The four years succeeding our academic career were spent by this member of the Class at the Johns Hopkins University, in the medical department. During the next summer following the '99 Commencement I had the pleasure of passing two months in the Hawaiian Islands. Taking a ride one day on the little railroad running from Honolulu to points along the coast of the island, I was regaled by the sight of our long-legged classmate, Jim Dole, clad in kahki, galloping up to the station as the train pulled in to a big sugar plantation. We decided to hold a '99 reunion on the spot, but the engineer misunderstood the signal, and bucked the line for so many yards that we were forced to postpone the celebration. After taking my degree of M.D., two years were spent in Boston in hospital and office training in orthopedic surgery, at the end of which I returned to Baltimore. I am now an assistant in orthopedic surgery in the Johns Hopkins University and am engaged in the practice of that specialty in this city. On March 18, 1909, at Sewanee, Tennessee, I was married to Josephine Kirby-Smith, daughter of General Edmund and Cassie Seldon Kirby-Smith.

JULIUS CAESAR FEDER

After graduation from college, I attended the Harvard Law School, where I received my LL.B. In the fall of 1903 I located in New York City, was admitted to the bar, and have practised law there ever since. I am a member of the Harvard Club of New York.

REGINALD LOVEJOY FERNALD

Since April, 1900, I have been connected with Ginn and Company, publishers. At present I am manager of the introduction department at the New York office. I am a member of the Beta Theta Pi and the Phi Kappa Phi. On February 28, 1905, at Rochester, New York, I was married to Elisabeth Frances Lempert, daughter of Leon Henri and Elisabeth Kolb Lempert.

HARRY WARREN FINNEY

I am still in the Middle West, where I have been representing Goldman, Sachs and Company in the banking business, since leaving the Medford National Bank of Medford, in 1900. I have neither wife nor children. I am a member of the Harvard and the University clubs of Chicago; the Exmoor Country Club, Highland Park, Illinois; and the Normandie Golf Club, St. Louis, Missouri. My travels have been extensive, but within the confines of the United States and Canada.

ALFRED LAWRENCE FISH

During the year 1899-1900, I was fellow in economics at Chicago University. In 1900-1901 I was a first-year student in the Harvard Law School, and assistant in economics in the college. I spent the greater part of the year 1901-1902 in having and recovering from typhoid fever. In June, 1902, I married Helen Dennis Cole of New London, Connecticut. From the fall of 1902 until the summer of 1906 I taught Latin and mathematics in secondary schools, teaching three years at the Cambridge Country School, and one year at the Classical School for Girls in Boston. During the last two years of my teaching I was also enrolled as a student in the Harvard Law School. In June, 1906, I obtained my degree from the Harvard Law School and in the fall of that year I entered the law office of Brandeis, Dunbar and Nutter in Boston, and there I remain.

HENRY HUDSON FISH

August, 1899, saw my entry into the business world. At that time I took the position of front clerk at the Parker House, Boston, under J. Reed Whipple. In the following April the first addition to my family happened (I had been married to Eleanor Maude Berton by the rector of the Church of the Messiah at Providence, on the afternoon of July 6, 1898), with the advent of a daughter whom we named Elizabeth. Soon after this event I was moved along in the hotel force to the position of room cashier. I continued in this position, occasionally substituting as room clerk, until October, 1901, when I was transferred to the Touraine in the capacity of junior room clerk. March, 1902, saw my second daughter, Muriel, appear on the scene and more room being needed by my increasing family, my family goods were moved from Boston to Brookline, and there I have continued to live until the present time. At the Touraine business life continued without any particular changes, except that from junior to senior room clerk, until May, 1907. Then, becoming interested with my brother and father in diamond mining, I left the hotel business to go to Brazil in the interests of the Bay State Diamond Company. Leaving New York in June of that year, I spent the following six months in visiting the diamond fields of Brazil, paying particular attention to the property owned by my company. December twenty-third saw me again in New York, having made a short stop at the island of Barbados on the way home. Since that time I have continued with the Bay State Diamond Company at 67 Milk Street, Boston, in the capacity of second vice-president and director during the period of flotation in order that I might be ready to take charge of the company's affairs in Brazil when needed. I belong to the Boston City Club, the Harvard Varsity Club, and the Armory Athletic Association. The only office of honor which I hold is that of treasurer for the Class of '99, Harvard.

WALTER SCOTT FITZ

The autumn after graduation I went into the employ of C. F. Hovey and Company, Boston, to learn the wholesale silk business, and remained there for a time. In June, 1907, I left Boston and went to St. Paul, Minnesota. There I secured a position in the construction department of the Northern Pacific Railroad and was sent to a construction camp at Muskoda, Minnesota. I remained on this work for five months, until financial conditions put a stop to further operations. Then I got a job with Grant, Smith and Company, one of the largest railroad contracting firms in the United States, and went to Trout Creek, Montana, where I remained from November, 1907, to February, 1908. In April of that year I was given a position in the operating department of the Northern Pacific Railroad and went to Seattle, Washington, where I am still living. I like the railroad business very much, and I think the West is a wonderful place for a young man.

EDWIN ADLER FLEISHER

Immediately after graduation in 1899, I entered the employ of S. B. and B. W. Fleisher, of Philadelphia, of which concern my father is the founder and president. For almost two years, I spent my time at the mills where I studied every process in the manufacture of worsted and woolen yarns and braids. In 1900, when the business was incorporated I was elected secretary and treasurer, which position I have held ever since. In 1892 I took a trip abroad, visiting most of the important cities, and as I sell goods in connection with my present position, I have travelled extensively in this country. I am a trustee of the Jewish Publication Society of America and a member of the Manufacturers and Harvard clubs of Philadelphia.

DANIEL HOWARD FLETCHER

I was principal of the Chelmsford Center high and grammar schools during the year 1899-1900. In May, 1900, I went to Needham as principal of the high school. I spent a pleasant year in Needham, finding there, as I had also found in Chelmsford, that the people of the community mean to meet the teachers of their children, with sympathy and appreciation for all good efforts. During the summer vacation of 1901, a telegram called me to Marlborough, where I was offered my present position as treasurer of the S. H. Howe Shoe Company. Before entering college I had worked five years with this company. As president and principal owner, Mr. S. H. Howe had held all the positions of honor which his fellow-citizens could bestow upon him. For him and for his son, Mr. L. P. Howe, the vice-president and general manager, I had not only great respect, but, more, a deep affection. The place offered me the advantage of being in my home town, with opportunity for much social work. Since September, 1901, I have been steadily here in Marlborough. I have become treasurer of the Franklin Shoe Company, Marlborough Building Association, and Pleasant Street Cemetery Association. I am a member of the school committee, elected in 1901; a trustee of the Marlborough Hospital, and superintendent of the Unitarian Sunday School. I was made a Master Mason in 1904. Since 1905 I have been a trustee of Proctor Academy, Andover, New Hampshire. On August 14, 1899, at Andover, New Hampshire, I was married to Addie Josephine Emerson, daughter of John F. and Susan Heath Emerson. Our only child, Josephine Fletcher, born on October 23, 1904, died on December 1, 1904.

HARRY WOOD FORBES

I was admitted to the bar of New York State, July, 1906; and have been tutor in the New York Law School ever since. At present I am secretary to Hon. Chester M. McLaughlin, justice of the appellate division, first department of the supreme court of New York. On August 5, 1908, at San Diego, California, I married Ruth Whitney, daughter of Guilford M. and Mary Harrison Whitney.

JOSEPH DUNDERDALE FORBES

On June 16, 1902, at Cedarhurst, Long Island, I was married to Madeleine Clifton McGuire, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McGuire. We have two children, Mary Forbes, born on March 17, 1903; and Madeleine Morten Forbes, born on April 8, 1905, both at New York.

GEORGE BURDETT FORD

On leaving Harvard I spent three years at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology studying architecture. I there received an S.B. degree in 1900 and an S.M. degree in 1901. I then worked as draughtsman in the office of Peabody and Stearns of Boston for two years. Then I went into the office of Guy Lowell for a few months. On being awarded the Austin Travelling Fellowship from the Institute of Technology I went abroad, spending the better part of the next four years in the Ecole des Beaux Arts in Paris. During my stay there I travelled much in England, France, Switzerland, and Italy. I completed the course at the latter in February, 1907, receiving the title of "Architecte diplomé par le gouvernement français." I returned immediately afterwards to America to enter the office of George B. Post and Sons, architects, in New York, where I am to-day. I have published some twenty-five articles in architectural magazines and have been especially engaged the last year or two in studying the question of housing and town planning.

ERNEST FOSS

After leaving college I went to the Boston University Law School where I received the degree of LL.B. During the year of 1901-1902 I was on the editorial staff of the Edward Thompson Company, law publishers, Northport, New York. Since 1902 I have been an attorney at Newburyport in the firm of Jones and Foss. I was married on September 13, 1906, at Newburyport, to Elizabeth Coffin Whiton, daughter of Harry F. and Bessie B. Whiton.

GEORGE HERBERT FOSTER

I received the degree of A.M. at Harvard in 1900, and the degree of LL.B. at the New York Law School, 1901. I was admitted to the bar of New York State, July, 1901. Until January, 1904, I practised law in New York City, when I became connected with the legal department of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company. I was appointed real estate agent of that company in August, 1905, which position I still hold. I am a member of the Harvard Club of New York. On December 4, 1902, at Pittsburg, I was married to Margaret Maud Linton, daughter of Benjamin H. and Mary B. Linton. We have one son, Linton Hargth Foster, born at Goshen, New York, on July 16, 1907.

WALTER PAUL FRANK

I entered the Columbia Law School after graduation from Harvard and received my LL.B. degree in 1902. I was a member of the Columbia Law Review in 1901 and 1902. Since then I have been engaged in the practice of the law in New York City.

BERTRAM ADOLPH FRANKLIN

I am practising law in Bloomington, Illinois.

PHILIP FRENCH

The summer after graduation I travelled abroad for four months with Philip L. Brown, visiting England, Scotland, Holland, Germany, France, and Italy. The following February I went to work in the counting room of the Riverside Press in Cambridge, where I stayed for a year or more, and then entered the bond department of the Old Colony Trust Company. There I stayed about four years, and then left. From that time until recently, I imagine I was more interested in the breeding and showing of Airedale terriers than anything else. I am now in business again as vice-president and secretary of the Wire-Bound Packing Case Company of Massachusetts. I belong to the Puritan Club of Boston and the Harvard Club of New York.

GUSTAV ADOLPH FRIED

I received the degree of M.D. from the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University, in 1903. I am an alumnus of Mount Sinai Hospital, and at present I am practising medicine.

DONALD McKAY FROST

After graduation from the Harvard Law School in the spring of 1902 I returned to Charleston, where I have been engaged in the practice of law. On June 1, 1905, I became a member of the law firm of Smyth and Frost, which position I still occupy. I have written several addresses which have not been published except in the daily press and for private distribution. I have held the following offices: consul for Belgium to North and South Carolina, 1904-1906; captain in the National Guard of South Carolina, 1908; member of the board of visitors of Clemson College, 1908; member of South Carolina General Assembly, 1904-1908. I am a member of the following clubs: Charleston Club, Carolina Yacht Club, Charleston Country Club, and numerous societies and associations. Last summer for about six weeks I travelled in England and France.

JOHN WHIPPLE FROTHINGHAM

The only thing that I care to say is that I am in the midst of a long course of the study of musical composition, but I do not intend to publish for two years. I am also studying piano. I belong to the Harvard Club of New York City.

JAMES CARLYLE FYSHE

After taking his A.B. degree at Harvard College he spent a year at Milton Academy, Milton, teaching German, Latin, and chemistry. Next year, 1900, he entered the faculty of medicine at McGill University, Montreal, where he was graduated in 1904, taking honors in eight subjects. During this time he joined the Third Field Battery of the Canadian Volunteers and rose to be captain of his company. The next two years he spent in the Montreal General Hospital, as house surgeon, after which he obtained the position of medical superintendent of the Alexandra Contagious Disease Hospital, Montreal, for which position he prepared himself by three months' study in the Boston Contagious Disease Hospital under Dr. McCallum. In 1907 he took the degree of Doctor of Hygiene at McGill, and soon after accepted a position on the medical staff of the government of Siam. He is now investigating tropical diseases, the plague, beri-beri, and small-pox; and has also formed a class in surgery for Siamese students. During his medical career in Montreal he became engaged to Julia Corisande Mattice, of this city. She left Montreal with Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Leonowens, Dr. Fyshe's uncle and aunt, last August, and on her arrival in Bangkok was quietly married to him in Christ Church, and at the British Legation, on December 7, 1908.

Avis S. Fyshe.

EDMUND VERNON GAGE

I taught at the Hitchcock Military Academy, San Rafael, California, in 1901-1902. I did graduate work in the University of California in 1902-1903. While there I was a member of the Deutscher Verein, the Gesprachverband, the Cercle Français, and the Chess Club, and I played on the chess team in a match with Leland Stanford, Jr., University. I taught modern languages at the Washington Agricultural College, Pullman, Washington, in 1903-1904, and modern languages at the high school, Pasadena, California, in 1904-1905. Since 1906 I have taught Romance Languages at the Pennsylvania State College, and received an A.M. from this college in 1908. I was a student in the Alliance Française, Paris, France, in July and August, 1908. I have been president of the Pennsylvania State College Chess Club from 1907 to 1909.

CLASS OF 1899—THIRD REPORT

ARCHIBALD VICTOR GALBRAITH

The year after graduation from college I taught mathematics at Milton Academy, and I have been teaching mathematics ever since, with the exception of the year 1905-1906 which I spent abroad in study and travel. From 1900 to 1903 I taught at the William Penn Charter School in Philadelphia. Since then I have been at the Middlesex School, Concord. Throughout my years of teaching I have been coaching or helping to coach the school baseball teams, and in 1902 was head coach of the Harvard Nine. I was married on June 29, 1905, at Newton, to Helen Ecob McIntosh, daughter of Fred Lamont and Alice Farwell McIntosh. Shortly after my marriage, my wife and I left for Holland to spend the year abroad. The bulk of the time we spent in Germany, partly at Göttingen, but mostly in Munich. From there we travelled southward through the Tyrol to Italy where we spent two months; thence going to Paris and from there to London, by way of Holland. Our son, Frederic McIntosh Galbraith, was born on May 2, 1907.

JOHN SAYWARD GALBRAITH

From 1899 to 1902 I was a teacher of Greek and Latin at St. George's School, Newport, Rhode Island. During the year 1902-1903 I held a position in the DeLancy School, Philadelphia, and from 1903 to 1904 one in the Morristown School, Morristown, New Jersey. I was a graduate student in Greek and Latin in the Harvard Graduate School from 1904 to 1907. In 1907 I became an instructor in Greek and Latin at Williams College, Williamstown. I am a member of the American Philological Association.

THOMAS GARRETT, JR.

I have lived on Staten Island since graduation. I have studied law and have been employed in the following New York law offices: Elihu Root; Ludlow, Townsend and Sedgwick; Wheeler, Cartig and Haight; and the legal department of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit. I received from the New York Law School an LL.B. in 1901, and was admitted to the New York Bar in July, 1901. I opened my own office September, 1903, at the successive addresses: 11 William Street, 60 Wall Street, 141 Broadway, and 32 Liberty Street (the foregoing in addition to a branch office near my home at New Brighton). In 1900 I was elected a member of the Republican county committee, and have been re-elected each year since. In the campaign of 1904, I received nomination for district attorney of Richmond County, but was defeated by 224 votes, in an electorate of about 13,000. All Republican candidates were defeated in Richmond County that year, Parker beating Roosevelt about 700 for president, and Herrick defeating Higgins by about 1200. In August, 1905, I was appointed to the legal staff of the state superintendent of elections (a state officer with plenary powers to investigate and prosecute cases of fraud against the elective franchise). I served under three incumbents down to November 13, 1908, when I resigned. In December, 1908, I was appointed junior deputy assistant corporation counsel, pursuant to civil service examination, and passed with a percentage of 97.52, being number one out of 300 passing with marks over 70 per cent. On May 15, 1907, I was married to E. Dorothea Kobbé, daughter of the late Philip F. Kobbé, vice-president of the Westinghouse Electric Company at the time of his death, the preceding autumn. The wedding took place at All Souls Unitarian Church, Fourth Avenue, New York, and Reverend Thomas R. Slicer officiated. The only ushers were Francis R. Stoddard, Jr., '99, and Pierpont Davis '99. At present my club membership is limited to the Harvard Club of New York, New York County Lawyers' Association, Staten Island Club, Staten Island Cricket and Tennis Club, Comedy Opera Club, and a masonic lodge.

JAMES AUGUSTUS GEORGE

I am a lawyer, in partnership with Jackson Palmer, Harvard '05, under the firm name of George and Palmer, at 6 Beacon Street, Boston.

WILLIAM CHURCHILL GERRISH

From August 30, 1899, till September 30, 1906, I was associated with the Fifth Avenue Bank of New York. I had some experience in all of the important departments, holding the position of assistant to the credit clerk during the last year. On October 1, 1906, I registered at Columbia University for an A.M. in history, which degree I received in June, 1907. During the winter of 1907 and 1908 I did a little elementary teaching while studying at Columbia, and I am now one of the masters in the boys' department of the Charlton School, at 646 Park Avenue, New York City. I expect to continue university work as time permits.

FRANK EDWIN GIBBS, JR.

I am a member of the Dennison Manufacturing Company, holding the position of sales manager in the city of Boston.

LLOYD OAKES GIFFORD

Since graduation from Harvard I have been working as an architectural draughtsman in Boston, and am still so employed. I am a member of the Swampscott Club, of Swampscott.

CHARLES ELLERY GILBERT

Since leaving Harvard, I have been teaching. From 1899 to 1903 I was at the Hotchkiss School of Lakeville, Connecticut. From 1903 to 1905 I was travelling tutor abroad, and visited, including the countries in which I travelled in the previous two summers, England, France, Holland, Belgium, Germany, Austria, Switzerland, Spain, Italy, and Greece. On April 4, 1906, I was married to Florence Bryant Hastings of Cambridge, a graduate of Radcliffe, '03. Since my marriage, I have taken up private tutoring as my sole occupation, and am still engaged in it. I am a member of the Harvard Club of Boston, and while at the Hotchkiss School, was a member of the University Club of Litchfield County.

RODMAN DEKAY GILDER

After various publishing, printing and advertising work, I became a reporter, and later real estate editor, on the New York Evening Sun. In April, 1904, I became publicity manager of the Crocker-Wheeler Company, manufacturers and electrical engineers, Ampere, New Jersey. I am now secretary of this company and continue in charge of its publicity department. I belong to the Harvard Club of New York, Polo Association, National Electric Light Association, American Institute of Electrical Engineers, Squadron A, National Guard, State of New York, and I am also a founder and first vice-president of the Technical Publicity Association. I am an owner and director of the co-operative apartment house corporation, "No. 24 Gramercy Park."

FRED GOLDFRANK

After graduation I studied medicine at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University. I received the degree of M.D. in 1903, and then pursued post-graduate studies for two years in Vienna, Berlin, and Prague. At present I am practising medicine with an office at 115 East Eightieth Street, New York City. I am associate pathologist to the Sydenham Hospital, and also assistant in the dispensaries of the German Hospital and the Mt. Sinai Hospital.

JULES ECKERT GOODMAN

After leaving college at Cambridge, I entered Columbia College, where I took my A.M. After that I "free-lanced," writing occasional articles for magazines and newspapers. I became associate and managing editor of "Current Literature," a position which I held for almost three years. During this time I wrote short stories and did dramatic criticism for newspapers and magazines. For a year and a half I was connected with the Outing Publishing Company, being associate editor of the "Bohemian Magazine." During the dramatic season of 1908-1909 I have had three plays produced: "The Right to Live"; "The Man Who Stood Still," first presented under the title of "The New Generation," in which Louis Mann starred; and "The Test," in which Miss Blanche Walsh is starring. At the present time I am spending the year in Italy at Naples, Capri, and Rome. On May 10, 1908, at Butte, Montana, I was married to Mai Pfonts, daughter of William G. and Harriet Morris Pfonts.

GEORGE ALFRED GOODRIDGE

After nearly ten years' connection with the wholesale tea and coffee business, I have recently made a change, and I am now treasurer of the Jordan-Goodridge Company, manufacturing stationers, and bank and office specialists, 83 Franklin Street, Boston. I was married at Chelsea, on August 25, 1904, to Mabel Harriette Newell, daughter of Charles Henry and Mary A. Newell. We have one child, a vigorous boy, Wilfred Earl Goodridge, born on July 2, 1906. After graduation, I continued to live at home in Cambridge, until my marriage, since which time I have resided in Winchester. In attempting to follow the secretary's suggestions, I can only say that my literary efforts have been confined to semi-occasional newspaper articles, and that my brief travels, with the exception of a wedding trip through Nova Scotia, have taken me scarcely beyond the confines of New England. The position of greatest profit and honor which I have held has been that of husband of Mrs. Goodridge. In short, my "extra-college" life has been an uneventful, quiet, but a very happy one.

DONALD GORDON

Having finished my college course in three years, I received leave of absence for one year, which I spent in tutoring, taking my degree with the Class of 1899. That fall I entered the Law School and was graduated therefrom in 1902. At the beginning of my second year I was married. The effect of this event upon my further professional education was kindly expressed by Dean Ames as follows: "We feel that the results of your examinations have hardly done you full justice." However, as before stated, I was graduated. In the summer of 1902 my wife and I began a postponed wedding trip around the world, first spending three months with my mother in Japan. We then visited China, the Philippines, Ceylon and India, returning to Boston in May, 1903. Immediately thereafter I was admitted to the Massachusetts Bar, and entered the office of Raymond, Potter and Westengard, 62 Devonshire Street, as a clerk. One year later I formed a partnership with Robert L. Raymond of the aforesaid firm, under the name of Raymond and Gordon, and we have ever since continued to practise law, first at the old address, and now in the Shawmut Bank Building, 82 Devonshire Street. I live in the winter at 9 Gloucester Street, and in the summer at South Lincoln. I have written no books except the privately printed "History of the Donald Family," which is still in its first edition. I am a member of the Sängerfest, and the Country, Union Boat, and Tennis and Racquet clubs.

WILLIAM CATRON GORDON

I was graduated from Harvard in 1899 with the degree of A.B., receiving the degree of A.M. from the same institution in 1900. The two years following this date I taught Latin and Greek in St. Paul, Minnesota, at the Central High School. In the fall of 1902 I went to Kansas City, Missouri, where I taught Latin and Greek in the Central High School continuously until January 1, 1908. During my last year in the Kansas City Central High School I was chairman of the classical department. I resigned the last named position to become the cashier of the Farmers Savings Bank at Marshall, Missouri, which place I still occupy. I was married on June 23, 1904, to Leonora Yeager, daughter of Robert L. and Leonora Forbis Yeager, of Kansas City, Missouri. I have one child, William Catron Gordon, Jr., born on March 31, 1905.

DENIS WEBB GRANBERRY

Immediately upon graduation I entered the Boston Institute of Osteopathy, now the Massachusetts College of Osteopathy, on Huntington Avenue, and made up back work so as to enter the class graduating on February 1, 1901. There was no summer vacation our first year, hence the singular time of graduation. In the class with me were L. van H. Gerdine, A.M., Harvard '97, and W. B. Meachan, Harvard '98. I came at once to Orange, New Jersey, through an uncle, rector of St. Barnabas Church near here in Newark, and opened an office for the practice of osteopathy at 408 Main Street, which I have since occupied without a break. In October, 1903, I entered the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York City, and was graduated M.D. therefrom June 12, 1907. I managed to keep up my practice during the medical course by keeping office hours here two days a week and evenings. Since graduation from Columbia, I have continued my osteopathic practice here, using medicine occasionally, but preferring to advance medical science, as far as my humble efforts can go, from the point of view of an osteopathic physician. I was married to Katharine Borden Franklin, daughter of William Morris and Katharine J. Sheldon Franklin, of East Orange, on June 1, 1904. We have one child living, a girl, Denise Sheldon Granberry, born on July 17, 1906, who makes our lives glad. I am a member of the Osteopathic Society of New York, the American Osteopathic Association, and president of the New Jersey Osteopathic Society. I hold membership also in the Harvard clubs of New York and New Jersey, the Essex County Country Club, the Baltusrol Golf Club, the Shonguen Fishing Club, the Orange Gun Club, the New Jersey Association of Columbia Alumni, the Confederate Veteran Camp of New York, the Washington Association of New Jersey, and the New Jersey Historical Society.

FRANK BUTLER GRANGER

I was graduated from the Harvard Medical School in 1902, serving as house officer on the Boston Floating Hospital during the seasons of 1901 and 1902. In September, 1902, I went to Randolph where I was associated with my father, Dr. F. C. Granger. On October 29, 1902, I was married to Clara Talbot Davis, daughter of Edward F. and Elmira T. Davis, of Everett. I remained with my father until June, 1903, when I moved to Boston and started practice at 591 Beacon Street, where I began to specialize in the X-ray and the use of electricity in disease. In July I was appointed assistant physician to the nerve department of the Boston Dispensary, and a year later was appointed physician in charge of the X-ray and electrical departments of the dispensary. In 1907 the electro-therapeutical department was created at the Boston City Hospital and I was appointed its head. At the same time I was made instructor in electro-therapeutics at Tufts College Medical School. Recently I have been elected president of the New England Electro-Therapeutical Association, and a member of the committee on high frequency of the American Electro-Therapeutical Association. I am master of my Masonic Lodge. I am a member of the American Medical Association, a fellow of the Massachusetts Medical Society, the American Electro-Therapeutical Association, the New England Electro-Therapeutical Association, the American Rentgen Ray Society, the Boston Medical Library, the Harvard Medical Alumni, and the Suffolk Medical Society. I am also a member of the Harvard Club of Boston. I have written a number of articles on the use of electricity such as: "The Production of Sterility by the X-Ray"; "The Treatment of Neuritis by Electricity"; "The Electrical Treatment of Sciatica"; "The Treatment of Certain Functional Neurosis by Electricity"; and "Treatment by Pheresis." I am special medical examiner in the Columbian, Metropolitan, and Manhattan Life Insurance companies.

BARTHOLOMEW FRANCIS GRIFFIN

At present I am engaged in a combination of editorial work and financial writing on the Boston News Bureau with which I have been associated since graduation. I was married on June 15, 1903, at Woburn, to Katharine Louise Claffey, daughter of William and Grace Claffey. We have one child, Grace Margaret Griffin, born on April 14, 1904. I have little eventful to record personally, as I have led the peaceful existence of a commuter and a married man. I took a short trip in England, Belgium, and France in the early summer of 1907.

ARTHUR FLOYD GRIFFITHS

I hold the degrees of Ph.D. and A.M. from St. Lawrence University and A.B. from Harvard. For three years I was master in St. George's School, Newport, Rhode Island. In the summer of 1902 I was elected to my present position as president of Oahu College, Honolulu, Hawaii. I have been prominent in civic affairs in Honolulu. I have been president of the Civic Federation of Honolulu, chairman of the Honolulu Improvement Advisory Board, secretary of the Social Science Association, secretary of the Pacific Scientific Institution, secretary of the S. C. Armstrong Memorial Association, chairman of the Harvard Club of Hawaii, students' aid committee; vice-chairman of the Hawaii Committee 1910 Convention, American Association for the Advancement of Science; member of the Education Commission, member of the executive committee of the Hawaiian Branch of the Red Cross, and other committees and organizations. I am a member of the University Club of Honolulu. I have travelled in Japan. On June 26, 1901, at Worcester, I was married to Helen Alsy Clemence, daughter of James Adolphus and Martha Foster Clemence.

THOMAS WATSON GRIGGS

[Mr. Griggs gives no other information about himself than his address which is 741 Brady Street, Davenport, Iowa.]

GEORGE DUFFIELD HALL

After graduation, with R. E. Forrest and J. T. Walker, I toured the world, going west. In the fall of 1900 I entered the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in the landscape architecture department, and the following year pursued a similar course of study at Harvard, working at odd times in the office of Franklin Brett in Brookline. I became junior partner in the firm of Brett and Hall, landscape architects, and in 1904 we moved our offices to 31 Beacon Street, Boston, where we now are. I married Marjorie Hays, daughter of Charles M. and Clara Gregg Hays, at Montreal on January 16, 1907, and we have one son, George Duffield Hall, Jr., born on October 8, 1907. Our home is in Dover, near the Norfolk Hunt Club and the Norfolk Country Club, to which I belong, as also to the Tennis and Racquet Club in Boston. I have for several years been tree warden in Dover, and also gypsy moth local superintendent. At the present time our firm is preparing plans for the city development of Prince Rupert, the terminal city of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway in British Columbia. This work necessitates long absences from Boston, but in all probability Boston will continue to be our home

HENRY MARION HALL

Since graduation I have been a teacher of English and am now employed at the High School of Commerce, New York City. In 1901 I married Alice Louise Haskell, of Boston. We have three children; Julia Ward Howe Hall, born on April 1, 1903; Frances Minturn Hall, born on March 15, 1905; and Henry Marion Hall, Jr., born on May 17, 1907. I have written a number of articles on various topics, among them being three articles on Longfellow published in Putnam's Magazine in 1907. I have the degree of A.M. from Columbia, and am in the graduate school of that university.

CHARLES AUGUSTUS HAMILTON

I was admitted to the bar March 3, 1902, and have since practised law in Worcester. At present I am acting as clerk to the district attorney by appointment of court. I belong to the Quinsigamond Boat Club and the Winter Club, and hold the office of treasurer of the Republican City Committee.

CLASS OF 1899—THIRD REPORT

THEODORE ELY HAMILTON

During the year 1899-1900 I was teaching fellow in Romance Languages in the University of the State of Missouri, from which institution I received, in June, 1900, the degree of A. M. I filled the places of absent professors of modern languages in several eastern universities. From 1903 to 1906 I was instructor in Romance Languages in the University of Illinois. The summer of 1904 I spent in Europe, where I visited Belgium, Holland, Germany, Switzerland, France, England, and Scotland. I passed the summer of 1905 in Cambridge, where I was engaged in research in the Harvard Library. I held a fellowship in Romance Languages during the year 1906-1907, in the University of Missouri, where I studied with the well-known Romance scholar, Professor Raymond Weeks. I have been instructor in Romance Languages in the University of Missouri since 1907. In June 1908 I received from the University of Missouri the Ph.D. degree. My doctor's thesis, entitled "The Cyclic Relations of the Chanson de Williame," is to be published in the University of Missouri Studies. I am also editing a text for D. C. Heath and Company. I am a member of the Phi Beta Kappa (Alpha of Missouri), of the Harvard and Philological clubs of the University of Missouri, of the Columbia Club, and of the Modern Language Association of America.

WILLIAM CLINTON HANSON

I received the degree of M.D. at the Harvard Medical School in 1905. During the years 1905-1907 I made investigations for the Massachusetts State Board of Health concerning the health of persons employed in industrial establishments within the commonwealth, and concerning the influence of occupation upon health. I collected for the State Board of Health a unique series of photographs illustrating dangerous trades, and conditions of manufacture in these and other industries which were practically ideal as to light, ventilation, dust, gases, humidity, and so forth. These photographs were exhibited at the recent International Congress on Tuberbulosis, held in Washington, and were awarded a special medal. In May, 1907, I received the appointment by the Massachusetts State Board of Health of assistant to the secretary, and in the absence of the secretary, acting secretary. While acting secretary, during the interval from August to December, 1908, owing to the absence and death of the late Dr. Charles Harrington, I prepared for the State Board of Health a manual relating to the powers and duties of the state inspectors of health of Massachusetts. I am a member of the following societies: Massachusetts Medical Society, American Medical Association, Massachusetts Association of the Boards of Health, and American Public Health Association.

ARTHUR SEARCH HARDING

Since leaving college I have been working for the Erben-Harding Company, manufacturers of worsted yarns. At present I am manager of their wool combing mill. I hold membership in the Union League Club of Philadelphia, and the Overbrook Golf Club. On October 15, 1901, at Philadelphia, I was married to Marguerite Perry, daughter of O. La Forrest and Rebecca Woglom Perry. We have one daughter, Sara Louise Harding, born on November 25, 1902, at Philadelphia.

FREDERICK WILLIAM HARLEY

On April 14, 1903, at Fall River, I was married to Clara Davol Buffington, daughter of Joseph L. and Sarah L. Buffington. We have had two children; James Boyd Harley, born on June 10, 1904, who died on June 14, 1905; and Elizabeth Buffington Harley, born on March 3, 1906.

EDWARD DEXTER HARLOW

After a year at the law school I entered the banking business in Boston, and am at present with the State Street Trust Company. I am a member of the Salem Club and the Salem Golf Club, of which I have been secretary for several years.

CLARENCE SAMUEL HARPER

After leaving college in 1899 I engaged in the newspaper business at Ottumwa and was, for two years, managing editor of the Ottumwa Courier. I am at present a member of the hardware jobbing firm of the Harper and McIntire Company. I was married on June 15, 1905, at Chicago, to Elizabeth Denel Chamberlin, daughter of John Clark and Maggie Denel Chamberlin, and have two sons, Samuel Houston, born on May 24, 1906, and James Rayner, born on November 12, 1907, both at Ottumwa, Iowa.

JAMES TAYLOR HARRINGTON

I left Cambridge in tears, elements weeping copiously, and sailed for England to help demonstrate American superiority in athletics. Soon after my arrival it was decided that my assistance was not needed. Consequently we were defeated. English papers were possessed with the idea that I was from Yale—another great trial and sorrow. I saw a thing or two in Europe and returned home and waited a few months for an offer to run the government or some small job like that. Eventually I decided to start at the other end of the ladder. For three years I struggled, with slight success, inducing merchants that they wanted to buy but did not know it. The prospect of sudden and stupendous wealth was too imminent, so I decided to abandon business. I began the study of medicine in 1902. I was graduated M.D. in 1906 at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University. I spent a few months in Europe. I was interne at Roosevelt Hospital, New York, in 1907 and 1908. I am now interne at Sloane Maternity Hospital, New York. I have not yet found anyone weak minded enough to marry me. I am occasionally to be found at the Harvard Club, New York.

FREDERIC WARREN HARRIS

In October, 1899, I entered the employ of the United Shoe Machinery Company of Boston, where I remained until the winter of 1905. At that time I resigned the position of assistant secretary and in the January following sailed for Brazil, where I was located at Diamantina, in the state of Minas Geraes, until May, 1907. After my return to the United States, on November 3, 1907, at Hampton, New York, I was married to Grace Anna Wilson, daughter of Albert B. and Mary J. (Miller) Wilson. Since my marriage I have lived at Hampton.

RICHARD BROWN HARRIS

I am a lawyer practising law in Spokane, Washington. On January 3, 1906, I was married to Anna Phillips Graves. We have one son, John Franklin Harris, born on September 29, 1906, at Spokane.

ROLAND WINSLOW HARRIS

[Mr. Harris gives no further information about himself than his address which is 131 State Street, Boston.]

WALTER CAPEN HARRIS

I am a travelling salesman for Harris and Lawton, Boston, wholesale diamond dealers, and a member of the Colonial Club of Dorchester.

EDWARD KIRK HASKELL

I came down to New York in the fall of 1899, and after devoting a year to insurance, I entered a stock-broker's office. I continued in that business until June, 1905, when I went to Chicago and then to St. Louis to sell commercial paper. I came back to New York in February, 1906, and entered the employ of Freeman and Company, bond dealers, and was on February 1, 1909, admitted to membership in the firm. The Harvard Club of New York is the only club of importance to which I belong. I served five years in the Seventh Regiment, National Guard of New York, and am now a member of Squadron A.

CLASS OF 1899—THIRD REPORT

JOHN WINSLOW HATHAWAY

I received the degree of A.B. from Harvard in 1899 and studied for two years at the Harvard Law School without being graduated. I was admitted to practice at the Massachusetts Bar, September 17, 1901, and have been in active practice since January, 1902. In May, 1902, I settled at North Wilmington, where my present home now is. Since that time, I have served for six years as trustee of the Wilmington Public Library; I served for three years as assessor; I have served for two years as trustee of the Public Trust Funds; I have served for four years as overseer of the poor, and as selectman, and am, at present, chairman of the selectmen. I was married on September 16, 1906, to Sara Emma Young, daughter of James A. and Emma A. (Gove) Young of Dorchester, and have no children. I am a Freemason and a Knight Templar. I am now engaged in the practice of law at 18 Tremont Street, Boston.

PERCY DUNCAN HAUGHTON

After leaving college I coached the Cornell University football team for two years. Then I engaged in the bond business with E. H. Rollins and Sons. In 1905 I entered the City Trust Company, Boston, and now hold the position of assistant secretary. I have always been deeply interested in athletics. In 1906 I won the racquet championship of the United States, and in 1908, was finalist in the racquet championship of the United States. I was head coach to the Harvard football team in 1908, and I served three years in the First Corps of Cadets, Massachusetts Volunteer Militia. I belong to the following clubs: Tennis and Racquet Club, Exchange Club, Country Club, Longwood Cricket Club, Harvard Club of Boston, Harvard Club of New York. [Haughton also won, with Q. A. Shaw '91, the amateur doubles racquet championship of the United States for 1909. He also neglects to mention that his 1908 football team beat Yale, 4-0.—Sec.]

FRANK HAYDEN

On July 30, 1903, at Greencastle, Tennessee, I was married to Jessie Eliott Wollper Matson, daughter of Charles E. and Elizabeth Farrow Matson.

HAROLD BUCKMINSTER HAYDEN

After graduation I went to work as a clerk in the comptroller's office of the New York Central Railroad in New York City. I worked there until about March, 1900, when I went into the treasurer's office of the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis Railway in the same city. In October, 1900, I went abroad, travelling through France, Spain, Italy and Germany, and returned to this country in April, 1901. Immediately after my return I went to South Framingham and entered the Dennison Manufacturing Company as a machine tender in the shipping tag department and became superintendent of that department in August, 1902. In February, 1906, I was made superintendent of the printing department in addition to my previous duties. In March, 1908, I took charge of the electrotype department. These several departments constitute a division of the factory and my present position is that of division superintendent. I am a member of the Harvard clubs of New York and Framingham, also the Framingham Country Club of which latter I am one of the governing board.

WILLIAM SOLOMON HAYES

On our Class Commencement Day I sailed for Europe as a "cowpuncher" on a Leyland Liner, spending ten days in England and two months in Paris. I had previously spent two years abroad, between November 30, 1893, and December 21, 1895, studying Italian, German, and French, and travelling somewhat extensively in Italy, Germany, Austria, Switzerland, and France. The first half of 1899-1900 I was a member of the Harvard Graduate School, the second half instructor in French and German in the Blair Presbyterial Academy, Blairstown, New Jersey. In the summer of 1900 I was one of the men teaching English to the Cuban teachers. The next five years I was connected with the University of Vermont; for two years as instructor in Romance Languages, then as professor of the same. The summer of 1901 was spent with a sister travelling in France, Belgium, Holland, Switzerland, Italy, England, and Scotland. After my marriage in July, 1905, to L. Florence Burdick, A.M., a brilliant mathematical alumna of U. V. M., a year was spent in extensive travel in France, Spain, Portugal, Sicily, and Italy, with a flying trip through Switzerland and down the Rhine. The month of September, 1906, was spent as instructor in French and Spanish in the Central High School of St. Louis, since which time I have been professor of modern languages in the South Dakota State College here in Brookings, South Dakota, where I am a member of the Ethical Culture Club. For the possible amusement of the few men who knew me or knew of me while at Harvard, I will add that I am doubtless as odd a fish as ever. While in college I never attended a class meeting, nor did I ever know when or where they were held; moreover, I never went to a football game or witnessed a rowing race, but I did see one college baseball game, when Harvard trounced Yale. The "cowpuncher" summer, thinking I might have use for my Harvard diploma in Paris, I had it sent to me there; but it was not needed and I did not open it, nor have I ever done so since. It is quite possible, accordingly, that, though I should live to be eighty or even round out a century, I may die without having once seen my Harvard diploma.

WILLIAM HEALY

I took my bachelor's degree out of course, with the class of 1899. At that time I was in the Medical School, class of 1900. On account of settling in Chicago, I spent my last medical year at Rush Medical College which graduated me (M.D.) in 1900. Intending ultimately to specialize in neurology and psychiatry, I then spent a year as physician in the Wisconsin State Hospital for the Insane. In 1901 I entered general practice in Chicago. For two years I was an instructor in the Northwestern University Medical School. Since 1902 I have been connected with the Chicago Policlinic, where I am now professor of nervous and mental diseases. In 1906-1907 I spent a year abroad studying in Vienna, Berlin, and London. Since then I have been specializing in nervous and in mental diseases. Just now, March, 1909, I am leaving all private practice to work on a private endowment for the purpose of investigating the physical and mental conditions of juvenile delinquents. In May, 1901, I married, at Madison, Wisconsin, Mary Sylvia Tenney, daughter of Daniel Kent Tenney, formerly a prominent Chicago lawyer. We have a hale and hearty son, Kent Tenney Healy, born on February 2, 1902.

LEWIS WARNER HENRY

There is nothing doing in the way of learned societies, offices of trust, and so forth, yet. I was in Mexico for some years, building long distance power transmission lines, and have since made a specialty of this branch of engineering; reporting on lines in California and Oregon for New York firms. At present I am with J. G. White and Company, of New York, in charge of the construction of a steel tower line in Massachusetts.

FRANK WILSON CHENEY HERSEY

Since receiving the degree of A.M. from Harvard in 1900, I have held the following positions: instructor in English in Brown University, 1900-1904; in the Harvard Summer School, 1901, 1903, 1904, 1905; in Harvard College since 1904; and also in the Lowell Institute Collegiate Courses, and in the School of Liberal Arts and Sciences of New York. I am literary adviser of Messrs. Sherman, French and Company, Boston. In collaboration with C. N. Greenough '98, and C. R. Nutter '93, I have prepared a few textbooks: "Specimens of Prose Composition," "English Composition Notebook," and "A Report on the Examinations in English for Admission to Harvard College." I am a member of the Harvard Union, the Harvard Musical Association, the New England Association of Teachers of English (executive committee), the New England Association of Colleges and Preparatory Schools, and the Modern Language Association. The last two summers I have spent in European travel: in 1907, in Scotland, England, France, Belgium, Switzerland, and Italy; and in 1908, in Italy, Switzerland, Germany, and Holland.

HARRY BREWER HEWITT

I am engaged in the lumber and logging business, at Hoquiam, Washington. I am a member of the Union Club, Tacoma, and the University Club of Seattle. In 1907 and in 1909 I was a member of the State of Washington Legislature.

HORACE EDWIN HILDRETH

During the year 1900-1901 I was a graduate student at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and received my degree of S.B. there as of 1901. I held the positions successively of civil engineer of the maintenance of way department of the Pennsylvania Lines, Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, 1901, and civil engineer of the construction department of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad, 1903. In 1907 I became a member of the firm of Hildreth Brothers, at Harvard, Massachusetts, manufacturers of wood working machinery. I am treasurer and trustee of the public library at Harvard. I have travelled in Great Britain, Holland, Germany, Switzerland and Norway.

FREDERICK BORDEN HILL

I studied law three years, taking the University of New Brunswick law examinations in 1902. Since which time I have been practising in St. Stephen, New Brunswick.

HENRY HORACE HILL

In college I took a general academic course, not specializing in any direction. I joined the Delta Upsilon Society, and while an undergraduate was a member of the First Corps Cadets, Massachusetts Volunteer Militia, having a short tour of coast guard duty during the Spanish War. I left college at Christmas in my senior year, but the faculty, on my petition, allowed me to obtain my degree by taking the mid-year and final examinations without attending the lectures and class-room work. My leaving Cambridge was required by the illness of my father's partner, which, although without a fatal termination at that time, made it appear necessary for me to get to work. The business I entered was the manufacture of paint brushes. The concern was then the John L. Whiting and Son Company, but has since joined another old concern in that line, becoming the John L. Whiting-J. J. Adams Company, of which my father is the president and I am the general utility man with ample duties, but no tag attached. I have travelled in England, France, Italy, Austria, Germany, Russia, Finland, Sweden, and Denmark. Since graduation I have been a member of the Exchange, Boston Art, Boston City, and University clubs, the Society of the Colonial Wars, and the Sons of the American Revolution, but at present am not a member of the Exchange or City clubs. On April 17, 1899, at Boston, I was married to Marion Coffin Kelley, daughter of Frank Mitchell and Lavinia Tuttle Kelley. We have two children, Harriet Hill, born on January 25, 1900, and Mildred Whiting Hill, born on July 15, 1904.

WILLIAM WEBSTER HILL

I am bookkeeper with the United Shoe Machinery Company, Beverly.

ROBERT LOUIS HOGUET

After leaving the Law School I entered the employ of Horn-blower, Byrne, Miller and Potter, attorneys and counsellors at law, 24 Broad Street, New York City, with whom I remained until May, 1905, at which time I went into partnership with William M. Ivins, Herbert D. Mason and Henry F. Wolff, Harvard, '99, under the firm name of Ivins, Mason, Wolff and Hoguet. The firm is engaged in the general practice of the law, with offices at 27 William Street, New York City. On June 27, 1907, I was married in Paris, France, to Louise Robbins Lynch, daughter of Peter William and Mabel Robbins Lynch. I have one child, a son, Robert Louis Hoguet, Jr., born on December 23, 1908. Since my marriage I have resided at 76 Irving Place, New York City. In the winter of 1907, in conjunction with Herbert D. Mason, I published a two volume digest of the decisions of the courts of the state of New York, from 1896 to 1906, known as "Mason and Hoguet's Supplement to Brightly's Digest."

MARSHALL SUMNER HOLBROOK

I have been practising law in Boston since 1901 with an office at 404 Sears Building. I was a member of the common council of Malden in 1905, and an alderman of the same city in 1906 and 1907. I was commissioned second lieutenant in the Coast Artillery Corps Massachusetts Volunteer Militia on June 20, 1907, and captain, December 24, 1908.

JOSHUA BENNETT HOLDEN, JR.

I am a note broker. My only other occupation was that of a newspaper reporter, immediately after graduation, on the Boston Record and Advertiser. The details of business are interesting to the participant, but dull reading. On December 20, 1900, at Baltimore, Maryland, I was married to Mabel Leigh Bonsal, daughter of Stephen and Frances Laud Leigh Bonsal. We have two children, Mabel Leigh Bonsal Holden, born on September 16, 1903, and Mary Bennett Holden, born on March 27, 1907, both at Billerica.

WILLIAM FRENCH HOLLINGS

[Mr. Hollings gives no other information about himself than his address which is Hemenway Chambers, Westland Avenue, Boston.]

MASSEY HOLMES

I have been engaged in the practice of law in New York since leaving the Harvard Law School in 1902; for two and one half years with Guthrie, Cravath and Henderson, and since then with Noble, Jackson and Hubbard. On September 24, 1907, at Nahant, I was married to Ethel Greenough, daughter of Malcolm S. and Lizzie T. Greenough. I am a member of the University Club, Harvard Club, Association of the Bar, and Southern Club, all of New York.

TYLER LEE HOLMES

I am at present employed by the Western Electric Company as assistant manager of the telephone department at New York. I have been with this company since the fall of 1899. In the spring of 1904 I was transferred from New York to the company's branch house at Kansas City, Missouri. From there I was transferred to another branch office of the company at Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, in the fall of 1905. A year later I married Kate Webb Lockett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Lockett of Newtonville, and in June of the following year I became manager of the Harrisburg branch of the Western Electric Company. In January, 1908, we moved to Syracuse, New York, where I held a similar position with the company. Our daughter, Katharine, was born on March 20, 1908, at Syracuse, and in July I was transferred to the New York office of the company and I moved my family to East Orange, New Jersey.

JOHN HOMANS

I entered the Harvard Medical School in the fall of 1899 and was graduated in 1903. Shortly previous to graduation

I became a house pupil at the Massachusetts General Hospital where I remained until the summer of 1904. After a short trip to the West I returned to Boston to become assistant to Dr. M. H. Richardson, of Boston, and have been practising surgery since that time. In September, 1908, I went to Baltimore to pursue certain studies at the Johns Hopkins Medical School during the winter of 1908-1909. I am a member of the Tennis and Racquet, and Union Boat clubs of Boston.

FREDERICK MARY HONE

Frederick Mary Hone, son of Alexander B. and Mary C. Hone, was born at Rochester, New York, on December 8, 1874. He prepared for college at private schools in Rochester, New York. He entered the University of Rochester in the class of 1898 and was graduated with the degree of A.B. He entered Harvard in the fall of 1898 as a member of the senior class. He remained in the University two years; in the second year doing work in the Graduate School. After leaving Harvard he returned to Rochester and entered the employ of Burke, Fitz Simons, Hone and Company, of which his father was the senior partner. He spent four and a half years in this business where his industry and earnestness won him promotion. He died of pneumonia after a very brief illness on June 1, 1905. He was a member of the Harvard Club of New York City; of "The Friars" and the Country Club of Rochester.

J. B. H.

CHAUNCEY WRAY HOOD

I have been teaching school since graduation and I am now studying law.

ROLAND GAGE HOPKINS

Since my graduation I have lived in Boston or the suburbs. On July 31, 1899, I entered the employ of the Boston Ice Company, and have been with them ever since, now occupying the position of general manager. About two years ago I was made a director of the company. Aside from my connection with the Boston Ice Company I am interested in the ice business in some of the principal cities of the South, and am a director in the Charleston Ice Manufacturing Company of Charleston, South Carolina; the Savannah Ice Company of Savannah, Georgia; the Mobile Ice Company of Mobile, Alabama; the Crescent Ice Company of New Orleans, Louisiana; the Avondale Ice Manufacturing Company, Birmingham, Alabama; and the Central Ice Company of New Jersey. I was married on April 3, 1902, and have three children, Reuben Warren Hopkins, 2d, born on February 12, 1903, Marcia Stanford Hopkins, born on September 8, 1904, and Stanford Hopkins, born on January 3, 1907. Immediately after my marriage I became a resident of Chestnut Hill where later I built a house in which I now live. I have held no public offices, nor have I travelled any outside of this country since leaving college. I am a member of the Harvard Club of New York, the Harvard Club, Exchange Club, and University Club of Boston, and the Chestnut Hill Club, and Chestnut Hill Golf Club of Chestnut Hill.

JAMES CARLETON HOWE

The following events in my life may be of interest to some of my classmates. In September, 1899, I entered the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. In April, 1902, I took a flying trip to Europe, visiting among other countries, Italy, Germany, Switzerland, France, and England. In June, 1902, I was graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology with the degree of an electrical engineer. I entered the engineering department of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, Boston, in August, 1902, and in October, 1904, was transferred to Kansas City, Missouri, and was with the engineering department of the Missouri and Kansas Telephone Company. In May, 1905, I moved to St. Joseph, Missouri, to become the manager of the Missouri and Kansas Telephone Company exchange there. I entered the employ of W. O. Gay and Company of Boston, in November, 1907, with headquarters at Kansas City. On February 26, 1908, at St. Joseph, Missouri, I was married to Letitia Todd Lemon, daughter of Mrs. John S. Lemon, and took a short trip to the Pacific coast, stopping at the Grand Canyon on the return. In May, 1908, I was transferred to the Chicago office of W. O. Gay and Company. On February 19, 1909, a son was born, James Carleton Howe, Jr. In April, 1909, I moved east to take the position of vice-president of the American Trust Company of Boston.

DEXTER HUNTER, JR.

My occupation is the lumber business and I hold the position of secretary of the Empire Lumber Company of Jacksonville, Florida.

CONSTANT DAVIS HUNTINGTON

Of the ten years since our graduation, I can account for three with studies pursued in various directions, at Harvard and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Then in the autumn of 1902 I went down to New York to seek my fortune, and shortly entered the service of G. P. Putnam's Sons, publishers, in the position of literary manager. My connection with this firm has continued to the present time, but in January 1905, I was sent to the London office as English representative, and I have lived in England ever since. I do not think I can claim any of the distinctions which our secretary intimates that by this time we may be expected to have attained, but among his more modest suggestions, I can admit membership in the Savil Club of London, and the Harvard Club of New York, and I can boast that I have crossed the Channel on visits to France!

HAROLD POOLE HUNTRESS

Harold Poole Huntress was born in Boston on January 12, 1877. He was the son of George L. Huntress (Yale '70) and Julia Poole Huntress. His parents moved to Winchester in 1884, and he lived there the rest of his life. He fitted for college in the public schools there, and was graduated from the Winchester High School with the highest honors of his class, but was so young that his parents thought it best to defer his entering college. He attended Mr. Hopkinson's school in Boston for one year, and entered Harvard from there in the autumn of 1895. In college he took a most excellent stand, being graduated with honorable mention in French and history, but his thoughts outside of the routine of the curriculum were centered upon the Lampoon, of which he became an editor, in the early spring of his freshman year. His work on the Lampoon was really of merit. His tastes were literary, and he planned to enter some publishing house when he was graduated. On the very next day after graduation he went into a publishing house in Boston, where he stayed for about a year, and then went into the house of L. C. Page and Company, where he remained continuously until his death. The summer of 1906 he spent in Europe. He was gradually promoted by L. C. Page and Company, and finally took charge of substantially all their literary work. He was their final manuscript reader, and the final arbiter of the books which should or should not be published. He was held in very high esteem by his employers, but he was so quiet, and sounded his own trumpet so little, that his parents did not know until after his death how responsible a position he actually held with his employers. He was a very enthusiastic member of the Class, and never missed a celebration or dinner. He was looking forward to the decennial celebration with interest, and only a few months before his death sent the secretary a suggestion for a badge to be worn on that occasion, with a request that the idea "be filed for future reference two years hence." He died at Winchester, on October 31, 1907.

G. L. H.

HENRY MINOR HUXLEY

In September, 1899, I entered the graduate school of Columbia University, but left in December of the same year to become a member of the American Archaeological Expedition to Syria. In 1901-1902 I attended the Harvard Graduate School and was assistant instructor in the department of anthropology and a Hemenway Fellow. In 1902 I received an A.M. from Harvard. From 1903 to 1907 I was with the American Steel and Wire Company of New York. In 1908 I entered the employ of Brown and Williams, patent attorneys of Chicago, Illinois. I am a member of the American Institute of Mining Engineers, the American Oriental Society, and the Harvard Club of New York. I have published "A Comparison of the Long Bones of American Indians and Eskimos," "Preliminary Report of the Anthropological Expedition to Syria," "Syrian Songs, Proverbs, and Stories, Collected, Annotated and Translated," and the "Anthropology of the Samaritans," in the Jewish Encyclopaedia.

SILAS ISADOR HYMAN

After graduation I went to the Harvard Law School, being graduated in 1902. I never practised law, but in October, 1902, I became a member of the firm of the Hyman, Hiller Company, cotton factors, 829 Union Street, New Orleans, and have been engaged in the cotton business ever since. I married Evelyn Douziger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Douziger, at New Orleans, November 16, 1904. We have two children, Anna Evelyn Hyman, born at New Orleans, on November 5, 1905, and Helen Hyman, born at New Orleans, on June 30, 1908. Shortly after my marriage, I spent six months abroad, visiting the Madeira Islands, Spain, Malta, Egypt, Turkey, Palestine, Greece, Sicily, Italy, Switzerland, France, and England. I am a member of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange, Harmony Club, New Orleans Chess, Checkers and Whist Club, Young Men's Gymnastic Club, Southern Yacht Club, Louisiana Harvard Club, and the Bibliophile Society of Boston.

ELDRED EDWARD IUNGERICH

On July 5, 1899, I entered the East Pittsburg Gas Company, of East Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, as chemist, in whose employ I remained until January, 1901, when I resigned and moved to Philadelphia. In March I obtained the position of chemist in the Midvale Steel Company, of Nicetown, Pennsylvania. I became assistant superintendent of the casting plant, in September, 1902, having charge of two open hearth furnaces. In 1904 I travelled for the Company in France, Belgium, Germany, and Russia, visiting in the latter country, Moscow, Niji Novgorod, and Tiflis, making boat trips on the Volga and in the Black Sea. The next year I also travelled for the company, this time visiting the steel works in Italy, France, and Sweden. In July, 1905, I resigned from the company, and in September entered the School of Mediono-Neural Theropy conducted by Dr. Harry Walter, Landtitle Building, Philadelphia, and was graduated therefrom with the degree of Doctor of Mediono-Neural Theropy in July, 1906. In September, 1906, I entered the Theological School of the General Church of the New Jerusalem, at Bryn Athyn, Pennsylvania. We regard the works of Swedenborg as the Lord's word of his second coming, by which is established the New Jerusalem foretold in John's book of Revelation. On May 25, 1907, at Bryn Athyn, I was married to Elizabeth Alexander Simons, daughter of Samuel McClellan and Caroline Alexander Simons, and a recent member of the General Church of New Jerusalem. From July 5 to September 15, 1907, I spent in missionary work in Spokane, Washington, followed by a trip to San Francisco, Los Angeles, Denver, and Chicago. On March 25, 1908, our daughter, Zoé Iungerich, was born at Bryn Athyn. In May, 1909, I shall be a candidate for ordination. I have contributed various articles to different papers, among which the most important are: "Simple Algebraic Solution of Chemical Equations," School Science, 1904; "The Strange Adventure of the Bishop," "Spiritual Warfare," "Does Swedenborg's Work on the Rational Psychology Contradict his Teaching that Angels Are in the Human Form?" "Testimony of Swedenborg's Earlier Works," all in New Church Life, Bryn Athyn, Pennsylvania.

FRANCIS TURNER JACKSON

From the time of my junior year in the high school, Concord, up to June 1, 1908, I was organist of the First Parish Church, in the above place; a time covering about fifteen years. After leaving college I gave practically all my time to music, both teaching and playing. I was a member of the Concord Artillery and consequently went south at the time of Spanish War with the Sixth Massachusetts Infantry. I was sick with mumps on the transport "Yale" and landed at Siboney, remaining there till about August 1, 1898, when I was sent home via Tampa. I remained in the Massachusetts Militia for several years after the war and finally resigned, after being captain of Company I, Sixth Massachusetts Infantry, for about two years. I am now a farmer in the plainest sense of the word, and I hope I shall remain so. I am not married, but hope and expect to be on the seventeenth of the coming month, which will be April, 1909. My address is Livermore Centre, Maine.

ROBERT APPLETON JACKSON

After graduation I went to Europe with Laurence E. Eustis and Thorndike H. Endicott, both of '99, for the summer, seeing a little of Holland, Belgium, France, Germany, Switzerland, and England. The same autumn I entered the Harvard Law School, from which I was graduated in 1902. During the last two years there I was one of the board of editors of the Harvard Law Review. In the summer of 1902 James F. Curtis '99, and I took a trip to the Pacific coast, going out over the Canadian Pacific, then by steamer to Skagway for a few days, then down the coast by rail and home over the Atchison, Topeka, and Santa Fé Railroad. On my return I entered the law offices of Ropes, Gray and Gorham, 60 State Street, Boston, where I remained for three years. I then started out for myself at 50 Congress Street, and practised alone till about March, 1907, when I came to New York to go into the New York office of Jackson and Curtis, bankers and stock brokers, of which firm my father is the senior partner. Through various changes I became a partner and am now in charge of the New York office. I am a member of the Tennis and Racquet Club of Boston, and the Harvard and West Side Tennis clubs of New York.

PERCY MALCOLM JAFFRAY

Percy Malcolm Jaffray was born on June 6, 1877, at Ewell, England. His father was Howard S. Jaffray, a son of Edward S. Jaffray, and his mother Emma Harris, daughter of Stephen Harris, of Providence, Rhode Island. He was one of eight children: six boys and two girls. He came to this country when about a year old, and spent most of his life at Irvington-on-the-Hudson. He attended the Westminster School, which was then at Dobbs Ferry, New York, and was run by Mr. William L. Cushing, and entered Harvard from there in the autumn of 1895. He had always led an out-door life, and was devoted to all sports, at which he was very successful. He played guard on his freshman football team, which beat the University of Pennsylvania freshmen 12 to 4; and subsequently played on the university eleven, culminating his athletic career as center on the team which defeated Yale 17 to 0 at New Haven in November, 1898. He was one of the most, if not the most, genuinely popular members of the Class, his genial smile and pleasant ways being a memory which those of us, who knew him, will never forget. He was a member of the Institute of 1770, the D. K. E., Zeta Psi, Porcellian, and Hasty Pudding clubs, and was elected chairman of the Class Committee. He died in Cambridge on December 22, 1898.

A. A.

HENRY JAMES, JR.

The summer after my graduation I spent with a field expedition of the division of forestry (now the United States Forest Service) in the Puget Sound region. The following winter I spent in the Graduate School until April, when I went to Washington, District of Columbia, for a year as assistant secretary of the American Forestry Association (the assistant secretary was then the acting secretary), and was also, I believe, a "laborer," thanks to the civil service rules, in the division of forestry. Although I acquired no technical training in forestry, and decided by the end of a year in Washington that I wanted to study law, I have kept up a strong interest in what is called the forestry movement and have given all the time I could to it by serving for several years as a member of the executive committee of the Massachusetts Forestry Association, as chairman of its legislative committee, and with various other associations and committees which have been interested in forestry and in the proposed White Mountain Forest Reserve. This has been most interesting work, for nowhere, but in Pennsylvania, has more been accomplished during the last few years than in Massachusetts. In 1901 I entered the Harvard Law School, and I was graduated and was admitted to the Suffolk Bar in 1904. After spending one year in the legal department of the Boston Elevated Railway, and three years in the office of Warner, Warner, and Stackpole, I opened an office with E. H. Warren '95, Theodore Hoague '98, and A. F. Bigelow '03, Warren, Hoague, James and Bigelow, 84 State Street, Boston. The career of a young attorney is not eventful nor romantic; he usually has to content an impatient ambition by believing that the foundations of his practice are more solid than they are imposing. Among its clients, my firm thus far numbers the Boston Legal Aid Society as a very interesting one. I am a member of the St. Botolph Club, have never held public office, and since graduation have been to Canada, England, Scotland, Holland, Belgium, Germany, France, and Spain.

IRVING LINDSLEY JAMESON

I attended the Harvard Law School from October 1, 1899, to January 1, 1902. I was admitted to the Massachusetts Bar, September, 1902. At present I am a member of the law firm of Mullen and Jameson, 1123 Tremont Building, Boston.

CHARLES SHIMMIN JEFFRIES

Charles Shimmin Jeffries was born in Boston on October 5, 1877. He was the son of Dr. Benjamin Joy Jeffries, Harvard '54, and Marian Shimmin Jeffries. He spent all his life in Boston, and its vicinity, going usually in the summer with his family to Hingham. He attended the kindergarten in Boston, and later the upper school at Miss Garland's and Miss Weston's schools. In the autumn of 1888 he entered Mr. Hopkinson's school, Boston, and stayed there seven years, until he entered Harvard. Deeply interested in athletics from the time he was a small boy, but unable to take part in them himself, he found great pleasure during his last year at school in being manager of the football team, and also a member of the executive committee of the Interscholastic Football Association. He entered college without conditions with the Class of '99, but in November of his freshman year he was taken ill of typhoid fever and died at his home, 15 Chestnut Street, Boston, on December 17, 1895. M. J.

HOWARD CORNELIUS JENNESS

[Mr. Jenness gives no other information about himself than his address which is 179 Humphrey Street, Lowell.]

PLINY JEWELL, 2D

In the fall of 1899 I went into the employ of the Boston Journal, at first as reporter, later as exchange editor. The latter part of 1900, I went to Bridgewater, to run the local weekly paper. Modesty rebels, but that completeness of the Class Report may gain, I must admit that during this period I served on the Republican town committee, as president of the Commercial Club, trustee of the Co-operative Bank, and chairman of the Republican County Committee. In 1905, offices of (adequate) profit not having thus far appeared, I manufactured for a year, and have since been a bond salesman, for the last two years with Messrs. Perry, Coffin and Burr. On July 14, 1905, at East Bridgewater, I married Anne Winslow Harris, daughter of Robert Orr and Josephine Gorton Harris, and have two children, Josephine Jewell, born on November 10, 1906, and Pliny Jewell, 3d, born on June 3, 1908, both at Concord.

VIRGIL VICTOR JOHNSON

I am pastor of the First Baptist Church, Concord, New Hampshire, and have been since July, 1907. Before that date, for five years, I held a similar position in Claremont, New Hampshire, following my graduation in May, 1901, from the Rochester Theological Seminary, Rochester, New York. Before coming to Concord I made a visit of ten weeks in Europe, spending most of my time in Italy and England. On August 4, 1908, I was married to Marion Louise Bolster, daughter of Reverend W. H. Bolster, pastor of the Pilgrim Congregational Church, Nashua, New Hampshire.

CHARLES HAVEN LADD JOHNSTON

After graduation from college, I spent the summer in Jackson's Hole, Wyoming, as a traverse-man for the United States Geological Survey and succeeded in getting a severe attack of sciatic rheumatism—which put me hors-de-combat for six months. I then read manuscripts and did other light and heavy labor for L. C. Page and Company, publishers, but resigned from their employment to assist in two courses in English at Harvard. During the summer I acted as private secretary for Congressman F. G. Newlands, of Nevada, and did some political writing and cartooning for him in his campaign for the United States Senate, which was successful. Upon my return east I tutored and taught several small boys, and then was offered, and accepted, an assistant instructorship in English at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, where I also lectured on the campaigns of the Army of the Potomac, during our Civil War. Being forced to resign this position, owing to the ill-health of my brother, who was keeping a weather-eye upon some realty holdings of my family, I came to Washington, where I have since resided. Here I have been engaged in real estate development, in hound breeding, chicken raising, truck gardening on a very small scale, and in writing. Besides contributions to the Youth's Companion, Leslie's, the Overland Monthly, and so forth, I have been joint author of one book, "Little Pilgrimages among the Women Who Have Written Famous Books," 1901, and "Famous Cavalry Leaders," 1908. Several other volumes from my pen have been judged "not profitably publishable" by numerous hard-fisted and, of course, unappreciative publishers. I was married on April 14, 1903, to Edythe Marion Newlands, daughter of Francis Griffiths and Clara Sharon Newlands, and have two pink-cheeked and lusty sons, Francis Newlands Johnston, born on March 8, 1904, and Alan Ladd Johnston, born on December 28, 1906. I have the misfortune never to have visited any foreign lands, save Canada and Missouri, and am, at present a member of the Washington Harvard Club, Washington Kennel Club, and the Chevy Chase Country Club. For one season, 1905-1906, I was M. F. H. of the Chevy Chase Hounds, and had perhaps the best time of my career although this was an office without profit and with no particular honor. Together with many other Harvard men, I also served a three year's enlistment in Light Battery A, Massachusetts Volunteer Militia, and was honorably discharged, after many pleasant and profitable days with this excellently equipped and splendidly officered command.

JOSEPH ALBERT JONES

After graduation I spent one year at the Harvard Law School, and then went into business with my father. I have spent most of my time helping my father to develop Gulfport, a port in Mississippi between New Orleans and Mobile, and I hold the position of first vice-president of the Gulf and Ship Island Railroad. On September 21, 1907, at Chicago, Illinois, I was married to Mary Ruth Seymour, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horatio Winslow Seymour.

REGINALD FRANCIS JONES

I am employed by Blake Brothers and Company of Boston, as outside bond-salesman. I am not married. With several others, I belong to the Boston City Club. The Concord Golf Club and Cambridge Skating Club are the only other clubs of which I am a member. The only degree I have had conferred upon me is that of A.B. which so few of us escape.

RICHARD HENRY JOY

After leaving college, I entered the employ of the Syracuse Dry Goods Company. On January 1, 1902, together with John J. Ryan and Peter Byrne, I organized the Syracuse Hosiery and Underwear Company, of which I am vice-president and director. We are wholesalers of hosiery, underwear, and shirts. On April 18, 1900, at Apulia Station, New York, I married Ina Jane Partridge, daughter of Frank M. and Jane C. Partridge. I am a member of the Chamber of Commerce, Knights of Columbus, Mystic Kiewe of Ka-moo-no, and Elks.

BENJAMIN WILLIAMSON KEEN

I am a lawyer, non-resident member of the Harvard Club of New York, and resident member of the Harvard Club of New Jersey.

PAUL MUNROE KEENE

Ever since graduation I have been associated with the Boston Woven Hose and Rubber Company, at present as sales manager of the jar ring and garden hose departments. I am a member of the Oxford Club of Lynn, the Harvard Club of Boston, and the Mount Carmel Lodge, A. F. and A. M. of Lynn.

JARVIS KEILEY

I received an A.M. degree at Harvard in 1900, and from 1900 to 1903 I was a graduate student in Columbia University. In 1903 I was appointed instructor in English in the College of the City of New York, and went to live at Grantwood, New Jersey. In May, 1906, I founded a weekly newspaper, the "Palisade Post," of which I am still the proprietor and editor; besides holding my position as instructor of English at the College of the City of New York. I am at work on a volume, the "Julian Ideal in American Literature," and have written articles in the Catholic Encyclopaedia. I have spent one year in Europe. On November 3, 1903, at Sweet Springs, West Virginia, I was married to Lavalette Holmes Lewis, daughter of William Lynn and Florence C. Lewis. We have one son, Phillip Preston Keiley, born on June 20, 1905, at Grantwood, New Jersey.

JOHN ALEXANDER HULL KEITH

For the first seven years after leaving college I taught in the Northern Illinois State Normal School at DeKalb, Illinois, being professor of pedagogy and assistant in psychology. In 1906, I transferred to the Illinois State Normal University at Normal, Illinois, as head of the training department. In November, 1907, I moved to Oshkosh, Wisconsin, as president of the State Normal School. I was married to Rebecca Abigail Foley, daughter of Thomas Green and Elizabeth Dodd Foley, June 7, 1900. Two children have come to us, Mary Lee, on August 2, 1903, and John Alexander Hull, Jr., on March 11, 1908. My work has required me to speak frequently and to write a variety of things, including a book, "Elementary Education: Its Problems and Processes." I received an A.M. from Harvard in 1900 for work completed at graduation.

WALDO SHAW KENDALL

I was a student at the Alliance Française, Paris, in 1899, and an instructor in French and German at Hobart College, Geneva, New York, in 1899-1900. I travelled through France, Italy, Greece, Egypt, England, Switzerland, Germany, Holland, Scotland, and Morocco in 1900-1901. In 1901-1902 I was an instructor in German at Harvard University and Radcliffe College. I was master in French and German at the Hill School, Pottstown, Pennsylvania, in 1902-1903. I studied at the University of Berlin, Germany, in 1903-1904, and travelled through Europe. At present I am in the employ of Spencer, Trask and Company, New York, as bond salesman. I married Ethel Parker of Toronto, Canada, on November 15, 1905, in London, England. Elizabeth Parker Kendall was born on October 14, 1908.

GEORGE BARON KERPER, JR.

[Mr. Kerper gives no other information about himself than that he is a lawyer living at 2841 May Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.]

FREDERICK HENRY KEYSER

Frederick Henry Keyser, only son of John and Mary Magdelene (Miller) Keyser, was born at Charlestown, on January 29, 1874, where he lived for the greater part of his life. After being graduated from the Frothingham Grammar School and the Charlestown High School, he studied for three years at Harvard College, and then went to the Newton Theological Institute to complete a course for the Baptist ministry. He joined the Bunker Hill Baptist Church of Charlestown while quite young, and for several years he sang in the church choir there. He died in May, 1903, at Fayville, where he was pastor of the Baptist Church.

A. A.

ARTHUR GOSS KILBOURN

In 1907 I started the Groton Hospital—ten beds—one of which usually is for charity patients. The hospital is a general one, open for everything save contagious diseases. I am a member of the Massachusetts Medical Society. On August 22, 1908, at Toronto, Canada, I was married to Georgie Caroline Rogers Rogers, daughter of George Charles and Martha Ann Overend Rogers.

HENRY HORTON KIMBALL

After graduation from Harvard College with our Class of '99, I took the regular three years' course at the Harvard Law School, receiving my LL.B. degree with the class of 1902. I then became associated in the general practice of the law with the firm of Knowlton, Hallowell and Hammond, and later with the firm of Hallowell and Hammond, at 50 State Street, Boston. On January 1, 1906, I started an independent practice at 649 Tremont Building, where I still remain. My present membership in clubs is limited to the Harvard Musical Association, the Social Law Library in Boston, and to a life membership in the Harvard Union. I was formerly a member of the University Club in Boston, and the Corinthian and Eastern yacht clubs in Marblehead, but resigned from these about one year ago. I am just completing my fifth year of service in the First Corps Cadets, a military organization started in Boston in 1741. We had occasion to serve with some of the other militia in guarding the ruins of Chelsea after its disastrous fire in April, 1908, and later in giving out commissary stores to the homeless.

HOMER PENFIELD DONALDSON KINGSBURY

After leaving college I went to Baltimore and took one year's post-graduate work at Johns Hopkins. I came to California in 1901 and started a factory to make better preserves, jams, and marmalade than any on the market. I succeeded, and am still in the business,—literature on request. I have no new degrees conferring academic distinction, but have medals from St. Louis, Portland, and Jamestown for excellence of preserves as aforesaid. I was married on May 27, 1905, to Anna Potts Rockhill, daughter of William and Harriet Taylor (Potts) Rockhill, of Germantown, Pennsylvania, and we have two children, Bill, otherwise William Charles, and Alice, born on May 15, 1906, and May 10, 1908, respectively. My public career has been limited to two terms as president of the Redlands Board of Trade, and I am now mayor of that flourishing little hamlet. Come out and look us over. I am a member of the Country Club, University Club, and Harvard Club of Southern California.

EUGENE SCHREIBER KLEIN

After taking an A.B. degree in 1899 I stayed two years at Cambridge and took an S.B. degree in architecture. I returned to St. Louis and entered the employ of Mauran, Russell and Garden. I am still in their employ. I am a member of the University Club, of the St. Louis Architectural Club, an associate member of the American Institute of Architects, and a member of the St. Louis Chapter of the American Society of Architects. On January 12, 1907, at Springfield, Illinois, I was married to Nella Maxwell Lambert, daughter of Alfred and Lydia Maxwell (Brammer) Lambert.

CLARENCE HINCKLEY KNOWLTON

For six years I taught in Massachusetts—one year in Webster, three in Chelmsford, and two in Lexington. In Chelmsford I followed my classmate, D. Howard Fletcher, as principal of the high and village schools. In this quiet Middlesex County village, peopled with the best New England stock, I found my work especially congenial. The school was approved by the State Board of Education during my term, and six of my graduates went from the school to college. Next to my native town of Farmington, Maine, Chelmsford has remained my dearest home. I visit the place frequently, for many of my friends still live there; but the children have taken the education we gave them, and scattered over the world, even to the Pacific coast, Australia, and South America. In 1906 the way opened for me to enter the Boston office of D. C. Heath and Company, publishers. Mr. Heath was an old school friend of my father's, and he proved a most excellent friend to me. His goodness and unfailing courtesy set a high standard for us who are left to continue his business. I was first connected with the manufacturing department, for which my father's work had partly fitted me. This department is at the very heart of the business, with a tremendous mass of details about typography, art work, paper, printing, and binding, and attendant figures in regard to stock, sales, and costs. In the fall of 1908 I was transferred to the sales department, and since then I have been visiting high schools and school superintendents in the interests of the house. This work takes me over most of Massachusetts and has proved very interesting and satisfactory. My avocation is systematic botany, and much of my leisure is devoted to collecting and classifying our native plants. I am a member of the New England Botanical Club, a very active association of amateur and professional botanists, which musters an attendance of thirty or forty men at its monthly meetings in Boston. On September 1, 1907, I was married to Lydia Anne Hunter, daughter of Samuel Belcher, and Amelia Lincoln Hunter of Machias, Maine. We have purchased a house in Hingham and have been living there since November, 1908.

KARL HENRY KOMPFE

I am a lawyer, practising in New York. I studied law at the Columbia Law School and the New York Law School. At present I am vice-president of Ford, Hartman, and Kompfe. I am a member of the Seventh Regiment of New York. I have visited England, France, and Germany.

LAWRENCE LA FORGE

For four years after graduation I continued to reside in Cambridge, a part of the time as a graduate student. In 1901-1902 I was an assistant in geology in Harvard, and 1902-1903 an Austin Teaching Fellow, assigned to the department of geology; during those two years I acted as assistant in courses in field and dynamic geology, under Dr. T. A. Jaggar. In 1901 I was appointed an assistant geologist in the United States Geological Survey, and for several summer vacations was employed upon field work for that survey, first about Boston and later in New Jersey. In 1900 I received the degree of A.M. and in 1903 that of Ph.D., both from Harvard. The subject of my doctor's thesis was "The Geology of Somerville." (Not published.) In 1903 I removed to Washington, where I have since resided. For several years I was employed on the Geological Survey in field work in Georgia. In 1906 I took a position as aid in the department of geology of the United States National Museum, where I remained for two and one-half years. Last summer I left that position to take up for the Geological Survey the completion of the geological work about Boston upon which I had been engaged in 1901-1903, and am, at present, occupied with that task, staying in Cambridge temporarily during the field season, but keeping my home and family in Washington. I am a member of the Harvard Union, Harvard Club of Washington, District of Columbia; Geological Society of Washington, and Audubon Society of the District of Columbia. I was married on June 28, 1893, at Shinglehouse, Pennsylvania, to Fannie Agnes Carryer, daughter of Thomas Haddon and Harriet Viola (Wightman) Carryer. We have one child, Helen Grace LaForge, born on May 11, 1897, at Alfred, New York.

HOBART URI LAMPREY

Hobart Uri Lamprey was born in Haverhill on April 15, 1876. He was the youngest son of John S. and Mary G. Lamprey and the only one of four sons to reach manhood. He received his early education in the Boston public schools, entering Harvard College from the Boston High School. It was while he was attending the high school that he became an enthusiastic lover of baseball, devoting himself to the sport with all the splendid strength of his nature. He was captain of the school team and a member of the college team and his interest in the game never flagged till his death. Indeed, his death was probably caused by his devotion to athletics to the utter disregard of health. He developed tuberculosis and died on his twenty-first birthday, on April 15, 1897, thus bringing to an untimely end, as it seemed to those who knew him best, a life of great promise. Genial, generous and whole-hearted, his was a disposition to attach many friends to him. Whatever he did, he did with his might and, without achieving any of the successes of a large life, he yet left behind him a never-to-be-forgotten memory.

J. S. L.

CLEMENT RICHMOND LAMSON

Since leaving the Law School in 1901, I have practised law in Boston, first being assistant with the firm of Lowell, Smith, and Lowell, and later with the firm of Warren and Garfield, now Warren, Garfield, Whiteside and Lamson. I belong to the Bar Association and the Harvard Club of Boston.

JOHN WILLIAM LANE

I was graduated from the Harvard Medical School in 1903. From 1903 to 1905 I was surgical house officer at the Boston City Hospital. Since 1905 I have been a surgeon with an office at 845 Boylston Street, Boston, and at the same time assistant demonstrator of anatomy at Tufts College Medical School. For three years I was a district physician of the Boston Dispensary. I am a member of the Massachusetts Medical Society and American Medical Association. I was married on October 3, 1906, at Dorchester, to Frances Agnes Dorrety, daughter of John C. and Annie Dorrety.

ARTHUR BROOKS LAPSLEY

I have been a grower of peaches and apples since October 1, 1900. In 1906 I edited the Federal Edition of Abraham Lincoln's Works. I am a member of the Harvard Club of New York, and of the University Club of New York.

FRANK LAWRENCE

I left Harvard about Christmas, 1897, on account of failing health. I entered the New York Law School and I finished the year there. I spent that and several succeeding summers in the woods of Maine and Canada. I was graduated from the New York Law School in 1899 with honor and was, for about a year, in the law office of Colonel Edward C. James in this city. I was employed the greater part of the time when I was in the law school and for several years after my admission to the bar, February, 1901, in the office of Lawrence and Hughes in this city. In November, 1901, as my health had been very bad for some years, I went west and spent the winter in Phœnix, Arizona, the summer in California, and the autumn of 1902 in Alberta, Canada, returning to New York City about Christmas. I was in the office of Boardman, Platt and Soley for about six months. From the autumn of 1903, with the exception of a few months when I was in practice alone, I was with the firm of Lawrence and Hughes, 120 Broadway, New York City, into which firm I was admitted as a partner in January, 1907. Since the death of Gordon P. Hughes, the firm, now known as Lawrence and Lawrence, of which I am still a member, has continued. In the summer of 1907 I spent six weeks abroad, mainly in Switzerland and Germany. Some of my vacations I have spent in Canada, some in Maine and elsewhere. I am a member of the Harvard Club of New York City and of the Laurentian Club of Canada. My health, which had been bad for many years, is now much improved.

JAMES MARSLAND LAWTON

I left college after my junior year and worked for the Apollo Iron and Steel Company, which merged into the American Sheet Steel Company, with whom I continued until 1902. Then I was with Hartshorne, Bogert and Battelle, of the New York Stock Exchange. In 1904 I came to Mexico and have, up to the present time, been with the Black Mountain Mining Company, as assistant cashier and bookkeeper at their mine. I am a member of the Harvard Club of New York, New York Academy of Science, and fellow of the American Geographical Society. I was married on July 22, 1906, at Magdalena, Sonora, Mexico, to Carmen Padrés, daughter of Antonio and Carmen Romero de Padrés.

HENRY HAMILTON LAY

[Mr. Lay gives no other information about himself than his address which is Kewanee, Illinois.]

MAURICE BROWN LEE

On October 18, 1906, at Dubuque, Iowa, I was married to Frances Cummings Rider, daughter of John V. and Viola G. Rider.

MICHAEL EDWARD LEEN

For three years subsequent to my graduation from college I attended the Harvard Law School, completed the course in 1901, and received the degree of LL.B. I was admitted to practice in Massachusetts in September, 1901, and have been practising law in Boston since then. Except for more or less travelling in this country and a trip to the British Isles and western Europe in the summer of 1908, my life has been entirely uneventful.

ROBERT AINSWORTH LEESON

The winter following graduation was spent by taking a few courses in mechanical drawing, and so forth, at Harvard, and learning the factory end of the Universal Winding Company's business at Providence, Rhode Island. This company manufactures winding machinery for textile and analogous interests. The care and operation of all forms of general machinery, such as lathes, planers, milling machines, and so forth, was carefully gone into, including the actual operation of each type. In the same way the production of each of the component parts of the twenty odd styles of universal winding machines was taken up; the machines assembled and run; factory costs, and so forth, were next taken up, and then general office work at the Boston office. At the completion of this apprenticeship I was elected treasurer and director of the company. The duties of this office have been my only business occupation. Vacations have been spent in hunting, fishing, and canoeing trips in the Hudson Bay Company's territory, Maine, and New Brunswick; visits to Shelter Island, and the Profile House, and a trip abroad the summer after I was married. My marriage to Mildred Carruth Dix, was at All Souls Unitarian Church, corner of Twentieth Street and Fourth Avenue, New York, at three o'clock, on April 9, 1902, followed by a smaller reception at the Dix house, 822 Madison Avenue. Both Mrs. Leeson and I having visited Switzerland, a trip completely around that country was arranged. Landing at Cherbourg, we visited Paris, Marseilles, Genoa, Venice, Vienna, Buda-Pest, Munich, Paris and London, sailing for home from Liverpool by the Allan Line to Quebec (a most delightful way to come back). We have two children, Loraine Leeson, born on May 12, 1905, and Robert Leeson, born on May 4, 1907. I am a member of the Union Club in Boston and the Country Club, Brookline. The list of "offices of honor" held, though short, is quite sufficient, as it is topped by that pleasantest and best of all—the charge of the entertainment and general "get-togetherness" of the Class of '99 for one day of the Decennial.

WILLIAM LESHNER

After leaving college I began newspaper work on the Free Press in Detroit, Michigan. I have since been connected with newspapers in Cincinnati, and am at this writing circulation manager of the Cataract Journal at Niagara Falls, New York. My marriage to Hermione Edna Theisz, daughter of Louis and Doretta Theisz, took place in Detroit on February 18, 1904, and I have one child, Virginia Margaret Leshner, born on November 16, 1904. I am a member of Palestine Lodge, Number 357, F. and A. M., King Cyrus Chapter, and Damascus Commandery Number 42, Knights Templar, all of which are located at Detroit, Michigan.

EMANUEL LISSNER

After graduating with my class in 1899 I returned to the Lawrence Scientific School for a year and received the degree of S.B. in mining and metallurgy. In the summer of 1900 I went west and remained there until the end of 1907. In the meantime I was in the employ of mining companies in Utah and Sonora, and of railroad companies on the Pacific coast. I have had charge of railroad construction in California and have located new lines for the Union Pacific in Washington, and the Alaska Pacific in the Controller Bay country of Alaska. At present I am temporarily in Boston in charge of an estate.

EDWARD HUBERT LITCHFIELD

After graduation my son made a tour around the world, visiting among other countries, China, Japan, Java, Burmah, and India; saw some of the fighting in the Philippines; hunted big game extensively in India, and made a fine bag of Himalayan bears in Cashmere. He read law in the New York Law School and was admitted to the New York Bar. Then he entered the law office of Tracy, Boardman and Platt. He remained there for about eighteen months and then entered my office, where he became interested in assisting me in the care of my large real estate interests. He became a member of Squadron A, New York State Cavalry and was there for at least five years, when he resigned to go on this present six months' hunting trip in Africa. He left for Mombasa, British East Africa, in December, 1908, and is still in camp out there. He has already made a bag containing lion, rhinoceros, giraffe, hippopotamus, zebra, warthog, and a great variety of antelopes. He had previously made trips to Newfoundland and New Brunswick with me for caribou and moose; also hunted chamois with me in the Alps. In addition, he has made frequent trips for big game to Wyoming, British Columbia, and Mexico. His New York clubs are the New York Yacht, Down Town Association, University, Racquet and Tennis, and Hamilton Club of Brooklyn. He is also a member of Society of Colonial Wars.

EDWARD H. LITCHFIELD.

HENRY DEMAREST LLOYD

After leaving college I entered the Harvard Medical School, receiving the degree of M.D. in 1904. In the fall of 1903 I became a house officer of the Boston City Hospital and in November, 1905, was graduated. I then, with my wife, went on a "grand tour," visiting Egypt, Palestine, Turkey, Greece, Italy, Switzerland, France, and England. I returned to Boston in 1906 and since that time have practised medicine there. I belong to the Puritan, Allston Golf, Corinthian Yacht, and Massachusetts Automobile clubs. On November 7, 1904, at Memphis, Tennessee, I was married to Elizabeth McEwen Mason, daughter of Carrington and Maria Boeldie Mason. We have one son, Henry Demarest Lloyd, Jr., born on October 18, 1907, at Boston.

CORNELIUS WYGANT LOCKWOOD

My present occupation is that of teacher of physics at the Stuyvesant High School, city of New York. I am a member of the Physics Club of New York, the New York State Science Teachers Association, and the American Association for the Advancement of Science. I received an A.M. from Columbia in 1907. On April 30, 1901, I was married to Margaret Louise Sutphen, daughter of John C. and Fannie A. Sutphen. We have one child, Charles Gilbert Lockwood, born on July 17, 1902, at Newburgh, New York.

JOSEPH LOVEJOY

I was graduated from the Harvard Law School with the class of 1902. I practised law in the office of Edgar R. Champlin for one year. I was a member of the firm of Chisholm and Lovejoy till May, 1907. At present I am a member of the firm of Lovejoy and Cole, practising law in Boston. I was married on October 19, 1905, to Natalie Frances Holden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joshua B. Holden of Boston. We have two sons, Joseph Lovejoy, Jr., born on August 15, 1906; and John Moulton Lovejoy, born on February 5, 1909. I am a member of the University Club of Boston, and the Boston City Club.

DEAN SHERWOOD LUCE

Obliged to leave college at the end of the sophomore year I took up the management of a dry goods store for three years before I entered the Harvard Medical School. This business I continued to oversee during my medical course and only sold it last year. After completing the medical course I spent a year in the Long Island Hospital and then settled in Canton, where I am now practising. I was married on February 15, 1905, to Ethel May Bense, daughter of William H. and Elinor M. Bense of Canton. We have no children. The only offices I have held have been merely local ones, such as town treasurer, and officer of the board of health. I am a member of the Massachusetts Medical Society. Such clubs as I belong to are also local.

JULIUS LUCHT

With the exception of a half year spent in European travel and one year, 1904-1905, in the Harvard Graduate School, when I received an A.M. degree from Harvard, I have been busy teaching in secondary schools. From 1899 to 1904 my work was in the high school at Davenport, Iowa. The school year of 1905 to 1906 was spent in substitute work in two private schools near New York, and from 1906 to 1908 I was an assistant master in the Lawrenceville School, Lawrenceville, New Jersey. During my six months abroad I enjoyed one month each in Germany and Italy, the other four being divided between Greece, Switzerland, Austria, France, and England. I gave up teaching last June in order to engage in library work. At present I am renewing my youth in pursuing the one year library course at Pratt Institute in Brooklyn, and by June seventeenth I hope to be ready for a new job.

LYNCH LUQUER

I finished the architectural course at Technology in June, 1905, and spent the summer in Europe. In the autumn I went to work as draughtsman and have kept at it ever since. I am now with Wheelwright and Haven, 220 Devonshire Street, Boston.

WILBUR HENRY LYNCH

Except for my marriage on August 9, 1899, to Helen Edith King, and the birth of my daughter Barbara Joyce, December 13, 1900, my life since graduation has been uneventful. From September, 1899, to June, 1901, I held the principalship of the high school at Chatham, New York. Then I resigned to accept a better job at Amsterdam, New York, where I remained principal of the high school until June, 1907. Since then I have been superintendent of the American and English Schools in Mexico City, a position full of interest and new experiences. We have here a University Club, containing graduates of nearly every college in the States except Harvard. There are, however, several Elis as well as some Technology men, so we feel neighborly. The climate of Mexico City, winter and summer, is the finest in the world, making a cheerful and optimistic atmosphere for the life of an humble pedagogue.

CHARLES NICHOLAS McCALL

My present occupation is nothing. I have written no books; though I have scribbled a little privately, nothing of mine has been published. I have no membership in learned societies. My only degree, besides that of A.B. when I was graduated, is that of A.M., conferred by Harvard in 1900. I belong to the Harvard Club of New York. The foreign countries I have visited are Cuba, the British Empire (England, Gibraltar, Malta), France (Algeria), Spain, Portugal, Morocco, Tunis, Italy, Greece, Turkey, Bulgaria, Servia, Austria-Hungary, Switzerland, Germany, Belgium, Holland, and Monaco.

JOHN CHAPMAN McCALL

Immediately after graduation I entered the employ of the New York Life Insurance Company, being connected with the agency department. In the early part of the year 1900 I was made recorder of the company. In 1901 I was made assistant secretary, and in May, 1903, I was elected secretary of the company, which position I hold at the present time. Since my connection with the New York Life Insurance Company I have made two foreign trips, visiting the company's principal agencies abroad. On November 5, 1902, I was married to Mary Lambert, the daughter of Major William H. and Herminia Lambert of Philadelphia. I have two children, Mary Lambert McCall, born on October 1, 1903, and Lois Herminia McCall, born on August 27, 1906.

GEORGE MADISON McCOY, JR.

I entered the Lawrence Scientific School as a special student with the Class of '99. I entered the Harvard Medical School in the fall of 1899 taking the degree of M.D. in 1903. I practised medicine in Newton for three years but gave it up in 1905 for the general insurance business. On March 31, 1903, at Newton, I was married to Elizabeth A. Pilling. We have one child, Ruth Elizabeth McCoy, born on May 1, 1904, at Newton.

GEORGE NELSON McDANIELS

I taught in the Gilbert School, Winsted, Connecticut, for three years, and since then have taught in the St. Louis public schools six years; mathematics and science in the Central High School of that city and now I am principal of the Madison School, Seventh and La Salle Streets, St. Louis, Missouri.

WILLIAM JOHN McGURK

I was married on October 1, 1902, at North Adams, to Alice Elizabeth Rice, daughter of George Leroy and Sarah Eliza (Robinson) Rice, and we have one daughter, Constance McGurk born on September 11, 1907. I am sales agent for the American Plate Glass Company of Kane, Pennsylvania.

WALLACE ESTILL McHENRY

Since leaving college I have been in a bank for a year and have since then followed my profession of civil engineering. I have been on railroad work from chainman to charge of work. I was in charge of building the largest ship yard on the Great Lakes, namely the Great Lakes Engineering Works of Detroit, Michigan. Then I was in the engineering department of the San Francisco Railway, and chief draughtsman for the Laclede Power Company of St. Louis, Missouri. At present I am chief draughtsman in the designing department of the sewer department of the city of St. Louis, Missouri. I have had no time to travel. I have to provide for my household, and that keeps me busy. Business trips in the United States I have often taken. I was married on June 8, 1904, to Mary Lucille Blanche Ryan, daughter of James and Isabelle Gillis Ryan, of Chatham, Ontario, Canada. No children have so far blessed us.

RALPH McKITTRICK

Since leaving college I have been engaged in the wholesale dry goods business. At present I am director and secretary of the Hargadine McKittrick Dry Goods Company. On November 17, 1906, at St. Louis, Missouri, I was married to Emily Catlin Wickham, daughter of Edmund F. and Nellie Catlin Wickham. We have two children, Ralph McKittrick, Jr., born on November 5, 1907; and Edmund F. McKittrick, born on December 14, 1908.

CLASS OF 1899—THIRD REPORT

ALBERT RAND MACKUSICK

I received an LL.B. from Harvard in 1902, and was admitted to the Massachusetts Bar. At present I am engaged in the general practice of law as a member of the law firm of Webster, MacKusick and Lyman, of Boston. I am a director and treasurer of the Alternating Target Company and a director of Tremont Temple, Incorporated. I am a member of Masonic orders, Boston City Club, Medford Club, and General Whitney Staff Association.

GEORGE GIBSON McMURTRY, JR.

I am general partner in Benjamin, Ferguson and McMurtry, members of the New York Stock Exchange, with an office at 49 Wall Street, New York City. I am a member of the Racquet and Tennis, and Harvard clubs of New York City, the Rockaway Hunting Club, and the Turf and Field Club. On December 16, 1903, at Flushing, Long Island, New York, I was married to Mabel Post, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Seton Post.

WALTER WILLIAM McNEIL

On October 21, 1902, at Buffalo, New York, I was married to Emily Barr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Dudley Barr. We have two children, Janet McNeil, born on September 30, 1905, and Dudley Barr McNeil, born on May 29, 1908, both at Evanston, Illinois.

HENRY PERCY MACOMBER

Immediately after our Class Day and without waiting for Commencement I sailed from Boston on a cattle-steamer and had a most enjoyable summer in Europe. Early in September, 1899, I entered the Boston office of the well-known publishers, Houghton, Mifflin and Company, at 4 Park Street, where I have continued to the present time, first in the business office of the Atlantic Monthly and for the last six years in the advertising department of the general books, having special charge of all bulletins, circulars, and other publicity matter. I was married on April 19, 1906, at New Orleans, to Helen West, daughter of Isaac Smith and Laura Baldwin West, and lived for two years in Brookline, where my daughter, Laura West, was born on March 9, 1908. In May we moved to our present home in Wellesley Hills.

JOHN ALBERT MACY

During this greatest decade in history I have been teaching, editing, and writing articles, essays, reviews, and verse. Catalogues of choice literature list me as the editor of Helen Keller's "Story of My Life," and the author of "Edgar Allan Poe" in the Beacon Biographies, and of "A Child's Guide to Literature" (the sub-title of which might be "A Little Journey to the Purses of the Innocent"). I have given much time to the study of the education and the economic condition of the blind and deaf; for my epoch-making articles on these subjects the curious may consult the Index to Periodical Literature. I have held various offices in my town and have escaped indictment. I belong to no learned society or club worth mentioning in a document which attests my membership in the Class of '99. By the time this is in print I shall have resigned from all town offices, clubs, learned societies (except one) and from the editorial staff of the Youth's Companion, and shall have departed to my farm in Maine where I intend to spend the next decade raising chickens, poems, mushrooms, essays, asparagus, fiction, fruit and the standard of public morals. On May 1, 1905, at Wrentham, I was married to Anne Mansfield Sullivan, daughter of Thomas and Alice Cloissy Sullivan.

CLARENCE CHURCHILL MANN

After leaving college, life found me selling school books to the Cuban, and later to the Mexican government in Mexico City. My wife was then living in Pasadena, California, and, naturally, the coast seemed more attractive than Mexico. Circumstances crossed my path with a chemist who had discovered a process for utilizing the refuse or cull oranges and lemons. He had learned how to produce an essential oil for flavoring from the peel. Since then I have organized our present company, and have charge of the financial and sales end of our work. We are endeavoring to show the California fruit grower that he can save his oranges and lemons which will not stand shipment to the East. This saves about one fourth of the entire crop, and is one of the large problems which confronts the citrus industry. Incidentally I am trying to exist from our company's profits, principally future ones. I am secretary and treasurer of our concern, which is known as the San Gabriel Valley Fruit Products Company. I live in Cranford, New Jersey, a suburb of New York, with my wife and daughter, Mary Justine, born on June 20, 1903, and my son, Clarence Churchill, born on September 6, 1904. I was married on May 21, 1902, at Pasadena, California, to Florence Chisholm Dowling.

CHARLES FRANCIS MARDEN

I went into the employ of the Boston Evening Transcript in September, 1899, and am still there. I have written various articles for newspapers and magazines and own and conduct "The Milton Record," a local newspaper published weekly. I was married on June 10, 1902, at Melrose, to Sarah V. Westgate. I have no children. I belong to no learned societies, have held no political offices of consequence, am member of few clubs, and have visited no foreign countries.

ROBERT McCURDY MARSH

On graduation, I made my first visit to Europe and remained there fourteen months, spending about half the time travelling in England, France, Italy, Switzerland, and Germany, and the other half residing in Oxford as a member of University College and in taking a special course in Roman Law and English constitutional history. In 1900 while absent abroad I received the degree of A.M. from Harvard for work done before graduation. In the fall of 1900 I entered the law school of Columbia University, from which I was graduated in 1903, and the same spring was admitted to the bar in New York City. After a three months' visit to the Pacific coast in the summer of 1903, I began practice and have been living and practising law in New York ever since—for two years and a half in the office of the firm of Guthrie, Cravath and Henderson, and for the last three years associated with the firm of Howland, Murray and Prentice, at 35 Wall Street.

EDWARD ROBERTS MARVIN

After being graduated in the Class of '99, with the degree of A.B., I spent two years at the Harvard Law School, leaving there in June, 1901, having obtained the degree of A.M. In November, 1901, I was admitted to the New York Bar, having taken the examinations in late October. Shortly afterwards, in November, 1901, I entered the banking and brokerage firm of Post and Flagg, whose main office is at 38 Wall Street, New York City. After starting at the bottom and going through the different departments I was placed in charge of their uptown office at 10 West Thirty-Second Street, New York City, and am still acting as manager of that office. I am a member of the Racquet and Tennis Club of New York City, the Harvard Club of New York, in which I am a member of the committee on admissions, and the Fort Orange Club of Albany.

GEORGE MARVIN

I spent six years at Groton School, Groton, interrupted by two years at the Harvard Law School, 1902-1903. I went to China in June, 1907, as American vice-consul general at Mukden, Manchuria. I resigned from the consular service in January, 1908, to enter, at their request, the service of the Chinese government. In performance of duties connected with this position I travelled for three months in Central and South China, Philippine Islands, Japan, and Korea. I resided in Peking from April to August, 1908, and was then appointed adviser to the special Chinese embassy sent by the Imperial government to return thanks to the United States for the remission of the Boxer indemnity. I returned to America in September, 1908, via Siberia and Europe, and was entrusted with preliminary arrangements for the residence and reception of the Chinese embassy while in America. At present I am still in the service of the Chinese government. I have contributed much material on political and economic subjects to the Outlook and various American journals, the London Times, and to the English press of the Far East. I am a member of the Royal Geographical Society, American Geographical Society, American Historical Society, the Metropolitan Club of Washington, District of Columbia; Harvard Club of New York, International Club, Mukden; American Asiatic Association, and so forth.

MORTIMER PHILLIPS MASON

After graduation at Harvard I went to Oxford, England, to study. I was a member of Corpus Christi College from October, 1899, to November, 1900. Then I went to Berlin, Germany, for January and February. In April, 1901, I went to Marburg, and remained there until February, 1902. Then I went to Paris, and studied at the Sorbonne and Collége de France. I returned to Boston in August. In the years 1902 to 1904 I was at the Harvard Graduate School studying logic and the history of philosophy. I was John Harvard Fellow in 1902-1903. I took the degree of Ph.D. at Harvard in 1904. From 1905 to 1907 I was an instructor in logic and psychology at Princeton University. Since 1907 I have been engaged independently in investigating some problems in logic. I am a member of the American Philosophical Association, and of the Kantgesellschaft. At present I am living in Boston. I wrote an article called "Reality as Possible Experience," which appeared in the Journal of Philosophy in 1906.

RALPH EUGENE MASON

I am a laywer, living in Ellsworth, Maine. On November 24, 1899, I was married to Persis Madella Hagerthy, daughter of Alexander C. and Madella Green Hagerthy.

BROOKS MATTESON

After graduation I taught for several years in preparatory schools. About three years ago I took up the subject of printing, and am now employed in the office of a large printing concern in New York City.

SAMUEL RAYMOND MAXWELL

From 1903 to 1906 I was a student in the Meadville Theological School. Immediately after graduation I was ordained in King's Chapel, Boston, and began, July 1, 1906, my ministry in the Town Church of Walpole, New Hampshire. On December 31, 1908, my resignation took effect in Walpole and on January 1, 1909, I became the incumbent of All Souls Church, Greenfield, My chief interest, outside of parish work, has been the organization of boys' clubs in the various towns in which I have resided. I have found my life as a clergyman to be a thoroughly congenial one and have been fortunate in settling in two parishes so exceptionally pleasant as Walpole and Greenfield. I belong to the same clubs, lodges, and societies in which parsons usually are discovered. I certainly have not held any offices of profit! My profession seldom can be found therein.

WYNDHAM ROBERTSON MAYO, JR.

Since 1901 I have been a brick manufacturer at Norfolk, Virginia. On December 19, 1903, at Baltimore, Maryland, I was married to Louise Willoughby Bonsal, daughter of Stephen and Frances Laud Leigh Bonsal. We have one son, Wyndham Robertson Mayo, 3d, born on November 16, 1904, at Norfolk, Virginia. I am a member of the Virginia Club of Norfolk.

STANLEY WILSON MERRELL

I was graduated from the Harvard Law School in the class of 1901; and began the practice of law in Cincinnati in the fall of 1901. In the fall of 1905 I was elected member-at-large of the Cincinnati Common Council and served from January 1, 1906 to January 1, 1908; I was renominated by the Democratic and also the City Party but was defeated. I was recently appointed assistant prosecuting attorney of Hamilton County, the term being from January 4, 1909, to January 4, 1911. I am a member of the Cincinnati Literary Club, secretary of the Cincinnati Bar Association, and of the New England Society, and master of Avon Lodge, F. and A. M. I am a member also of the University, Harvard, Golf, and other clubs. I visited England and the Continent in 1899. I was married on April 27, 1905 to Mary Louise Caldwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Caldwell, of Cincinnati, and have one child, Alice Merrell, born on July 14, 1906. My office is in the First National Bank Building, Cincinnati.

BENJAMIN PAUL MERRICK

The year following graduation I spent in recreative pursuits, by way of girding myself for the Harvard Law School. From that school I was graduated in 1903, and commenced the practice of the law in Grand Rapids, Michigan, in October of the same year, entering the office of Bundy and Travis. When, through main force and awkardness, I became a member of that firm the following May, my friends here told me that both the firm and I had been taken in. Except for occasional escapes on business or pleasure, once as far as Skagway, and again up the Nile, I have lived here continuously since migration. On October 8, 1907, on one of my flights to the Atlantic seaboard, I was happily married, to Margaret Mills, daughter of Charles James and Minnie Quimby Mills, and still am; but that is all that can be said on that score at this writing.

FULLERTON MERRILL

In the spring of 1905 (at which time the last Class Report was being prepared), I was in the employ of the Great Northern Paper Company, being connected with their office at Bangor, Maine, but covering in my work the regions along the Penobscot River and tributaries, and the Moosehead Lake country, to the boundry line between Maine and Quebec. I was engaged in checking up supplies, and keeping records of the same, by examination of the stores and the clerks' reports at the different camps throughout that region. Later I resigned from this position, and, in the summer of 1905, took a trip into the oil regions of northwestern Pennsylvania, for the purpose of locating and examining certain tracts, in the interests of the other owners and myself. On my return I went to work in the Merrill Trust Company, Bangor, Maine. On January 9, 1907, I was married to Grace Hazel Gardner, daughter of Dr. Grindal C. and Eva D. (Page) Gardner, of Bangor, Maine. A month's leave of absence from work was then spent by my wife and myself in Bermuda and elsewhere. In April, 1908, the Merrill Trust Company moved into a new building erected by them, and I was put at the head of their safe deposit department, which they were carrying on under the name of the Bangor Safe Deposit Vaults. I was also given charge of their office building, located in the same structure as their banking rooms. These positions constitute the main part of my present occupation. On October 26, 1907, a daughter, Ada Frances Merrill, was born, in Bangor. I am a member of various local clubs, and of the National Geographic Society, of Washington, District of Columbia.

RAYMOND MERRILL

After teaching for a year I became associated with the New England Trust Company, of Boston, and have remained with this company since then. On June 5, 1906, at Roxbury, I was married to Martha Knight Morse, daughter of Edward Gilead and Nannie P. (Knight) Morse. We have one child, Marguerite Morse, born on March 8, 1907, at Newton.

ALBERT RICHARD MEYER

At present I have no active occupation of a profitable nature, have written no books, belong to no societies, own no degrees of any sort, and am a member of no club. During last July and August I visited Canada, the trip beginning at Quebec, for the three-hundredth anniversary, thence to Lake St. John, where I was in a serious hotel fire, thence via the railroad and Saguenay River to Murray Bay, and Tadousac, where I visited some relatives, thence via the St. Lawrence River to Montreal, where I took the railroad to Lake Champlain, then down Lake Champlain via boat to Lake George, and back again to Boston via Albany, New York. On this trip the smoke from forest fires in the mountains was a great drawback. Owing to serious financial losses in a mining company my home at 156 Ivy Street, has been leased since 1905. I have recently taken legal action to recover the property if possible.

WILLIAM HAROLD MILLARD

After leaving Harvard my husband entered Newton Theological Seminary from which he was graduated in 1902. We were married on September 16, 1902, and left for China a few weeks later under appointment by the American Baptist Missionary Union. We arrived in our new station, Hangchow, shortly before Christmas, and at once commenced study. After two and a half years of study, and teaching in Wayland Academy, the illness and furlough of our senior missionary caused the whole burden of responsibility to rest upon him. He was acting principal of Wayland Academy, a boarding school with about one hundred boys in attendance, and had charge of the city church, and country evangelistic work, beside general supervision of the girls' boarding school. The strain of work for the next two years was very great, but the results were correspondingly great. Relief from the heat was gained for a short time each summer at Mokkan-san, a hill resort near Hangchow.. Our three children were born during our stay in Hangchow. In the spring of 1908 we moved to Shanghai to supply a vacancy in our new Baptist Theological Seminary caused by the furlough of a professor. This is, in connection with the Baptist college, the beginning of a university. Each has a foreign president and foreign professor besides native teachers. In January of this year my husband was elected to a permanent professorship in the seminary. His whole heart and strength were given to this work which he loved and he spent much time in preparing a "Theology" in Chinese for use in his classes. His exceptional grasp of the language, his power of winning the love and respect of men, native and foreign, and his sterling qualities made him fitted in every way for the position he held. A week before the end came he was teaching all his classes, though feeling weak. The cause of illness was not discovered until a few days before he died. Feeling that he could not be spared from the seminary, he told the doctor he would fight for his life. On finding the case hopeless, he expressed his great joy in going to Jesus Christ, and spoke with great conviction of the truth of that in which he had believed. He was a great searcher after truth, and the things of the next world and the soul were constantly being pondered by him. There were several hours of consciousness at the last, when messages to dear ones were given, and God's presence was very near. The message left for his children was this: "Tell Eleanor, Ruth and John that I want them to come back to China as missionaries." He passed away very peacefully in sleep early on Tuesday morning, March 9, 1909. His last days and hours in the nursing home, his christian character and joy at going home, made the nurses marvel. Recently his prayer had been that he might glorify God whether by living or dying, and that prayer was abundantly answered. The students in the Seminary and his many friends, native and foreign, will never lose the marks of his influence upon them. Men felt nearer to God when in his company. He was laid to rest in the Bubbling Well Cemetery. His wife and chilren expect to leave Shanghai in April and travel to the States, taking the children to their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Millard, Watertown. Mrs. Millard will make her home there, doing misionary work, and preparing the children to fulfill their father's desire, hoping to resume missionary work with them in China when they are older.

E. A. M.

PERCY CHASE MILLER

The year following graduation I spent at Harvard University, whose authorities, in appreciation of that fact, presented me with the degree of A.M. in June, 1900. Since then I have been assistant to the principal of the School of Industrial Art, Philadelphia, from which office I have been able to earn a modest competence, supplemented by the fruits of sundry odd jobs done outside. I have kept up my work in music and am at the present time organist and choir master of the Fifth Baptist Church of this city. I have done some work as a concert organist, and hope, as time goes on, to do considerably more. I am an active member of the American Guild of Organists, but never was much of a "jiner" and do not belong to anything else except the Harvard Club of Philadelphia, and the local organ-players' club. Unfortunately I am not yet married so cannot give you any related statistics. I have never visited any foreign countries, and the nearest I ever came to holding an office of honor was standing godfather to a friend's baby. I have never been asked to do so again.

PHILIP LEE MILLER

I taught as assistant in the English department, Harvard College, for two years after graduation. I moved to New York and was employed for two years on McClure's Magazine. I returned to the Harvard Law School, entering in the fall of 1903, and being graduated in 1906. I practised law for a year in Springfield, and then moved to Decatur, Illinois, in the fall of 1907, and have practised law since then in this city.

CLASS OF 1899—THIRD REPORT

ROYAL RANSOM MILLER

Immediately after graduation in June, 1899, I went in company with a Harvard classmate on an extended hunting and fishing expedition into the undrodden wilderness of Northern New Brunswick. This over and having returned to civilization with much more of experience than game, I engaged myself to the American School of Correspondence to travel throughout the United States and Canada, in the interests of technical education. I remained in this work for three years —until the fall of 1902 when I entered the Cambridge Theological School. One year later, for the sake of the wider experience, I left the rarified atmosphere of Cambridge and went to live the more cloistered life at the General Theological Seminary in New York. Here I learned to be as a little child to accept all dogmatic "truth" in a truly mediaeval spirit. And as you may suppose, after those years spent in the surcharged intellectual ether of Cambridge, this year of semi-monastic existance seems in retrospect, like a pleasant, restful dream. In the spring of 1904, however, I emerged from my monkish retirement, laid aside my black gown and, like the Arab, silently stole away to Europe, where I wandered about for five months among the crumbled civilizations of the past. Life still continued to be like a dream, as, of course, it should be while one is young in a world that is very old. When I returned from Europe I came back to my first love,—Cambridge Theological School, where on the following spring, 1905, I was graduated with the degree of B.D., and was ordained to the Episcopal priesthood by the bishop of Massachusetts. In July I went to Waterbury, Connecticut to become assistant minister at St. John's Church. One year later, I again went to Europe, and on my return became the assistant minister at Christ Church, New York City. Here I remained from October, 1906 to June, 1908, when I sailed away to Europe a third time, but on this occasion as the conductor of a small walking tour. On my return I took up work, October 1, 1908, as assistant minister at the Church of the Holy Apostles, New York City.

CLASS OF 1899—THIRD REPORT

SAMUEL FREDERIC MILLS

[Mr. Mills gives no other information about himself than his address which is Metropolitan Club, Sixtieth Street and Fifth Avenue, New York City.]

HUGH DEVEREUX MONTGOMERY

After leaving college in 1897 I was in the banking business with W. O. Gay and Company, note brokers, for five years, in their Boston office, and for five years more in their New York office. I am now in charge of the securities department of the Development and Funding Company, New York, an engineering and financing concern. I married Ethel Dean, daughter of Benjamin Chase and Emily Evans Dean of Brookline, in 1902, and have two children, Ruth, born on December 26, 1906, and James Oliphant, born on September 6, 1908. I am a member of the Harvard Club of New York, and the Apawamis Club of Rye. Since writing the above, I have become associated with Messrs. Curtis and Sanger, stock and note brokers, in their New York office.

WILLIAM GIBBONS MORSE

After graduating from college I spent the summer in Europe, and in the fall entered the service of the Locomobile Company of America. For a year and a half I was located in Newton, Worcester, and New York City. In 1901 I moved to Philadelphia and became superintendent of the bridge and construction shops of the Pencoyd Iron Works, a subsidiary company of the United States Steel Trust. I held this position for six years, and left for my present position of assistant manager of the Collins and Aikman Company, Manayunk, Pennsylvania, manufacturers of plushes and upholstery. I am interested in the Reform Political Party in Philadelphia, and have held the position of ward committeeman in the City Party and Philadelphia Party. I have built a summer cottage at Cotuit, on the south shore of Cape Cod, and the family spends the summer there. I have just purchased the half ownership of the "Poseidon" of Boston, a thirty-two foot motor boat, for use on Chesapeake Bay. On October 11, 1902, I married Marjorie Dewey, Radcliffe 1901, at Newton. We have four children, Lucy Gibbons Morse, born on August 20, 1903, Marjorie Dewey Morse, born on December 5, 1904, William Gibbons Morse, Jr., born on April 19, 1906, Mary Morse, born on September 14, 1908. I am a member of the following clubs: New York Harvard Club, Philadelphia Harvard Club, Germantown Cricket Club, Philadelphia Yachtsman's Club, Island Heights Yacht Club.

JAMES AMBROSE MOYER

I am assistant professor of mechanical engineering in the University of Michigan in charge of the mechanical and hydraulic engineering laboratories. Books written, see Who's Who in America (1908-1909 edition), adding to list, "The Steam Turbine" 1908, John Wiley and Sons, New York, Chapman and Hall, London. Learned societies, see Who's Who in America (1908-1909 edition), adding, Detroit Engineering Society, Association of Internal Combustion Engineers, Michigan Engineering Society, New York Engineering Society, Association of Harvard Engineers, Research Society of Michigan. Degrees: S.B. Harvard, 1899; A.M. Harvard, 1904. Positions: draughtsman for Commander R. C. Smith, U. S. N., 1900-1901; instructor Harvard University, 1901-1904; engineer and chief computer, steam turbine department, General Electric Company, Lynn, 1904-1907; general engineer Westinghouse, Church, Kerr and Company, New York City, 1907-1908; professor of mechanical engineering, University of Vermont, 1908; assistant professor of mechanical engineering, University of Michigan, since October, 1908. Clubs: University Club of Detroit, Harvard Club of Detroit. Countries visited: England, France, and Canada.

WILLIAM DONALDSON MURRAY

On leaving Harvard, I took up civil engineering work, and after a year or two, went to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, for two years' work, getting the degree of S.B. in civil engineering. I have had various short experiences, but the bulk of my time since graduation has been spent as civil engineer with the United States Engineering Department and with the New York Board of Water Supply.

SAMUEL PIKE NEGUS

In spite of enjoying the distinction of being the "oldest living undergraduate" at our Commencement, I could not break away even then and returned for a couple of years at the Bussey Institution and the Graduate School, where I finally dragged out by the scruff of the neck, an A.M. (in landscape architecture, horticulture and forestry). Then followed a few years' apprenticeship in the offices of various landscape architects of Boston, varied, in the summer, by several trips to Europe, mostly for pleasure, but also to study foreign samples of landscape design. In the fall of 1907, I opened an office in Boston for the practice of landscape and garden architecture and am now located at 6 Beacon Street (opposite the City Club), where I have pleasant though quiet rooms (I overlook the Grannary !). As for professional societies, I have been for some time a member of the American Society of Landscape Architects, also councilor of the American Civic Association, and member of the American Forestry Association. Regarding social clubs, I have as yet joined only the Harvard Club of New York, and the "Vic" of Boston, whose lair is at the corner of Dartmouth and Newbury Streets; you know my friends!

Vale!

JOHN TAYLOR GILMAN NICHOLS, JR.

I entered the employ of Stone and Webster of Boston in December, 1899, and was in their purchasing department until February, 1901, when I went to Baltimore to look after the Southern Electric Company in which they were interested. In November, 1904, I came to Newburyport as general manager of the Chase-Shawmut Company, manufacturers of electrical specialties, a company controlled by Stone and Webster, and I am at present in the employ of that company. I was married on June 1, 1905, in Emmanuel Church, Baltimore, Maryland, to Emily Alan Smith, daughter of the late Alan Penniman and Emily Anna Smith,

MALCOLM EDWIN NICHOLS

After leaving college I did newspaper work, first as a member of the staff of the Boston Record and later in the political departments of the Record, the Boston Traveler and the Boston Post. I represented the Post at the Republican National Convention in June, 1908. In 1903 I was defeated for the Boston Common Council. Elected the following year, I served two terms. The second year I was defeated for president by nine votes. In 1906 I was elected from the Tenth Suffolk District, Republican, to the Massachusetts House where I am serving my third term. I was admitted to the bar in February, 1908. I belong to the Boston Press Club and Boston City Club.

WILLIAM STANLEY NICHOLS

I entered Harvard as a special student in the Class of '99. I went to the Harvard Divinity School and left there in 1899 and was ordained in Kings Chapel, Boston, the same year. Then I took a post-graduate year at Manchester College, Oxford, England. I settled in the First Parish Church (Unitarian), Walpole, New Hampshire. While there I served three years as chairman of the school board of Walpole. In December, 1905, I settled in Pueblo, Colorado, and in 1907, in Colorado Springs, Colorado. I resigned in October, 1908. On January 8, 1902, at Boston, I was married to Nellie Eusebia Johnson, daughter of Charles Williams and Phœbe Jane Horton Johnson. We have one son, Edward Holyoke Nichols, born on June 16, 1907, at Pueblo, Colorado.

THOMAS NICKERSON

After leaving college I entered the employ of Kidder, Peabody and Company, bankers, Boston, as clerk. In April, 1904, I entered the employ of Stone and Webster, managers and engineers of electric light, railway and gas companies, and was sent by them to Ponce, Porto Rico, as accountant for the Ponce Railway and Light Company. In September, 1906, I returned to Boston, and took a position as assistant treasurer of the Stone and Webster Engineering Corporation. In May, 1907, I was sent by Stone and Webster to Woonsocket, Rhode Island, as assistant to manager of the Woonsocket Electric Machine and Power Company. Later I was made local manager of this company and of the Union Electric Light Company of Franklin, the Woonsocket Gas Company and the Blackstone Electric Light Company, Blackstone. I am a member of the Boston City Club, Harvard Club of Rhode Island, University Club of Providence, Cumberland Country Club, Winnesuket Golf Club, and Business Men's Association of Woonsocket. On October 17, 1900, at Auburndale, I was married to Fanny Bates Hardy, daughter of Edward Eldredge and Elizabeth Randolph (Bates) Hardy. I have two children, Thomas Nickerson, Jr., born on June 30, 1902, and Elizabeth Hardy Nickerson, born on October 6, 1903, both at Wellesley Hills. My wife died on January 5, 1904.

LEONARD FRANCIS NICOLL

Leonard Francis Nicoll was born in New York City on November 3, 1876. He was the son of Francis Gifford and Alice Scranton Nicoll. His early boyhood, after his father's death, was spent largely in Scranton, Pennsylvania, with his mother's family. When he was nine years old he came to New York and attended a boys' school, spending his summers at Oyster Bay. Later, he entered Cutler's School and from there came to Harvard, in 1895. He remained in college four years, but did not get a degree, leaving college to go abroad with his step-father. In September, 1899, he entered the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York City. He was married on June 26, 1900, to Fannie Hoe Harper, at New Windsor, New York. He continued at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, and was graduated in June, 1903. While there he was president of the senior class. He entered Bellevue Hospital in January, 1904, serving the two years there as interne faithfully, and was graduated in January, 1906. In November he contracted typhiod fever, and died very suddenly on November 25, 1906, of pulmonary embollism. After his marriage he lived in New York City. He had three children: Alice Hoe Nicoll, born on May 27, 1901; Henry Denton Nicoll, born on January 31, 1904; and Caroline Harper Nicoll, born on October 18, 1905. He was always, in college and in social life, very diffident, but his heart was deep in his medical work, and he was a physician in every sense of the word. In his brief practice he had made many friends, and many physicians and surgeons have written and spoken of the loss they believe he was to the medical profession.

F. N.

FREDERIC RUSSELL NOURSE

After graduation I entered the employ of R. L. Day and Company of Boston, remaining with them until December, 1905. I then became associated with R. Kleybolte and Company of New York, as bond salesman, resigning in June, 1908, to accept the position of assistant secretary of the American Trust Company of Boston. In February, 1906, I married Dorothy Quincy, daughter of the late Dr. Henry Parker and Mary Adams Quincy, of this city, and have one daughter, Dorothy Quincy Nourse, born on July 6, 1907, at Dedham. My club membership consists of the Somerset Club of Boston, Harvard Club of New York, and Norfolk Country Club of Dedham.

ALLEN MARCH NOWELL

I am at present the head bookkeeper and cashier of the Wailuku Sugar Company, Wailuku, Maui County, Hawaiian Islands. I am a member of the University Club of Honolulu and the Harvard Club of Hawaii. On February 2, 1899, at Honolulu, I was married to Ruth Moore Taplin, daughter of Mahlon and Josephine Hartt Taplin. We have two children, Nelson Taplin Nowell, born on May 9, 1901, at Honolulu, and Elizabeth Hastings Nowell, born on May 31, 1906, at Waialua, Oahu, Hawaiian Islands.

JAMES NOWELL

I was married on January 19, 1907, to Annie Wyman Wood, daughter of William Ellis and Susan Freeman Wood, at Arlington. I am living now at 28 Wildwood Street, Winchester. I am at present occupied in the bond department of Lee, Higginson and Company, 44 State Street, Boston. I am secretary of the Winchester Country Club.

ALBERT JAMES NUTE

I received an S.B. from Harvard in 1899, an M.D. in 1902, and a Ph.G. from the University of Maine in 1907. I practised medicine in Portsmouth, New Hampshire, and Kittery, Maine, from 1903 to 1906. I was city physician and chairman of the Board of Health of the City of Portmouth in 1906, and also a member of the board of examiners for plumbers' certificates in 1906. In February, 1906, I was appointed as physician in the United States Public Health and Marine Hospital Service. I was detailed for duty at Port Huron, Michigan, as a medical inspector on the railroads and ferries entering the United States at that point. Later in the same year I was transferred to Ellis Island, New York Harbor, and assigned to duty with the United States Immigration Service. On August 12, 1904, at Kittery, Maine, I was married to Perle Ethelyn Goodsoe.

HENRY EVERETT O'BRIEN

On November 19, 1907, at Lawrenceburg, Kentucky, I married Katherine Dowling, daughter of John and Mary Dowling. We have a daughter, Helen Stanton O'Brien, born on September 24, 1908, at Briarcliff, New York. I have not done enough to talk about.

ALLEN GRANT ODELL

D. C. Heath and Company, publishers of school and college text books, have considerately claimed me since 1900. I have charge of the high school and college department in the New York office.

EVERARD LAWRENCE OLIVER

Soon after leaving college I took a trip abroad, visiting in the course of eight months Egypt, Turkey, Greece, Italy, France, Germany, and England. On my return I entered the Harvard Medical School, where I studied for four years and was graduated in 1904. The next three years I spent in hospital work at the Boston City Hospital and the Massachusetts General Hospital. In the latter part of 1907, I was appointed by the trustees of the Massachusetts General Hospital an assistant to the physicians to out-patients with diseases of the skin, which position I still hold. I belong to several medical societies and am a member of the Norfolk Country Club.

WALTER REED DALE OWEN

I was a mining stock broker, Denver, Colorado, 1899-1903; oil-well contractor, Indiana, 1903 to 1905; special agent of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company, 1905-1909; and special agent of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, 1909.

ALWIN MAX PAPPENHEIMER

After receiving my degree of M.D. from the College of Physicians and Surgeons in New York, I was appointed interne at the Bellevue Hospital, serving for two busy and interesting years. Since my graduation from the hospital I have not seriously attempted to practise medicine, but have devoted myself exclusively to pathology. I hold the position of pathologist to Bellevue Hospital and have recently been appointed demonstrator of pathological anatomy at Columbia University. I am a member of the New York Harvard Club, and of the following societies: the American Association of Pathologists and Bacteriologists, the Deutsche Pathologische Gesellschaft, the Society for Experimental Biology and Medicine, the New York Pathological Society, the Alumni Association of Bellevue Hospital. I have produced no books, but have published various articles in the scientific journals. My marriage to Beatrice Leo, daughter of Arnold and Sarah Leo, took place on November 12, 1907, at Cedarhurst, Long Island. We spent the greater part of the past year abroad. Since our return we have made our home in Cedarhurst, where our son, Alwin Max, Jr., was born on November 25, 1908.

CHARLES AUSTIN PARKER

[Mr. Parker gives no other information about himself than his address which is Bourne.]

HARRY CALDWELL PARKER

I was graduated at the Harvard Medical School in 1901. I served two years as resident ophthalmic surgeon at the Massachusetts Charitable Eye and Ear Infirmary, Boston. I began private practice September, 1902. At this time I was appointed clinical assistant of the Massachusetts Charitable Eye and Ear Infirmary, and also instructor in ophthalmology, Tufts College Medical School. I was married in Chicago on August 15, 1905, to Clara Margaret Parker. I began housekeeping in West Newton, September, 1905. A girl baby, Margaret Louise, was born on August 11, 1906. I moved to Indianapolis, Indiana, March, 1907, and was appointed clinical professor of ophthalmology in the Indiana University School of Medicine, June, 1908. I am a member of the Country Club of Indianapolis, the American Medical Association, the Indiana Medical Society, the Indianapolis Medical Society, the American Academy of Ophthalmology and Otolaryngology. The articles which I have written are as follows: "Operative Interference in Corneal Complications of Gonorrhoeal Ophthalmia," "Strabismus: The Necessity for its early treatment," "The Ocular and General Symptoms in Nasal Obstruction," "Cataract Operation and After-Care," "The Prevention and Treatment of Ophthalmia Nervatorum," "The Relation of the Eye and the Nose," "The Calmette Ocular Reaction to Tuberculosis," "The new Astigmatic Charts." The books I have written are: "Refraction of the Eye" (defunct); "Diseases of the Eye," to be published by F. A. Davis Company of Philadelphia, in the spring of 1909.

WILLIAM STANLEY PARKER

After graduation I went into the office of H. B. Ball, architect, for a year. My degree was S.B. in architecture. In April, 1901, I went abroad for fifteen months, travelling in England, France, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Italy, and Greece, returning in July, 1902. I went at once into the office of Sturgis and Barton, architects, where I am at present, the firm having been dissolved and the office being now that of R. Clipston Sturgis, architect. I am a member of the following clubs and organizations: the American Institute of Architects (associate member), the Boston Society of Architects (junior member), the Boston Architectural Club, the Harvard Musical Association, the Tavern Club, the Chestnut Hill Golf Club, the Copley Society, and the Footlight Club. For five years, ending in 1908, I gave a series of lectures at Simmons College on architectural drawing and construction.

LEWIS HINES PARSONS

Mr. Parsons is still a banker and broker with Graham and Company, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. [Sec.]

CONRAD MAGRUDER PATTEN

Conrad Magruder Patten, son of John Dewhurst Patten and Jeanie Maury Coyle Patten, was born in Georgetown, District of Columbia, on July 5, 1878. At an early age he showed remarkable intelligence and a retentive memory. When he was nine years old he entered a private school and at the age of eleven, in October, 1889, he entered the Columbian College Preparatory School, Washington, District of Columbia. He was a student in that school five years, repeating the third year's course, having left the school in the middle of the third year on account of illness. He was graduated from this school in June, 1894, with great honor and many prizes and medals, having made an average of ninety-eight for the whole course out of a possible one hundred. In the autumn of 1894 he entered the Columbian University in Washington, District of Columbia (now George Washington University). He remained a student there through the freshman, sophomore, and junior years, doing unusually brilliant work. In the autumn of 1897 at the age of nineteen he entered the junior class at Harvard University, being admitted without examination because of the high standard of work maintained while at Columbian. His two years at Harvard were most successful in every way. He was graduated from Harvard in the Class of '99 (cum laude) being debarred from "greatest honor" only through the insufficient number of courses possible to be covered in two years. He entered the Harvard Law School in October, 1899, with every prospect of a brilliant and successful career in that school. He died on February 27, 1900, after a brief illness, of pneumonia, at the residence of Professor J. H. Beale in Cambridge, leaving many friends and the example of a noble life and character. In "Pupils of Other Days," Dr. A. P. Montague, formerly Dean of Columbian University, Washington, says of him:

"Another pupil I recall distinctly and with pleasure, blended with pain, Conrad M. Patten, son of a gentleman and lady of fine social position, living then in Georgetown, now West Washington, was, if I may single out one from so many, the purest, cleanest young man I ever knew. A leader in his class, strong in mind, pure in heart, gentle, ever courteous, he was perhaps the first student of his time in the Columbian University. He was a boy whom it was pleasant to teach, whom it was a privilege to know, whom it was an honor to love. Scorning deceit, he was never offensive in parading candor; fond of fun, he was ever respectful and considerate of others; standing at the head of his class, he was a stranger to vanity; faithful to his vows to God, he adorned the institution whose student he was. Going to Harvard, he stood there for all that he had stood for at Washington. While yet a Harvard student, in the bloom of young manhood, with the future beckoning him on to home joys, to a larger career in the world of which his college course had been happy augury, to service for the Master, he died. "Beyond the serene and shining pathway of the stars," he waits for those of us who loved him here; he serves there Him whose child he was here. Such souls, making earth brighter and happier, add sweetness to our hope of heaven and, in moments of heart exaltation, call us from the strife here to the peace there."

J. M. P.

LANGDON PEARSE

From 1899 to 1902 I was studying at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and was graduated in 1901 with the degree of S.B. in civil engineering and in 1902 received the degree of S.M. Since 1902, I have been engaged in hydraulic and sanitary engineering, making a specialty of water purification and sewage disposal. This work has extended from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and has comprised the following connections as assistant engineer or resident engineer: Charles River Dam Commission, 1902; commission on additional water supply, New York City, 1903; Augusta Water District, Augusta, Maine; Cleveland, Ohio, special report on water supply for G. C. Whipple; Jersey City, New Jersey, special report on water supply for G. C. Whipple, Binghamton, New York; Columbus, Ohio, 1904-1907, principally the designing and experimental work in connection with the construction of new water works pumping station, filtration and softening plant, sewage pumping stations and sewage disposal plant; Peoples Water Company, Oakland, California, 1907-1908, carrying on experimental work on the filtration of all supplies on the eastern side of San Francisco Bay, repairing old filter plants, planning new, and making various engineering reports. In connection with this work I have appeared in court as a witness, and have also served as consulting engineer to architects and others on structural and hydraulic matters. At present I am practising as hydraulic and sanitary engineer with headquarters in San Francisco and Oakland, California, undertaking water supply and sewerage work, irrigation, and water power. I am a member of the following scientific or social clubs: associate member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, member of Boston Society of Civil Engineers, Harvard clubs of New York City and San Francisco, Massachusetts Institute of Technology Association of Northern California, and Association of Harvard Engineers. I have contributed discussions to the American Society of Civil Engineers from time to time, and have published the following articles in the engineering press: "The Experimental Filter Plant of the Peoples Water Company," which I wrote with W. W. De Berard, in Engineering News and Engineering Record, July 25, 1908; "The Accounting and Cost Keeping System of the Peoples Water Company," in the Engineering Record, November 14, 1908.

ADDENDUM

At present I am settled in Chicago, with the Sanitary District of Chicago, as assistant engineer in charge of the sewage disposal investigations. This may sound like a dirty job, but it is not; on the contrary, it is extremely interesting and necessary, as to-day it is important that sewage be purified or dumped somewhere else than into the drinking water of a city. In scanning the past ten years since graduation, I do not recall any very startling episodes. Three years at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology did not diminish in the least my enthusiasm for Harvard. I did my best to convert the Institute graduates to favor amalgamation with Harvard. In the course of my work, I have wandered from Maine to California, and now have dropped half way. From a travelling standpoint, I have not been in any out of the way places, though I usually see a deal of what is not usually sought, the working and constructive side of the country. I have had a few narrow escapes, in collisions in Boston Harbor, and in inspecting a lathe in the West, where I nearly lost my head, literally. I hardly think I shall qualify either for the tennis or golf cabinet of '99, as I have done but little hunting or fishing, and my record for walking is only twenty-six miles in twelve hours, in the Sierras on a summer tramp. To sum it all up, I can simply say I have done my best to help the growth of the nation by giving communities pure water and modern sanitation. It is a very modern and practical form of the saving of life, second only to the practice of medicine.

RUSSELL PERKINS

Every year since graduation I have spent the time from April to December at my home in Pomfret, Connecticut, where I have a farm. I make no specialty, simply general farming, cows, chickens, and so forth. Part of the first two winters were spent abroad, but since then I have quite regularly passed December, January, and February in North Carolina. I have a small house at Julian, North Carolina, and a shooting preserve, and as my great hobby is raising English setters, it is there that I develop and train the puppies.

EDWIN ELDEN PERRY

I engaged in resort hotel work in Florida, New York, and North Carolina up to 1907. I was auditor for the Toxaway Hotel Company at Lake Toxaway, North Carolina, in 1906-1907. At present I am an accountant in the office of Horace C. Hartshorn, certified public accountant, Room 78, Equitable Building, Boston. I was married on October 6, 1903, to Elizabeth Hight, daughter of Henry Ormand and Lucy Mason Hight, at Winthrop. I have a son, Randolph Hight Perry, who was born on January 3, 1905.

SIDNEY PETERSON

Immediately after graduation I went to Europe with my room-mate, Hildreth, and spent the summer, tramping for the most part, in Germany and Switzerland. Upon my return in September, I began teaching chemistry and mathematics at the Worcester Classical High School, where I remained two years. The summer of 1900 was spent at the Harvard Summer School. In September, 1901, I became junior master in Brighton High School, Boston, where I have been teaching chemistry and physics since. My promotion to master, head of the department of science, came in the spring of 1907. I have been secretary or a member of the executive committee of the Eastern Association of Physics Teachers for three years, and vice-president or a member of the New England Association of Chemistry Teachers for the past five years, and am a member of numerous other educational or scientific associations. During each school year since 1901 I have taken courses at Harvard or the Massachusetts Institute of Technology although not according to the requirements for an additional degree. On June 24, 1902, I married Ruth Mae Taft, daughter of Edwin Wheaton and Sarah Southwick Taft, and on December 5, 1907, our daughter, Elizabeth, was born. The summer of 1905 was spent in Europe and the other summers we have camped in New Hampshire or Maine. It has been a quiet and satisfactory ten years with some honors and much happiness.

JOHN CHARLES PHILLIPS

From October, 1900, to April, 1906, I was in the Harvard Medical School and house officer at the Boston City Hospital. During the seven months, from June, 1906, to January, 1907, I was travelling in Japan, Korea, China, and the Hawaiian Islands. In February and March of the same year I was at Chihuahua and Sonora, Mexico. August and September of 1907 were spent in Montana. On January 11, 1908, I married Eleanor Hayden Hyde, daughter of General Thomas W. and Annie Hayden Hyde of Boston, and went on a wedding journey to Egypt, Italy, Austria, France, and Switzerland. In September, 1908, I went to New Brunswick. Our son, John Charles Phillips, Jr., was born in Boston, on December 24, 1908. At present I am a fellow for research work in applied biology in the Graduate School at Harvard. My future home will be at Wenham.

GREENLEAF WHITTIER PICKARD

I am a consulting electrical engineer. For four years, 1902 to 1906, I was on the engineering staff of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. From 1906 to the present date I have done consulting work, specializing on electrical communication, and in particular wireless telegraphy and telephony. I am a member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers and Society of Chemical Industry (London). I have occasionally contributed articles to engineering periodicals, chiefly dealing with wireless communication. On April 6, 1902, at Philadelphia, I was married to Miriam Watson Oliver, daughter of William Watson and Miriam Brobstan Oliver.

WALWORTH PIERCE

Immediately after graduation from college I made a trip round the world with Howard Coonley, being away a little over a year. I then went into the employ of the S. S. Pierce Company, importers and grocers, with whom I have been ever since, and where I was eventually made a director and secretary of the company. In the meantime I have been on two partially business trips to Europe, and one to Cuba. I am a member of the Union Club and the Country Club.

FAYETTE RUMSEY PLUMB

Owing to the death of my father in January, 1905, I have succeeded him as president of Fayette R. Plumb, Incorporated, engaged in the manufacture of small steel tools, such as carpenters' hammers, edge tools, railroad tools, and so forth. After my marriage I took a house at Bryn Mawr, in the suburbs of Philadelphia, from which I moved still farther into the country to St. Davids, and last fall changed almost into a farmer by taking a house one mile from the railroad, my nearest station, Wayne, being on the main line of the Pennsylvania Railroad, fourteen miles from Philadelphia. Here I imitate the life of a country gentleman, before it gets light in the morning and after dark at night. All the time it is light I imitate a business man at the factory or travelling the twenty-three miles each way to and from my house. Due to my good fortune November 6, 1901, when at Philadelphia, I was married to Grace Pennock Sharp, I am entirely contented and happy and shall be very glad to show any of my good friends in '99 the proper way to live, if they come to Philadelphia.

GEORGE MORRISON POLAND

I was graduated from the Harvard Law School in 1902 and admitted to the Massachusetts Bar the same year. Since 1903 I have been engaged in the general practice of the law at 30 Court Street, Boston. I represented the town of Wakefield in the Massachusetts Legislature, House of Representatives, for the years 1904 and 1905. I was chairman of the committee on probation and chancery. I am somewhat interested in local town politics being chairman of the finance committee of the town of Wakefield. I am a member of the Masons, Knights of Pythias, Sons of Veterans, Republican Club of Massachusetts, and a member and counsel for the Massachusetts Fish and Game Protective Association. On September 17, 1903, at Wakefield, I was married to Daisy D. Eaton. We have two children, Warren Morrison Poland, born on December 4, 1907, and Ella Poland, born on December 15, 1908, both at Wakefield.

CLARENCE HAENDEL POND

I have been continuously with the Ivers and Pond Piano Company, since graduation, and I am general manager and director in this corporation. I am also a trustee and executor. My time has been spent in Boston, except for one year of "cow punching" immediately after graduation. I have made five trips to Europe and three to the West Indies. I am interested in modern philology.

CHARLES PRESCOTT POORE

Having taken in college the conventional classical course, with the accepted number of "drool courses," I at once began the life of a teacher with the ideals of a missionary. For the average Harvard man, however, the routine of teaching is too confining to his free spirit. Such being the case, I turned travelling tutor, and spent a year in the tropics, principally at Mexico City. Here one finds among the natives much culture quite superior to the ordinary United States "gingerbread" variety, and here I found that Harvard was unknown at least to one college graduate whom I knew. This was, of course, a shock to my Harvard provincialism. Returning north, I fell sick, and again travelled south, this time to our own tropics of Florida. Now, Florida is a trust-ridden state. The result of this sudden acquisition of wealth is that Jacksonville is the home of quacks and fools, almost rivalling Boston. Again coming north, I settled down quietly in a country town, but here I soon learned the truth of the saying, "It is better to be a door keeper in the house of the Lord [the theatre] than to dwell in the tents of wickedness [the country town]," and at the same time another truth appeared, that the said individual is nothing except when identified with some great movement of civilization. In short, drama and music, being such, have absorbed me.

CARLETON ESTEY PRESTON

For one year I remained at Harvard, taking an A.M. in 1900. I studied desert plants in Tucson, Arizona, during 1900-1901, as travelling fellow; assisted in botany at Yale Forest School, 1901-1902; received the degree of Ph.D. in biology from Harvard in 1902; and was with Manning Brothers, landscape architects of Boston in 1902-1903. I was married on January 1, 1903, to Matilda Hersey Wales, daughter of George Everett and Isetta Maria (Chamberlin) Wales of Milton. From 1903 to 1907 I was teacher in charge of natural sciences at the high school, Lawrence; sub-master, Bennett School, Brighton, from November, 1907, to June, 1908; and junior master, Charlestown High School (Boston School System), September, 1908, to the present time, teaching biology and chemistry. I have written only a few articles of a technical nature in magazines, chiefly botanical. I have been a member of no learned societies, except professional clubs where my membership terminated with change of position. At present I am a member of the New England Association of Chemistry Teachers. I have been interested in one or two choral clubs, and am a member of the Masonic Fraternity. I have visited no foreign countries, except Nova Scotia, where I have been spending my summer vacations. I have one son, Stanley Wales Preston, born on June 21, 1905.

LEWIS BUTLER PRESTON

I have done little that would be of interest to any of my former classmates, as I have devoted the past ten years to extremely hard work. I entered the real estate firm of Holdridge and Ward in 1901 and during the succeeding years the firm was changed to Holdridge, Dennis and Preston; Dennis and Preston, and on January 1, 1909, to Lewis B. Preston. I am a member of the Harvard Club of New York, and the Tuxedo Club, Tuxedo Park, New York. On May 16, 1905, at New York, I was married to Mabel A. McAfee. We have one son, John McAfee Preston, born on April 12, 1906.

FRANK HOWARD PURINGTON

For nine years I have been connected with the real estate office of Henry W. Savage, being manager for the past five years. I am not married. I have just returned from a vacation trip through Italy, France, and England.

WILLIAM CARTER QUINBY

Having decided to study medicine I had to forego a fourth year in Cambridge with the grand old Class of '99. Accordingly, I entered the Harvard Medical School in the fall of 1898, from which I received the degree of M.D. in 1902. In the fall of 1901, I entered the Massachusetts General Hospital as surgical house officer, where I was fortunate to have such men for chiefs as Dr. J. Collins Warren and Dr. J. W. Elliot. The summer of 1901 was passed as the private assistant of Dr. James Marsh Jackson at Beverly Farms, on the North Shore. On leaving the hospital in the spring of 1903, I became associated with Dr. Charles Allen Porter, Harvard '88, with whom I have remained up to the present time. Needless to say I am very happy in my choice of a life vocation; for though surgery is undoubtedly a very exacting occupation, it is nevertheless one of continuous and intense interest. The life is a busy one in every sense of the word. Though by no means wishing to go on record as an advocate of the Benedict's life, I have as yet given no hostages to fortune. Knowing well the weight of the saying "Oh! that mine enemy would write a book," I have not thus far had the temerity to attempt one. I have, however, written a number of articles of greater or less length for the medical press, one of which was sufficiently glaring to draw a personal note from Dr. William Osler as a rebate. The titles of these are not of enough interest to the Class at large to make it wise to set them all down here. I am a member of the following: Massachusetts Medical Society, American Medical Association, American Urological Society, Boston Society of Medical Sciences, Boylston Medical Society, Aesculapian Society, and Extensor Communis Society. I hold the following offices: assistant surgeon at the New England Baptist Hospital, and the Boston Dispensary; and medical examiner for the State Mutual Life Assurance Company of Worcester. The following clubs are mine: University Club, Union Boat Club, Harvard Club, all of Boston; and the Harvard Travellers Club. I have not yet found time to visit any country more foreign than South Boston or the West End.

ROBERT EWART RAMSAY

In 1899- 1901 I was secretary to the principal, and a teacher in the B. M. C. Durfee High School, Fall River. From 1901 to 1903 I was at the Harvard Divinity School. From 1903 to 1906 I was minister of Unity Church, Humboldt, Iowa; secretary of Iowa Association of Unitarian and other Independent Churches; editor of "Old and New," state religious organ. In 1906-1907 I was again at Harvard University, studying social ethics, and received an A.M. degree in June, 1907. From 1907 to 1909 I was the minister of the First Unitarian Church, Davenport, Iowa; president and vice-president, successively, of the Iowa Association of Unitarian and other Independent Churches; member of the Tri-City Social Service Club; member of board of directors of the University Extension Society; member of the Davenport Academy of Science; and various social, business and recreative clubs. I was married to Sarah Desire Linnell on December 22, 1904, at Boston. We have two children, Robert Linnell Ramsay, born on April 1, 1906, and Frances Desire Ramsay, born on January 19, 1908.

PHILIP GREEN RANDALL

Philip Green Randall was born in Medford on April 21, 1876. He was the son of William Henry and Margaret Peregrin (Green) Randall. At the age of eleven he entered Mr. Noble's school (now Noble and Greenough), and remained there eight years. While there he was always fond of football, and played end on the school team in 1893, and was captain in 1894. In the autumn of 1895 he entered Harvard, and tried for the freshman football team, but was never a member of it. After that he took no part in athletics, and left college, as he wrote in his class life, "feeling that college has done me a tremendous lot of good, for which I cannot be too grateful." He had always intended to enter the Harvard Medical School, and it was a great disappointment to him that he was unable to do so. The regular practice of medicine had never any attraction for him, but he had intended to become a specialist in nervous or mental diseases. Immediately after graduation he went to California for his health. He spent most of his time there, at Redlands, and enrolled himself as a member of the graduate department of Leland Stanford, Jr., University, but he was forced to give this up, and subsequently went to Arizona. He stayed there until the summer of 1901, when he returned to Boston. That autumn he went up to Saranac Lake, in the Adirondacks, where he stayed until the middle of May, returning then to Medford, where he died on May 31, 1902.

R. C.

WILLIAM LEE RAYMOND

I am, and have been since May 1, 1901, a bond salesman with N. W. Harris and Company. On August 31, 1905, at Brookline, I was married to Phebe Teresa Candage, daughter of Rufus George Frederick and Ella Maria (White) Candage. I have one son, Richard Candage Raymond, born on April 8, 1907, at Wayland.

GEORGE HALE REED

I entered the Harvard Divinity School in the fall of 1899 and remained there for three years, receiving the degree of S.T.B. in June, 1902. I was asked to be the minister of the First Congregational (Unitarian) Society of Belmont, in April, 1902. Accepting the call, I was ordained in King's Chapel, Boston, in June of that same year, and began my work in September. Since then I have made no change in occupation or station, and so am well along on the seventh year of my Belmont pastorate. The church which I serve is on Concord Avenue, about three miles from Harvard Square, known externally to such Harvard men as still practise the almost lost art of walking, and internally to a few who may happen in during the course of a Sunday tramping. A chance to cross the ocean came to me in 1900, during my theological course, and I visited England, Ireland, Scotland, Belgium, Holland, and France. I have been secretary, and am now director, of the William Reed and Sons Publishing Company, which publishes the Taunton Daily Gazette, and the Bristol County (weekly) Republican. I am at present a director of the Boston Unitarian Sunday School Union, and for five years have been secretary of the Unitarian Historical Society. Living as I do within sight of the Memorial tower, within hearing of the "Brighton Bull," and with "Billy the Postman" (recently resigned at Cambridge) bringing my daily mail, I have few startling events with which to enliven my classmates. I cheerfully yield my space to those strenuous ninety-niners who have been scouring continents and making history, consoling myself with the thought that happy is the man whose annals are uninteresting. In fact, one of my chief titles to distinction is the achievement which I share with several other good men, that I was graduated in the Class of '99.

ELIOT WICKHAM REMICK

Since receiving my degree of A.B. from Harvard College in the Class of '99, I have been engaged in the study of investments, and the care of money. I married on June 2, 1906, Christine Louise Bumpus, daughter of Judge Everett Cephas Bumpus and Emma Russell, his wife, at Quincy. I have one son, Eliot Wickham Remick, Jr., born on June 7, 1908. He is a lusty fellow, and if it were necessary, I am sure he would loudly yell for the success of the glorious Class of '99. In 1900 I was appointed treasurer of the Boston branch of the American Folk-Lore Society, which position I held until the year 1905, when I was made treasurer of the National Society. The society was founded in 1888, for the collection and publication of the folk-lore and mythology of the American Continent. At the present time it has local branches in Boston, Cambridge, California, Arizona, Missouri, Tennessee, North Dakota, British Columbia, and Mexico. I am a member of the Harvard Club of Boston.

OLIVER FILLEY RICHARDS

I left the University with a degree in March, 1900, and came back to my home in St. Louis where I obtained a job with Simmons Hardware Company at the princely salary of twenty-seven dollars per month. I was moved from position to position and then went on the road for them, travelling in Indiana, and later in California, Washington, and Oregon. In 1903 I was brought into the house as floor superintendent or department manager, and later was made general superintendent. In 1905 I was elected a director, with title of assistant secretary. In 1906 I became general manager, and am still engaged in the hardware business in that capacity in St. Louis. I am a member of the Contemporary Club, the St. Louis Country Club, the Racquet Club, and the St. Louis Club.

FREDERIC LEOPOLD WILLIAM RICHARDSON

After graduation I was in the banker's office of Adams and Company, Boston, for nine months, and in the autumn of 1900 I went to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology to study architecture and landscape gardening. I was married to Anne Blake, daughter of Arthur Welland and Frances G. Blake, of Brookline, in June, 1902, and spent the summer of 1902 and 1903 travelling in France, Holland, Belgium, Italy, England, and Switzerland with my wife, returning in the winters to Brookline and attending the architectural course at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology until June, 1905, when I left to spend the summer in Rome. There I made full-sized, detailed drawings of Italian renaissance mouldings, and after two months, travelled slowly north through Italy, meeting my wife and child, Margery Richardson, born in Brookline on May 30, 1904, in Paris. I spent two winters in the Latin Quarter, continuing my architectural studies, also travelling extensively in France, Spain, Algiers, and Tunis, and spending the summer of 1906 in Devonshire, England, where my second child, Arthur Welland Richardson, was born on July 31, 1906. I returned with my family to Brookline, in the autumn of 1907, and worked in the office of Shepley, Rutan, and Coolidge, architects, Boston, from January, 1908, to January 1, 1909. On March 1, 1909, I opened an architect's office at 31 State Street, Boston, in partnership with my brother, Philip, and Chauncey C. Barott, under the firm name of Richardson, Barott, and Richardson. On March 23, 1909, my son, Frederic Leopold William Richardson, Jr., was born. I belong to the Tennis and Racquet Club of Boston, Brookline Country Club, Norfolk Hunt, and Harvard Club of New York.

OTIS WELD RICHARDSON

I was abroad in 1898 and again in 1900. I received the degree of LL.B. from the Harvard Law School in 1902 and was admitted to the Massachusetts Bar in the same year. I am now occupied in the general practice of the law at 84 State Street, Boston. On June 4, 1907, at St. Louis, Missouri, I was married to Lucile Johnston, daughter of Frank Luther and Anna Mary (Clark) Johnston. We are now residing at 1064 Beacon Street, Brookline.

HENRY MILNER RIDEOUT

From 1899 till June, 1904, I was instructor in English in Harvard College. Since then I have been travelling, or living for short periods in various places, and for most of the time have been writing, though in 1907 and 1908 I taught in the Harvard Summer School. I have written or edited the following: "Letters of Thomas Gray" (1899), Tennyson's "The Princess" [edited with C. T. Copeland] (1900), "Freshman English and Theme-Correcting in Harvard College" [with C. T. Copeland] (1901), "Beached Keels" (1906), "The Siamese Cat" (1907), "Admiral's Light" (1907), "Dragon's Blood'' (1909), ''The Twisted Foot'' (1909; in press for fall publication), ''Selections from Byron, Wordsworth, Shelley, Keats, and Browning'' [edited with C. T. Copeland] (1909). I have travelled in Japan, China, Philippines, Siam, Dutch East Indies, Straits Settlements, Malay States, British India, Egypt, England and Ireland, France, Italy, and so forth.

CHANDLER ROBBINS

Since graduation I have taken the four year course in the Harvard Medical School and eighteen months service at the Massachusetts General Hospital. In the last three years I have been in the practice of medicine. At the present time I belong to the University Club, Boston, Oakley Country Club, and Union Boat Club.

WILLIAM BRADFORD ROBBINS

After leaving college I went to the Law School for one year. Then I went to the Harvard Medical School and was graduated in 1904. After graduation I served as medical house officer at the Boston City Hospital for two years. Since then I have been practising medicine in Boston. My office is now at 384 Commonwealth Avenue. For the past two years I have been assistant in the department of theory and practice of the Harvard Medical School, also for past year I have been physician to out patients in the Carney Hospital. I was married on May 3, 1904, to Marian Sears Bennett, daughter of Theodore and Anna Bennett, of Wayland. We have two children, Sarah Ripley, born on April 15, 1905, and Chandler, born on November 21, 1906.

DEEN LOMBARD ROBINSON

I was graduated from the Harvard Law School in June, 1901. I was then admitted to the Michigan Bar and practised law at Detroit until June, 1902, when I was admitted to the New York Bar and practised law in New York City until May, 1904. Since then I have practised law at Houghton, Michigan, and am now associated with Allen F. Rees. On June 14, 1905, at Jamaica Plain, I was married to Marion Colman Goodnow, daughter of Joseph W. and Helen Colman Goodnow.

FRANKLIN DUANE ROBINSON

After leaving Cambridge I taught mathematics in the Staten Island Academy at New Brighton for three years. Since then I have been an assistant teacher of mathematics in the Manual Training High School of Brooklyn and I still hold this position. I have belonged to the University Club of Brooklyn and am a member of the Schoolmaster's Association. I have done considerable work in connection with athletics in the school where I am teaching, especially with the track team, and I am a member of the high school games committee of the Public School Athletic League of the Greater New York Schools. I was married on December 27, 1900, to Frances Louise Rollins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rollins, at Oneonta, New York, and we have two children, Franklin Duane, born on January 10, 1903, at Tomkinsville, New York, and Helen Louise, born on April 25, 1907, at Brooklyn, New York.

HARRY PRINGLE ROBINSON

After serving eighteen months as interne in the Massachusetts General Hospital, I located at Amesbury, on February 1, 1903, for the practice of medicine. On June 28, 1906, I was married to May Truex, of Red Bank, New Jersey. In January, 1908, I bought a nice house in the central part of the town and have settled down to enjoy life as best I may. I have just been elected school physician. I am a member of the Wonnesquam Boat Club.

JAMES THOMAS ROCHE

I am a member of the Harvard Club of New York, the Winter Club of Winchester; and the Brooklawn Country Club, Bridgeport Yacht Club, and University Club, all of Bridgeport, Connecticut. On June 19, 1901, at Waltham, I was married to May Coverly Wheelock, daughter of Austin A. and Fannie Coverly Wheelock. We have one child, Austin Wheelock Roche, born on June 9, 1903.

EDGAR WALTER ROOVERS

I am engaged in the manufacture of machinery and machine tools in Brooklyn, New York.

WILLET CROSBY ROPER

Directly after Commencement I came to New York to seek a position, which was obtained about the middle of July with Brown Brothers and Company, bankers, 59 Wall Street, with whom I have since been engaged learning the general banking business. During this time my work has been that of messenger, bookkeeper, accountant, bond clerk, and head of the department for purchase and sale of securities, which position I now occupy. On June 2, 1902, at Cambridge, I was married to Florence Emeline Eveleth, daughter of William Hartwell and Emeline Susan (Thompson) Eveleth. On May 7, 1905, our daughter, Katherine May Roper, was born, who died on May 31, 1905. We have a son Hartwell Eveleth Roper, born on December 3, 1907.

JAMES BIRCH RORER

After graduation I spent three years, from 1899 to 1902, in the Graduate School, specializing in botany and received an A.M. in 1901. I was Austin Teaching Fellow in botany for two years. From July 1, 1901, to October 1, 1901, I was acting botanist of the Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station, New Haven, Connecticut. I was appointed scientific assistant in the Bureau of plant industry, United States Department of Agriculture on July 1, 1902, and was engaged in investigating bacterial diseases of plants. From April 1, 1905, to April 1, 1906, I was on furlough working with the American Dry Yeast Company. Since April 1, 1906, I have worked in the Department of Agriculture on diseases of fruits and methods for their control. I was made assistant pathologist on July 1, 1908. On April 1, 1909, I was appointed mycologist and pathologist to the board of agriculture of Trinidad, British West Indies, which position I expect to hold for two or three years if the climate agrees with me, after which time I shall probably return to the Department of Agriculture at Washington. I was married, at Washington, in Saint Margaret's Church, on February 10, 1909, to Ethel Stuart Wimer, daughter of James Buchanan and Mary Wimer, of Washington. I am a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science; Botanical Society of America; National Geographic Society; National Society of the Fine Arts; and Appalachian Mountain Club. I am co-author with Dr. Erwin Smith of "Bacterial Knots of the Olive," published in Science, May, 1904; co-author with W. M. Scott of "The Relation of Twig Cankers to the Phyllosticta Apple Blotch," "Apple Leaf-spot caused by Spahaeropsis Malorum," "Apple Blotch, a serious disease of Southern Orchards," all bulletins of the United States Department of Agriculture; and "A Bacterial Disease of the Peach," published in Mycologia, January, 1909. I have visited Nassau, New Providence Island, Bahamas, and spent three months in Cuba studying diseases of sugar cane and cocoanuts.

JOHN EASTON ROUSMANIERE

I was ill with typhoid fever the summer we were graduated and was in the White Mountains all the winter getting well. I went to the Harvard Law School in the fall and was graduated in 1903. I entered the office of Matthews and Thompson, and later, went to the office of Ropes, Gray and Gorham. In the fall of 1907 I opened an office of my own and was elected to the Massachusetts Legislature that fall. The following '99 men were also members of that legislature: Edward B. Draper of Canton, Harry N. Stearns of Cambridge, and Malcolm E. Nichols of Boston. The fall of 1908 I was re-elected and besides Stearns and Nichols, Roger Wolcott is now a member.

CHARLES ALMON RUGGLES

Since 1899, I have worked one year, in New York, for a corporation engaged in a commercial business. Then, from 1900 to 1903, I attended the Harvard Law School, where I took my LL.B. degree in 1903. Since 1903, I have practised law; first, at San Francisco, California, where I lived up to the time of the earthquake and fire, which happened, by the way, on my birthday. After the catastrophe I continued my practice in San Francisco, and had my home in Berkeley—across the Bay—until August, 1907. At that time I migrated to Butte, Montana, where I still live and practise my profession with reasonable success. I was married, at Redlands, California, to Amelia Domique Smith (Smith College 1896), daughter of Henry B. and Louisa Andrews Smith, on June 7, 1906. We have one child, a daughter, Gertrude Nukerck, born at Butte, Montana, on November 9, 1907. I was a director of and attorney for the George H. Tay Company, while in San Francisco, and in Butte I appear as attorney for the Butte Electric Railway Company, and several other of Senator Clark's enterprises, and for the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway Company. I am a member of the grievance committee of the local bar association, and a member of the Butte Country Club. I am a member of St. John's Episcopal Church, Butte, and for some time acted as choir master. While in San Francisco I was a member of the San Francisco Harvard Club.

ARTHUR BROWN RUHL

After a brief European trip in the summer of 1899, I began work as a reporter on the New York Evening Sun. I remained with the Evening Sun until December, 1903, contributing meanwhile stories and sketches to various magazines, and after a trip to the Pacific slope, joined the editorial staff of Collier's Weekly, in February, 1904. During the five years I have been with Colliers I have done all sorts of editorial work, including dramatic criticism, have written occasionally for other magazines, and have seen many widely different parts of our country. An experience, especially valuable, was a trip which, as correspondent for Collier's, I made with the Senate and House committees on arid lands, on a tour of inspection of the work done by the United States Reclamation Service. For a congressional "junket" of this sort, of course, all ways are smoothed; we visited every state west of the Missouri and saw the immensely interesting and valuable work as it would be very difficult for a man to see if travelling alone. In the spring of 1906 I went to South America, starting in at Venezuela and working round gradually with occasional trips into the interior, down the west coast, across the Andes from Santiago to Buenos Ayres and up the east coast. It was the same summer that Mr. Elihu Root then secretary of state, visited South America and I was fortunate enough to be in Buenos Ayres while he was there. At the present moment I have just returned from a short trip to Hayti. I have written the following books, "A History of Track Athletics in America," in Rowing and Track Athletics, in American Sportsman's Library, Macmillan, 1905; "A Break in Training," (short stories), the Outing Publishing Company, 1906; "The Other Americans," (Impressions of the Cities, Countries, and People of South America), Charles Scribner's Sons, 1908. I belong to the Harvard Club of New York.

FREDERICK ADAMS RUSSELL

After graduation, I became a financial writer for the Boston News Bureau. In 1900, I entered the employ of the Wall Street Journal. In 1906, I resigned from the paper, and since that time have been in the stock brokerage business in Wall Street. On November 14, 1906, at New York City, I was married to Mary Lanman Prentice, daughter of Nathaniel Sartell and Mary Riggs (Lanman) Prentice.

MICHAEL HEALY RYAN

I spent the summer of 1899 and from January to August, 1900, as assistant in surveying at Cambridge and Marthas Vineyard. From August to November, 1900, I visited Holland, Belgium, France, Switzerland, Germany, Austria, and Italy. In November, 1900, I was appointed assistant engineer of the New York Rapid Transit Company, and have since been connected with the construction of part of the New York subway and traffic observations in New York. In the summer of 1905 I spent four months visiting France, Switzerland, Germany, Italy, Spain, and Morocco. During the winter of 1908 I visited Jamaica, Panama, and Costa Rica. I am a member of the Harvard Club of New York City, associate member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, and member of the Municipal Engineers of New York.

JAMES FORREST SANBORN

I am a civil engineer. At present I am assistant engineer, Board of Water Supply, New York City, on the construction of the new aqueduct from the Catskill Mountains to New York. Formerly I was with the New York Rapid Transit Company on the construction of the New York subway and East River tunnel from the Battery to Brooklyn. I am a member of the American Institute of Mining Engineers, associate member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, a member of the Brooklyn Engineers' Club, and so forth.

HOWARD PRETTYMAN SANDERS

[Mr. Sanders gives no other information about himself than his address which is 786 Summit Avenue, St. Paul, Minnesota.]

CYRUS SARGEANT

I entered the Harvard Law School upon leaving college and was graduated in 1902. In the summer of that year I was admitted to the bar of Massachusetts and in the fall entered the law offices of Putnam and Putnam in Boston. During the following year I was admitted to practice in the United States courts. On September 1, 1903, I opened an office for myself, for the practice of the law, at 60 State Street, Boston, where I am at present, being associated with my classmate, Frederick B. Taylor. I am a member of the following clubs: the University Club of Boston, the Harvard Club of New York, the Harvard Club of Boston, the Oakley Country Club, and the Salem Club of Salem. On June 29, 1899, I married Alice Loring Newcomb, daughter of George and Esther Newcomb, of 193 Lafayette Street, Salem. A daughter, Virginia Lee, was born on May 27, 1908.

GEORGE McCLURE SARGENT

The winter after graduation I spent in travel with my family, the longest stay being made at Helouan, near Cairo, Egypt, from early December to the middle of March. England, Belgium, Germany, Austria, Italy, Egypt, and France were visited. On my return I took my two last years at the Harvard Law School, taking my degree of LL.B. with other members of '99. Since then I have been practising law in Boston, at first in the office of John Lowell '77, and for the last year or so on my own account at 38 Equitable Building, Boston. I belong to the Tennis and Racquet Club of Boston. Since its formation in June, 1907, I have been secretary and treasurer of the Safe Roads Automobile Association, the object of which is to further the safety of persons using our roads. I have also acted as counsel of the association with Robert Homans '94. I visited England and France in the summer of 1908, on legal business and in the autumn and winter of 1908-1909, lived two and a half months in Paris.

MAXWELL SAVAGE

After graduation I was in the publishing house of Small, Maynard and Company, 6 Beacon Street, Boston, for one year. Then I decided to enter the Unitarian ministry. To prepare for it I went to the Meadville Theological Seminary in Crawford County, Pennsylvania. I there took a three years' course. In 1903 I came west to Redlands and built this church of which I am still the minister. Throughout these six years I have been here from September to July of each year and have spent the three remaining months in New England, except for last summer, when I went to the Hawaiian Islands in the winning boat in the trans-Pacific yacht race.

ALFRED GARRETT SCATTERGOOD

After travelling abroad during the summer and autumn of 1899 with a friend, I returned to Philadelphia and engaged in various activities until in March, 1900, I secured a position as clerk with the Provident Life and Trust Company, starting in the trust department of the company, but in a year or two being transferred to the treasurer's office, where I have since been engaged. My work consists in handling, in part, collateral loans and investments belonging both to the company and to trust funds, and in sundry occupations, mostly of a routine character. I am also a sort of a minor cashier. I am a life member of the Historic Society of Pennsylvania; one of the "overseers of the public school founded by charter in the Town and County of Philadelphia in Pennsylvania" (Penn Charter School, founded 1689); a member of the board of managers of Friends' Asylum for the Insane, Frankford, Philadelphia; and a member or treasurer of various organizations of a charitable or altruistic nature. I have been especially interested in working for the advancement of international arbitration and peace. The independent movement in our municipal politics has also claimed a great deal of my time and care during the past eight years—with varying success. I am a member of the Philadelphia Cricket Club, on whose first eleven I play cricket in summer and association football in winter. On April 27, 1904, at Germantown, Pennsylvania, I was married to Mary Cope Emlen, daughter of George Williams and Eleanor Cope Emlen. We have one child, Elizabeth Cope Scattergood, born on April 5, 1907, at Mt. Airy, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

BARTHOLD ERNEST SCHLESINGER

After leaving college I went to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and studied chemistry and engineering for three years, and managed to pull an S.M. I then worked as chemist for the Merrimac Chemical Company, and later was employed in the Boston office, having considerable travelling to do, which took me twice to Europe and an extended trip around the world. I am now treasurer of the Northern Industrial Chemical Company in Boston. I belong to the Technology, Union Boat, and Tennis and Racquet clubs, and the Harvard Club of New York.

WILLIAM MANSFIELD SCUDDER

In the fall of 1899, I started to work for the American Radiator Company in whose employ I remained until June, 1906. A year after leaving college, on October 16, 1900, I married Helen Rotch Swift, a sister of our well known and delightful classmate, Frederick Rotch Swift. At present we have two daughters, Helen Scudder, born on November 29, 1901, and Sarah Rodman Scudder, born on March 15, 1904. In 1906 I started a jobbing firm known as Fishwick and Scudder, selling boilers, radiators, steam pumps, and so forth, in which I continued until January, 1909, when I returned to the American Radiator Company as manager of their Chicago sales department. I am a member of the Harvard Club of Chicago, the University Club, and the Saddle and Cycle Club.

EDMUND HAMILTON SEARS

I am a farmer and selectman of Wayland. I am also, for revenue only, treasurer of the Winslow Brothers and Smith

Company, the Morrill Leather Company, the Brandt Leather Company, and Willett and Company, and assistant secretary of the Eastern Leather Company. I was married on March 22, 1904, at Wayland, to Leslie Buckingham, daughter of Edwin Buckingham and Mary Cutting Buckingham. We have three children, Mary Sears, born on July 18, 1905; Edmund Hamilton Sears, Jr., born on July 1, 1907; and Katharine Cutting Sears, born on January 29, 1909.

EDWIN ALFRED SEASONGOOD

I received the degree of A.M. from Harvard in 1900 and attended the Harvard Law School until January, 1901, when I entered the banking firm of Speyer and Company, 26 Pine Street, New York City, in which firm I have been ever since. I am a member of the Harvard Club of New York City.

JOHN BERNHARDT SELANDER

I left my class some months before graduation to become a department manager with Powers, Higley and Company of Chicago. In 1900 I was offered a western agency for this company which I accepted. In 1902 I made San Francisco my home. My work gave me the opportunity to travel over the entire United States, Canada, and Mexico. In 1906, three and a half months prior to San Francisco's earthquake and fire, my wife, daughter, and myself made a year's trip to Australia, where we visited Brisbane, Sydney, Melbourne, and other cities. After a most enjoyable trip of fifteen months in the southern hemisphere and the tropics we returned to America in April, 1907. Books, plays, articles, and poems I have written, but they all sleep. Memberships in learned societies, degrees and offices have not come yet. My investment in clubs has been modest. I belong to two tennis clubs and the Merchants Club. The foreign countries which I have visited are Canada, Mexico, Australia, New Zealand, Samoa, and Hawaii. While writing, I have received an offer to become the general manager of a large house to locate in St.

Louis. I believe that I shall accept. I was married on December 17, 1902, at Galesburg, Illinois, to Susan Lee Frisbie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orton B. Frisbie. We have one daughter, Joan Frisbie Selander, born on December 10, 1903.

HARRY MARTIN SHAFER

I received an S.B. from Eureka College in 1887, and an S.M. in 1890; an A.B. from Harvard University in 1899, and an A.M. in 1900. During 1900-1901 I attended Teacher's College, Columbia University. From 1901 to 1903 I was in the department of education and director of the training school of the state normal school at San Diego, California, and from 1903 to 1908 I was president of the state normal school, Cheney, Washington. At present I am the president of the Southern Oregon State Normal School at Ashland, Oregon. As the Oregon Legislature failed to appropriate money for the next biennium, I shall be elsewhere next year. Oregon prefers ignorance to education. I spent the summer of 1900 travelling in the British Isles, Germany, France, Switzerland, Holland, and Italy. On August 15, 1894, at LaFayette, Illinois, I was married to Lena May Williams. Our son Paul Francis Shafer was born on January 4, 1901, in New York City. My wife died on March 9, 1904.

JOSEPH EDWARD SHARKEY

After leaving college I continued to live at my domicile in Cambridge, my occupation being journalism, as the city editor of the Associated Press, New England department. I served in the Cambridge City Council and on the school committee. In June, 1907, I came to France as assistant director of the Paris bureau of the Associated Press. In January, 1909, I was elected a member of the standing committee of the Association de la Presse Anglo-Américaine de Paris, an organization made up of American and British journalists at Paris. My office address is 13 Place de la Bourse, Paris.

FRANK CREIGHTON SHAW

After leaving Harvard I went to teaching as principal of a public school at Mattituck, Long Island. My father's health failed him and I came home to look after his interests. Two years later he died, and I have since been running the farm, living at home, in Fishkill, New York, with my mother. I have interested myself somewhat in public affairs, locally. I am at present a member of the board of education in Fishkill, a trustee of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and a member of several business organizations. I belong to the Beacon Lodge of the Free and Accepted Masons. I am a member of the Wiecopee Grange, P. of H. and I am, at present, acting as its master. I am a member of the Dutchess County Grange, and serve on its executive committee. I am also a member of the New York State Grange, having been elected a delegate to it. In politics, I am a Democrat, and have run for office several times, and came near being elected to the New York State Legislature in a strongly Republican district.

ROBERT GOULD SHAW, JR.

From 1900 to 1902 I was a student at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and from 1902 to 1906 clerk at the National Bank of Commerce, Boston. From 1906 to the present time I have been assistant treasurer of the Beacon Trust Company, Boston.

SAMUEL PARKMAN SHAW, JR.

I worked in the National Bank of Commerce, Boston, as messenger and later for two years as assistant in the receiving teller's department. I then entered the City Trust Company, Boston, as assistant transfer clerk, remaining there one year. I left the City Trust Company to take the position of secretary of the Mercantile Trust Company, Boston, which position I held for three years. The business of the Mercantile Trust Company having been taken over by the City Trust Company, I re-entered the City Trust Company as assistant secretary, which position I hold today. I am a member of the Tennis and Racquet Club, Boston, and of the Norfolk Hunt Club.

ARTHUR NOYES SHELDON

I was graduated from Harvard in 1899, with the degree of S.B. I travelled abroad in 1900, in England, Germany, France, Italy, and Switzerland. I entered the business of mill engineering in company with my father, under the name of F. P. Sheldon and Company, which has since, in 1903, been changed to F. P. Sheldon and Sons. I have ever since been thus occupied. I was married on November 23, 1903, at Providence, Rhode Island, to Rebecca Hughes.

JOHN HENRY SHERBURNE, JR.

I was graduated from the Harvard Law School in 1901 and have practised law in Boston ever since. I married Mary Patterson Harris, daughter of W. Hall and Alice Patterson Harris, of Baltimore on November 26, 1901. We have two children, John Henry Sherburne, 3d, born on October 11, 1902, and Alice Sherburne, born on April 30, 1905. I am captain of Battery A, Field Artillery, Massachusetts Volunteer Militia.

CARLETON FARRAR SHERMAN

After leaving college in June, 1897, and failing to find work in my chosen profession (civil engineering) either in or around Boston, my home, I went to Chicago and reported to the Illinois Central Railroad for work. I had noted in the "Engineering News" an article by Mr. J. F. Wallace, then chief engineer of that road, calling attention to the fact that the supply of young engineers was greater than the demand, and offering any one of this class a job as track apprentice to work on the track and climb to the top through the positions of section foreman, road master and so on. Mr. Wallace recommended this as a promising career for one who was willing to start at the bottom. I went to this road on the strength of this article and have been with them ever since. I was soon transferred to the engineering department and have been in this department, both in construction and maintainance work ever since. I am now located at McComb, Mississippi, as engineer of the Louisiana Division and have been here four years. On December 17, 1900, at Ripley, Tennessee, I was married to Pearl Wood, daughter of David Franklin and Mary Caroline Wood. We have had three children, Julia Wood Sherman, born on October 3, 1901, who died on March 2, 1904; Carleton Wood Sherman, born on March 15, 1904; and Lincoln Farrar Sherman, born on December 3, 1906.

WILLIAM ANTHONY SHERMAN

In 1902 I received the degree of M.D. from the Harvard Medical School and at once began the practice of medicine in Newport, Rhode Island. I was married on June 25, 1902, to Katharine May Kennedy, daughter of William DeWitt and Amelia M. (Carter) Kennedy, of Scranton, Pennsylvania. In 1903 I was elected a member of the staff of visiting physicians and surgeons of the Newport Hospital and also bacteriologist of the hospital, positions that I still hold. At present I am also bacteriologist to the Newport Board of Health. I am a director and vice-president of the Union National Bank, a trustee of the Savings Bank of Newport, and a member of the board of trustees of Long Wharf. The only clubs I belong to are the Harvard Club of Rhode Island and the Newport Yacht Club. I am a member of the Newport Medical Society, Rhode Island State Medical Society, and the American Medical Association. I have one child, William Albert Sherman, born on May 12, 1903.

ROBERT WATERSTON SHERWIN

I am employed in the construction department of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company.

HOWARD EVERETT SHORE

I am a civil and structural engineer. I have written no books nor have I held any office. I belong to the University Club of Philadelphia. I have visited Europe. On October 31, 1901, at Philadelphia, I was married to Helen Norris, daughter of William and Elizabeth Norris. We have one son, Howard Everett Shore, Jr., born on January 18, 1903, at Philadelphia.

JOHN MACALPINE SIDDALL

I have been an associate editor of the American Magazine since 1906. I was married on November 22, 1904, at Polo, Illinois, to Jean Harriett Joiner, daughter of Alvin and Ida Wood Joiner. From 1899 to 1901 I was on the editorial staff of the Cleveland Plain Dealer. In 1901-1902 I was assistant editor of The Chautauquan Magazine. From 1902 to 1904 I was secretary of the public schools of the city of Cleveland. From 1904 to 1906 I was on the editorial staff of McClure's Magazine.

WALTER GEORGE SILBERBERG

[Mr. Silberberg gives no other information about himself than his address, which is 30 West Third Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.]

WILLIAM SLOAN SIMPSON

After graduation I worked for a year as cowboy on the 6666 Ranch in Oklahoma; after which I was made manager and part owner of the V. V. N. Ranch in Bailey County, Texas, selling out in the fall of 1906. I loafed a year and on October 1, 1907, I was made postmaster of the city of Dallas, since which time the government has taken care of me. I am a member of the Harvard Club of New York, the Dallas Club of Dallas, the Idlewild Club, the Dallas Golf and Country Club, and various other hunting and fishing or smaller clubs. I am also a 32d degree Mason, Scottish Rite.

CLARENCE JAMES SMERDON

After receiving the degree of A.B. I took a post-graduate course in the Harvard Graduate School, receiving the degree of A.M. in 1900. I taught in the Taunton High School for two years, and then entered the employ of the Reed and Barton Company, where I remained two years. I then entered the Harvard Law School and was admitted to the Massachusetts Bar in 1906. Since then I have been practising law in Boston and Taunton.

ADELBERT JULIUS SMITH

[Mr. Smith gives no other information about himself than that he is a lawyer living at 1038 Park Avenue, Omaha, Nebraska.]

CALEB EDWARD SMITH

In the fall of 1895 I entered Harvard with twenty dollars in my pocket hoping to work my way through college; but failing in the attempt, because of low finance, I left college in April, 1896. In the fall of that year I began a three years' course in theology at Revere. While there I met Mary Elizabeth Hunter, who became my wife on September 21, 1898. After graduation, I accepted a call to Halifax, to become pastor of the Congregational Church. After two years' service I went to Peru, Massachusetts. While there we adopted our little girl, Ruth Hunter Smith, who was not quite three years old. In 1904 I was ordained to the ministry in Peru, Berkshire County. The following fall I went to Heath, where we enjoyed our labor together as we had not before, for various reasons; and in April of 1905, while in Boston my wife had an operation for appendicitis, and died in four days' time with peritonitis. For the care of my little girl and as a pastor, it was thought best for me to marry again, which I did on June 5, 1906, to Alice Josephine Goodridge, daughter of George H. and Josephine Mayo Goodridge. In 1907 I went to Roxbury, Vermont, and remained until January , 1909.

Since then I have been supplying pulpits. I believe I am the only one of the class of 1895 of Phillips Exeter Academy who entered the ministry. I made a profitable visit to Canada in October, 1908.

FELIX KOERNER SMITH

The summer of 1899 I did various things until I got a regular place with the Santa Fé System, starting as a stenographer in Kansas City, November 1, 1899. Since then I have been with the same company continuously in the following places—Des Moines, Iowa; St. Louis, Missouri; Denver, Colorado, and again St. Louis. My present position is travelling passenger agent, and I look after the solicitation of, and contracting for, passenger traffic for the Santa Fé System in quite a large territory tributary to St. Louis; that is, the major portion of Illinois, a good part of Indiana, as well as Kentucky, Tennessee, and part of Missouri. On January 24, 1905, at St. Louis, I was married to Katharine Abigail Walker, daughter of Robert Franklin and Nannie Wright Walker. We have two children, Katharine Smith, born on August 14, 1906, and Franklin Walker Smith, born on September 18, 1908, both at St. Louis.

PHILIP SIDNEY SMITH

I am a geologist and have been employed as follows since graduation: from June, 1899, to October, 1899, United States Geological Survey in the Black Hills, South Dakota; from October, 1899, to June, 1900, graduate student in geology at Harvard; from June, 1900, to November, 1900, geological field work in the Porcupine Mountains, Michigan; from November, 1900, to June, 1901, geologist, Michigan Geological Survey, Houghton, Michigan; from June, 1901, to September, 1901, locating iron properties for a private company in Canada; from October, 1901, to June, 1902, graduate work in Harvard, with field work in Orange County, Vermont; from October, 1902, to June, 1903, Thayer Scholar and Austin

Teaching Fellow; from August, 1903, to October, 1903, conducted Harvard Mining School in Colorado; from October, 1903, to February, 1906, instructor in geology and physiography in Harvard and Radcliffe and secretary of the department, instructor in Summer School, examination proctor, and so forth; from February, 1906, to May, 1906, examination of iron deposit in Alabama as geologist for the United States Geological Survey; from May, 1906, to the present date, United States Geological Survey assigned to field work in the vicinity of Nome and Seward Peninsula, Alaska, for five months each summer, and seven months office work in Washington during the winter. I received an A.M. from Harvard in 1900, and a Ph.D. in 1904. I am a fellow of the Association of American Geographers, fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Learning, secretary of the Geological Society of Washington, member of the National Geographic Society, Harvard Travellers Club, and formerly of the Boston Society of Natural History. I belong to the following clubs: D. U., Cosmos Club of Washington, and Harvard Club of Washington. On November 26, 1900, at Roxbury, I was married to Leonore Willis Kinney, daughter of John E. and Carrie Westgate Kinney. I have published the following articles and books: "Copper Deposits of Orange County, Vermont," Engineering and Mining Journal, Vol. 77; "Gray Iron Ores of Talledega County, Alabama," Bulletin United States Geological Survey, No. 315; "Gold Field of the Solomon and Niukluk River Basins," Bulletin United States Geological Survey, No. 314; "Settlements and Climate of Seward Peninsula," Bulletin Geographical Society of Philadelphia, Vol. 5; "Practical Exercises in Physical Geography," Bulletin American Geographic Society, Vol. 38; "Geology and Mineral Resources of Iron Creek," Bulletin United States Geological Survey, No. 314; "Gold Placers of Parts of Seward Peninsula, Alaska," Bulletin United States Geological Survey, No. 328; "Investigations of Mineral Deposits of Seward Peninsula," Bulletin United States Geological Survey, No. 343; "New Utilization of Water Power for Placer Mining," Mining Science, Vol. 157; "Notes on Recent Changes in the Bogoslof

Islands,'' Science (n. s.), Vol. 138. In press: ''The Iron Creek Region, Alaska,'' Bulletin United States Geological Survey, No. 370; ''Mining Developments in Seward Peninsula, Alaska, in 1908,'' Bulletin United States Geological Survey, No. 370. In preparation: ''Geology and Mineral Resources of the Solomon and Casadepago Quadrangles, Alaska,'' ''Geology and Mineral Resources of the Nome and Grand Central Quadrangles, Alaska.''

WILLIAM DAVID SMITH

After leaving college in 1899, I entered my father's business, manufacturing sterling silverware, in Gardner. I married Emily Wright Ballard, daughter of Howard L. and Mary E. (Heywood) Ballard, on April 24, 1901, at Gardner. We have four children, Janet, born on January 8, 1902; Parker Heywood, born on July 15, 1903; Eleanor, born on January 17, 1906; and Leslie, born on August 25, 1907. At my father's death in 1904, I became president of the corporation known as the Frank W. Smith Company, which office I now hold. In 1907 I entered the Harvard Medical School. I am a director of the First National Bank of Gardner, a director of the Gardner Electric Light Company, a trustee of the Henry Heywood Memorial Hospital.

WALTER SODERLING

I am an actor. On January 7, 1908, I was married to Bina Wigeland, daughter of Jacob and Karen Wigeland.

PIERCE EDWARD SOMERS

I was graduated from the Harvard Medical School in 1903 and took a year in the south department of the Boston City Hospital. I have been located in Portland, Maine, since then. I am a member of the Portland Medical Club, Cumberland County Medical Society, Maine Medical Association, and Maine Academy of Medicine. On November 21, 1906, at Boston, I was married to Mary Josephine Vogel, daughter of Joseph P. and Josephine Hank Vogel. We have one child, Ruth Valentine Somers, born on November 10, 1907, at Portland, Maine.

ARTHUR CUSHING SPALDING

After graduation from college I entered the Harvard Law School, being graduated from there in 1902. In September of that year I entered the law office of J. B. and H. E. Warner (now Warner, Warner and Stackpole) in the Exchange Building, Boston, remaining there until the fall of 1904, when I formed a partnership with my brother, George H. Spalding, Harvard '96, for the general practice of the law under the firm name of Spalding and Spalding, with offices at 30 Hildreth Building, Lowell, where I am now located. As a side issue, I have been organist of the Kirk Street Congregational Church, Lowell, for the past twelve years, and for the past three years have spent the months of January, February and March as organist for Mr. Henry M. Flagler in his winter residence, "Whitehall," at Palm Beach, Florida, and have also played the organ during those months for the Sunday services at the Royal Poinciana Chapel, Palm Beach. I am a member of the Harvard Law School Association, the Vesper Country Club of Lowell, and from 1904 to 1908, of Company A, First Corps of Cadets, Massachusetts Volunteer Militia.

CHARLES FREDERIC SPEARE

I left college at the end of my sophomore year, my funds being exhausted, and the following September went to work for the Mail and Express of New York, now the Evening Mail, as a reporter. After several months of discouraging work in general reporting I was taken into the financial department of the paper and in the spring of 1898 was made financial editor, a position I have since occupied. My vacations were spent in trips to various parts of this country and Canada.

Two summers I went with two friends by canoe with Indian guides, both into northern Canada, and to the lower Hudson Bay country. In 1900 I went across Canada to Vancouver, and in 1904 crossed the continent the second time to Portland. In 1902, for rest and change, I went abroad for two months, spending most of the time in Switzerland and Italy, and went again in 1905 on business. In addition I have made several trips to the northwest and southwest, in one of these, in 1907, I was taken with typhoid fever and spent five weeks in Nevada City Hospital. Next month I expect to go to Mexico. On November 19, 1903, I was married at Southampton, New York, to Louise Halsey Burnett, daughter of Nelson and Maria Halsey Burnett. We lived three years and a half in Yonkers, New York, where two daughters, Margaret Louise on February 8, 1905, and Elizabeth Burnett on February 19, 1907, were born. In May, 1907, having bought our home at Bound Brook, New Jersey, thirty-two minutes from New York, we moved here. A third daughter was born here in September, 1908, named Helen Cameron Speare. In the past three years I have written about twenty magazine articles, chiefly for the Review of Reviews, North American Review, and Moody's and Van Norden's magazines. These articles have been entirely on financial and economic subjects. In addition I have written three pamphlets, "American Securities in Europe," "The Drain on American Foreign Credits," and "The Gould Railroad Lines," and have contributed papers to the publication of the American Society of Social and Political Economy. For a number of years I was a member of the Harvard Club of New York, but resigned in 1902. I am a member of the Economic Club of New York.

VIVIAN SPENCER

After graduation I was employed in the law office of Stetson, Jennings and Russell and remained with them until October 1, 1907. I was graduated at the New York Law School, June, 1902, and was admitted to the New York Bar a few weeks after. I married on June 3, 1905, at Mt. Kisco, New York, Sara Means, daughter of Archibald and Sara Ellison Means. I joined the firm of Keene, Leurs and Faying, on October 1, 1907, and am still a member of that firm. I am director in the Tennessee Railway Company, Scott Land Company, New River Coal and Coke Company, and the Tennessee Construction Company. I am a member of the Harvard Club, University Club, Phi Delta Phi, and the Tuxedo Golf Club, of New York.

WILLING SPENCER

After graduation from Harvard, I spent a year travelling around the world. When I returned to Philadelphia I attended the University of Pennsylvania Law School. I was admitted, in 1903, to the membership of the Philadelphia Bar, where I have been a practising attorney ever since. I have spent a part of each summer abroad or with my parents in New England. I am greatly interested in literary works, but claim no distinction as an author!

WILLIAM PARSONS STANLEY

In 1899-1900 I was a student in sociology in the Harvard Graduate School and received the degree of A.M. in 1900. From Cambridge I went to the Rochester Theological Seminary, Rochester, New York, and from there, in 1903, to Edinburgh, Scotland, to study theology in New College and the University of Edinburgh. During this period I took trips through Europe, Egypt, and Palestine. In 1905 I became pastor of the First Baptist Church in Oberlin, Ohio. At present I am pastor of the Middle Street Baptist Church, Portsmouth, New Hampshire. On January 25, 1905, at Rochester, New York, I was married to Marina Eckley Pattison, daughter of T. Harwood and Emily Bainbridge Pattison.

EBEN BLAINE STANWOOD

With my degree tucked safely in my inside, and a sort of lump in my throat, I left Cambridge ten years ago. Not knowing when I had had enough I went back to the Law School, but remained there only a year. I then went to work in the National Bank of the Republic of Boston, where I remained till June, 1901, when I went to work for the Hotel and Railroad News Company. I was put in charge of the news stands on the elevated system. I worked there four years, resigning my position on October 1, 1905. On October 11, 1905, I was married at "Dreamwold," Egypt, to Gladys Lawson, daughter of Thomas W. and Jeannie A. Lawson. Ezra Barstow was best man, and Philip French, Harry McDuffie, and Laurence Oliver, all of the Class, made beautiful ushers. I went on a wedding trip abroad, going first to England, then to France and Italy, staying about two months and learning what a bully new place we live in. On returning I got an apartment in Brookline and went into Hayden, Stone and Company, stock brokers. I worked there until September, 1906 when I was made manager of Mr. Lawson's farm, "Dreamwold." What I did not know about farming, horses, dogs, and so forth would have filled volumes; but a bluff is great, if not worked too hard. Just to give you a slight idea of "Dreamwold"; there are nearly five miles of driveways, seventeen miles of fences painted white, forty-three buildings of varying sizes, and six hundred acres of land, nearly all under cultivation. When I was put in as manager there were two hundred and twelve horses, seventy-five head of Jersey cattle, sixty-five dogs of various breeds, fifty sheep, fifteen goats, eighteen deer, and about fifteen hundred hens, ducks, and so forth, and one hundred and thirty-five people on the pay roll. I have remained there as manager up to a short time ago, when I became interested in a wire-bound packing case. A company was finally formed in November called the Wire-Bound Packing Case Company of Massachusetts, of which I was elected president for the year 1909, Philip French being elected vice-president and secretary for the same term. We now have a factory in operation at Beverly, and hope to make enough money to give liberally to the class fund. I forgot to mention that I went abroad a second time in the spring of 1907 with Mrs. Stanwood and Mr. Lawson, going to Italy, then automobiling through France, then over to London and home. That's a good word "Home."

HARRY NEY STEARNS

I am a lawyer with offices at 28 State Street, Boston, and Harvard Square, Cambridge, in partnership with Frederick W. Dallinger also of Cambridge (Harvard '93) under the firm name of Dallinger and Stearns. I have served in the Cambridge Common Council from 1902 to 1904, the last year as president; the Massachusetts Legislature from 1907 to 1909, and was on the committees on cities and rules. I was chairman (house) of the committee on cities for 1908 and 1909. I am president of the Economy Club of Cambridge for 1909, a member of the Oakley Country Club, and treasurer of Cambridge Non-Partisan Municipal Party. I was seven years in the Massachusetts Militia, six of which as an officer, resigning in 1907 as captain of Company K, Eighth Regiment of Infantry. I have been a member of the Cambridge Republican City Committee for seven years. On October 10, 1901, at Cambridge, I was married to Edith Baker Winslow, daughter of Henry H. and Margaret E. (Givens) Winslow. We have two children, Margaret Winslow Stearns, born on July 8, 1903, and Marshall Winslow Stearns, born on October 18, 1908.

MARSHALL STEARNS

In the fall of 1899 I entered the New York Law School and at the same time entered the law offices of Duer, Strong and Whitehead, 50 Wall Street, New York City, as a law student. I was admitted to the bar in 1901 and shortly thereafter became managing clerk for the same firm. On April 23, 1902, I married Charlotte Storer Shepherd, of Hartford, Connecticut, and went to live at New Canaan, Connecticut, where I have resided ever since, commuting to New York every day. On July 1, 1904, I was admitted to partnership in the firm already spoken of and have continued and shall continue to practise law in New York City. On January 20, 1907, a daughter was born to us and afterwards, on January 22, 1909, a son, who at present writing has not been named.

HENRY HATCH DENT STERRETT

After getting an A.M. degree, in 1900, the subject of this sketch sailed for three years through the troublous water of a theological seminary, graduating from the Cambridge Episcopal School, with the degree of B.D., in 1903. For the first three years of his ministry he was an assistant at St. George's Church, New York City, and for the last three years he has been the assistant at Trinity Church, New Haven. New Haven! you will exclaim. Yes! New Haven! he re-irritates, and not so bad after all. In fact, made quite homelike by membership in the Graduates Club, wherein one can idle away the goodly moments of a bachelor's life.

MALCOLM ENOS STICKNEY

I am at present assistant professor of botany, Denison University, Granville, Ohio. I am a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the Ohio Academy of Science, the Botanists of the Central States, and the Wisconsin Academy of Science.

GEORGE RUSSELL STOBBS

Since graduation from college and the Law School in 1902, where I received the degrees of A.B. in 1899, A.M. in 1900, and LL.B., and where I also was assistant in history from 1899 to 1901, I have practised law in Worcester. I entered first the law office of Taft, Morgan and Stewart, and stayed with that firm until its dissolution, when I continued to be associated in practice with George S. Taft, formerly the senior member of the firm of Taft, Morgan and Stewart. On May 1, 1908, I was taken into partnership, the firm being called Taft and Stobbs. I lived in Webster from the date of my graduation from the Law School until October, 1906, when I moved to Worcester to reside there permanently. I married Mabel Florence Murdock, daughter of George Thurston and Aurilla Thayer Murdock, of Thompson, Connecticut, on October 18, 1905, and have one child, named Russell Murdock Stobbs, born on August 7, 1907. While I lived in Webster, I was on the school board for four years, and active in Republican politics, being the secretary of the Republican Town Committee for two years, and was also president of the Young Men's Republican Club one year. I belong to the following clubs in Worcester at the present time: the Winter Club, Worcester Economic Club, Worcester County Republican Club, Worcester Tennis Club, and Worcester Harvard Club. The only foreign country which I have visited since graduation is Jamaica.

FRANCIS RUSSELL STODDARD, JR.

Immediately after leaving college, I went to Buffalo to study law and to enter the law offices of Humphrey, Lockwood, Hoyt and Yeomans, of which firm my brother-in-law was the junior member. The same fall I entered the Buffalo Law School, where I was taken into the Phi Delta Phi Legal Fraternity. Believing that I had gone to Buffalo to remain, I secured my discharge from Battery A, of the First Massachusetts Heavy Artillery (with which I had served in 1898), and in December, 1899, was elected second lieutenant in the Sixty-fifth Infantry, National Guard of New York. The next fall I was commissioned first lieutenant. As I found office work too confining, I left the Law School and the position of managing clerk, which I then held with the firm of Wheeler and Slee, and about November, 1900, I went to Cuba, where I bought a fruit and tobacco plantation in Pinar del Rio Province. There I represented the Havana Post and sent articles to other papers. I stayed in Cuba until December, 1901, when I was taken ill, and ordered north by my physician. In January, 1902, I came to New York City where I entered the legal department of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company, of which my brother-in-law had meanwhile been made general attorney. The same year I was admitted to the bar. My law duties have been almost entirely court work. I began in the police court; in the fall of 1903 I was assigned to try jury cases in county court; and in 1906 I was advanced to the supreme court. The next year I was assigned to arguing appeals in the appellate division of the supreme court, and this, in addition to some of the counsel work, comprises my work at the present time. In the fall of 1902, I was commissioned second lieutenant in the Fourteenth Infantry, National Guard of New York, was later made a first lieutenant, and in 1905 I became captain of the company. In the fall of 1906 I resigned from the National Guard. That same fall I became interested in politics in the Twenty-fifth Assembly District of New York City, and have since been a district captain, a delegate to various conventions and am now a member of the district committee, a member of the Republican County Committee of New York County, and president of the Madison Square Republican Club, which is the regular organization of the Twenty-fifth Assembly District. For two years I coached the crews of the Crescent Athletic Club, and though the club has had crews in various regattas for many years, I was fortunate in turning out winning crews both years, the only crews that have won anything since 1891. I am a member of the Harvard Club of New York City, the Crescent Athletic Club, the Salmagundi Club, the Madison Square Republican Club, the Ninth Ward Republican Club, the Greenwich Citizens Club, the Mayflower Society, the Society of Colonial Wars, the Sons of the American Revolution, the United Society of Spanish War Veterans, and the Long Island Historical Society. I am not married. (Please do not think that I am trying to take up the whole book.)

GEORGE LEVERETT STOWELL, JR.

I have been connected for nearly twelve years with Wood, Harmon and Company, who are large real estate operators, acting as their sales manager for several years and am now a member of the firm of William E. Harmon and Company. On September 25, 1901, at Washington, District of Columbia, I was married to Anna May Liggett, daughter of William O. and Caroline S. Liggett. We have two children, Dorothy Stowell, born on June 13, 1902; and George Leverett Stowell, 3d, born on March 31, 1909.

HENRY WHITNEY STOWELL

I taught at Pomfret School, Pomfret, Connecticut, for two years, and at Islip, Long Island, New York, for two years. I was graduated from Columbia Law School in 1906. At present I am practising law at 60 Wall Street, New York City. I was married on September 11, 1907, to Anita Evans Tebbets, daughter of Clarence and Mary A. (Evans) Tebbets, of Waltham. I have visited Mexico, England, France, Belgium, and Holland.

GEORGE RUSSELL STRATTON

[Mr. Stratton gives no information about himself other than his address which is 530 Atlantic Avenue, Boston, and 8 Morse Street, Watertown.]

WILLIAM PARKER STRAW

On leaving college I went into the Amoskeag Manufacturing Company. In 1903 I was made one of the assistant superintendents, and shortly afterwards went down to the Manchester Mills as superintendent. In 1906 I was made manufacturing superintendent of the Amoskeag Manufacturing Company, which position I still hold. I was married on June 5, 1901, at Rye Beach, New Hampshire, to Josephine Perkins, and have two children, Ezekiel Albert Straw, born on March 4, 1902; and Mary Parker Straw, born on July 13, 1903. In 1904 I was a member of Governor McLane's staff during his term of office. I am now a trustee of the Amoskeag Savings Bank, trustee of the State Hospital, and director of the Manchester Traction Light and Power Company.

HARRY CARTER STRONG

From college I went to New York City where, after about six weeks persistent effort, I got a place as copy editor on the Commercial Advertiser (now called The Globe, I believe). Thence I went to a similar place on the Tribune, March, 1900, and from that into the business of importing chemicals, January 1, 1901. Despite our making money in chemicals with prospects of steady and rapid increase in that line, I left the business at the end of one year to become the teacher of history and civics in a normal school which the State of Minnesota opened at Duluth in September, 1902. I moved to Duluth in June, 1902, and have no intention of going elsewhere to live. Dorothy Clinton, daughter of Harry Wright and Grace Rebecca Eaton Clinton, and I met in New York City, were married there October 16, 1900, and are glad of it. So far our union has been blessed with two sons, Harry Clinton, born on October 1, 1901, and Stanley Carter, on May 21, 1905. I am a member of the Commercial Club and the Kitchi Gammi Club, both of Duluth.

JAMES BUTLER STUDLEY

I attended the Harvard Law School from 1899 to 1902. On August 1, 1902, I began the practice of the law in the office of Brandeis, Dunbar and Nutter of Boston, with whom I have since been associated, becoming a member of the firm January 1, 1907. I am a member of the Boston Harvard Club, and the Economic Club of Boston. On December 24, 1902, at Newton Centre, I was married to Mary Francis Edwards, daughter of George Woodbury and Marietta Linnell Edwards. We have one child, Linnell Edwards Studley, born on March 15, 1904.

ALBERT MOREY STURTEVANT

I am at present an instructor in Germanic Languages at Kansas University, Lawrence, Kansas. I have charge of the Scandinavian courses here, including Old Norse and Modern Norwegian. I have received the degrees of A.M. and Ph.D. from Harvard University. I have published an edition of Gottfried Keller's "Das Fahnlein der Sieben Aufrechten," and written an article for The Modern Language Notes, entitled "A New Trace of Shakespere's Influence upon Schiller's Wallenstein." I am an honorary member of "Nordmands forbundet" ("Society of Norwegians") at Christiania, Norway, and have represented America in one number of this society's journal. I have visited Belgium, Germany, Switzerland, Denmark, Sweden, and Norway. I have founded a Scandinavian library at the University of Kansas and shall give, for the first time in the history of the university, a course upon the Elder Edda.

MICHAEL HENRY SULLIVAN

After graduation at the Harvard Medical School, I was house physician at the Carney Hospital, South Boston, from 1900 to 1901. I am now a physician practising in Newport, Rhode Island, and a member of the American, Rhode Island, and Newport medical societies, for the last of which I am second vice-president. I am also a member of the Lawrence Club, Newport.

MICHAEL XAVIER SULLIVAN

In the fall of 1899 I returned to college as assistant in chemistry to Professor C. L. Jackson, and devoted considerable time to the study of medicine at the Harvard Medical School, with a view to finding out whether or not the study and practice of medicine would prove as attractive as teaching. During the summer following, I accepted a position as private tutor in the family of Dr. James E. Sullivan, Providence, Rhode Island, with whom I stayed until the fall of 1903. In 1900 I registered for the degree of Ph.D. at Brown University, Providence, Rhode Island. In 1902 I received the degree of A.M., and in 1903 that of Ph.D., taking the degrees in biology and chemistry. From 1903 to March, 1907, I was instructor in physiology at Brown University. In 1907 I was called to Washington to take up work as expert in soil fertility in the bureau of soils, United States Department of Agriculture. In 1907-1908, in addition to the work at the bureau, I lectured in physiology at George Washington University, Washington, District of Columbia, with title of assistant professor of physiology. In July, 1908, I was appointed soil chemist in the bureau of soils, which position I now hold. Since leaving Harvard I have written various scientific papers, the chief of which are "Synthetic Culture Media and the Bio-chemistry of Bacterial Pigments," "The Physiology of the Digestive Tract of Elasmobranchs," "Soil Fatigue Caused by Organic Compounds." I am a member of the following societies and clubs: American Chemical Society, American Bacteriological Society, American Irish Historical Society, Washington Biological Society, Washington Academy of Science, University Club, Providence, Rhode Island; and University Club, Washington, District of Columbia. I have travelled considerably in the United States, but I have not been abroad. As yet I am unmarried, but I hope this defect in my social nature may be remedied within the next few years. On the whole, things are going well, and I look on life from a happy angle.

FREDERICK CHARLES SUTRO

After graduation I lost my health and for a year travelled abroad in England, France, Germany, Austria and Italy. Upon my return I retired to my father's country place at Basking Ridge in Somerset County, New Jersey. After two years spent in farming and out-door life, I regained my health and entered the employ of the Sutro Brothers Braid Company, 127 Spring Street, New York, where I still am. As I had taken my legal residence in New Jersey, I interested myself for the politics of that state, was elected Democratic leader of my district and appointed to the Democratic State Auxiliary Committee. I was a number of times tendered the nomination both to the state legislature and to Congress, but, owing to pressure of business interests, was obliged to decline. Municipal reform has always had a good deal of fascination for me. For years I have been president of the Village Improvement Society of Basking Ridge. About a year ago I became interested in the very much involved affairs of the town of West New York in Hudson County, New Jersey, where the firm with which I am connected owns a large plant. A civic society was formed, of which I became president, and has been successful in having the town's affiairs thoroughly investigated and a high class of men elected to office. Being interested in church work, I have affiliated myself with the Universalist denomination and have held prominent posts in the national young people's organization connected with that faith. I am a member of the Harvard Club of New York and the University Club of Boston. I belong to the National Municipal League and a number of other civic and reform organizations.

GEORGE ALEXANDER SWAN

I engaged in the fire and marine insurance business in 1898 with offices in the four coast towns of Mississippi. I was married on March 21, 1899, at Beauvoir, Mississippi, (former residence of Jefferson Davis), to Janet Johnstone Watson formerly of Chicago. I have been interested in many enterprises toward the development of the coast, and have served as director of the Bank of Biloxi, the Biloxi Railway and Power Company, the Biloxi Brick Company, and the Gulfport Elevator and Grain Company, and as president of the Concord Golf Club. I disposed of my interests in Mississippi in 1909 to engage in the bond business (banking investments) in Denver, Colorado. I have never written any books, and never expect to; and have confined my travels to North America. I have three children; Mary Swan, born on February 6, 1900; William Watson Swan, born on May 31, 1902; and George Alexander Swan, Jr., born on September 21, 1907.

FREDERICK ROTCH SWIFT

I was graduated from the Harvard Law School in 1902 and entered the law office of Strong and Cadwalader in New York City and remained there until March, 1904, when I left to enter the law office of Guthrie, Cravath and Henderson. I remained there until June, 1905, when I entered the service of the Mexican Central Railway Company, Limited, as assistant to the general counsel. On January 1, 1908, I entered the law office of Underwood, Van Vorst and Hoyt in New York City and on January 1, 1909, became a member of that firm. I married Eliza Morgan Bates, daughter of General Alfred E. and Caroline E. Bates, on November 23, 1903, at Washington, District of Columbia. We have two children, Caroline Waterman Swift, born on June 3, 1905, and Rodman Morgan Swift, born on June 30, 1907.

HENRY TALMADGE, 2D

I am practising law at 11 Wall Street, New York City. I am unmarried. In June, 1901, the degree of LL.B., with honor, was conferred upon me by the New York Law School, and I was admitted to the New York Bar. In 1905 I became a member of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, and a trooper in Squadron A, National Guard of New York. The clubs to which I belong are the Harvard Club, and University Club in New York City. I have visited Canada, Nova Scotia, England, Scotland, France, and Switzerland.

FREDERICK BOURNE TAYLOR

I entered the Harvard Law School upon leaving college and was graduated in 1902, in the summer of which year I was admitted to the Massachusetts Bar, and have since been admitted to practice in the United States Circuit Court. After a year in the office of Hon. J. J. Myers, I opened an office of my own in connection with three other lawyers, one of whom was our classmate, Cyrus Sargeant, at 60 State Street, Boston, where Sargeant and I are still practising law. I am a member of the Tiffin Club, and the Longwood Cricket Club.

GEORGE ROBERT TAYLOR

On November 21, 1906, I was married to Lois Syfen Love, daughter of James McClure and Ann Eliza Love.

VALENTINE TAYLOR

I have been a member of the Bar Association of New York City since June, 1908. At present I am assistant counsel to the sheriff of New York County. My office is at 299 Broadway, Manhattan, New York City.

WILLIAM JOSEPH TAYLOR

During the two years immediately after graduation I studied law, being admitted to the bar in 1901. I practised law for three years, during which time I held the office of assistant city attorney. In 1904 I gave up the practice of law, finding it necessary to give all of my time to a business in which I had become interested. I belong to the University Club of Indiana, the Marion Club, and the Indiana Harvard Club. On November 11, 1903, at Indianapolis, Indiana, I was married to Ethel Coffin Failey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Failey. We have one daughter, Martha Ann Taylor, born on February 28, 1908, at Indianapolis, Indiana.

EVERIT BOGERT TERHUNE

I am at present general manager, treasurer, and director of the Boot and Shoe Recorder Publishing Company, Boston. I was president of the Suffolk Coöperative Bank, Boston, from 1903 to 1904. I was married on November 18, 1903, to Ella May Phillips, daughter of Nelson Chase and Sarah Dakin Phillips, at Swampscot. We have two children, Everit Bogert Terhune, Jr., born on September 21, 1905, and Phillips Glover Terhune, born on October 28, 1908. I am the author of "Michel Gulpe," published by the Dillingham Company of New York, also numerous poems, stories, and so forth, in various magazines. I belong to the Tedesco Country Club, Swampscott. I have travelled in Great Britain, Holland, Belgium, France, Germany, Austria, and Hungary. I was elected park commissioner of the town of Swampscott in 1909 to serve for a term of three years.

EVERETT BELKNAP TEWKSBURY

After receiving my A.B. degree I taught one year at the Holderness School for boys, Plymouth, New Hampshire, followed by one year at the Cheltenham Military Academy, Ogontz, Pennsylvania. At the New York Institution for the Blind, New York City, I was teacher from 1901 to 1904; assistant principal from September, 1904, to March 1, 1905; and principal from March 1, 1905, to the present time. I am a member of the Harvard Union, the Harvard Engineering Society of New York City, and secretary of the Society for Providing Evangelical Religious Literature for the Blind. I spent the summer of 1907 in visiting England, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Switzerland, and France.

FARWELL EDWARD THAYER

I am a master painter and decorator, the sole member of the firm of J. H. and J. P. Thayer and Company, established by my great grandfather in 1790. I served in the Cambridge Common Council in 1904 and 1905. I was secretary of the Republican City Committee in 1906, 1907, and 1908, and secretary-treasurer of the Cambridge Master Painters Association in 1908 and 1909. I am a member of the executive board of the State Association of Painters and Decorators, and a member of the Amicable Lodge A. F. and A. M., the Cambridge Citizens Trade Association, and the executive committee of the Cambridge Republican Club. I have been a member, since 1898, of the Pillsbury National Correspondence Chess Association, and have represented the association in two international matches. On May 26, 1904, at Newark, New Jersey, I was married to Annie Lester Urquhart, daughter of Adam and Ellen Urquhart. We have had two children, Bertha Lester Thayer, born on January 26, 1906, and Eleanor Thayer, born on April 1, 1908. Eleanor died on April 3, 1908.

GEORGE WASHINGTON THOMPSON

After graduation I sailed with my father, mother, and sister for a four months' tour of Europe, visiting England, Belgium, Germany, Switzerland, and France. On December 1, 1899, I entered the employ of Flint and Company, commission merchants and bankers, of 30 Broad Street, New York. I left there May 1, 1901, and went to the stock exchange firm of Albert H. Vernam and Company, where I remained until October 1, 1904, being, on my departure, cashier for the firm. From October 1, 1904, to June 1, 1905, I was the manager of a branch office in the Hotel Astor, for the stock exchange firm of Post and Flagg. On June 1, 1905, I bought a seat on the New York Stock Exchange, where I did the business of a "$2 broker" until December 1, 1906, when I formed, with Frederick Martin Davies and James Provost Thomas as partners, the firm of Davies, Thompson and Company, with offices at 30 Pine Street, I being, of course, the exchange member; and this is what I am doing now. On September 18, 1906, I was married to Elizabeth Ridgely Hunt, daughter of Judge William H. Hunt and Gertrude Upshur Hunt, at Helena, Montana. We have one child, a son, George Washington Thompson, Jr., born on July 12, 1907. From 1899 until April, 1907, I lived with my family in New York; then I moved to New Canaan, Connecticut, where I have since resided. I am a member of the following clubs, all in New York City: Union Club, Racquet and Tennis Club, Stock Exchange Luncheon Club, and Harvard Club.

HENRY SMITH THOMPSON

After graduation I began work in the office of Harvard College in Cambridge where I held various offices of administration, the last one being secretary for appointments. This position I held until June, 1906, when I resigned to go into business in Boston. In August, 1902, I was appointed treasurer of the Harvard Union, which office I am still filling; and in June, 1906, I was appointed treasurer of the Harvard Athletic Association, which office I filled till January 1, 1909. In June, 1906, I went into business in Boston with F. A. Eustis '01, where I now am. In connection with my work I have travelled considerably throughout the United States, Canada, and Cuba. On December 25, 1907, I was married at Milton, to Helen Sargent Apthorp, daughter of John Vaughn and Mary Sargent Apthorp. I am now living in Milton.

WIRT LORD THOMPSON

On April 18, 1906, at Philadelphia, I was married to H. Kate Furness, daughter of Walter Rogers and Helen K. (Bullitt) Furness. We have one son, Wirt Furness Thompson, born on February 20, 1907.

CLARKE THOMSON

After leaving college I took a three years' course at the Altoona Shops of the Pennsylvania Railroad and went into the employ of the railroad, where I remained about a year, when I resigned. Since April, 1908, I have been travelling in Italy, France, and England. I am at present travelling in India and expect to go to China and Japan.

ERNEST ALGER THORNHILL

From 1899 to 1903 I was the principal of the high school at Carrollton, Illinois. In 1903-1904 I was a graduate student at the University of Chicago, receiving an A.M. degree in June, 1904. From that date until the present time I have been principal of the Telluride Institute of Provo, Utah. On June 15, 1903, at Carrollton, Illinois, I was married to Lida Elizabeth Connole, daughter of Anthony Connole. I am a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society and a Knight Templar in the order of Free Masonry.

EVERETT ABBOTT THROOP

Everett Abbot Throop, the youngest of five children of Major Everett S. and Mary C. Throop, was born in Cincinnati, Ohio, on August 23, 1878. Upon the death of his father, who was a prominent lawyer of that city, in 1881, the family returned to New England. Everett's boyhood was passed in Portland, Maine, and Worcester. He was prepared for college in the Worcester Classical High School. Passing the examinations with credit he entered Harvard in the fall of 1895 and applied himself with his accustomed earnestness to his work, and in January was awarded a scholarship under the Price Greenleaf provision. Though he had grown rapidly, he seemed robust, so that when his physician discovered about this time a slight trouble in one lung, it came as a terrible shock to all his friends. It was so slight that strong hope was entertained that withdrawal from study, combined with special treatment, would effect a cure, and it was not until late in the spring that he gave up hope of returning to his studies that term. In June the sad decision was reached that, in his case, the treatment was not to be a success, and his physicians advised that he be taken wherever he would be happiest and might live in the open air. In accordance with his wish a cottage with wide piazzas was secured at Rockport, where he had always loved to be. Here he welcomed many of his friends and was always bright and hopeful, seeming for a time to be really gaining. Late in August, however, he began to fail, and before the beginning of the term toward which he had hopefully looked for return to Harvard, his brave spirit had passed beyond all earthly disappointments. Possessed of marked mental clearness, and decision of character, he had early determined upon law as his profession. His remarkable capacity for business was indicated when, upon obtaining his mother's reluctant permission, because of his youth, he undertook to spend a few hours a day in attending to the private business affairs of a lawyer, a friend of the family, during his absence from the city. After his death this friend wrote: * * * "I had a selfish reason for missing Everett * * * for the mature man who acted for me in his place was not so good a business man as the young boy. Such boys are not seen often. He was sweet tempered, practical and brave, wise beyond his years, truthful, affectionate and beautiful to look upon."

Another friend wrote: "Everett had such an utterly truthful nature that he represents to my mind the type of absolute sincerity for boys." Among the many letters received none more deeply touched his family than did those that were sent in behalf of his classmates of the Worcester High School, and of the Class of '99 of Harvard University with which his connection, though brief, had brought him much happiness. Added to the characteristics which have been noted, Everett possessed an intense sense of humor, and bore himself with a genial manliness that made him everywhere a favorite. His frank greeting and kindly act were not confined to those of his own circle as was made touchingly apparent in many ways when the fact of his illness became known in the city of his happy, active boyhood days. Everett died on the morning of September 21, 1896, aged eighteen years and one month.

BROWN UNIVERSITY, September 26, 1896.

MRS. MARY J. C. THROOP:

Hearing of the death of our schoolmate and friend, we hasten to extend to you and his sisters our deepest sympathy.

It seems almost impossible for us to call a class meeting to take action on his death, since not only we, but many of the class are away at school. But we feel that we express the sentiments of every member of the Class of '95 of Worcester High School in saying that in Everett we have lost a true friend and schoolmate, and that we shall sadly miss him. And so may we in behalf of our classmates offer you what consolation our sympathy can afford in what we deem a common loss.

JOHN A. CLOUGH, President Class '95.
ALBERT H. SHEFFIELD, Secretary.

DEAR MRS. THROOP:

On behalf of the Class of '99 of Harvard University, we wish to express to you our deep sorrow at the death of your son Everett. His quiet and unassuming manner, and his earnestness in everything that he undertook, won for him the respect of all his friends.

Extending to you our heartfelt sympathy, we are,

Sincerely Yours,

GEORGE MCCLURE SARGENT
MALCOLM DONALD
WILLIAM C. QUINBY
CHARLES A. HAMILTON

For the Class.

Cambridge, November Seventeenth.

M. J. C. T.

GEORGE SHEPLEY TIFFANY

I have been in the cotton business for the last nine years, first associated with Duncan Joy and Company of St. Louis, later partner in the same firm. In the last part of 1908 I started in the cotton business under the firm name of G. S. Tiffany and Company. Since graduation I have been abroad twice. I am a member of the Noonday Club, Racquet Club and Country Club, all of St. Louis. On April 28, 1904, at St. Louis, Missouri, I was married to Maria Thérèse Scanlan, daughter of James F. and Mary F. Christy Scanlan. We have three children; Mary Christy Tiffany, born on April 2, 1905; George Shepley Tiffany, Jr., born on October 26, 1906; and Philip Jarrot Tiffany, Jr., born on December 13, 1907.

FENTON TOMLINSON

On leaving college I entered the office of the Milliken-Tomlinson Company, Portland, Maine, where I remained a little over a year. I then organized the Saco Valley Canning Company, in which I have been actively interested up to the present time. Our office is located in Portland, but the products are canned in the rural districts of Maine. On October 9, 1907, I was married to Madeleine Cummings Baxter of Portland, who was graduated at Wellesley in 1901. She is the daughter of James Phinney and Mehitable Proctor Baxter. On September 2, 1908, the family was increased by the birth of a son, James Baxter Tomlinson. I have never travelled in Europe, nor have I held any political office. As for clubs and societies, I am a member of the Harvard Club in New York, the Cumberland Club in Portland, the Maine Historical Society, and a few others known only locally.

BURT ADAMS TOWER

I have been engaged continuously throughout the West as mining engineer. On June 1, 1905, at Louisville, Kentucky, I was married to Clara Moore Sherley, daughter of Thomas Huffman and Ella Swagar Sherley.

DONALD TUCKER

I am a salesman for Bigelow, Kennard and Company, Boston. I am a member of the Franklin Country Club, Franklin, and a member of the Harvard Musical Association, Boston. I am a would-be farmer and philosopher. On April 2, 1904, at Boston, I was married to Frances Louise Allen, daughter of Lyman W. and Anne Sealy Allen. We have one son, Donald Tucker, Jr., born on February 11, 1905.

PHILIP MELANCTHON TUCKER

I began my business career as a wool broker in Boston soon after graduating from college. I did not find that line "all wool and a yard wide," so in 1902 I became a stock broker. Stocks went up and enabled me to marry on January 11, 1905, Nancy Denison Noyes, daughter of Henry Denison and Sarah May (Heath) Noyes. We have two children, Rosamond, born on July 15, 1906, and Lois Denison, born on December 10, 1907. I have been an officer or director in several corporations. I am now located at 35 Congress Street, Boston, and make a specialty of handling the stocks of New England manufacturing companies.

FREDERIC ALONZO TURNER, JR.

After graduation from college I entered the Harvard Law School and received the degree of LL.B. in June, 1902. I then entered the law office of Long and Hemenway in Boston, where I remained until 1904, when I started in for myself, sharing an office with James W. Spring. In October, 1905, I took a suite of offices with James W. Spring, Clifton L. Bremer, '96, and James M. Hunnewell, '01, at 340 Tremont Building, Boston, where I am at the present time engaged in the general practice of the law. During this time I have lived in winter in Boston and in summer at Hingham. I have written no books nor articles, nor am I a member of any learned societies. I have received only the degrees of A.B. and LL.B. I have held no public office. I am a trustee of the Hospital Cottages for Children at Baldwinville. I belong to the Puritan Club of Boston, the Bar Association of the City of Boston, Harvard Union, Hingham Yacht Club, Republican Club of Massachusetts and some other clubs. With the exception of a short trip to the Dominion of Canada, I have not visited any foreign countries during this time. I have travelled a little in this country. I still continue the study of music as a pastime and derive a great deal of pleasure therefrom. I expect for the present, at least, to continue at the same offices where I have been for the last four years, and expect to make the practice of the law my life work.

WINSOR MARRETT TYLER

I entered the Harvard Medical School the fall after leaving college, and received the degree of M.D. in the spring of 1903. During the following two years I served as house officer at the Boston City Hospital. Graduating from there in July, 1905, I spent the eight months from September, 1905, to May, 1906, as assistant house surgeon and house surgeon at the New York Lying-in Hospital. From the autumn of 1906 to the present time I have practised medicine in Lexington.

LEE ULLMANN

Immediately after graduation I became a full partner with my brother in a wholesale paint and wall paper business in Springfield, Missouri. Two years afterwards we went into the wholesale and retail lumber business here. I am on the board of directors and chairman of the house committee of the local commercial and social club, and chairman of the grounds committee of the Country Club, and its treasurer. On January 3, 1901, at Springfield, Missouri, I was married to Mary Genevieve Horine, daughter of Samuel Harrison and Mary Conlon Horine. We have two children, Mary Genevieve Ullmann, born on January 16, 1902, and Edward Ludwig Ullmann, born on April 27, 1904.

DONALD FRASER URQUHART

I have been connected since 1899 with the Brooklyn Rapid Transit and allied companies. In 1903 I was made secretary to the president which position I now hold. I am married and have one child, a boy nine years old.

ROBERT PUTNAM VAIL

I am practising law at Decatur, Illinois, a member of the firm of Le Forgee and Vail. On June 22, 1905, at Decatur, Illinois, I was married to Anna Tenbrook Roberts, daughter of Thomas T. and Rachel Musgrave Roberts. We have had one son, Thomas Edward Vail, born on October 18, 1907, who died on October 30, 1907.

GEORGE CHARLES VEDDER

I left Cambridge in June, 1901, and was appointed teacher of English in the Philippine Islands in August of the same year. I arrived in Manila the following November. After two years' service, I went to Canton, China, remaining there for four months in the employ of the American Construction Company, which was engaged in building the Canton-Hankow Railway. I returned to the United States, via Manila, Nagasaki, and Honolulu, in February, 1904. I entered the employ of the Norwich Union Fire Insurance Society of Pine Street, New York, resigning in January, 1905, to become editor of "La Hacienda," a monthly magazine of plantation affairs. On January 1, 1908, I resigned to become vice-president of the America Company and editor of America, an illustrated Spanish magazine, published monthly at 310 Prudential Building, Buffalo, and devoted to the upbuilding of trade between the United States and Spanish-speaking countries. I was married on December 19, 1906, to Catherine Dietz, of Buffalo. I am a member of the University and Harvard clubs of Buffalo.

EDWARD HARMON VIRGIN

I was a library assistant at the Harvard University Library from 1900 to 1904. From 1904 to the present date I have been the librarian at the General Theological Seminary, New York City.

FRED VORENBERG

After leaving college I entered the employ of S. Vorenberg and Company, and upon the incorporation of the S. Vorenberg Company in April, 1906, I was appointed vice-president of said corporation. I am engaged in the retail clothing and furnishing business in Boston. I have travelled extensively abroad, visiting England, Ireland, France, Germany, Italy, Egypt, and Jamaica. I am a member of the Pierian Sodality of Harvard, Elysium Club, and Boston Merchants Association. I am a member of the order of Elks, and Masons.

EDWIN EARLE WAKEFIELD, JR.

After graduation I spent about four years in civil engineering and landscape gardening for the benefit of my health. I then entered the Harvard Law School and remained there two years, until June, 1905. In September, 1905, I was admitted to the Massachusetts Bar. I spent one year in the office of a Boston law firm and then began independent practice at 15 Beacon Street, Boston, where I am still located, having as one of my office associates, Charles L. Carr, also a '99 man. I am a member of the Kappa Gamma Chi Graduate Association, of the Albemarle Golf Club, a collector and member of standing committee of the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville, and a member of the board of directors of the Associated Charities of Newton.

ARTEMAS WARD, JR.

After leaving college I came to New York and went to the Columbia Law School during the years 1900-1901. In the fall of 1901 my mother's health having broken down, I went with her to California, where I took a year's work in the Leland Stanford, Jr., University Law School, that being the year 1901-1902. After travelling through California and parts of Colorado, during the summer of 1902, in the fall of 1902 I returned to New York City and went immediately from there to Buffalo, where I entered the office of Moot, Sprague, Brownell and Marcy, attorneys for the Erie Railroad in the Erie County Savings Bank Building, with the intention of getting some experience in office work and preparing for the bar examinations. As an aid and a sort of review of my past legal work in the preparation for the bar examinations, I took a two years' course in one year at the Buffalo Law School, and in January, 1903, I passed the bar examination and was admitted to the practice of law in the state of New York. In June of that same year I received the degree of LL.B. from the Buffalo Law School. In September, 1903, I returned to New York and went into the law offices of my uncle, Judge Henry Galbraith Ward, who was a partner in the firm of Robinson, Biddle and Ward, attorneys for the Pennsylvania Railroad and the International Mercantile Marine. Here I practised law, and am still connected with the firm. In the spring of 1906 I became interested in political work in my district, which was the twelfth election district of the Twenty-fifth Assembly District; and in the fall primaries of that year I assisted Ezra P. Prentice, the Parsons's leader of the Twenty-fifth Assembly District, in his successful fight against Richard Van Cott, the Odell leader in the same district. At those primaries I was elected a member of the Republican County Committee, City Committee, and Twenty-fifth Assembly District Committee; and was chairman of the committee on contested seats of the Twenty-fifth Assembly District. In the fall of 1907 I was nominated and elected by the Republicans to the Assembly of the state of New York from the Twenty-fifth Assembly District, receiving 4211 votes against 3183 votes cast for John H. Erwin, the Democratic nominee. During that year I served on the judiciary revision and public health committees in the Assembly, and my work was favorably criticised by the committee on legislative work of the Citizens Union, who, in their annual spring report upon the members of the Assembly, recommended my re-election. In September, 1908, I was re-nominated by the Republicans and re-elected, receiving 5911 votes as against 4075 votes for Walter H. Wood, the Democratic nominee. I am a member of the Sphinx Club at Harvard, the Republican Club of New York City, the City Club, the Harvard Club, the Ardsley Club, the West Side Tennis Club, the Crescent Athletic Club, the University Club of Buffalo, Sons of the American Revolution and the Mayflower societies.

HARRY C. WARD

In the fall of 1899 I accepted a position as draughtsman with the Wellman-Sever Company of Cleveland, Ohio, and was with them until mid-winter, when I moved to Chicago and filled a similiar position with the Siemens and Halske Company. On account of poor health I returned to my home at Greenfield, Tennessee, in the spring, and in the fall purchased the electric light and water works plant of this town, which I operated for five years. I was married to Ethel Lyon, daughter of Edward C. Lyon of this place, on January 9, 1901, and we now have two children, Kathryn Lyon Ward, born on October 26, 1904, and Henry Charles Ward, born on November 29, 1908. In October of 1906 I sold the light and water plant and accepted a position as assistant manager of the firm of the Ward-Kent Company, manufacturers of fruit packages, boxes, and veneers, which position I still occupy.

JOHN WARE

On June 30, 1899, I entered the service of the Pennsylvania Railroad as rodman in the construction department, being stationed at Elizabethtown, Pennsylvania, on change of line work. In March, 1900, I was transferred to the maintenance of way department in the office of assistant engineer, Philadelphia Division, at Philadelphia, remaining there until May, 1901, on miscellaneous railroad engineering work. I was then transferred to the office of the principal engineer at Altoona, Pennsylvania, and had charge of the construction of two dams and reservoirs for water supply. In November, 1901, I was appointed assistant supervisor of the Baltimore Division, Northern Central Railway, at York, Pennsylvania, and while there was in partial charge of maintenance of track and construction of yards and additional tracks on that division. In November, 1902, I was transferred as assistant supervisor of the Philadelphia yards on Philadelphia Division, and in that position had partial charge of rebuilding and remodelling the Philadelphia yards and main track between Broad Street Station and Fifty-second Street, also maintenance of the same. In August, 1903, I resigned from the Pennsylvania Railroad and entered the service of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad as assistant engineer in maintenance of way department, under the chief engineer of the maintenance of way department, and for three months inspected track between Washington, District of Columbia, and Wheeling, West Virginia. In December, 1903, I was appointed division engineer of the Connellsville Division of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, with headquarters at Connellsville, Pennsylvania, and while there had entire charge of the maintenance of that division, including care of roadbed, bridges, and buildings, and was also in charge of the construction of branch lines, yards, sidings, and second tracks. I lived at Connellsville, Pennsylvania, until July 31, 1906, when I resigned from the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. In September, 1906, I entered the service of the Boston Elevated Railway, working for a year on plans and studies for the Cambridge Main Street Subway. In the autumn of 1907 I began work in connection with the extensions of the elevated system and have been in charge of the construction work on the Forest Hills and Dudley Street terminals. On June 11, 1904, I was married at Altoona, Pennsylvania, to Margaret Chanler Woodle, daughter of the Reverend Allan Sheldon and Abbie Tisdale Woodle. On September 13, 1906, a son was born, but died the same day. Our daughter, Harriet Ware, was born on November 20, 1907. I am a member of the American Railway Engineering and Maintenance of Way Association, and an associate member of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

LEONARD EVERETT WARE

On April 19, 1904, at Elizabeth, New Jersey, I was married to Margaret Newcomb Davidson, daughter of John and Adelia Sanford Davidson. We have had three children, Margaret Lockwood Ware, born on February 9, 1905, at Elizabeth, New Jersey; Jean Ware, born on May 1, 1906, in New York; John Davidson Ware, born on August 22, 1908, at Sand Beach, Connecticut. Our daughter, Margaret, died on February 16, 1905.

THEODORE SEDGWICK WATSON

At present I am in the insurance business in Boston. I have visited England, Scotland, and Canada. In 1906 I served on the Milton Warrant Committee. I am a member of the Harvard, Economic, and Exchange clubs of Boston, and of the Harvard Union.

[Mr. Watson was drowned while canoeing on the Contoocook River, New Hampshire, on April 19, 1909.—Sec.]

EVANS WEBSTER

I taught physics and chemistry in Adams Academy, Quincy, in 1899-1900. I was in the employ of the Western Electric Company, New York City, and of the Boston Woven Hose and Rubber Company, Cambridge, in 1900-1901. From 1901 to 1904 I was instructor of physics and chemistry, Dummer Academy, South Byfield. I have been the head of the physics department and sub-principal of the English High School, Lynn, from 1904 to the present date. I am a member of the American Physical Society, Eastern Association of Physics Teachers, and of the Oxford Club, Lynn.

JAMES EDWARD WEBSTER

I am at present employed by Allen W. Jackson as superintendent. On November 5, 1900, at Newton, I was married to Florence M. Bailey, daughter of Joseph T. and Mabel F. Bailey. We have four children, Mary Francis Webster, born on April 27, 1902, William Gray Webster, born on March 2, 1904, James Edward Webster, born on October 20, 1905, and Stewart Allen Webster, born on August 4, 1907.

FREDERICK SUSSMAN WEIS

After graduation from college I studied law at the Harvard Law School and was graduated from there in 1902. I then came south, and after studying about a year was admitted to the bar of Louisiana. Since then I have been engaged in general practice. I was associated with the firm of Saunders and Gurley until February, 1907, when that firm went out of existence. I then became associated with Hall and Monroe, remaining with that firm until October, 1908. Since then I have practised independently, with offices at 826 Common Street, New Orleans, Louisiana. I am a member of the Round Table Club of New Orleans, of the State Board of Charities and Corrections of Louisiana, of the New Orleans Commission of Prisons and Asylums, treasurer of the Louisiana Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Children, and secretary of the Jewish Widows and Orphans Home of New Orleans. I have travelled in Europe, Mexico, and Canada since graduation.

ROBERT MAXIMILIAN WERNAER

Do you know that I am the oldest man of our class? You ought all to love me for that. And since I had a whole chapter of life behind me when I came to you, having been a full-fledged lawyer for years, with the burden of much wordly experience on my shoulders, you ought also to respect me, and look up to me, and accept me as your spiritual adviser and paternal friend along the thorny paths of life. Worthy of notice is also the fact that I was already married before anyone of you probably ever thought of it. My wife stands therefore in the same relation to you as I do, and I hope that you will not fail to make use of her maternal class devotion. The saddest thing, however, about the matter is that I have no children. Oh for a child! Had a son been given to me in time, he might now be about ready to enter our beloved alma mater. Were it not for the fact that I look upon you all as my children, I should indeed be without consolation. Besides these two honorable items in my life, I know indeed of nothing that has happened since graduation which would in anyway be of interest to you. However, Brother Adams wants more. The most of you left Harvard, turning your faces joyously towards the bright world. I remained behind within the sacred precincts of Harvard, my life shaping itself along the lines of those who still seek to learn. I took the A.M. and the Ph.D. degrees and served our dear academic mother as instructor in German for two years, from 1901 to 1903. The year 1903-1904 I spent in Europe. In 1904-1905 I was instructor in German in Wisconsin University, 1905-1906 again instructor at Harvard. Since that time, like a vagabond would-be scholar, I have devoted myself to literary work, so to speak. I have spent two years in Cambridge, free from teaching, except that I delivered a course of public lectures in Harvard in the winter of 1908 on the "Romantic School in Germany." I have written a few scientific articles on outlandish subjects for the publications of the Modern Language Association of America. The substance of the above-mentioned lectures with new material are in my book, "The Romantic School in Germany," 1909, published by Houghton, Mifflin and Company. Have you read it?

WESLEY WEYMAN

To those of my classmates who have not heard of me there is no object in introducing myself; to those who have, there is surely no object in confirmation! So please allow me still to keep one virtue—modesty. If I were the ancient Greek, it would be different. Believe me, in all things—except recounting my exploits and accomplishments—very much at your service. Still simply blest in single blessedness—with no prospects—or hope—of change.

CARLETON AMES WHEELER

In the fall of 1899 I began teaching at the Country School, Baltimore, Maryland, where I continued three years. The next year, 1902-1903, was spent abroad, chiefly in France, Germany, and Switzerland. Part of the time was devoted to study at the University of Paris, and at Heidelberg University; the rest was given to tramping in Germany, Switzerland, and Italy. Upon my return home I entered the Graduate School at Harvard, taking an A.M. in sociology the following June, 1904. In September I entered the Harvard Divinity School, but was called home by sickness in my family in March, 1905. For the next two and a half years home duties took all my time. From September, 1907, to February, 1908, I was the tutor of a young deaf student who was studying at St. Paul's School in Concord, New Hampshire. Since that time I have been the teacher of English and history in the two upper classes at Clarke School for the Deaf, Northampton, having been attracted to this work by the fact that my two brothers had been educated at Clarke School. On June 24, 1908, I was married to Elizabeth Towson, daughter of Jacob Folley and Henrietta Bishop Towson, of Homewood, Smithsburg, Maryland. During the years of 1904-1905, I was the president of the National Young People's Religious Union (Unitarian). I am a member of the Religious Education Association and of the Liberal Club of Northampton.

HARRY ALLEN WHEELER

Shortly after leaving college I became connected with the Barta Press of Boston, makers of high-grade catalogues. In September, 1904, I became a director and secretary of the corporation. In January, 1908, I acquired control of the business and am now its treasurer and general manager. I am one of those unfortunates (?) not yet married. I am a member of the Exchange Club of Boston, New York Harvard Club, and the West Side Club, Providence.

BRAINERD HUNT WHITBECK

In the fall of 1899 I entered the College of Physicians and Surgeons in New York City, from which institution I was graduated in 1903. I was married to Edith Emily Plummer, daughter of John F. and Emily Plummer, at New York City, on June 2, 1903, and entered Bellevue Hospital in New York in July. I served at Bellevue as interne until March, 1904, when, on account of ill health, I was obliged to go to Saranac Lake in the Adirondacks. There my older boy, John Fonda Ward Whitbeck 2d, was born, on August 25, 1904. After six months I went to Rochester, New York, and remained until the following October, when I returned to New York City and settled at 784 Park Avenue, where I have resided up to the present time, engaged in the practice of medicine. Brainerd Hunt Whitbeck, Jr., was born on September 5, 1907. I am a member of the Harvard Club, the Quiz Medical Society, New York County Medical Society, and Medical Society of the State of New York. I hold the positions of attending orthopedic surgeon at the Lincoln Hospital, assistant attending orthopedic surgeon at the Sea Breeze Hospital at Coney Island, assistant orthopedic surgeon at the out-patient departments of the Hospital for the Ruptured and Crippled and the Roosevelt Hospital, and assistant physician at the out-patient department of the Presbyterian Hospital. I am examining surgeon for the law department of the New York Central Railroad. I have written two medical papers, "Report of Three Years' Work at the Sea Breeze Hospital for the Treatment of Surgical Tuberculosis in Children," read before the orthopedic section of the New York Academy of Medicine, January 17, 1908, and "The Fresh Air Treatment of Surgical Tuberculosis," read before the Chicago Medical Society, at Chicago, January 13, 1909.

FRANK OWEN WHITE

I continued at the Law School for two years after the spring of 1899, and managed to pull out the usual LL.B. in 1901. I was admitted to the bar in Boston, together with several other '99 men in January, 1901. In November of that year I opened an office in Boston. This means that I found a man who was willing to allow me to have a desk in his office in exchange for a few dollars per. This was in the Exchange Building, now the office is at 60 State Street, and no '99 man is hiring any desk room. I was induced to join the Boston Bar Association, and the University Club some time since; and am now making a bid for the Harvard Club of Boston, which, judged by its dinners, is a fine organization. On April 27, 1904, I married Myra Hall Nichols of Brookline. She was president of the Class of '99 Radcliffe, and I have known her since we were children. We have one son, Edward Peirce White, born on April 30, 1905; and he has the true '99 spirit. I have sometimes regretted this about 2 A. M. His present ambition is to play on the Eleven and to learn to sing "Up the Street." I don't see why Arthur Adams didn't give us more room to write on, so we could do justice to these matters. Do I hear "Only five minutes for rebuttal?"

HENRY PRESTON WHITE

My life as a graduate began with my marriage. She, (my wife), was Sara Croome Coleman, born in West Troy, New York, but living in Brooklyn, New York, at the time of our marriage. We had met on the steamship "Servia" bound for England. Our wedding journey was over the same route. Brookline has been our home and we have lived there continuously, with the exception of one year, which we spent in Italy for the purpose of furthering my architectural training. We have two children, Frances Everett White, aged two years, six months, and John Hauthaway White, aged four months. If you read between the lines you will see that so much is the important part of my story; what follows is hardly worth stating. I had studied architecture in the Harvard Graduate School. Then followed a year in a large office, a year in Italy, six months in a small office, two years in a landscape architect's office, and then the plunge into independent practice in the firm of Pray, Hubbard and White. My firm is about the age of my daughter. We are the Oliver Twist of the architectural world. We have had some work but we still cry "more." Originality is the quality which solely I have to offer that I may claim to be a worthy member of the Class of '99. Thus I have written no books or even articles, have membership in no learned societies, have taken no other degree than that which gives me the privilege of writing here, hold no office of honor or trust, belong to no club, and though I have travelled in Europe, have seen neither the "Bal Bullier" nor the home of the Duchess of Marlborough. Similarly in my professional work, I make no claim to be a specialist in Gothic churches, in civic improvements, or in Italian gardens. I have followed collegiate sports pretty closely, my interest amounting almost to mania. My principal recreation is the game of billiards, and my avocation is painting. I am a little bald and more than a little gray, and in many ways I feel old, and the days of college life seem part of a dim past. But I preserve my enthusiasm so I feel that I continue the game well equipped and with a high courage, born of the many victories of our glorious Class.

CLARENCE MORTON WHITMAN

In the fall of 1899 I entered the firm of Clarence Whitman and Company, dry goods commission merchants of New York City. I made two trips to England and the Continent in 1900 and 1902. In 1902 I became a junior partner of the firm of Clarence Whitman and Company. I was married on November 19, 1903, at New York, to Eleanor Motley, daughter of William Henry and Kate L. Motley, and we have one boy, Clarence Whitman, 2d, born on January 4, 1905. I am a member of the Harvard Club, Union Club, and the Racquet and Tennis Club, all of New York City

MALCOLM DOUGLASS WHITMAN

In 1902 I received the degree of LL.B. from the Harvard Law School. The next year I became associated with the firm of Simpson, Thacher and Bartlett, of 25 Broad Street, New York City, with whom I remained for several years in the active practice of the law. During the years 1903 to 1905 I was admitted to the New York Bar, and to practice in the federal courts. In the early part of 1906 I left the active practice of the law and became a member of the firm of Harding, Whitman and Company of Boston and New York. I remained at work in the Boston office until the date of my marriage. On April 2, 1907, I was married to Janetta Alexander McCook, daughter of John J. and Janetta W. McCook. Shortly after I moved to New York permanently, taking up my residence at 115 East Sixtieth Street, and established my present occupation in the New York office of Harding, Whitman and Company. On January 12, 1908, I was blessed with a daughter, Janetta Whitman, born in New York City. My present occupation is that of a member of the firm of Harding, Whitman and Company, engaged in the distribution, and indirectly in the manufacture, of textile fabrics and other products. My present office address is 350 Broadway, New York City. I belong to the following clubs and societies, among others: the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, Merchant's Club, Harvard Club, Racquet and Tennis Club, all of New York City; the Union Club, and Longwood Cricket Club of Boston; Country Club of Brookline; Crescent Athletic Club of Brooklyn; and Seabright Lawn Tennis Club of Seabright, New Jersey.

FRANK HAYDEN WHITMORE

The first two years out of college I spent at the New York State Library School, in Albany, New York. This school offers work in preparation for librarianship. On completion of the course I obtained the degree of B.L.S. The four years from August, 1901, till July, 1905, I was assistant librarian at Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Maine. In August, 1905, I came to Brockton, as librarian of the Brockton Public Library, and this position I still occupy. A few brief papers prepared for reading at library meetings and which afterwards appeared in library periodicals, and a short bibliography on ethics, printed in pamphlet form, are the only things in the way of authorship for which I have been responsible. I am a member of the American Library Association, Massachusetts Library Club, and the local economic club. In the summer of 1906 I had the opportunity, during the vacation period, to make a hurried visit to England and France.

GEORGE BRACKETT WHITNEY

From our secretary's request I feel that I have a first class license to tell all the great things I have done since June, 1899, otherwise I fear they never would have been recorded in history. In September, 1899, I went to Milwaukee, Wisconsin, and remained there until July, 1904, working for the Fily and Stowel Company, and the Allis-Chalmers Company, designing steam engines. While in Milwaukee I was a member of the Milwaukee Harvard Club and shall always remember the many good times we had. The only really great thing I ever did, happened on March 21, 1902, when I married Ethelyn Mary Morris, daughter of George William and Alice Smart Morris, of Racine, Wisconsin. Racine is a small town about thirty miles south of Milwaukee and is much smaller now than previous to March 21, 1902. In July, 1904, I came east to accept a position with the General Electric Company, Lynn, designing steam turbines. For a year and a half I had charge of their turbine draughting department. At present I am with the General Electric Company, designing gasolene engines. I am somewhat in error here, as at present I am in Norfolk, Virginia, for my health, having spent three weeks at Corey Hill Hospital, Brookline, where I had a surgical operation on March 15, 1909. I hope to be back with the General Electric Company by the first of May.

HOWARD FLETCHER WHITNEY

Since September, 1899, I have been with R. L. Day and Company of Boston and New York, bankers and dealers in high-grade municipal and railroad bonds. I sold securities through New York State for several years and during the last five years have been selling investment securities in New York City and adjacent territory. I was an athletic member of the New York Athletic Club for several years after graduation, rowing on the senior crew. Later I joined the Crescent Athletic, and University clubs of Brooklyn. I am a member of the Harvard Club of New York. I married Lillian P. Keck of New York, on February 1, 1905, in Brooklyn. My present address is 546 Riverside Drive, New York City, "Claremont Court."

STEPHEN COOK WHORF

I am employed by the Fore River Shipbuilding Company of Quincy, as an assistant engineer, and have been with this company since September 24, 1900. On October 1, 1903, at Provincetown, I was married to Priscilla Myrick Smith, daughter of Francis Perry and Fidelia Dunham Smith.

WALTER ATWOOD WIGHT

From September, 1899, to June, 1901, I was an instructor in the Polytechnic Preparatory School, Brooklyn, New York. From September, 1901, to the present time I have been instructor in French in the Erasmus Hall High School, in Brooklyn. The summers of 1899 and 1903 I spent in Europe. In 1906 I received the degree of A.M. from the New York University. I am a member of the Montauk and University clubs of Brooklyn, and the Shelter Island Yacht Club.

CHARLES EDWARD WILLIAMS

From Cambridge I moved to Boston in the fall of 1900. I studied in the Boston (Curry) School of Expression for two years in connection with my public reading. Then one year was given entirely to public reading. The next two years were spent in the school of expression as a student and teacher. In the summer of 1905 I was instructor of expression in the Summer School of the South at Knoxville, Tennessee. From there I came to the Middle West and have been located here ever since. The first year in Indiana I spent in Marion as principal of the department of oratory in the Marion Normal College, and then in the fall of 1906, I came to Indianapolis as principal of the Indianapolis Conservatory School of Expression, which position I now hold. I teach once a week in Central Normal College, Danville, Indiana. Last year during the winter and spring I went to Columbus, Indiana, nearly every Sunday as lay reader in the little Episcopal church there. I was married on May 6, 1908, to Grace Ruth Cummings, daughter of the late Mathew Morton and Julia R. Cummings, of Indianapolis. Rex Baxter, Harvard, 1908, was my best man. We are keeping house at 3028 Central Avenue. I am a member of the Indianapolis Harvard Club.

HAROLD WILLIAMS, JR.

Since graduation from the Harvard Law School in 1902 I have been practising law in Boston, being at first in the office of Storey, Thorndike, Palmer and Thayer, 53 State Street, and since September, 1905, in practice on my own account. I have lived in Brookline, taking some interest in town affairs and have since May 1, 1908, been a member of the board of registrars of voters. My office is at 35 Congress Street, Boston. On November 25, 1902, I was married to Katharine Craig, daughter of Colonel Robert and Annie Mahon Craig, at Washington, District of Columbia. We have had three children, Harold Williams, 3d., born on March 24, 1904, Anne Craig Williams, born on June 16, 1906, and William Blackstone Williams, born on June 13, 1908. My son, Harold, died on September 29, 1907.

HORACE DUDLEY HALL WILLIAMS

I am in the tea importing business in Boston. On July 6, 1905, at Medford, I was married to Ethel Howland Folger, daughter of George Howland and Lilias Hebard Folger.

ROBERT WINSLOW WILLIAMS

After graduation I entered the banking office of Parkinson and Burr where I remained until June, 1907. In January, 1908, I was elected to membership in the Boston Stock Exchange, where I am now in business for myself. I am a member of the Brookline Country Club and the City Club Corporation of Boston.

EDWIN BIDWELL WILSON

In the fall of 1899 I entered the Yale Graduate School and studied chiefly mathematical physics under J. Willard Gibbs. In the spring of 1900 I was appointed instructor in mathematics in Yale College and received the degree of Ph.D. in June, 1901. During 1901 I wrote and published in the Yale Bicentennial Series a book, "Vector Analysis," founded upon lectures by Gibbs. From August, 1902, to September, 1903, I had a leave of absence and spent the academic year studying in Paris at the Ecole Normale Supérieure, the Sorbonne, and the Collége de France. In September, 1902, I represented the American Mathematical Society at the celebration of the centenary of the birth of Abel, and this took me to Christiania, Norway. In August, 1904, I represented Yale University at the third international congress of mathematicians at Heidelberg, Germany. Early in 1906 I was advanced to an assistant professorship in Yale College, and in 1907 I came to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology as associate professor of mathematics. I belong to the mathematical societies of America, France, Germany, and Italy (Palermo), to the American Physical Society, and so forth, to the Graduates Club of New Haven, and the Harvard Club of New York. I have visited England, Wales, Belgium, Germany, Norway, Denmark, France, Switzerland, and Italy, during the summers of 1902, 1903, 1904, 1905, and 1906. The titles of the articles which I have written on mathematics, mechanics, and mathematical physics are numerous and for the most part devoid of interest. Mention might be made of "The Decomposition of the General Collineation in Space into three Skew Refections," 1900, which Life did me the honor to quote as showing what some persons sometimes write about; "Ueber Eine von dem Begriffe der Länge unabhängige Definition des Volumens," 1903, "Sur la groupe qui laisse invariante l'air gauche," 1905, "The Revolution of a Dark Particle about a Luminous Centre," 1907, "Oblique Reflections and Unimodular Strains," 1907, "The Equilibrium of a Heavy Homogeneous Chain in a Uniformly Rotating Plane." 1908, "Double Products and Strains in Hyperspace," 1908, and so forth.

LOUIS THORNTON WILSON

I entered the Harvard Medical School at the end of my third year in college and was graduated from there in 1902. I served as house officer in the Children's Hospital, Boston, from April 1, 1902, to April 1, 1903. I then served as surgical house officer on the first surgical service of the Boston City Hospital from November 1, 1903, to November 1, 1905. December 1, 1905, I started in the practice of medicine in Boston at 155 Newbury Street. In October, 1906, I moved to 24 Marlborough Street where I have remained. Since I have been in practice I have served as graduate assistant at the Children's Hospital for six months, and district physician to the Boston Dispensary for two years. My work is confined to surgery. I am assistant visiting surgeon to the Boston City Hospital. I am a member of the Boylston Medical Society, Massachusetts Medical Society, American Medical Association, American Urological Association, and Boston City Club.

WILLIAM PORTER WINCH

I was admitted to the bar in March, 1902, and since graduation from the Harvard Law School in 1902, have been engaged in the general practice of the law at Boston. My present office is with O. W. Richardson and John E. Rousmaniere, both of '99.

ALVIN WALTER WISE

I am practising law under the firm name of Wise and Gottlieb, with offices at 906 Association Building, 153 La Salle Street, Chicago, Illinois. I am a member of the Standard Club, Lake Shore Country Club, Ravesloe Club, Illinois Athletic Club, and Covenant Lodge, Number 526, A. F. and A. M.

EVERETT SIDNEY WISE

I am practising law in Chicago.

EDWIN JOSEPH WOLBACH

I was chemist at the American Beet Sugar Company of Grand Island, for two years. For eight years I have been managing a department store. I belong to the Masonic Order, and the Elks, and am treasurer of the latter order. I am president of the High School Alumni Association of Grand Island, Nebraska.

OLIVER A. WOLCOTT

I was graduated at the Albany Law School and am an attorney and counsellor at law, and a member of the New York Bar Association. For five years I was a trustee of the village of Keeseville, New York. At present I am serving my third term as school commissioner from the first district of Clinton County, New York. I am a member of the School Commissioners and Superintendents Association of the State of New York, and a member of the legislative committee of the same association. On February 17, 1903, at Keeseville, New York, I was married to Jessie M. Thomas, daughter of Horatio S. and Mary E. Thomas. We have one daughter, Mary Ella Wolcott, born on February 24, 1904.

ROGER WOLCOTT

After graduation I entered the Harvard Law School, graduating in 1902. I passed the bar examinations and was admitted to the Massachusetts Bar in the middle of my last year at the Law School. On July 2, 1902, I entered the law department of the Boston Elevated Railway Company, where I remained four years, trying hundreds of tort and criminal cases. In July, 1906, I resigned from the Elevated, and set up for myself in an independent general practice at 60 State Street, Boston, where I am still. In politics I have served three years at the state and city caucuses and elections as an election officer, and have been a delegate to many conventions. I am treasurer of the Milton Republican Town Committee, and have served three terms on the Milton Warrant Committee, the last as chairman. I am serving my first term in the legislature, being clerk of the committee on railroads. I carried my district last November by 1184 votes to 590. I have been a private, corporal, second lieutenant, first lieutenant, captain, and adjutant, of the First Regiment of Heavy Artillery, Massachusetts Volunteer Militia, and am at present an inspector-general of the Massachusetts Volunteer Militia, with rank of lieutenant-colonel. I have served as marshal on Commencement Day in 1901 and 1903, and am a member of the Harvard Club of Boston, and the Harvard Union. I am, or have been, a member of the following: Boston Bar Association; Massachusetts Civil Service Association; Provident Institution for Savings, of which I was a member of the corporation; Suffolk Savings Bank (member of the corporation); director Lowell Machine Shop, Everett Mills, and York Manufacturing Company; honorary member Metropolitan Mutual Aid Association; American Unitarian Association (nominating committee); Society of Colonial Wars (member of the council); Society of Cincinnati; Loyal Legion; United Spanish War Veterans; Old South Association; Bunker Hill Monument Association; Milton Historical Society; Massachusetts Automobile Club (on the election committee); Hoosic-Whisick Club (executive committee); Boston Tennis and Racquet Club; Republican Club of Massachusetts (on the finance committee and chairman of the election committee); Massachusetts League of Republican Clubs (executive committee); delegate to the Convention of National League of Republican Clubs at Cincinnati on September 22, 1908. On June 7, 1904, at Boston, I was married to Claire Morton Prince, daughter of Morton and Fanny Lithgow (Payson) Prince. We have two children, Roger Wolcott, Jr., born on February 28, 1905, and Clarissa Endicott Wolcott, born on November 29, 1907, both at Milton.

HENRY FELIX WOLFF

I was graduated from the Harvard Law School in 1902. I immediately entered the office of Hornblower, Byrne, Miller and Potter, attorneys, in New York City. I was admitted to the bar of the state of New York in 1903. In November, 1904, I entered the employ of Hon. William M. Ivins, then the head of the law firm of Ivins, Kidder and Melcher, and in May, 1905, became a member of the firm of Ivins, Mason, Wolff and Hoguet, my partners being William M. Ivins, Herbert D. Mason, and Robert L. Hoguet, Harvard '99. Since that time I have been engaged in the general practice of the law as a member of that firm. I am a member of the Harvard Club of New York City, and of the New York County Lawyers Association, of whose committee on federal courts and procedure I am the secretary.

SAMUEL LAMSON WONSON

I received an S.B. degree from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1901, and in 1901-1902 I was an assistant in the civil engineering department of this institution. From June, 1902, to August, 1907, I was with the American Bridge Company of New York, except from May to December of 1905, when I was with the Cauca Railway, Republic of Columbia. From August 1, 1907, to the present date I have been in the employ of the Mexican Railway Company, with headquarters in Mexico City, Mexico.

CHARLES DANE WOODBERRY

I was graduated from the Harvard Law School in 1903 and since the fall of that year have practised my profession in Boston. I was married on September 19, 1907, to Amy Bowdoin Haskell, daughter of Frederic Perkins and Louise Warren Haskell, at Beverly.

LAWRENCE ARTHUR WOODWARD

Lawrence Arthur Woodward, the son of Erastus and Mary Melvina Woodward, was born in Charlestown, on December 28, 1875. In 1881, he removed with his parents to Somerville. The following September he entered the Edgerley Grammar School, being graduated from there in 1891. The following September he entered the Somerville Latin High School, and was graduated from there in 1895. In September of that year he entered Harvard College, but his health failing him, he was obliged to leave college in the following December. He then went south, with his parents, to Thomasville, Georgia, remaining there with them until June of the following year. Returning home to Somerville, he spent the summer of 1896 at Greenfield, New Hampshire, where he had also spent the summer of 1895. He died on May 20, 1897. He was a conscientious student, and deeply interested in his studies and school work. He was also very much interested in the study of entomology, spending many enjoyable hours in collecting, preparing, and mounting many different specimens of insects, butterflies and so forth. The collection which he enjoyed so much in acquiring, and which is all his own work, was given by his parents to Tufts College, where it can be seen, inclosed in glass cases, at the Barnum Museum.

E. W.

JOHN WESLEY WORK

I was graduated from Fisk University, Nashville, Tennessee, before I studied at Harvard. Later I received an A.M. from Fisk University and also later worked at the University of Chicago. At present I am the head of the Latin and modern history departments in Fisk University. I spent much time in studying and investigating negro folk song, and wrote an article for the American Mythological Association, which was presented at Oberlin, Ohio, 1906. I am a member of the Classical Association of the Middle West and South. At present I am at work upon a history of the negro folk song. I am chairman of the executive committee of the Nashville Group of "Human Brotherhood." On April 26, 1899, at Nashville, Tennessee, I was married to Agnes Morris Haynes, daughter of William and Mary Haynes. We have had five children, Charlotte Robinson Work, born on February 26, 1900; John Wesley Work, Jr., born on June 15, 1901; Agnes Samnella Work, born on January 11, 1903; Merrill Cravath Work, born on January 5, 1905; Helen Elizabeth Work, born on August 6, 1908. My daughter Charlotte died on June 29, 1900, and my daughter Agnes, on March 5, 1904.

REUBEN IRVING WRIGHT

Since leaving college in 1899, I have been engaged in engineering as follows: draughtsman with Brown Hoisting Machinery Company, Cleveland, Ohio, from September, 1899, to March, 1900; draughtsman with Wellman-Seaver-Morgan Engineering Company, Cleveland, from March 1900, to October, 1900; and draughtsman, chief draughtsman, assistant engineer, sales engineer, and engineer of the Electric Controller and Manufacturing Company from October, 1900, to the present time. I have been a stockholder of the same company for four years, and a member of the board of directors for two years. I am a member of the Cleveland Engineering Club and of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

WALTER FRANCIS WYETH

I have been in the banking business most of the time since graduation. I am now manager of the Boston office of Spencer Trask and Company of New York. I am a member of the Boston Athletic Association, Brae Burn Country Club, and Boston City Club. On October 26, 1905, at Brookline, I was married to Josephine H. Shailer, daughter of Robert A. and Grace E. Shailer. We have one son, Walter Francis Wyeth, Jr., born on December 11, 1907.

ARTHUR LOWMAN WYLER

I have been connected with the wholesale manufacturing of clothing since I left college. After learning the business I started "on the road" and have been doing more or less travelling ever since. I became a partner in the firm of Wyler, Ackerland and Company five years ago, and have been taking an active interest in the buying and manufacturing end of the business since then. I belong to many social and athletic clubs none of which I consider especially worthy of public interest, in so much as I take no active part in the life of any of them.

ERNEST ADAMS YOUNG

I am with Warren Brothers Company, 93 Federal Street, Boston, being a superintendent in their construction department and have been with them since the last report sent out. On February 11, 1908, at Cedarville, Illinois, I was married to Sarah Weber Addams, daughter of James Weber and Laura S. Addams.

This part of the report contains the "lives" of those men who did not answer in time to get into the first part of the report and also a list of names of men who have not replied or whose address is unknown.

LAWRENCE PAGE ADAMS

[Mr. Adams gives no other information than his address which is La Luz, Guanajuato, Mexico.

FRANCIS VICTOR ALEXANDRE

[Mr. Alexandre has not been heard from. His address in 1908 was Larchmont Yacht Club, Larchmont, New York.]

RUFUS BRADFORD ALLYN

[Mr. Allyn has not been heard from. His address is 11 Berkeley Street, Cambridge.]

ARTHUR J. AUSTIN

[Mr. Austin has not been heard from.]

JAMES GEORGE AVERELL

James George Averell died November 20, 1904.

LESLIE TALBOT BAKER

[Mr. Baker has not been heard from. His address in 1905 was 37 Newbury Street, Boston.]

HAROLD PULSIFER BALE

[Mr. Bale has not been heard from. His address in 1907 was "The Benedick", 80 Washington Square East, New York City.

JOHN THIERY BATCHELDER

[Mr. Batchelder has not been heard from. His address is 418 Tremont Building, Boston.]

JOHN MILTON BENJAMIN

[Mr. Benjamin has not been heard from.]

LOUIS ALBERT BEST

[Mr. Best has not been heard from.]

JEROME NAPOLEON CHARLES BONAPARTE

[Mr. Bonaparte has not been heard from.]

CHALLIS BOWKER

I have been apprentice, foreman, superintendent, and assistant to general superintendent of the Pressed Steel Car Company of Pittsburg, Pennsylvania. At present I am sales agent of the same company. On December 31, 1907, at Pittsburg, I was married to Rebecca Laidlaw Clark.

ALONZO EDWIN BRANCH

[Mr. Branch has not been heard from.]

JOHN FRANCIS BRICE

[Mr. Brice has not been heard from. His address is 693 Fifth Avenue, New York City.]

CHARLES THOMAS BROWN

[Mr. Brown has not been heard from.]

WINTHROP EVARTS BROWN

Winthrop Evarts Brown died March 29, 1907.

EMILE A. BRUGUIERE, JR.

[Mr. Bruguière has not been heard from. His address in 1905 was 520 Montgomery Street, San Francisco, California.]

WILLIAMS PROUDFIT BURDEN

[Mr. Burden has not been heard from. His address is Troy, New York, and 908 Fifth Avenue, New York City.]

PERRY LAWTON BURRILL

[Mr. Burrill has not been heard from. His address is Cowen Company, 49 Federal Street, Boston.]

MAURICE VIELE CAMPBELL

[Mr. Campbell has not been heard from.]

SHERMAN CAMPBELL

[Mr. Campbell has not been heard from. His address in 1905 was 9 Bigelow Street, Cambridge.]

WILLIAM WALCOTT CARTER

[Mr. Carter has not been heard from. His address in 1907 was 43 Chestnut Street, Boston.]

HARRY GILBERT CHESLEY

[Mr. Chesley has not been heard from. His address in 1905 was 173 Woodland Road, Auburndale.]

JESSE BRIGGS CHURCHILL

[Mr. Churchill has not been heard from. His address in 1905 was 25 Grove Street, Chelsea.]

FRANCIS DOUGLAS COCHRANE

After graduation I travelled for a year in the Far East. I was in the employ of Stone and Webster of Boston for about two years and a half. I was employed in the West for several years by an exploration company, and in 1906 became manager of the Eastern Exploration Company. In 1907 and part of 1908 I was in the South on account of my health and am now in the employ of the Cochrane Chemical Company of Boston. On December 17, 1908, at Charleston, South Carolina, I was married to Ramelle McKay Frost, daughter of Edwin Parker and Mary Coachman Frost.

JOHN JOSEPH COLBERT

[Mr. Colbert has not been heard from.]

FREDERICK MEADE CONKLIN

[Mr. Conklin has not been heard from. His address in 1905 was 219 Berkeley Place, Brooklyn, New York.]

ARTHUR COCKCROFT

Since the last report I sent you I have been continuously employed by the Edward Thompson Company, law book publishers, Northport, New York, in which corporation I am now a director. I am also a director and treasurer of the Northport Electric Light Company. On October 1, 1900, at Northport, New York, I was married to Ella Rapalje, daughter of Stuart and Ella M. Rapalje. We have had two children: Alida Leslie Cockroft, born on February 17, 1904; and Frances Rapalje Cockroft, born on December 12, 1906, who died on October 13, 1907.

ALLAN BURTON CRAVEN

Mr. Craven is still in Europe where he has been for the past seven or eight months. His occupation is interior decoration. His office is in Boston.

G. A. Craven.

BENJAMIN TABER CREDEN

[Mr. Creden has not been heard from. His address in 1905 was 940 Broadway, South Boston.]

BARTON WOOD CURRIE

[Mr. Currie has not been heard from.]

HARRY HOWARD CUSHING

[Mr. Cushing has not been heard from.]

BURWELL SMITH CUTLER

[Mr. Cutler has not been heard from.]

CHARLES STROUT DAVIS

[Mr. Davis has not been heard from. His address is 330 East Washington Street, Muncie, Indiana.]

FREDERICK AUGUSTUS DAVIS

[Dr. Davis has not been heard from. His address in 1905 was 45 Newport Street, Dorchester.]

AUSTIN PHELPS DEAN

[Mr. Dean has not been heard from. His address is Bellingham, Washington.]

IRA HARRIS DERBY

Following my graduation in June, 1899, I received an appointment the next October as assistant in general chemistry at Cornell University. The next year, 1900-1901, I was instructor in analytical and physical chemistry in the University of Illinois. The time from 1901 to 1903 was spent in the University of Chicago; the first year as research assistant to Dr. Julius Stieglitz, and the second year as teaching assistant in quantitative chemistry. During the two years at Chicago I completed the work for my Ph.D. thesis. Since 1903 I have been instructing in chemistry in the University of Minnesota where two years ago, in 1907, I received the title of assistant professor of chemistry. On June 15, 1907, at New London, New Hampshire, I was married to Lilla Etta Flagg, daughter of Stillman Solomon and Lucinda Maurice Flagg. We have one son, Gordon Harris Derby, born on July 26, 1908, at Minneapolis, Minnesota.

WALTER JOSEPH DESMOND

[Mr. Desmond wrote that he sent his life but it never was received. His address is 414 First National Bank Building, Long Beach, California.]

JOHN EDWARD DEVLIN, JR.

John Edward Devlin, Jr., was the only son of John Edward and Mary Eliza (Davis) Devlin, and was born on July 24, 1876, at Wilton, New Hampshire,which place he always regarded as his home, although only his summers were spent there. During his early childhood his family resided in New York, but when he was ten years old, they settled in Boston. For two years he attended the Prince School (public), and then entered the youngest class of Mr. Hopkinson's School where he prepared for college. He entered Harvard at the age of nineteen. He was extremely fond of all outdoor pursuits but was not an athlete, nor did he in any way take a prominent part in the college life. He cared a great deal for music and played the piano extremely well. He was a member of the Institute of 1770. Although the refinement of his taste led him to seek quality rather than quantity of friendship, the charm of his nature and the warmth of his sympathy endeared him to many. On leaving college he was with the Old Colony Trust Company, Boston, for some time, leaving it to enter the employ of Dominick and Dominick, bankers, in New York. Subsequently he was with the Hong Kong Banking Company where he remained until the end. He died of typhoid fever in New York on December 16, 1902. The funeral was held at Kings Chapel, Boston, several of his classmates acting as pallbearers.

H. W., Jr.

MANUEL DIONYSIUS DIAZ

[Mr. Diaz has not been heard from. His address is Obras Publicas, Havana, Cuba.]

FREDERICK CHARLES DICKSON

On April 4, 1900, at Anderson, Indiana, I was married to Hallie Hortense Terhune, daughter of John H. and Laura C. Terhune. We have two children, Eleanor Terhune Dickson, born on February 28, 1901; and George A. Dickson, 2d, born on October 4, 1907.

GEORGE EDWARD DUDLEY

I am secretary and treasurer of the Reliance Edge Tool Company of Youngstown, Ohio. On January 16, 1901, at New York City, I was married to Lydia Maclain Brown, daughter of Edmund Lewis and Laura Belle (Maclain) Brown. We have one son, George Edward Dudley, Jr., born on October 17, 1901, at Winsted, Connecticut.

GRAHAM DUFFIELD

I have tried everything, from running a saw mill—unsuccessfully—in Tennessee to selling (or trying to sell) life insurance in New York City. The past ten years have impressed me with the fact that most of us spend too much of our time trying to make money. It is much easier to make it than to keep it. Therefore I finally have gone into the bond business. I started working ten days after I left Cambridge and was married two years afterwards, on November 6, 1901, at Chicago, Illinois, to Mildred Walsh, daughter of James and Mary Elizabeth Walsh. We have one boy, Gordon Duffield, born on July 15, 1903, who is to enter the class of 1919, Harvard Scientific School, from present indications. I am secretary and treasurer of a coal and timber company in sunny Tennessee, where poets and writers tell us of romance, but where I saw little but poverty, hot sun, sand and razor backs—this in mountainous Tennessee only.

The only club I ever belonged to was the Detroit Club, of which I am no longer a member. I do not like club life, either for college men or grown ups—it seems to me club life is too "classy." I have been to no foreign country, except Windsor, Ontario, Dominion of Canada, since I was in Germany in 1888. I hope some day to visit South America, Russia, and South Africa.

FRANK JAMES DUFFY

[Mr. Duffy has not been heard from. His address in 1905 was Waldo, Kansas.]

GEORGE HARRISON DURAND

[Mr. Durand has not been heard from. His address in 1905 was 816 Pine Street, Yankton, South Dakota.]

ARTHUR FOSTER DURGIN

[Mr. Durgin has not been heard from. His address in 1905 was Bradford.]

WILLIAM DUNNEL EATON

[Mr. Eaton has not been heard from. He is a member of the firm of Hyman, Campbell and Eaton, lawyers, 23 Broad Street, New York City.]

FREDERICK AUGUSTUS EMERSON

Frederick Augustus Emerson was born in Boston on July 8, 1876; and lived in Boston until 1887, when he moved to Winthrop where the family now reside. He attended the Boston public schools and the English High School. He also spent two years at the University of Maine before entering Harvard College, Class of '99. He was an invalid for the last few years of his life as the result of paralysis; and died on October 2, 1905, of typhoid fever.

H. E. E.

AUGUSTUS BATCHELDER EMERY

[Mr. Emery has not been heard from.]

CHARLES FREDERICK ALLEN EVANS

Charles Frederick Allen Evans died April 7, 1899.

HERBERT GLADDING FARQUHAR

[Mr. Farquhar has not been heard from.]

ADDISON GRANT FAY

[Mr. Fay has not been heard from. His address is 143 Dearborn Street, Chicago, Illinois.]

CORNELIUS GREGORY FITZGERALD

[Mr. Fitzgerald has not been heard from. His address is 36 Quincy Street, Roxbury.]

GEORGE ELLIOTT FLEMING

[Mr. Fleming has not been heard from. He is a lawyer at 111 Broadway, New York City.]

CLINTON MORTON FOSTER

I left college to learn the shoe business and am still at it, being style man with one of the large manufacturing concerns of Haverhill. Six years after leaving college, on June 4, 1902, Eva Webster Frost became Mrs. Foster. The union has been a happy one so far, though we have had no children. I have devoted the greater part of my time to business, which may or may not account for my having acquired no distinction in other fields of work. I am a member of only one club and that is the Federated City Club of this city. At least, for the present in a humble way, I am trying to do my part of the world's work.

SARGENT PRENTISS FREELING

I located in Shawnee, Oklahoma, in October, 1900, and began the practice of law with Hon. R. E. Wood. I was appointed assistant county attorney by L. G. Pitman, serving in this capacity about one year. I was elected county attorney of Pottawatomie County in 1902, and was re-elected in 1904, serving till the admission of Oklahoma as a state in the Union. Since Oklahoma has been a state I have engaged in the practice of law in Shawnee, Oklahoma, with the firm of Freeling and Hood.

RAYMOND MOTT FROST

Raymond Mott Frost died January 5, 1905.

MAURICE BERNARD FULLER

[Mr. Fuller has not been heard from.]

ROY GARLAND

I entered the Harvard Medical School in the fall of 1899 and was graduated with the degree of M.D. in 1903. In June, 1903, I was appointed surgical house officer to the Massachusetts General Hospital. On completing my term of service there, in December, 1904, I was appointed house physician to the Boston Lying-In Hospital. Leaving that institution in June, 1905, I entered upon the practice of medicine in Gloucester, and that city is my present residence. On August 15, 1905, at Dorchester, I married Letitia Dawn Cameron, daughter of William and Henrietta (Macdonald) Cameron. We have one child, John Everett Garland, born on August 24, 1907. I am a member of the Massachusetts Medical Society, and the Aesculapian Club of Boston. I am a member of the board of school committee of Gloucester, visiting physician to the Addison Gilbert Hospital, trustee of the Addison Gilbert Home for Aged and Indigent Persons, member of the corporation of the Cape Ann Savings Bank, and local examiner for the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company, the Equitable Life Assurance Company of New York, and the Fidelity and Casualty Company of America.

JOHN LEIGHTON GLEASON

On entering college I had money enough for two years and some practical experience in electrical wiring from which I expected to pay for the remaining two years. In accordance with this plan I formed a partnership with "Partner No. 1," who was to give his entire time to the electrical contracting business. At first this arrangement seemed successful but at last we succeeded, through our combined inexperience, in losing my cash on hand. With "Partner No. 2," we further succeeded in raising our deficit from zero to two thousand dollars plus. This so discouraged "Partner No. 2" that he withdrew and I left college in my third year with a slender technical education and a thorough knowledge of the practical matters pertaining to this business. Meanwhile I had absorbed some of the elementary common sense that is the basis of business success and found it more profitable to continue. I have long since discharged all obligations in full, have a few thousand to the good, with a fair income, and hopes. Naturally I have not been prominent socially, have written no books nor visited foreign countries. In fact I sometimes feel as though I had been in jail. To assume heavy obligations without funds, to establish credit, and build a fairly profitable business at the same time, is not all "beer and skittles" as Trilby says, especially when competing with established credits and ample resources. We are established as J. L. Gleason and Company, electrical contractors, 200 Summer Street, Boston. In the future I hope to see more of the boys than in the past. On October 31, 1901, at Boston, I was married to Hattie G. Sprague. We have adopted two nephews, Dann Tillman Gleason, born on November 15, 1898; and Douglas Tillman Gleason, born on June 27, 1902.

BERNARD WILLIAM GLENN

[Mr. Glenn has not been heard from. His address in 1905 was 17 Wells Building, Wilkes Barre, Pennsylvania.]

WILLIAM VALENTINE GOLDIE

[Mr. Goldie has not been heard from. His address is 80 William Street, New York City.]

MARTIN FURBER GOODWIN

[Mr. Goodwin has not been heard from. His address in 1908 was Wolfboro, New Hampshire.]

JAMES BENTON GRAHAM

[Mr. Graham has not been heard from.]

WILLIS HOWARD GRANT

[Mr. Grant has not been heard from. His address is the High School of Commerce, 155 West 65th Street, New York City.]

MAURICE E. GRIFFIN

[Mr. Griffin has not been heard from.]

ALBERT SNOW GRAVES

[Mr. Graves has not been heard from. His address is 307 Pemberton Building, Boston.]

WILLIAM JOHN GUNN

Since graduation I have been employed first as foreman in the smelters of the Montana Ore Purchasing Company, Butte, Montana, 1901-1902, and as advertising manager of the Kellogg Switchboard and Supply Company, Chicago, from 1902 to 1906. At the same time I worked, and was a teaching resident, at Hull-House, Chicago. Since the beginning of 1906 I have lived in Europe and the Far East as a journalist.

EDWARD JOHN HALL

[Mr. Hall has not been heard from. His address is Calumet, Michigan.]

JOHN HALLIDAY

After leaving college I travelled around the world by way of California and the Far East. I then spent four years studying medicine. Then I came out to Cairo, Illinois, and settled there. I was married on May 16, 1902, to Lucy Frances Manning, and have two children, Charlotte Frances Halliday, born on January 2, 1903; and Eliza Anne Halliday, born on May 17, 1905, both at Boston. I belong to the University Club of Chicago and local clubs.

THORNTON SHERBURNE HARDY

[Mr. Hardy has not been heard from. His address in 1905 was 421 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.]

WALTER RICHMOND HARPER

[Mr. Harper has not been heard from.]

CHARLES WOODROFFE HARVEY

I have been teaching in the New Church Theological School, Quincy Street, Cambridge, and in charge of the small society of the New Church in Brookline ever since graduation. I received the degree of A.M. from the University in 1901. Practically all my literary work has been contributions to our denomination publications, the New Church Review, and Messenger and Helper. The Harvard Musical and retention of associate memership at the Union constitute my only clubs, except for membership in the Boston Camera Club through interest in photography. I have been over to England twice since 1899 to see relatives, most of whom are on that side.

HERBERT HASELTINE

I have lived abroad since 1899. I studied drawing at the Royal Academy of Arts in Munich and then went to Paris in 1900 for two years, where I worked at Julien's Academy. I went to Rome in 1902 and lived there till the spring of 1905 when I went to Paris and became the pupil of Aimé Morot. I exhibited at the Salon des Artistes Français in the spring of 1906, and received an honorable mention for my group of polo players in sculpture. I went to England for the summer of 1906 where I modelled the equestrian statue of Prince Schönburg and of the race horse, "Spearmint," winner of the English Derby and the Grand Prix de Paris, 1906. I modelled Mr. W. K. Vanderbilt's race horse "Maintenon." The bronze was exhibited in the Salon du Concours Hippique in the spring of 1907. I exhibited at the Royal Academy in London the same year. In 1908 I exhibited at the Salon, at the Royal Academy in London, and at the Salon in Brussells. I received an order from the king of England to make a bronze statue of his charger, and spent the summer of 1908 modelling this in London. The statue is now exhibited at the Salon in Paris.

RICHARD BERTRAND HAYES

[Mr. Hayes has not been heard from. His address in 1908 was Spring Street, Hull.

CICERO ADOLPHUS HENDERSON

[Mr. Henderson has not been heard from. His address in 1905 was Strother, Monroe County, Missouri.]

ROY SIDNEY HEDGES

Roy Sidney Hedges died in May, 1903.

WILLIAM ALBERT HICKMAN

[Mr. Hickman has not been heard from.]

RICHARD OSGOOD HODGES

After graduation I entered the employ of the National Coal Tar Company. I left there in 1900 and went into the Rand Drill Company and was with them in Boston until 1905.

From there I came to Pittsburg, Pennsylvania. At present I am the Pittsburg agent for the George Whitcomb Company. I have received no degrees and have no membership in any learned societies. I have held no offices of trust, and mighty few of profit. I have visited no foreign countries. I am a member of the Fort Pitt Rifle Club of Pittsburg. On June 11, 1902, at West Newton, I was married to Abbie Dana Ames, daughter of Fisher and Virginia Lee Ames. We have had but one child, Willimina Hodges, born on July 25, 1907, who died at birth.

EDGAR GARRISON HOLT

[Mr. Holt has not been heard from.]

FRANK HERBERT FORD HOLT

[Mr. Holt has not been heard from. His address is Mackenzie School, Dobbs Ferry, New York.]

RICHARD THOMAS HOWARD

[Mr. Howard has not been heard from. His address in 1907 was 32 Pearl Street, Malden.]

CHARLES ROSWELL HOWE

Since leaving college I have divided my efforts, as to duration, about equally between making leather and engineering, structural and civil. After strenuous effort I became in 1900, at the age of twenty-five, superintendent of a medium sized leather plant. Somebody did not know his business well, and we closed after a struggle, with all debts paid. After some valuable experience in various other leather plants, I again tried the same game, but soon found it more profitable to work for some bigger people. With the A. C. Lawrence Leather Company I got under a good man and worked up rapidly, considering my youth and innocence, as an engineer. After a considerable period with these people, I had a chance to make leather again at "Soo," Michigan, and took it, as well as the soonest available boat back for civilization. In the meantime, while at Peabody, on October 31, 1907, I married Myrtle Horton Reid, seven years my junior. We do not expect to be up to date on the divorce question nor to follow Hon. T. Roosevelt's distinguished example, in the near future. I have never been accused of writing even a "life". In the past I have belonged to various clubs, but the financial crisis causes me to be now unattached. In 1902, I was in Mazatlan, Mexico, and in 1899 in England, both times on business. I expect to become a member of the American Society of Structural Engineers and associate member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, although I do not hold any degrees, and am not a member at this writing of any learned society. At present I am an engineer in the Asbestos Protected Metal Company of Canton.

GILES MILTON HOYT

[Mr. Hoyt has not been heard from.]

GEORGE RYLAND HUMES

On leaving the architectural department of the Lawrence Scientific School, I followed architectural draughting for three years, then entered the employ of a firm of general contractors as an estimator and superintendent. In December, 1902, I started in business in this same line under the name of George R. Humes and Company, at Pawtucket, Rhode Island. In April, 1905, I formed a co-partnership with Messrs Cruise and Smiley in Providence, Rhode Island. In April, 1907, I dissolved partnership and continued the business under the changed title of the Humes Construction Company, at the same place where I am still located. I have avoided public office. The demands of business have precluded, unfortunately, all desires which I have had for membership in clubs or for extended travel. On November 9, 1904, at Providence, Rhode Island, I was married to Anna Louise Charlton, daughter of William J. and Martha Wilcox Charlton. We have two children, Elizabeth Charlton Humes, born on June 29, 1906; and Martha Ryland Humes, born on October 10, 1908.

LYMAN EUGENE HURD

I have been practising law since 1901 and at present my office is at 640 Tremont Building, Boston. I have been a member of the Salem Common Council in 1906, 1907, and 1908 and am now (1909) its president.

JAMES GEORGE HUTCHINSON

[Mr. Hutchinson has not been heard from.]

MARK HYMAN

[Mr. Hyman has not been heard from. He is a member of the firm of Hyman, Campbell and Eaton, lawyers, 25 Broad Street, New York City.]

HARRY ADAMS IRISH

The balance of the year 1899 I devoted to travel and also much of the year 1900. During the years 1901, 1902, and 1903, I was assisting my uncle in his varied interests, largely real estate, here in Barre. Since 1903 I have been in the First Nationl Bank of Barre, except during a part of 1904, when I was again travelling. Since my mother's death, in November, 1908, I have dropped out of club life. I have been auditor of the town of Barre, treasurer of the First Parish in Barre (Unitarian), and in clerical capacities in different organizations of a social and educational nature. For some years I have been president of the Barre Golf Club.

CARL GOTTFRIED JAHN, JR.

[Mr. Jahn has not been heard from.]

DENIS DAVID JOHNSON

[Mr. Johnson has not been heard from. His address in 1905 was 30 Sumner Street, Dorchester.]

MAURICE DUNLAP KENTON

[Mr. Kenton has been heard from. His address is care of Swift and Company, Havana, Cuba.]

HOMER HUNTINGTON KIDDER

[Mr. Kidder has not been heard from. His address is Minneapolis, Minnesota.]

ROLAND MARSHALL KING

I have visited Argentine Republic, England, France, and Uruguay.

HOWARD COWING LAVERACK

After leaving college I entered the office of George R. Teller of Buffalo, broker of local investment securities, and remained there four years. The following four years I was in the cordage business with the Ryder Belt and Cordage Company and the Niagara Cordage Company. On January, 1, 1908, I started in my present business of manufacturers agents for Buffalo and vicinity, under the firm name of the Laverack-Newhall Company, with offices at 911 White Building, Buffalo, New York.

CHARLES ROBERT LAWSON

[Mr. Lawson has not been heard from.]

WILLIAM MERRILL LEAVITT

[Mr. Leavitt has not been heard from. His address is 118 Thirty-Second Street, Weehawken, New Jersey.]

EDWARD BROWN LEE

[Mr. Lee has not been heard from. His address in 1907 was 341 Sixth Avenue, Pittsburg, Pennsylvania.]

MORRIS MATTHEWS LEE

Since graduation I have been engaged constantly in newspaper work as reporter and editor. At present I am an associate editor of "The Evening Bulletin" of Philadelphia. I am a member of the Phi Beta Kappa, the Modern Language Conference, the Harvard Club of Philadelphia, and the Triangle Society of Haverford. On April 26, 1905, at Germantown, Pennsylvania, I was married to Mary Ritchie Walter, daughter of Frank and Isabella Little Walter. We have one son, Morris Matthews Lee, Jr., born on October 28, 1907.

JOHN B. LEGNARD, JR.

[Mr. Legnard has not been heard from.]

CLAUDE CLIFTON LEITNER

[Mr. Leitner has not been heard from. His address is 729 Genesee Street, Waukeegan, Illinois.]

LEROY WALTER LELAND

[Mr. Leland has not been heard from.]

HOWARD CHILSON LEONARD

I left Harvard in 1896 to accept the position of teacher of modern languages in the Wilkes Barre, Pennsylvania, High School. I held this position for ten years and then went to Swarthmore, Pennsylvania, as supervising principal of schools. In 1907 I received an appointment in New York City and was assigned, as teacher of German, to the Manual Training High School in Brooklyn. In 1905 I obtained a short leave of absence and studied one semester at the University of Leipzig, in Germany. I hold the degrees Ph.B. and A.M. from the Illinois Wesleyan University. I have published one German text book, a college preparatory German reader. On December 23, 1899, at Wilkes Barre, Pennsylvania, I was married to Gertrude Mileham Butts, daughter of Frank and Etta Mileham Butts. We have three children, William Mileham Leonard, born on October 23, 1900; Chilson Hathaway Leonard, born on November 8, 1901; and Frank Jackson Leonard, born on December 27, 1904.

RUDOLPH GARRIGUE LEYPOLDT

[Mr. Leypoldt has not been heard from.]

CHARLES FRANCIS McCAFFREY

After graduation from college I entered the Harvard Medical School and received the degree of M.D. in June, 1903. Since then I have practised medicine in Somerville. On June 28, 1905, at Somerville, I was married to Margaret Mary Brosnahan, daughter of Timothy and Mary Brosnahan, and my first son Charles Francis McCaffrey, was born on October 19, 1906. On January 22, 1909, my second son, Albert Joseph McCaffrey, was born. I am a member of the Massachusetts Medical Society, Somerville Medical Society, and Somerville Harvard Club.

CHARLES HERBERT McCLARE

Since leaving the Lawrence Scientific School in 1897 I have been in the active practice of my profession as an architect at 649 Massachusetts Avenue, Cambridge. I have done considerable work since then, which was done on honour, and includes dwellings, apartment houses, business buildings, churches, schools and college buildings, and so forth, over a wide range, from Nova Scotia to South Carolina. I have not been as successful as I had hoped, but when I consider the volume of my work I have no great reason to complain. I was married on October 20, 1890, several years before I entered the School, to Ella Gertrude Johnston, daughter of Benjamin and Jane Mason Johnston, and we have lived in Arlington since 1894. We have four children, Donald Roy, born on July 30, 1894; Edith Victoria, born on December 25, 1895; Enid Elizabeth, born on November 29, 1899; and Muriel Gertrude, born on January 16, 1905. In 1901 I was elected to membership in the Boston Society of Architects, and in the same year to the American Institute of Architects. In 1904 I was elected a fellow of the Boston Society of Architects, in which I have held several minor offices. In 1900 I assisted in organizing the Boston Canadian Club, in which I have held several offices, and I am now secretary of the club. I am also a member of the British Charitable Society, and of the Cambridge Municipal Art Society. In 1908 I purchased a large estate, "Lakelands," in Hants, Nova Scotia, where my family spends the summer, and I enjoy myself farming.

CHARLES HENRY McDUFFIE

[Mr. McDuffie has not been heard from. He is with B. H. Dickson and Company, 147 Milk Street, Boston.]

CHARLES McKEY

[Mr. McKey has not been heard from.]

LEIGH THEODORE MACURDY

[Mr. Macurdy has not been heard from. His address in 1905 was 2 Hawthorne Street, Watertown.]

ERNEST CARLTON MAINS

[Mr. Mains has not been heard from.]

FRANK MONROE MARSH

After graduation I taught school, acting as principal of two high schools, for two years. In 1901 I was appointed to my present position as superintendent of schools, in Fairhaven. I received the A.M. degree from Boston University in June, 1899. As to offices of honor, I am now serving as president of the Massachusetts Superintendents' Association, president of the Fairhaven Improvement Association, and also president of a local literary club, all of which are offices of "honor" and not of "profit". On September 14, 1898, at Franklin, New Hampshire, I was married to Amie Frances Noyes, a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music, and we have two children, Elizabeth Frances, born on July 24, 1900; and Francis Monroe, born on March 19, 1906.

GEORGE LEROY MASTEN

[Mr. Masten has not been heard from. His address in 1905 was Lingayen, Luzon, Philippine Islands.]

GEORGE T. JOHNS MERCURE

[Mr. Mercure has not been heard from. His address in 1905 was 64 Chestnut Street, Rutland, Vermont.]

WELLES MERIAM

[Mr. Meriam has not been heard from.]

CARL ELIAS MILLIKEN

I entered the lumber manufacturing business at Island Falls, Maine, in the autumn of 1899, and have resided there ever since. I am treasurer of the Stockholm Lumber Company, with mills at Stockholm and Grimes Station, Maine, and main office at Island Falls, Maine; assistant treasurer and general manager of Mattawamkeag Lumber Company, with office and mill at Island Falls; clerk of Dean Lumber Company, with mill at Hillmans, Maine; president and general manager of the Katahdin Farmers' Telephone Company; and treasurer and general manager of the Howard Axe Company. I am president of the Island Falls Free Baptist Parish, president of the Maine State Free Baptist Association; chairman of the Aroostook County Committee, Young Men's Christian Association; member of the Maine State Executive Committee, Young Men's Christian Association. I am a member of the Aroostook County Republican Committee, 1904-1908; member of the Maine House of Representatives, 1905-1909; alternate to the Republican National Convention, 1908; chairman of the Maine Fourth Congressional District Republican Convention, 1908; and member of the Maine State Senate, 1909. On July 31, 1901, at Lewiston, Maine, I was married to Emma Vivian Chase, daughter of George Colby and Emma Millett Chase. We have had five children, Nelly Knowlton, born on June 19, 1902; Vivian Chase, born on January 22, 1904; Gladys Elizabeth, born on September 26, 1905; Beatrice, born on March 4, 1907; and George Chase, born on March 6, 1908, who died on May 25, 1908.

FRANK JOSEPH MOONEY

I attended the Buffalo Law School for a year during which time I was in the office of Bissell, Carey and Cooke. Then I took up newspaper work on the Buffalo Express for two years. I left to become manager of the Mooney and Brisbane Building. Since November last I have been connected with the Detroit office of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York. My clubs are the University and Park of Buffalo, New York.

CHARLES HYNDMAN MORRIS

I have practised law in Boston since my graduation from the Harvard Law School. I married Elizabeth Margaret Hanna, daughter of Arthur J. and Anna M. Patience Hanna, on October 24, 1906, at Boston. We have two sons, John Hyndman Morris, Jr., born on November 12, 1907; and Robert Morris, born on March 21, 1909, both at Dorchester.

ROBERT HALE MORRISON

Robert Hale Morrison died in October, 1900.

FRANK WINFRED MORSE

[Mr. Morse has not been heard from. His address in 1908 was Fairhaven.]

SAMUEL VINING MORSE

[Mr. Morse has not been heard from. His address in 1905 was Canton.]

HOWARD ANSEL MORTON

[Mr. Morton has not been heard from.]

WILLIAM CURTIS MORTON

[Mr. Morton has not been heard from.]

WILLIAM LUTHER MOWLL

I was with Peabody and Stearns, architects, from 1899 to 1901. From 1901 to 1903 I was holder of the Rotch Travelling Scholarship, and travelled in Italy, Greece, France, and England. I was instructor in architecture in Harvard University from 1903 to 1905, and since 1905 have been assistant professor of architecture in Harvard University. I am a member of the Boston Society of Architects. I began the practice of architecture in January, 1907. On December 25, 1899, at Cambridge, I was married to Lena May Russell, daughter of Leonard Melvin and Margaret Harris Russell. We have two children, Mildred Russell Mowll, born January 25, 1901; and Helen Blake Mowll, born on June 12, 1907, both in Cambridge.

FLORENCE JOHN MURPHY

[Mr. Murphy has not been heard from.]

JOHN TUCKER MURRAY

[Mr. Murray has not been heard from.]

GEORGE ADDISON NELSON

I did not finish my course at Harvard but went into my father's straw hat factory at Upton. I stayed there two years, then came to Boston and worked for a year and a half as clerk in the Parker House. In 1901 I entered the office of Henry W. Savage, 7 Pemberton Square, Boston, and went into real estate. I am still in this office. I married May Fallon, of Pittsfield. We have no children.

THOMAS STEAD ROSS NELSON

[Mr. Nelson has not been heard from.]

ARTHUR EDWARD NEWHALL

After graduation I entered the Harvard Law School obtaining my degree in 1902. Since then I have practised law, first in the office of Johnson, Clapp and Underwood, 50 State Street, Boston, and latterly have been in business for myself. During the spring and summer of 1907 I enjoyed a trip to Italy, Switzerland, France, England, and Scotland with my sister.

DON OBERT NOEL

[Mr. Noel has not been heard from.]

JOHN WARNER NORTON

In January, 1897, my father failed in business and I was obliged to leave college. Shortly afterwards I took up the study of art, a profession I have followed ever since. I have held no degrees, offices of profit, honor, or trust up to and including this date. I belong to one club, the "Cliff Dwellers," a Chicago club. I have been in Mexico, and Cuba.—(near foreign parts.) On September 2, 1902, I was married to Margaret Washburn Francis, daughter of James T. and Clara Thomas Francis. We have two children, Margaret Francis Norton, born on January 14, 1905; and John Norton, born on February 25, 1907, both at Lockport, Illinois.

JOHN WATKINSON NORTON

[Mr. Norton has not been heard from. His address is Harvard Club, New York City.]

MAX WILLIAM OLIVER

[Mr. Oliver has not been heard from. His address in 1905 was 1025 Century Building, St. Louis, Missouri.]

WALTER JAY OSBORN

[Mr. Osborn has not been heard from. His address is 78 Rockview Street, Jamaica Plain.]

FRANK WELLMAN OSBORNE

[Mr. Osborne has not been heard from. His address in 1905 was Oxford Club, Lynn.]

SIDNEY OTIS

[Mr. Otis has not been heard from. His address in 1907 was 104 Exchange Building, Seattle, Washington.]

CHARLES ELMORE OVERHOLSER

I received the degree of A.M. from Harvard in 1900, and then was elected principal of the Lower Merion High School, Ardmore, Pennsylvania, where I stayed until February, 1905. Since that time I have been a teacher of modern languages in the Boys' High School, Brooklyn, New York. On October 30, 1900, at Houtzdale, Pennsylvania, I was married to Mabel Miller McKean, daughter of Miller Le Roy and Ella M. McKean. I have one son, Donald McKean Overholser, born on January 7, 1903. My wife died on January 8, 1903.

IRA HARRISON PARSONS

[Mr. Parsons has not been heard from. His address in 1908 was 80 Broadway, New York City.]

HORACE EVANS PASTORIUS

[Mr. Pastorius has not been heard from. His address in 1905 was Colorado Springs, Colorado.]

JOHN FORBES PERKINS

On September 6, 1905, at Portsmouth, New Hampshire, I was married to Mary Coolidge, daughter of John Templeman and Katherine Scollay Coolidge. We have two children; Katherine Perkins, born on March 19, 1907; and John Forbes Perkins, Jr., born on February 9, 1909, both at Milton.

ELWYN WALLER POOR

[Mr. Poor has not been heard from. His address is 5 Franklin Place, Morristown, New Jersey.]

MAHLON FOSTER PROCTOR

[Mr. Proctor has not been heard from. His address in 1905 was Exeter, New Hampshire.]

EUGENE MAURICE RABADOR

Eugene Maurice Rabador died January 13, 1898.

ROBERT IRWIN REES

[Mr. Rees has not been heard from.]

LAURENCE RUSSELL REYNOLDS

[Mr. Reynolds has not been heard from.]

ARTHUR WALDO RICE

[Mr. Rice has not been heard from. His address is Westwood.]

DANIEL ARTEMAS RICHARDSON

[Mr. Richardson has not been heard from. His address is care Richardson Engineering Company, 6 Ford Street, Hartford, Connecticut.]

THOMAS HINCKLEY ROBBINS

I went to Paris in the fall of 1899 and lived there for eight years, studying medicine at the Ecole de Medecin, and serving as externe in several different hospitals. I came back to America in 1908 living in Boston during the winter learning the English language and American medicine. For the past year I have been at Johns Hopkins Medical School in Baltimore. On July 19,1899, at San Francisco, California, I was married to Alice Bradford Ames, daughter of Pelham W. and Augusta Hooper Ames. The Class Baby, Thomas Hinkley Robbins, Jr., was born on May 11, 1900, at Paris, France. He is now nine years old and seems to be perfectly satisfactory in every way. Our second son, William Bradford Robbins, 2d., was born on April 19, 1905, at Paris, France.

JOHN MORRIS ROGERS, JR.

[Mr. Rogers has not been heard from.]

FREDERIC DELANO ROOT

[Mr. Root has not been heard from.]

WAYLAND ROSS

[Mr. Ross has not been heard from. His address in 1907 was care J. H. Ross, East Dennis.]

HENRY SAMPSON, JR.

At present I am secretary of the corporation of Alden Sampson and Sons. I am a member of the Harvard, University, New York Yacht, and Larchmont Yacht clubs. I have been a member of Squadron A for about six years or more and am at present quartermaster sergeant of Troop I in that organization. I have visited the following named countries: Canada, Mexico, Cuba, England, France, Germany, Italy, Switzerland, Egypt, and British East Africa.

ADOLPH MONELL SAYRE

[Mr. Sayre has not been heard from.]

HOLLIS HUNNEWELL SHAW

[Mr. Shaw gives no other information than his address which is Wellesley, and 87 Milk Street, Boston.]

ELLIOTT FITCH SHEPARD

[Mr. Shepard has not been heard from. His address in 1908 was 34 rue Spontini, Paris, France.]

RALPH SLYE

[Mr. Slye has not been heard from.]

ALVAN TRACY SIMONDS

After leaving college I travelled through France, Germany, and England for three months, and then attended the Sheffield Technical School in Sheffield, England, for a year, taking up a continuation of the study of metallurgy, with which I occupied most of my senior year. On returning I went into the saw manufacturing business in Fitchburg, for a year, and after spending a year in the laboratory, went to Chicago in the same business. After working in the laboratory for another year I spent the next three or four years as foreman of one of the departments, office clerk, and so forth. At present I am occupying the extremely high office of vice-president of the concern, the same being a family affair, so that I feel this honor has been earned with great difficulty and labor. In the meantime I have added a wife and two children to my other attainments. I was married on April 16, 1901, at Albany, New York, to Susan Gansevoort Lansing, daughter of William and Caroline McClellan Lansing. Our two sons are: Robert McClellan Simonds, born on April 11, 1902; and Daniel Simonds, 2d, born on February 27, 1906. I have not as yet acquired any honorary degrees or memberships in learned societies, neither have I written any books, pamphlets, nor other learned documents. I am a member of the University Club of Chicago and one or two golf clubs. I have recently returned from a three months' trip to England, France, Germany, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, and Switzerland and hope to go again soon. I find that the habits of life of the French and Germans are much more in accordance with the life in Cambridge than my present occupation.

CURLYS LYON SLOCUM

In October, 1899, I entered the service of the bridge and construction department of the Pencoyd Iron Works of Pencoyd, Pennsylvania, now an important branch of the American Bridge Company, as structural draughtsman and checker. After over three years' service with the American Bridge Company, I became an assistant engineer with the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company, at New Haven, Connecticut, in charge of the work of design, construction and maintanance, in the engineering department, embracing direct charge of the design and construction of monumental works as bridges in steel and masonry as well as the usual variety of civil engineering work in maintenance and construction. At the completion of six and one quarter years with the New Haven system I entered the service of the Pennsylvania Railroad as engineer in the engineering corps now constructing the great Pennsylvania, New York terminal and tunnels, which perhaps embrace the greatest electro-civil engineering problems of modern times. I have contributed articles and literature to the leading engineering publications and periodicals in description of work under personal initiative and responsibility as well as discussions to our best known engineering societies. I am a member of the Connecticut Society of Civil Engineers, associate member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, member of the American Society of Testing Materials, American Railway Engineering and Maintenance of Way Association, Association of Harvard Engineers, and Association of Harvard Engineers of New York. On May 7, 1902, at Wissahickon, Philadelphia, I was married to Elizabeth Regina Bateman, daughter of Thomas John and B. Cleophus (McBride) Bateman. We have three children; Henry Turner Slocum, born on August 27, 1904; Curlys Lyon Slocum, Jr., born on April 26, 1906; and Mary Alice Slocum, born on April 21, 1909.

HARRY ST. CLAIR SMITH

[Mr. Smith has not been heard from.]

BENJAMIN PETTIT SNYDER

[Mr. Snyder has not been heard from.]

THOMAS HYACINTH STACK

[Mr. Stack has not been heard from.]

CHARLES HENRY STEVENS, JR.

[Mr. Stevens has not been heard from. His address in 1908 was First National Bank Building, Cinicinnati, Ohio.]

CHARLES GOOLD STEVENS

[Mr. Stevens has not been heard from. His address is 147 Washington Street, Lynn.]

EDWARD WINSLOW STEVENS

Edward Winslow Stevens died December 12, 1906.

ELMER WILLIAM STOUT

I am practising law in Indianapolis, Indiana. I am a member of the University Club of Indiana and the Columbia Club of Indianapolis.

CHARLES NICOLL TALBOT, JR.

On May 1, 1906, at London, England, I was married to Louise Caire, daughter of Louis and Adelaide Caire.

GEORGE BURROWS TAYLOR

[Mr. Taylor has not been heard from. His address is Marble, Colorado.]

WILLIAM COUILLARD THOMPSON

[Mr. Thompson has not been heard from.]

FRANCIS CALVIN TILDEN

[Mr. Tilden has not been heard form. His address in 1905 was Greencastle, Indiana.]

JOHN STRINGER TILNEY, JR.

John Stringer Tilney, Jr., died February 13, 1909.

BERTRAM CLAUDE WEILL

[Mr. Weill has not been heard from.]

CHARLES WHITNEY WARD

Charles Whitney Ward entered college with the Class of '99, and was with us for one year, when ill health prevented him from continuing. From time to time, as his health permitted, he studied law, and entered Columbia Law School, where he was graduated with the class of 1901. He was married to Grace Enneking, daughter of John J. Enneking, the artist, on December 31, 1898. He opened a law office with Andrew A. Highlands, under the firm name of Highlands and Ward, in Barristers Hall, Boston. Later the firm moved to 15 State Street, Boston, where Mr. Ward practised law until ill health caused him to give up business and go west for his health. While there he was accidently shot and killed on a hunting trip. This was on March 3, 1905. He had one son, Norman.

A. A. D.

HORACE HATCH WERREN

[Mr. Werren has not been heard from. His address in 1905 was 17 Leonard Avenue, Cambridge.]

CHARLES EUCLID WHITE

I belong to no learned societies and I never wrote a book. I am secretary of the Shiftless Club and my present occupation is looking for something soft.

RICHARD ALBERT WHITE

[Mr. White has not been heard from. His address in 1907 was 24 Broad Street, New York City.]

SAMUEL CHARLES WIEL

[Mr. Weil has not been heard from. His address is 823 Merchants Exchange Building, San Francisco, California.

NATHANIEL THEODORE WILSON

On June 22, 1907, at Washington, District of Columbia, I was married to Elsie Munroe Cobb, daughter of Edmund Munroe and Keturah L. Addison Cobb.

RALPH GRAHAM WILSON

[Mr Wilson has not been heard from. His address in 1905 was Spring Valley Farm, Foxchase Post Office, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.]

HENRY MELVIN WING

[Mr. Wing has not been heard from. His address is 23 Monument Square, Charlestown.]

WALTER PELLINGTON WINSOR, JR.

[Mr. Winsor has not been heard from. His address in 1905 was Fairhaven.]

ALFRED MILLARD WOSE

I am a physician and graduate of the Harvard Medical School. In 1901-1902-1903 I studied at Vienna, Austria. I now practise in Syracuse, New York. I am a member of the following: New York State Medical Society, Onondaga Medical Society, and Academy of Medicine, Syracuse, New York. My clubs are: Citizens' Club, Harvard Club, and University Club, all of Syracuse. I am lecturer on urinary diseases at the Syracuse College of Medicine. I am a member of the staff of St. Joseph's Hospital, Syracuse Hospital for Women and Children, and Syracuse Free Dispensary. On November 15, 1905, at Syracuse, New York, I was married to Mabel Ely Van de Warker, daughter of Edward Ely and Helen Van de Warker. We have two children, Helen Francis Wose, born on April 20, 1907; and Beatrice Ely Wose, born on July 5, 1908, both at Syracuse.

LAWRENCE WORTH WRIGHT

After receiving an A.B. degree from Harvard University I attended the Harvard Law School and received the degree of LL.B. I was admitted to the bar of New York and have been since then, and am now a lawyer in New York City, Borough of Manhattan. My address is Corn Exchange Bank Building, 15 William Street. On June 15, 1901, at New York, I was married to Bertha Eugénie Stevens, daughter of Albert Gallatin and Amelia Louise (Cornell) Stevens. We have three children, Lawrence Livingston Wright, born on April 6, 1902; Persis Stevens Wright, born on March 2, 1903; and David Hamilton Wright, born on March 11, 1904.

MARRIAGES and BIRTHS

Charles Perkins Adams — To Mary Wakefield Gale, September 25, 1902.
Ruth Adams, August 16, 1903.
Justine Adams, December 18, 1904.
Ellen Adams, May 17, 1906.

Ernest Germaine Adams — To Mary Edith Russell, October 14, 1902, at Weston.
*Margaret Germaine Adams, August 5, 1903. Died November 24, 1905.
Elizabeth Adams, June 23, 1906.
Edward Payson Adams, June 4, 1907.

George Edward Adams — To Gladys Bartlett Hartley, April 6, 1904, at Chelsea.
Esther Redfern Adams, April 27, 1905.
Jean Adams, February 10, 1909.

Raymond Morrison Dow Adams — To Lucinda Maria Bent, August 15, 1907, at Dorchester.

Francis Victor Alexandre — To Sedonya B. Bussell, December 22, 1898, at Baltimore, Md.

Frederick Moulton Alger — To Mary Eldridge Swift, May 2, 1901, at Detroit, Mich.
Frances Alger, December 23, 1904.
Frederick Moulton Alger, Jr., August 7, 1907.

Arthur Samuel Allen — To Clara Burnham North, February 13, 1899, at Pawtucket, R. I.
Elizabeth Allen, May 30, 1903.
Arthur Samuel Allen, Jr., May 8, 1907.

Herbert Ira Allen — To Flora Belle Marsh, April 18, 1901, at Attleboro.
*Ralph E. Allen, January 18, 1906. Died January 21, 1906.

Peter Auten, 2d — To Arizona Lufkin, October 21, 1903, at Anna, Ill.
*John Lufkin Auten, February 20, 1905. Died September 19, 1906.

James Flynt Bacon — To Maude Milling, November 30, 1905, at Cambridge.

Ross Wakefield Baker — To Bessie Mary Smith, October 24, 1901, at Dedham.
Jane Humphrey Baker, July 29, 1903.
Elinor Hunt Baker, May 24, 1906.

Roy Ball Baker — To Eliza Kneeland Tower, June 8, 1908, at Boston.

Charles Edward Baldwin — To Marianne Mosley Perry, February 17, 1903, at Lowell.
Perry Baldwin, February 26, 1904.
Charles Edward Baldwin, Jr., April 6, 1905.
Lawrence Perry Baldwin, January 30, 1909.

Harold Pulsifer Bale — To Harriet V. Goodwin, October 28, 1907, at New York, N. Y.

Griffing Bancroft — To Ethel Works, October 30, 1901, at Los Angeles, Cal.
Ethel Barbara Bancroft, December 18, 1903.
Griffing Bancroft, Jr., February 18, 1907.

Paul Bancroft — To Louise Jane Hazzard, August 6, 1902, at San Diego, Cal.
Hubert Bancroft June 26, 1904.

Henry Francis Barker — To Charlotte Estella McMullen, September 18, 1907, at Washington, D. C.

William Lambert Barnard — To Lucy Pearson, November 25, 1903, at Brookline.

John Conner Barron — To Mary Richards, November 24, 1908, at New York, N. Y.

Henry Lincoln Bartlett — To Mathilde Marie Budach, June 10, 1906.

John Thiery Batchelder — To Minnie M. Freeze, December 10, 1902, at Boston.

Samuel Henry Batchelder — To Mabel Augusta Trumbull, June 29, 1905, at Salem.

Edward Trumbull Batchelder, April 13, 1906.

Sterling Sherman Beardsley — To Anna Marie Wilson, January 6, 1904, at New York, N. Y.

Elizabeth Beardsley, October 28, 1904.

William Dee Becker — To Marguerite Louise McIntosh, June 10, 1902, at St. Louis, Mo.

Alan Dee Becker, March 6, 1907.

Edwin Burt Beckwith — To Grace D. Streete, December 31, 1900, at Cambridge.

Evelyn Beckwith, December 8, 1901.

Richard Stanwood Benner — To Marion McClean, November 18, 1908, at Springfield.

Raymond Austin Bidwell — To Bertha Dawes Upham, April 19, 1905, at Washington, Iowa.

Morton Burdett Birge — To Elizabeth Josephine Price, October 15, 1906, at New York, N. Y.

Horatio Bigelow — To Mary J. Riese, August 4, 1899, at Boston.

Horatio Bigelow, Jr., July 21, 1902.
John Ripley Bigelow, October 16, 1903.
Nancy Bigelow, July 18, 1905.
Mary De Ford Bigelow, June 25, 1908.

Howard Lane Blackwell — To Helen Electa Thomas, June 8, 1907, at Cleveland, O.

Cameron Blaikie — To Cornelia Alling Miller, June 28, 1905, at East Orange, N. J.

Cameron Blakie, Jr., June 19, 1907.

Edmund Mortimer Blake — To *Clara Allen Drake, October 21, 1902, at Cleveland, O.
*Died December 11, 1907.
To Grace Edna Twiggs, February 17, 1909, at Boise, Idaho.

Francis Wickes Blatchford — To Frances Greene Larned, November 29, 1903, at Lake Forest, Ill.
Ella Marion Blatchford, November 5, 1904.
Elsie Blatchford, November 7, 1906.
Francis Wickes Blatchford, Jr., November 29, 1908.

Edwin Augustus Boardman — To Elvira Bartlett, April 30, 1900, at Boston.
Isabel Boardman, February 12, 1901.
Elvira Boardman, January 5, 1909.

Edgar Boody — To Margaret Howard Liscomb, September 5, 1903, at Arlington, Vt.
Elizabeth Clement Boody, June 6, 1904.
Edgar Boody, Jr., November 1, 1907.

Clement Lincoln Bouvé — To Mary McLean, September 10, 1906, at Manila, P. I.
Margaret Bouvé, September 17, 1907.
James McLean Bouvé, December 5, 1908.

Challis Bowker — To Rebecca Laidlaw Clark, December 31, 1907, at Pittsburg, Pa.

Arthur Hamlen Boynton — To Kate Maude Cross, April 6, 1904, at Melrose Highlands.
Laura White Boynton, January 14, 1906.
Francis Hamlen Boynton, June 20, 1908.

Thomas Long Bramhall — To Jennie May Flood, August 12, 1908, at Wollaston.

Alonzo Edwin Branch — To Myrtie M. Stevens, September 20, 1899, at Chicago, Ill.
Charles Wesley Stevens Branch, November 19,1901.

Percy Shields Brayton — To Mabel Persis Allison, August 29, 1899, at Dublin, N. H.
Theodore Allison Brayton, July 27, 1902.
Donald Stuart Brayton, November 13, 1908.

George Horace Breed — To Bessie P. Scates, April 20, 1903, at Boston.

John Francis Brice — To *Florence Lucile Rickets, April 24, 1900, at Wilmington, Del.

John Edward Brooks — To Helen French, April 27, 1907, at Boston.

Lyman Warren Brooks — To Helen W. Burgess, November 26, 1900, at South Duxbury.
Eugene Burgess Brooks, April 15, 1907.

Clydus Clinton Brown — To Eleanor M. Brazee, August 8, 1906, at Mt. Pleasant, Mich.

Edward Bangs Brown — To Helen Russell Goodale, June 30, 1906, at Nottingham, O.
Barbara Brown, March 5, 1908.

Frederic Nelson Brown — To Edith Louise Sawyer, June 29, 1904, at Boston.

Richard Cadbury Brown — To Annie Browning, December 3, 1904, at Brookline.
Emma Perry Brown, July 21, 1906.

Emile A. Bruguière — To Vesta Shortridge, February 9, 1904, at Monterey, Cal.

George Phillips Bryant — To Edith Helen Poole, October 2, 1907, at Waltham.
Phillips Bryant, January 22, 1909.

Louis F. Buff — To Lena Gertrude Frost, October 7, 1907, at Boston.
Laura Edith Buff, September 7, 1908.

Williams Proudfit Burden — To *Natica Rives, April 17, 1907, at New York, N. Y.
*Died February 21, 1908.

Henry Turner Burr — To Ada Marilla Harding, August 15, 1901, at Westfield.
Emerson Holt Burr, October 28, 1902.
Elizabeth Harding Burr, September 27, 1905.

Perry Lawton Burrill — To H. Adele Rice, October 17, 1901, at Rockland.

Clarence Kipp Bush — To Kate Louise Tomlinson, September 29, 1903, at Milford, Conn.
*Lucia Bush, July 10, 1904. Died December, 1904.
Milton Bush, May 16, 1907.

Ralph Fanning Butts — To Harriett Van Alstyne Tripp, May 27, 1903, at Amenia, N. Y.
Franklin Arnold Butts. September 26, 1904.
Dorothy Elizabeth Butts, November 29, 1905.
Marion Van Alstyne Butts, April 7, 1907.

Alva John Calderwood — To Leonora Neal, July 2, 1900, at New Bedford, Pa.
Helen Frances Calderwood, November 30, 1902.

Allan Reuben Campbell — To Gertrude Helen DuBois, August 6, 1907, at Hudson, N. Y.
Walter Lowrie Campbell, July 31, 1908.

James McDougal Campbell — To Martha Leona Pelton, June 4, 1903, at Minneapolis, Minn.
Mary Alice Campbell, August 15, 1904.

Lewis Bodman Canterbury — To Laura Annette Marceline, October 16, 1900, at Boston.
Sylvia Marceline Canterbury, May 24, 1901.
John Bodman Canterbury, June 4, 1906.

Otis Johnson Carlton — To Florence Nealley Hoyt, February 14, 1905, at Haverhill.
Harriet Hammond Carlton, January 21, 1908.

Aretas Blood Carpenter — To Alice P. Burnham, October 18, 1899, at Manchester, N. H.
Elizabeth Carpenter, July 1, 1900.
Eleanora Carpenter, December 9, 1902.

Daniel Kayser Catlin — To Gertrude Loring Hamlen, November 1, 1904, at Boston.
Gertrude Loring Catlin, May 7, 1907.
Daniel Catlin, 2d, December 19, 1908.

Egisto Fabri Chauncey — To Edith Lockwood Taft, April 20, 1904, at New York, N. Y.
Henry Chauncey, February 9, 1905.

Herbert Neal Cheney — To Bertha Riggs Mawson, November 21, 1900, at Allston.
Josephine Cheney, November 27, 1901.

Harry Gilbert Chesley — To M. Emma Putnam, June 28, 1900, at Newton Centre.
Ruth Chesley, September 20, 1904.

Charles Francis Chessman — To Violet Elizabeth Bowlby, September 28, 1905.

Edwin Otis Childs, Jr. — To Mildred Etta Roy, January 11, 1908, at Newton.

Howard Clarke — To *Ada Harthorne Campfield, April 25, 1906, at Albuquerque, N. M.
*Died January 2, 1907.
*Beverly Campfield Clarke, December 28, 1906. Died December 29, 1907.

Thomas Henry Clarkson — To Jessie Marie McKinnon, April 30, 1906, at Boston.

Francis Douglas Cochrane — To Ramelle McKay Frost, December 17, 1908, at Charleston, S. C.

Arthur Cockcroft — To Ella Rapalje, October 1, 1900, at Northport, N. Y.
Alida Leslie Cockcroft, February 17, 1904.
Frances Rapalje Cockcroft, December 12, 1906.

William Balch Coffin — To Dorothy Winsor Soule, May 6, 1909, at Brookline.

George Albert Cole — To Mary Elizabeth Wood, April 24, 1901, at Brookline.

Elizabeth Lowell Hancock Cole, February 12, 1902.
Morton Cole, August 13, 1906.

Lockett Gwin Coleman — To Kathleen Davidson, June 12, 1906, at Montreal, Canada.

Lockett Coleman, May 30, 1907.

Silas Cobb Coleman — To Daisy Isabel Derby, January 16, 1904, at Lansing, Mich.

*Leonora Coleman, August 8, 1905. Died September 15, 1905.
Catherine Coleman, September 7, 1907.

Forrest Foster Collier — To Lucy Bryant Foster, October 29, 1903, at Billerica.

Forrest Foster Collier, Jr., August 8, 1904.
Dudley Foster Collier, January 13, 1906.
*Bryant Foster Collier, April 14, 1907. Died June 5, 1908.
Janet Collier, May 28, 1908.

Arthur Joseph Collins — To Mary Gertrude Hankey, September 29, 1896, at Shelton, Wash.

Homer Arthur Collins, July 19, 1897.
Albert Norman Collins, April 7, 1902.

Lewis Kingsbury Conant — To Edith May Harwood, September 2, 1903, at Medfield.

James Bennet Connolly — To Elizabeth Frances Hurley, September 28, 1904, at South Boston.

William Henry Conroy — To Blanche Dingee, February 11, 1905, at New York, N. Y.

Carleton Sprague Cooke — To Miriam Wilder Goodwin, April 10, 1902, at New York, N. Y.

Almon Goodwin Cooke, September 4, 1904.

Howard Coonley — To Leslie Walker May, April 18, 1901, at Boston.

Howard Coonley, Jr., August 16, 1902.
John Clark Coonley, September 24, 1904.
Dudley Avery Coonley, May 24, 1908.

Edward Prentiss Costigan — To Mabel Gertrude Cory, June 12, 1903, at Denver, Col.

George Glover Crocker, Jr. — To Julia Hurd Hutchins, June 8, 1905, at Boston.

George Glover Crocker, 3d, May 21, 1906.
Constance Crocker, May 26, 1908.

Barton Wood Currie — To Florence Louise Abbott, August 6, 1898, at New York, N. Y.

Robert Parsons Cushing — To Florence Walter Turner, June 2, 1903, at Brookline.

*Walter Livingston Cutting
*Died September 2, 1907. — To Marian Decatur Mayo, November 18, 1905, at Norfolk, Va.

Josephine Cutting.

Israel Damon — To Effie Eacret, September 26, 1902, at Englewood, N. J.

Godfrey Eacret Damon, December 9, 1903.
Helen Elizabeth Damon, September 11, 1907.

Charles Strout Davis — To Florence Grace Johnson, November 17, 1904, at Muncie, Ind.

Johnson Strout Davis, July 8, 1908.

Edward Perkins Davis — To Agnes Blake, October 10, 1908, at Brookline.

Pierpont Davis — To Josephine Ogden, May 17, 1909.

John Archibald Denholm — To Edith Lydia Warren, September 15, 1902, at Worcester.
Barbara Denholm, August 11, 1903.
John Archibald Denholm, Jr., January 3, 1906.

Henry Sturgis Dennison — To Mary Tyler Thurber, February 12, 1901, at Plymouth.
Helen Dennison, October 7, 1903.
Elizabeth Thurber Dennison, May 30, 1905.
*Henry Thurber Dennison, December 27, 1906. Died September 22, 1907.

Ira Harris Derby — To Lilla Etta Flagg, June 15, 1907, at New London, N. H.
Gordon Harris Derby, July 26, 1908.

Benjamin Harrison Dibblee — To Isabel Kittle, April 27, 1905, at Ross, Cal.

William Reynolds Dickinson — To Anna Mary Wilson, June 15, 1908, at Chicago, Ill.

Frederick Charles Dickson — To Hallie H. Terhune, April 4, 1900, at Anderson, Ind.
Eleanor Terhune Dickson, February 28, 1901.
George A. Dickson, 2d, October 4, 1907.

William Parry Jones Dinsmoor — To Ruth Bill Carpenter, January 20, 1904, at Denver, Col.

Jeremiah Joseph Doherty — To Josephine V. Connor, January 15, 1908, at Revere.

James Drummond Dole — To Belle Dickey, November 23, 1906, at Jamaica Plain.
Richard Alexander Dole, October 28, 1907.

Malcolm Donald — To Katharine Storey, June 4, 1904, at Boston.
Alexander Donald, July 24, 1905.
Barbara Donald, March 4, 1909.

Wallace Brett Donham — To Mabel C. Higgins, April 7, 1903, at Cambridge.
Richard Donham, March 18, 1905.
Philip Donham, May 10, 1908.

Alphonso Augustus Dority — To Cornelia Halsey, January 1, 1895, at Manchester, N. H.
Oleva Hubbard Dority, October 31, 1898.
Edmund Remson Dority, January 13, 1901.

Henry Payson Dowst — To Margaret Evangeline Starr, April 18, 1900, at Ashland, Va.
*Elizabeth Leigh Dowst, February 27, 1902. Died January 6, 1903.
Henry Starr Dowst, August 7, 1904.
Loring Blackstone Dowst, March 3, 1906.

Jean Paul Dresser — To Faith Lear Storer, August 2, 1906, at Dublin, N. H.

George Edward Dudley — To Lydia Maclain Brown, January 16, 1901, at New York, N. Y.
George Edward Dudley, Jr., October 17, 1901.

Graham Duffield — To Mildred Walsh, November 6, 1901, at Chicago, Ill.
Gordon Duffield, July 15, 1903.

Robert James Dunham — To Ethel Louise Richardson, December 6, 1899, at Chicago, Ill.
Caryl Dunham, December 21, 1900.
Robert James Dunham, Jr., February 14, 1904.
Josephine Dunham, April 18, 1906.
Augustus Phelps Dunham, April 8, 1909.

George Harrison Durand — To Lillian M. Fisher, June 26, 1901, at Volga, S. D.
Harrison Fisher Durand, December 24, 1903.

Arthur Foster Durgin — To Lucy Belle Tucker, April 9, 1902, at Bradford.
James Henry Durgin, March 2, 1904.

John Lathrop Dyer — To Alice Salmon, February 12, 1902, at Cambridge.
Mary Lathrop Dyer, July 15, 1903.
Henry Salmon Dyer, January 7, 1907.

*Calvin Sumner Edgell
*Died November 30, 1903.
To Dell Marie Jackson, June 11, 1902, at Denver, Colo.
Harriet Edgell, June 3, 1903.

George Clifton Edwards
To Octavia Nichols, December 23, 1904, at Dallas, Tex.
*Purnell Edwards, July 31, 1906. Died November 22, 1907.
Elva Gray Edwards, February 9, 1908.

Edward Everett Elder
To Alice Esther Stowell, April 8, 1907.

Charles Sidney Ensign, Jr.
To Florence Shepard Page, October 11, 1905, at Newton.
*Charles Sidney Ensign, 3d, September 12, 1906. Died September 13, 1906.

Ernest Fahnestock
To Georgette Waters Perry, February 15, 1905, at New York, N. Y.
Mildred Helen Fahnestock, December 1, 1905.
Evelyn Fahnestock, February 26, 1909.

Wilson Reuben Failing
To Ethel Helen Bauder, December 28, 1900, at Fort Plain, N. Y.
Wilson Bauder Failing, June 30, 1904.
Helen Jessie Failing, July 9, 1907.

Dexter Fairbank
To *Helen Ellsworth Shepard, January 3, 1900, at Chicago, Ill.
*Died May 13, 1905.
To Evelyn Young, December 29, 1906, at Louisville, Ky.
John Young Fairbank, June 22, 1908.

Blair Fairchild
To Edith Cushing, January 1, 1903, at New York, N. Y.

Wallace Strong Farnham
To Ruth Agnes Blair, September 16, 1903, at Waterbury, Conn.

Daniel Haddock Farr — To *Florence Zell Fagan, June 5, 1902, at Philadelphia.
*Died January 21, 1904.
To Adelaide Linton Jordan, January 10, 1907.
*Florence Farr, January 3, 1904. Died January 16, 1904.
Adelaide Farr, January 9, 1908.

Addison Grant Fay — To Emily Wilson, December 31, 1896, at Providence, R. I.
Addison Orville Fay, January 19, 1899.
Robert Cushman Fay, February 4, 1900.
Martha Fay, August 23, 1906.

Roades Fayerweather — To Josephine Kirby-Smith, March 18, 1909, at Sewanee, Tenn.

Reginald Lovejoy Fernald — To Elizabeth Frances Lempert, February 28, 1905, at Rochester, N. Y.

Alfred Lawrence Fish — To Helen Dennis Cole, June 30, 1902, at Boston.

Henry Hudson Fish — To Eleanor Maude Berton, July 6, 1898, at Providence, R. I.
Elizabeth Fish, April 10, 1900.
Muriel Fish, March 11, 1902.

Daniel Howard Fletcher — To Addie Josephine Emerson, August 14, 1899, at Andover, N. H.
*Josephine Fletcher, October 23, 1904. Died December 1, 1904.

Harry Wood Forbes — To Ruth Whitney, August 5, 1908, at San Diego, Cal.

Joseph Dunderdale Forbes — To Madeleine Clifton Maguire, June 16, 1902, at Cedarhurst, L. I.
Mary Forbes, March 17, 1903.
Madeleine Morten Forbes, April 8, 1905.

Ernest Foss — To Elizabeth Coffin Whiton, September 13, 1906, at Newburyport.

Clifton Morton Foster — To Eva Webster Frost, June 4, 1902, at Haverhill.

George Herbert Foster — To Margaret Maud Linton, December 4, 1902, at Pittsburg, Pa.

Linton Hargth Foster, July 16, 1907.

Maurice Bernard Fuller — To Annie Margaret Weeks, November 22, 1898, at New York, N. Y.

James Carlyle Fyshe — To Julia Corisande Mattice, December 7, 1908, at Bangkok, Siam.

Archibald Victor Galbraith — To Helen Ecob McIntosh, June 29, 1905, at Newton.

Frederic McIntosh Galbraith, May 2, 1907.

Roy Garland — To Letitia Dawn Cameron, August 15, 1905, at Dorchester.

John Everett Garland, August 24, 1907.

Thomas Garrett, Jr. — To E. Dorothea Kobbé, May 15, 1907, at New York, N. Y.

Helen Garrett, June 30, 1908.

Charles Ellery Gilbert — To Florence Bryant Hastings, April 4, 1906, at Cambridge.

John Leighton Gleason — To Hattie G. Sprague, October 31, 1901, at Boston.

Dann Tillman Gleason, November 15, 1898 (adopted).
Douglas Tillman Gleason, June 27, 1902 (adopted).

William Valentine Goldie — To Helen S. Deveney, February 27, 1907, at New London, Conn.

Jules Eckert Goodman — To Mai Pfonts, May 10, 1908, at Butte, Mont.

George Alfred Goodridge — To Mabel Harriette Newell, August 25, 1904, at Chelsea.
Wilfred Earl Goodridge, July 2, 1906.

Donald Gordon — To Louise Raynor Ayer, September 3, 1900, at Little Boar's Head, N. H.

William Catron Gordon — To Leanora Yeager, June 22, 1904, at Kansas City, Mo.
William Catron Gordon, Jr., March 31, 1905.

Denis Webb Granberry — To Katharine Borden Franklin, June 1, 1904.
*Franklin Kent Granberry, April 29, 1905. Died April 29, 1905.
Denise Sheldon Granberry, July 17, 1906.

Frank Butler Granger — To Clara Talbot Davis, October 29, 1902, at Everett.

Bartholomew Francis Griffin — To Katherine Louise Claffey, June 15, 1903.
Grace Margaret Griffin, April 14, 1904.

Arthur Floyd Griffiths — To Helen Alsy Clemence, June 26, 1901, at Worcester.

Edward John Hall — To Anna Louise Hermann, July 31, 1906, at Calumet, Mich.

George Duffield Hall — To Marjorie Hays, January 16, 1907, at Montreal, Canada.
George Duffield Hall, Jr., October 8, 1907.

Henry Marion Hall — To Alice Louise Haskell, November 28, 1901, at Boston.
Julia Ward Howe Hall, April 1, 1903.
Frances Minturn Hall, March 15, 1905.
Henry Marion Hall, Jr., May 17, 1907.

John Halliday — To Lucy Frances Manning, May 16, 1902, at New York, N. Y.
Charlotte F. Halliday, January 21, 1903.
Eliza Anne Halliday, May 17, 1905.

Arthur Search Harding — To Marguerite Perry, October 15, 1901, at Philadelphia, Pa.

Sara Louise Harding, November 25, 1902.

Thornton Sherburne Hardy — To Beulah Greenough, September 12, 1900, at Westfield.

Gelston Hardy, July 9, 1901.
Evelyn Hardy, October 28, 1902.

Frederick William Harley — To Clara D. Buffington, April 14, 1903, at Fall River.

*James Boyd Harley, June 10, 1904. Died June 14, 1905.
Elizabeth Buffington Harley, March 3, 1906.

Clarence Samuel Harper — To Elizabeth Denel Chamberlin, June 15, 1905, at Chicago, Ill.

Samuel Houston Harper, May 24, 1906.
James Rayner Harper, November 12, 1907.

Frederic Warren Harris — To Grace Anna Wilson, November 3, 1907, at Hampton, N. Y.

Richard Brown Harris — To Anna Phillips Graves, January 3, 1906.

John Franklin Harris, September 29, 1906.

John Winslow Hathaway — To Sara Emma Young, September 16, 1906, at Dorchester.

Frank Hayden — To Jessie Eliott Wollper Matson, July 30, 1903, at Greencastle, Ind.

Richard Bertrand Hayes — To Florence Gertrude Kilton, January 18, 1899, at Somerville.

Katherine Frances Hayes, September 27, 1899.

William Solomon Hayes — To L. Florence Burdick, July 18, 1905, at Burlington, Vt.

William Healy — To Mary Silvia Tenney, May 10, 1901, at Madison, Wis.
Kent Tenney Healy, February 2, 1902.

Henry Horace Hill — To Marion Coffin Kelley, April 17, 1899, at Boston.
Harriet Hill, January 25, 1900.
Mildred Whiting Hill, July 15, 1904.

Richard Osgood Hodges — To Abbie Dana, June 11, 1902, at West Newton.
*Willimina Hodges, July 25, 1907. Died July 25, 1907.

Robert Louis Hoguet — To Louise Robbins Lynch, June 27, 1907, at Paris, France.
Robert Louis Hoguet, Jr., December 23, 1908.

Joshua Bennett Holden, Jr. — To Mabel Leigh Bonsal, December 20, 1900, at Baltimore, Md.
Mabel Leigh Bonsal Holden, September 16, 1903.
Mary Bennett Holden, March 27, 1907.

Massey Holmes — To Ethel Greenough, September 24, 1907, at Nahant.

Tyler Lee Holmes — To Kate Webb Lockett, October 2, 1906, at Newtonville.
Catherine Holmes, March 20, 1908.

Roland Gage Hopkins — To Florence Marguerite Stanford, April 3, 1902, at Boston, Reuben Warren Hopkins, 2d, February 12, 1903.
Marcia Stanford Hopkins, September 8, 1904.
Stanford Hopkins, January 3, 1907.

Charles Roswell Howe — To Myrtle Horton Reid, October 31, 1907, at Danvers.

James Carleton Howe — To Letitia Todd Lemon, February 26, 1908, at St. Joseph, Mo.
James Carleton Howe, Jr., February 19, 1909.

George Ryland Humes — To Anna Louise Charlton, November 9, 1904, at Providence, R. I.
Elizabeth Charlton Humes, June 29, 1906.
Martha Ryland Humes, October 10, 1908.

Mark Hyman — To Louise Baer, June 11, 1907, at New York, N. Y.

Silas Isador Hyman — To Evelyn Douziger, November 16, 1904, at New Orleans, La.
Anna Evelyn Hyman, November 5, 1905.
Helen Hyman, June 30, 1908.

Eldred Edward Iungerich — To Elizabeth Alexander Simons, May 25, 1907, at Bryn Athyn, Pa.
Zoé Iungerich, March 25, 1908.

Pliny Jewell, 2d — To Anne Winslow Harris, July 14, 1905, at East Bridgewater.
Josephine Jewell, November 10, 1906.
Pliny Jewell, 3d, June 3, 1908.

Virgil Victor Johnson — To Marion Louise Bolster, August 4, 1908, at Nashua, N. H.

Charles Haven Ladd Johnston — To Edythe Marion Newlands, April 14, 1903, at "Woodley," D. C.
Francis Newlands Johnston, March 8, 1904.
Alan Ladd Johnston, December 28, 1906.

Joseph Albert Jones — To Mary Ruth Seymour, September 21, 1907, at Chicago, Ill.

Richard Henry Joy — To Ina Jane Partridge, April 18, 1900, at Apulia Station, N. Y.

Jarvis Keiley — To Lavalette Holmes Lewis, November 3, 1903, at Sweet Springs, Va.
Philip Preston Keiley, June 20, 1905.

John Alexander Hull Keith — To Rebecca Abigail Foley, June 7, 1900, at Oak Park, Ill.

Mary Lee Keith, August 2, 1903.

John Alexander Hull Keith, Jr., March 11, 1908.

Waldo Shaw Kendall — To Ethel Parker, November 15, 1905, London, England.

Elizabeth Parker Kendall, October 14, 1908.

Arthur Goss Kilbourn — To Georgie Caroline Rogers Rogers, August 22, 1908, at Toronto, Canada.

Henry Horton Kimball — To Edith Maude Hancock, April 8, 1904, at Melrose.

Homer Penfield Donaldson Kingsbury — To Mary Louise Barker, November 1, 1900, at Pottsville, Pa.

To Anna Potts Rockhill, May 27, 1905, at Redlands, Cal.

William Charles Kingsbury, May 15, 1906.

Alice Rockhill Kingsbury, May 10, 1908.

Eugene Schreiber Klein — To Nella Maxwell Lambert, January 12, 1907, at Springfield, Ill.

Clarence Hinckley Knowlton — To Lydia Anne Hunter, September 1, 1907, at Machias, Me.

Laurence LaForge — To Fannie Agnes Carryer, June 28, 1893, at Shinglehouse, Pa.

Helen Grace LaForge, May 11, 1897.

John William Lane — To Frances Agnes Dorrety, October 3, 1906, at Dorchester.

James Marsland Lawton — To Carmen Padrés, July 22, 1906, at Magdalena, Sonora, Mexico.

William Merrill Leavitt — To Marian Eudora Roberts, June 30, 1902, at Cambridge.

Maurice Brown Lee — To Frances Cummings Rider, October 18, 1906, at Dubuque, Iowa.

Morris Matthews Lee — To Mary Ritchie Walter, April 26, 1905, at Philadelphia, Pa.

Morris Mathews Lee, Jr., October 28, 1907.

Robert Ainsworth Leeson — To Mildred Carruth Dix, April 9, 1902, at New York, N. Y.

Loraine Leeson, May 12, 1905.

Robert Leeson, May 4, 1907.

Howard Chilson Leonard — To Gertrude Mileham Butts, December 23, 1899, at Wilkes Barre, Pa.

William Mileham Leonard, October 23, 1900.

Chilson Hathaway Leonard, November 8, 1901.

Frank Jackson Leonard, December 27, 1904.

William Leshner — To Hermione Edna Theisz, February 18, 1904, at Detroit, Mich.

Virginia Margaret Leshner, November 16, 1904.

Henry Demarest Lloyd — To Elizabeth McEwen Mason, November 7, 1904, at Memphis, Tenn.

Henry Demarest Lloyd, Jr., October 18, 1907.

Cornelius Wygant Lockwood — To Margaret Louise Sutphen, April 30, 1901, at Plainfield, N. J.

Charles Gilbert Lockwood, July 17, 1902.

Joseph Lovejoy — To Natalie Frances Holden, October 5, 1905, at Boston.

Joseph Lovejoy, Jr., August 15, 1906.

John Moulton Lovejoy, February 5, 1909.

Dean Sherwood Luce — To Ethel May Bense, February 15, 1905, at Canton.

Wilbur Henry Lynch — To Helen Edith King, August 9, 1899, at Windsor, N. Y.

Barbara Joyce Lynch, December 13, 1900.

Charles Francis McCaffrey — To Margaret Mary Brosnahan, June 28, 1905, at Somerville.
Charles Francis McCaffrey, October 19, 1906.
Albert Joseph McCaffrey, January 22, 1909.

John Chapman McCall — To Mary Lambert, November 5, 1902, at Germantown, Pa.
Mary Lambert McCall, October 1, 1903.
Lois Herminia McCall, August 27, 1906.

Charles Herbert McClare — To Ella Gertrude Johnston, October 20, 1890, at Willimantic, Conn.
Donald Roy McClare, July 30, 1894.
Edith Victoria McClare, December 25, 1895.
Enid Elizabeth McClare, November 30, 1899.
Muriel Gertrude McClare, January 16, 1905.

George Madison McCoy, Jr. — To Elizabeth A. Pilling, March 31, 1903, at Newton.
Ruth Elizabeth McCoy, May 1, 1904.

William John McGurk — To Alice Elizabeth Rice, October 1, 1902, at North Adams.
Constance McGurk, September 11, 1907.

Wallace Estill McHenry — To Mary Lucille Blanche Ryan, June 8, 1904, at Windsor, Ontario, Canada.

Ralph McKittrick — To Emily Catlin Wickham, November 17, 1906, at St. Louis, Mo.
Ralph McKittrick, Jr., November 5, 1907.
Edmund F. McKittrick, December 14, 1908.

George Gibson McMurtry, Jr. — To Mabel C. Post, December 16, 1903, at Flushing, L. I.

Walter William McNeil — To Emily Barr, October 21, 1902, at Buffalo, N. Y.
Janet McNeil, September 30, 1905.
Dudley Barr McNeil, May 29, 1908.

Henry Percy Macomber — To Helen West, April 19, 1906, at New Orleans, La.
Laura West Macomber, March 9, 1908.

John Albert Macy — To Anne Mansfield Sullivan, May 1, 1905, at Wrentham.

Ernest Carleton Mains — To Bertha Clark, September 23, 1904, at Boston.

Clarence Churchill Mann — To Florence Chisholm Dowling, May 21, 1902, at Pasadena, Cal.
Mary Justin Mann, June 20, 1903.
Clarence Churchill Mann, Jr., September 6, 1904.

Charles Francis Marden — To Sarah Stevens Westgate, June 10, 1902, at Melrose.

Frank Monroe Marsh — To Amie Frances Noyes, September 14, 1898, at Franklin, N. H.
Elizabeth Frances Marsh, July 24, 1900.
Francis Monroe Marsh, March 19, 1906.

Ralph Eugene Mason — To Persis Madella Hagerthy, November 24, 1899, at Ellsworth, Me.

Wyndham Robertson Mayo, Jr. — To Louise Willoughby Bonsal, December 19, 1903, at Baltimore, Md.
Wyndham Robertson Mayo, 3d, November 16, 1904.

George T. Johns Mercure — To Alice M. Scott, September 28, 1899, at Brooklyn, N. Y.

Stanley Wilson Merrell — To Mary Louise Caldwell, April 27, 1905, at Cincinnati, O.
Alice Merrell, July 14, 1906.

Benjamin Paul Merrick — To Margaret Mills, October 8, 1907, at Bridgehampton, Long Island, N. Y.

Fullerton Merrill — To Grace Hazel Gardner, January 9, 1907, at Bangor, Me.
Ada Frances Merrill, October 26, 1907.

Raymond Merrill — To Martha Knight Morse, June 5, 1906, at Roxbury.
Marguerite Merrill, March 8, 1907.

*William Harold Millard — To Edith Cushing Adams, September 16, 1902, at Cambridge.
*Died March 9, 1909.
Eleanor Adams Millard, July 8, 1903.
Ruth English Millard, June 3, 1905.
John Crockett Millard, March 23, 1907.

Carl Elias Milliken — To Emma Vivian Chase, July 31, 1901, at Lewiston, Me.
Nelly Knowlton Milliken, June 19, 1902.
Vivian Milliken, January 22, 1904.
Gladys Elizabeth Milliken, September 26, 1905.
Beatrice Milliken, March 4, 1907.
*George Chase Milliken, March 6, 1908. Died May 25, 1908.

Hugh Devereux Montgomery — To Ethel Dean, April 24, 1902, at Brookline.
Ruth Montgomery, December 26, 1906.
James Oliphant Montgomery, September 6, 1908.

Charles Hyndman Morris — To Elizabeth Margaret Hanna, October 24, 1906, at Boston.
John Hyndman Morris, Jr., November 12, 1907.
Robert Morris, March 21, 1909.

Samuel Vining Morse — To Elsie Warren Draper, September 26, 1900, at Canton.
Dorothy Draper Morse, June 2, 1901.

William Gibbons Morse — To Marjorie Dewey, October 11, 1902, at Newton.
Lucy Gibbons Morse, August 20, 1903.
Marjorie Dewey Morse, December 5, 1904.
William Gibbons Morse, Jr., April 19, 1906.
Mary Morse, September 14, 1908.

William Luther Mowll — To Lena May Russell, December 25, 1899, at North Cambridge.
Mildred Russell Mowll, January 25, 1901.
Helen Blake Mowll, June 12, 1907.

George Addison Nelson — To May Fallon, at Pittsfield.

John Taylor Gilman Nichols, Jr. — To Emily Alan Smith, June 1, 1905, at Baltimore, Md.

William Stanley Nichols — To Nellie Eusebia Johnson January 8, 1902, at Boston.
Edward Holyoke Nichols, June 16, 1907.

*Leonard Francis Nicoll — To Fannie Hoe Harper, June 26, 1900, at New Windsor, N. Y.
*Died November 25, 1906.
Alice Hoe Nicoll, May 27, 1901.
Henry Denton Nicoll, 2d, January 31, 1904.
Caroline Harper Nicoll, October 18, 1905.

Thomas Nickerson — To *Fanny Bates Hardy, October 17, 1900, at Auburndale.
*Died January 5, 1904.
Thomas Nickerson, Jr., June 30, 1902.
Elizabeth Hardy Nickerson, October 6, 1903.

John Warner Norton — To Margaret Washburn Francis, September 2, 1903, at Rock Island, Ill.
Margaret Frances Norton, January 14, 1905.
John Norton, February 25, 1907.

Frederic Russell Nourse — To Dorothy Quincy, February 7, 1906, at Boston.
Dorothy Quincy Nourse, July 6, 1907.

Allen March Nowell — To Ruth Moore Taplin, February 2, 1899, at Honolulu, H. I.
Nelson Taplin Nowell, May 9, 1901.
Elizabeth Hastings Nowell, May 31, 1906.

James Nowell — To Annie Wyman Wood, January 19, 1907, at Arlington.

Albert James Nute — To Perle Ethelyn Goodsoe, August 31, 1904, at Kittery, Me.

Henry Everett O'Brien — To Katherine Dowling, November 19, 1907, at Lawrenceburg, Ky.

Helen Stanton O'Brien, September 24, 1908.

Walter Jay Osborn — To Maud E. Brown, June 1, 1904, at Boston.

Charles Elmore Overholser — To *Mabel M. MacKean, October 30, 1900, at Houtzdale, Pa.

*Died January 8, 1903.

Donald MacKean Overholser, January 7, 1903.

Alwin Max Pappenheimer — To Beatrice Leo, November 12, 1907, at Cedarhurst, L. I.

Alwin Max Pappenheimer, Jr., November 25, 1908.

Harry Caldwell Parker — To Clara Margaret Parker, August 15, 1905, at Chicago, Ill.

Margaret Louise Parker, August 11, 1906.

Ira Harrison Parsons — To Elizabeth Marshman Cheney, March 15, 1908.

Elizabeth Harrison Parsons, March 19, 1909.

John Forbes Perkins — To Mary Coolidge, September 6, 1905, at Portsmouth, N. H.

Katharine Perkins, March 19, 1907.

John Forbes Perkins, Jr., February 9, 1909.

Edwin Elden Perry — To Elizabeth Hight, October 6, 1903, at Winthrop.

Randolph Hight Perry, January 3, 1905.

Sidney Peterson — To Ruth Mae Taft, June 24, 1902, at Cambridge.

Elizabeth Peterson, December 5, 1907.

John Charles Phillips — To Eleanor Hayden Hyde, January 11, 1908.
John Charles Phillips, Jr., December 24, 1908.

Greenleaf Whittier Pickard — To Miriam Watson Oliver, April 6, 1902, Philadelphia, Pa.

Fayette Rumsey Plumb — To Grace Pennock Sharp, November 6, 1901, at Philadelphia, Pa.
*Fayette Rumsey Plumb, 3d, August 3, 1902.

George Morrison Poland — To Daisy D. Eaton, September 17, 1903, at Wakefield.
Warren Morrison Poland, December 4, 1907.
Ella Poland, December 15, 1908.

Carleton Estey Preston — To Matilda Hersey Wales, January 1, 1903, at Dorchester.
Stanley Wales Preston, June 21, 1905.

Lewis Butler Preston — To Mabel A. McAfee, May 16, 1905, at New York.
John McAfee Preston, April 12, 1906.

Robert Ewart Ramsay — To Sarah Desire Linnell, December 22, 1904, at Boston.
Robert Linnell Ramsey, April 1, 1906.
Frances Desire Ramsey, January 19, 1908.

William Lee Raymond — To Phebe Teresa Candage, August 31, 1905, at Brookline.
Richard Candage Raymond, April 8, 1907.

Eliot Wickham Remick — To Christine Louise Bumpus, June 2, 1906, at Quincy.
Eliot Wickham Remick, Jr., June 7, 1908.

Oliver Filley Richards — To Evelyn Whitney, May 15, 1909, at Louisville, Ky.

Frederic Leopold William Richardson — To Anne Blake, June 18, 1902, at Brookline.
Margery Richardson, May 30, 1904.
Arthur Welland Richardson, July 31, 1906.
Frederic Leopold William Richardson, Jr., March 23, 1909.

Otis Weld Richardson — To Lucile Johnston, June 4, 1907, at St. Louis, Mo.

Otis Weld Richardson, Jr., May 4, 1909.

Thomas Hinckley Robbins — To Alice Bradford Ames, July 19, 1899, at San Francisco, Cal.

Thomas Hinckley Robbins, Jr., May 11, 1900. CLASS BABY.

William Bradford Robbins, 2d, April 19, 1905.

William Bradford Robbins — To Marion Sears Bennett, May 3, 1904, at Wayland.

Sarah Ripley Robbins, April 15, 1905.

Chandler Robbins, November 21, 1906.

Deen Lombard Robinson — To Marion Colman Goodnow, June 14, 1904, at Jamaica Plain.

Franklin Duane Robinson — To Frances Louise Rollins, December 27, 1900, at Oneonta, N. Y.

Franklin Duane Robinson, Jr., January 10, 1903.

Helen Louise Robinson, April 25, 1907.

Harry Pringle Robinson — To May Truex, June 28, 1906, at Red Bank, N. J.

James Thomas Roche, Jr. — To May Coverly Wheelock, June 19, 1901, at Auburndale.

Austin Wheelock Roche, June 29, 1903.

Willet Crosby Roper — To Florence Emeline Eveleth, June 2, 1902, at Cambridge.

*Katherine May Roper, May 7, 1905. Died May 31, 1905.

Hartwell Eveleth Roper, December 3, 1907.

James Birch Rorer — To Ethel Stuart Wimer, February 10, 1909, at Washington, D. C.

Charles Almon Ruggles — To Amelia Domique Smith, June 7, 1906, at Redlands, Cal.

Gertrude Nukerck Ruggles, November 9, 1907.

Frederick Adams Russell — To Mary Lanman Prentice, November 14, 1906, at New York, N. Y.

Cyrus Sargeant — To Alice Loring Newcomb, June 29, 1899, at Salem.
Virginia Lee Sargeant, May 27, 1908.

Alfred Garrett Scattergood — To Mary Cope Emlen, April 24, 1904, at Germantown, Pa.
Elizabeth Cope Scattergood, April 5, 1907.

William Mansfield Scudder — To Helen Rotch Swift, October 19, 1900, at New Bedford.
Helen Scudder, November 29, 1901.
Sarah Rodman Scudder, March 15, 1904.

Edmund Hamilton Sears — To Leslie Buckingham, March 22, 1904, at Wayland.
Mary Sears, July 18, 1905.
Edmund Hamilton Sears, Jr., July 1, 1907.
Katharine Cutting Sears, January 29, 1909.

John Bernhardt Selander — To Susan Lee Frisbie, December 17, 1902, at Galesburg, Ill.
Joan Frisbie Selander, December 10, 1903.

Harry Martin Shafer — To *Lena May Williams, August 15, 1894, at Lafayette, Ill.
*Died March 9, 1904.
Paul Francis Shafer, January 4, 1901.

Arthur Noyes Sheldon — To Rebecca Hughes, November 23, 1903, at Providence, R. I.

Elliott Fitch Shepard — To Esther Potter, April 10, 1897, at New York, N. Y.

John Henry Sherburne, Jr. — To Mary Patterson Harris, November 26, 1901, at Baltimore, Md.
John Henry Sherburne, 3d, October 11, 1902.
Alice Sherburne, April 30, 1905.

Carleton Farrar Sherman — To Pearl Wood, December 17, 1900, at Ripley, Tenn.

*Julia Wood Sherman, October 3, 1901. Died March 1, 1904.

Carleton Wood Sherman, March 15, 1904.

Lincoln Farrar Sherman, December 3, 1906.

William Anthony Sherman — To Katherine May Kennedy, June 25, 1902, at Scranton, Pa.

William Albert Sherman, May 12, 1903.

Howard Everett Shore — To Helen Norris, October 31, 1901, at Philadelphia, Pa.

Howard Everett Shore, Jr., January 18, 1903.

John MacAlpine Siddall — To Jean Harriett Joiner, November 22, 1904, at Polo, Ill.

Alvan Tracy Simonds — To Susan Gansevoort Lansing, April 16, 1901, at Albany, N. Y.

Robert McClellan Simonds, April 11, 1902.

Daniel Simonds, 2d, February 27, 1906.

Curlys Lyon Slocum — To Elizabeth Regina Bateman, May 7, 1902, at Wissahickon, Philadelphia, Pa.

Henry Slocum, August 27, 1904.

Curlys Lyon Slocum, Jr., April 26, 1906.

Mary Alice Slocum, April 21, 1909.

Caleb Edward Smith — To *Mary Elizabeth Hunter, September 21, 1898, at Revere, *Died April 14, 1905.

To Alice Josephine Goodridge, June 5, 1906, at Revere.

Ruth Hunter Smith, May 7, 1901 (adopted).

Felix Koerner Smith — To Katharine Abigail Walker, January 24, 1905, at St. Louis, Mo.

Katharine Smith, August 14, 1906.

Franklin Walker Smith, September 18, 1908.

Philip Sidney Smith — To Leonore Willis Kinney, November 26, 1900, at Roxbury.

William David Smith — To Emily Wright Ballard, April 24, 1901, at Gardner.
Janet Smith, January 8, 1902.
Parker Heywood Smith, July 15, 1903.
Eleanor Smith, January 17, 1906.
Leslie Smith, August 25, 1907.

Walter Soderling — To Bina Wigeland, January 7, 1908.

Pierce Edward Somers — To Mary Josephine Vogel, November 21, 1906, at Boston.
Ruth Valentine Somers, November 10, 1907.

Charles Frederic Speare — To Louise Halsey Burnett, November 19, 1903, at Southampton, N. Y.
Margaret Louise Speare, February 8, 1905.
Elizabeth Burnett Speare, February 19, 1907.
Helen Cameron Speare, September 17, 1908.

Vivian Spencer — To Sara Means, June 3, 1905, at Mt. Kisco, N. Y.

William Parsons Stanley — To Marina Eckley Pattison, January 25, 1905, at Rochester, N. Y.

Eben Blaine Stanwood — To Gladys Lawson, October 11, 1905, at Egypt.

Harry Ney Stearns — To Edith Baker Winslow, October 10, 1901, at Cambridge.
Margaret Winslow Stearns, July 8, 1903.
Marshall Winslow Stearns, October 18, 1908.

Marshall Stearns — To Charlotte Storer Shepherd, April 23, 1902, at Hartford, Conn.
Dorothea Shepherd Stearns, January 20, 1907.
Son, January 22, 1909.

George Russell Stobbs — To Mabel Florence Murdock, October 18, 1905, at Thompson, Conn.

Russell Murdock Stobbs, August 7, 1907.

George Leverett Stowell, Jr. — To Anna May Liggett, September 25, 1901, at Washington, D. C.

Dorothy Stowell, June 13, 1902.
George Leverett Stowell, 3d, March 31, 1909.

Henry Whitney Stowell — To Anita Evans Tebbets, September 11, 1907, at Waltham.

William Parker Straw — To Josephine Perkins, June 5, 1901, at Rye Beach, N. H.

Ellis Albert Straw, March 4, 1902.
Mary Parker Straw, July 13, 1903.

Harry Carter Strong — To Dorothy Clinton, October 16, 1900, at New York, N. Y.

Henry Clinton Strong, October 1, 1901.
Stanley Carter Strong, May 21, 1905.

James Butler Studley — To Mary Frances Edwards, December 24, 1902, at Newton Centre.

Linnell Edwards Studley, March 15, 1904.

George Alexander Swan — To Janet Johnstone Watson, March 21, 1899, at Beauvoir, Miss.

Mary Evans Swan, February 6, 1900.
William Watson Swan, May 31, 1902.
George Alexander Swan, Jr., September 21, 1907.

Frederick Rotch Swift — To Eliza Morgan Bates, November 23, 1903, at Washington, D. C.

Caroline Waterman Swift, June 3, 1905.
Rodman Morgan Swift, June 30, 1907.

Charles Nicoll Talbot, Jr. — To Louise Caire, May 1, 1906, at London, England.

George Robert Taylor — To Lois Syfen Love, November 21, 1906.

William Joseph Taylor — To Ethel Coffin Failey, November 11, 1903, at Indianapolis, Ind.

Martha Ann Taylor, February 28, 1908.

Everit Bogert Terhune — To Ella May Phillips, November 18, 1903, at Swampscott.

Everit Bogert Terhune, Jr., September 21, 1905.
Phillips Glover Terhune, October 28, 1908.

Farwell Edward Thayer — To Anne Lester Urquhart, May 26, 1904, at Newark, N. J.

Bertha Lester Thayer, January 26, 1906.
*Eleanor Thayer, April 1, 1908. Died April 3, 1908.

George Washington Thompson — To Elizabeth Ridgely Hunt, September 18, 1906, at Helena, Mont.

George Washington Thompson, Jr., July 12, 1907.

Henry Smith Thompson — To Helen Sargent Apthorp, December 25, 1907, at Milton.

Wirt Lord Thompson — To H. Kate Furness, April 18, 1906, at Philadelphia, Pa.

Wirt Furness Thompson, February 20, 1907.

Ernest Alger Thornhill — To Lida Elizabeth Connole, June 15, 1903, at Carrollton, Ill.

George Shepley Tiffany — To Marie Thérèse Scanlan, April 28, 1904, at St. Louis, Mo.

Marie Christie Tiffany, April 2, 1905.
George Shepley Tiffany, Jr., October 22, 1906.
Phillip Jarrot Tiffany, December 13, 1907.

Francis Calvin Tilden — To Ethel Nash Arnold, September 13, 1900, at Greencastle, Ind.

—— ——Tilden, July 19, 1901.

*John Stringer Tilney, Jr. To Alice Elizabeth Cornish, April 30, 1900, at New York, N. Y.
*Died February 13, 1909.

Fenton Tomlinson To Madeleine Cummings Baxter, October 9, 1907, at Portland, Me.
James Baxter Tomlinson, September 2, 1908.

Burt Adams Tower To Clara Moore Sherley, June 1, 1905, at Louisville, Ky.

Donald Tucker To Frances Louise Allen, April 2, 1904, at Boston.
Donald Tucker, Jr., February 11, 1905.

Philip Melancthon Tucker To Nancy Denison Noyes, January 11, 1905, at Jamaica Plain.
Rosamond Tucker, July 15, 1906.
Lois Denison Tucker, December 10, 1907.

Lee Ullmann To Mary Genevieve Horine, January 3, 1901, at Springfield, Mo.
Mary Genevieve Ullmann, January 16, 1902.
Edward Ludwig Ullman, April 27, 1904.

Donald Fraser Urquhart To —
Son nine years old.

Robert Putnam Vail To Anna Tenbrook Roberts, June 22, 1905.
*Thomas Edward Vail, October 18, 1907. Died October 30, 1907.

George Charles Vedder To Catherine Dietz, December 19, 1906, at Buffalo, N. Y.

*Charles Whitney Ward To Grace Enneking, December 31, 1898.
*Died March 3, 1905.
Norman Ward.

Harry C. Ward — To Ethel Lyon, January 9, 1901, at Greenfield, Tenn.
Charles Ward, October 12, 1903.
Kathryn Lyon Ward, October 26, 1904.
Henry Charles Ward, November 29, 1908.

John Ware — To Margaret Chanler Woodle, June 11, 1904, at Altoona, Pa.
*Son, September 13, 1906. Died September 13, 1906.
Harriet Ware, November 20, 1907.

Leonard Everett Ware — To Margaret Newcomb Davidson, April 19, 1904, at Elizabeth, N. J.
*Margaret Lockwood Ware, February 9, 1905. Died February 16, 1905.
Jean Ware, May 1, 1906.
John Davidson Ware, August 22, 1908.

James Edward Webster — To Florence M. Bailey, November 5, 1900, at Newtonville.
Mary Francis Webster, April 27, 1902.
William Gray Webster, March 2, 1904.
James Edward Webster, Jr., October 20, 1905.
Stewart Allen Webster, August 4, 1907.

Robert Maximillian Wernaer — To Esther Farr, March 31, 1891, at Brooklyn, N. Y.

Carleton Ames Wheeler — To Elizabeth Towson, June 24, 1908, at Smithsburg, Md.

Brainerd Hunt Whitbeck — To Edith Emily Plummer, June 2, 1903, at New York, N. Y.
John Fonda Ward Whitbeck, 2d, August 25, 1904.
Brainerd Hunt Whitbeck, Jr., September 5, 1907.

Frank Owen White — To Myra Hall Nichols, April 27, 1904, at Brookline.
Edward Peirce White, April 30, 1905.

Henry Preston White — To Sara Croome Coleman, June 30, 1899, at Brooklyn, N. Y.
Frances Everett White, July 10, 1906.
John Hauthaway White, October 12, 1908.

Clarence Morton Whitman — To Eleanor Motley, November 19, 1903, at New York, N. Y.
Clarence Whitman, 2d, January 4, 1905.

Malcolm Douglas Whitman — To Janetta Alexander McCook, April 2, 1907, at New York, N. Y.
Janetta Whitman, January 12, 1908.

George Brackett Whitney — To Ethelyn M. Morris, March 21, 1902, at Racine, Wis.

Howard Fletcher Whitney — To Lillian P. Keck, February 1, 1905, at Brooklyn, N. Y.

Stephen Cook Whorf — To Priscilla Myrick Smith, October 1, 1903, at Provincetown.

Charles Edward Williams — To Grace Ruth Cummings, May 6, 1908, at Indianapolis, Ind.

Harold Williams, Jr. — To Katharine Craig, November 25, 1902, at Washington, D. C.
*Harold Williams, 3d, March 24, 1904. Died September 29, 1907.
Anne Craig Williams, June 16, 1906.
William Blackstone Williams, June 13, 1908.

Horace Dudley Hall Williams — To Ethel Howland Folger, July 6, 1905, at Medford.

Nathaniel Theodore Wilson — To Elsie Munroe Cobb, June 22, 1907, at Washington, D. C.

Ralph Graham Wilson — To Anna Barker Mellor, March 18, 1899, at Germantown, Pa.
Ralph Graham Wilson, Jr., January 27, 1900.
Edward Mellor Wilson, June 28, 1901.
Sigourney R. F. Wilson, November 5, 1903.

Oliver A. Wolcott — To Jessica M. Thomas, February 17, 1903, at Keeseville, N. Y.
Mary Ella Wolcott, February 24, 1904.

Roger Wolcott — To Claire Morton Prince, June 7, 1904, at Boston.
Roger Wolcott, Jr., February 28, 1905.
Clarissa Endicott Wolcott, November 29, 1907.

Charles Dane Woodbury — To Amy Bowdoin Haskell, September 19, 1907, at Beverly.

John Wesley Work — To Agnes Morris Hayes, April 26, 1899.
*Charlotte Moulton Work, February 26, 1900. Died June 29, 1900.
John Wesley Work, Jr., June 15, 1901.
*Agnes Samnella Work, January 11, 1903. Died March 5, 1904.
Merrill Cravath Work, January 5, 1905.
Helen Elizabeth Work, August 6, 1908.

Alfred Millard Wose — To Mabel Ely Van de Warker, November 15, 1905, at Syracuse, N. Y.
Helen Francis Wose, April 20, 1907.
Beatrice Ely Wose, July 5, 1908.

Lawrence Worth Wright — To Bertha Eugénie Stevens, June 15, 1901, at New York, N. Y.
Lawrence Livingston Wright, April 6, 1902.
Persis Stevens Wright, March 2, 1903.
David Hamilton Wright, March 11, 1904.

Walter Francis Wyeth — To Josephine H. Shailer, October 26, 1905, at Brookline.
Walter Francis Wyeth, Jr., December 11, 1907.

Ernest Adams Young — To Sarah Weber Addams, February 11, 1908, at Cedarville, Ill.

DEATHS

James George Averell	November 20, 1904.
Winthrop Evarts Brown	March 29, 1907.
Walter Livingston Cutting	September 2, 1907.
John Edward Devlin, Jr.	December 16, 1902.
Calvin Sumner Edgell	November 30, 1903.
Frederick Augustus Emerson	October 2, 1905.
Charles Frederick Allen Evans	April 7, 1899.
Raymond Mott Frost	January 5, 1905.
Roy Sidney Hedges	May, 1903.
Frederick Mary Hone	June 1, 1905.
George Allen Hoyt	October 28, 1896.
Harold Poole Huntress	October 31, 1907.
Percy Malcolm Jaffray	December 22, 1898.
Charles Shimmin Jeffries	December 17, 1895.
Frederick Henry Keyser	May, 1903.
Hobart Uri Lamprey	April 15, 1897.
William Harold Millard	March 9, 1909.
Robert Hale Morrison	October, 1900.
Leonard Francis Nicoll	November 25, 1906.
Conrad Magruder Patten	February 27, 1900.
Eugene Maurice Rabador	January 13, 1898.
Philip Green Randall	May 31, 1902.
Edward Winslow Stevens	December 12, 1906.
Everett Abbot Throop	September 21, 1896.
John Stringer Tilney, Jr.	February 13, 1909.
Charles Whitney Ward	March 3, 1905.
Theodore Sedgwick Watson	April 19, 1909.
Lawrence Arthur Woodward	May 20, 1897.

OCCUPATIONS

Business: A. Adams, C. P. Adams, E. G. Adams, W. Adams, F. M. Alger, A. S. Allen, P. Auten, J. F. Bacon, G. F. Baker, Jr., R. B. Baker, P. Bancroft, E. B. Barstow, H. F. Barker, S. S. Beardsley, H. Bigelow, C. Blaikie, R. F. Blake, E. A. Boardman, C. Bowker, A. H. Boynton, F. D. Brannan, E. D. Brooks, J. E. Brooks, L. W. Brooks, C. H. Brown, E. B. Brown, R. C. Brown, P. L. Brown, F. K. Bryant, L. F. Buff, J. A. Burnham, Jr., P. Burrage, W. C. Burton, C. K. Bush, C. C. Butters, J. McD. Campbell, A. B. Carpenter, H. N. Cheny, E. P. Clark, H. Clarke, A. Cockcroft, G. A. Cole, L. G. Coleman, L. K. Conant, H. Coonley, J. P. Cotton, A. B. Craven, R. P. Cushing, S. C. Cutler, E. P. Davis, H. B. Dean, J. A. Denholm, G. H. Denison, H. S. Dennison, G. K. Denny, B. H. Dibblee, W. P. J. Dinsmoor, J. D. Dole, W. B. Donham, H. P. Dowst, G. E. Dudley, G. Duffield, R. J. Dunham, G. D. Dutton, N. Ehrmann, T. H. Endicott, A. B. Ewing, A. S. Eyre, D. Fairbank, F. W. Falvey, D. H. Farr, T. K. Faxon, R. L. Fernald, H. W. Finney, H. H. Fish, W. S. Fitz, E. A. Fleisher, D. H. Fletcher, J. D. Forbes, P. French, F. E. Gibbs, R. de K. Gilder, J. L. Gleason, G. A. Goodridge, W. C. Gordon, A. S. Harding, E. D. Harlow, C. S. Harper, W. C. Harris, E. K. Haskell, P. D. Haughton, H. B. Hayden, H. B. Hewitt, H. E. Hildreth, H. H. Hill, W. W. Hill, R. O. Hodges, T. L. Holmes, J. B. Holden, Jr., R. G. Hopkins, J. C. Howe, G. R. Humes, D. Hunter, Jr., C. D. Huntington, H. M. Huxley, S. I. Hyman, H. A. Irish, R. A. Jackson, P. Jewell, 2d, J. A. Jones, R. F. Jones, R. H. Joy, P. M. Keene, W. S. Kendall, H. P. D. Kingsbury, C. H. Knowlton, J. M. Lawton, R. A. Leeson, W. Leshner, E. H. Litchfield, J. C. McCall, G. M. McCoy, W. J. McGurk, R. McKittrick, G. G. McMurtry, W. W. McNeil, H. P. Macomber, C. C. Mann, E. R. Marvin, B. Matteson, W. R. Mayo, Jr., F. Merrill, R. Merrill, C. E. Milliken, H. D. Montgomery, W. G. Morse, G. A. Nelson, J. T. G. Nichols, Jr., T. Nickerson, A. M. Nowell, J. Nowell, F. R. Nourse, A. G. Odell, E. E. Perry, W. Pierce, F. R. Plumb, C. H. Pond, F. H. Purington, W. L. Raymond, E. W. Remick, O. F. Richards, J. T. Roche, Jr., E. W. Roovers, W. C. Roper, F. A. Russell, H. Sampson, Jr., A. G. Scattergood, W. M. Scudder, E. H. Sears, E. A. Seasongood, J. B. Selander, H. H. Shaw, R. G. Shaw, Jr., S. P. Shaw, Jr., R. W. Sherwin, A. T. Simonds, F. K. Smith, W. D. Smith, E. B. Stanwood, W. P. Straw, F. C. Sutro, G. A. Swan, E. B. Terhune, F. E. Thayer, H. S. Thompson, G. W. Thompson, G. S. Tiffany, F. Tomlinson, D. Tucker, P. M. Tucker, L. Ullmann, D. F. Urquhart, G. C. Vedder, F. Vorenberg, H. C. Ward, L. E. Ware, J. E. Webster, H. A. Wheeler, M. D. Whitman, H. F. Whitney, H. D. H. Williams, R. W. Williams, E. J. Wolbach, W. F. Wyeth, A. L. Wyler, E. A. Young,

Law: G. E. Adams, H. W. Adams, Jr., T. S. Alexander, W. L. Barnard, S. H. Batchelder, W. D. Becker, R. A. Bidwell, C. W. Blood, C. L. Bouvé, R. B. Brewster, G. P. Bryant, H. L. Burnham, C. S. Butler, R. F. Butts, A. R. Campbell, P. G. Carleton, O. J. Carleton, C. L. Carr, T. E. Catlin, D. K. Catlin, L. R. Chapman, E. O. Childs, Jr., R. Clapp, F. F. Collier, C. S. Cooke, E. P. Costigan, G. G. Crocker, Jr., J. L. Crowley, B. Curtis, J. F. Curtis, P. Davis, C. W. Dayton, J. C. Dennis, S. H. Derby, W. R. Dickinson, J. J. Doherty, M. Donald, E. B. Draper, J. L. Dyer, W. D. Eaton, E. E. Elder, C. S. Ensign, Jr., J. W. Farley, J. C. Feder, A. L. Fish, H. W. Forbes, E. Foss, G. H. Foster, W. P. Frank, B. A. Franklin, S. P. Freeling, D. McK. Frost, T. Garrett, Jr., J. A. George, D. Gordon, C. A. Hamilton, R. B. Harris, J. W. Hathaway, F. B. Hill, R. L. Hoguet, M. S. Holbrook, M. Holmes, L. E. Hurd, M. Hyman, H. James, Jr., I. L. Jameson, B. W.

Keen, G. B. Kerper, Jr., H. H. Kimball, K. H. Kompfe, C. R. Lamson, F. Lawrence, M. E. Leen, J. Lovejoy, A. R. MacKusick, R. McC. Marsh, R. E. Mason, S. W. Merrell, B. P. Merrick, P. L. Miller, C. H. Morris, A. E. Newhall, M. E. Nichols, J. F. Perkins, G. M. Poland, O. W. Richardson, D. L. Robinson, J. E. Rousmaniere, C. A. Ruggles, C. Sargeant, G. McC. Sargent, J. H. Sherburne, Jr., C. J. Smerdon, A. J. Smith, F. J. Smith, A. C. Spalding, V. Spencer, W. Spencer, H. N. Stearns, M. Stearns, G. R. Stobbs, F. R. Stoddard, Jr., E. W. Stout, H. W. Stowell, J. B. Studley, F. R. Swift, H. Talmange, 2d, F. B. Taylor, V. Taylor, F. A. Turner, Jr., R. P. Vail, E. E. Wakefield, A. Ward, Jr., F. S. Weis, F. O. White, H. Williams, Jr., W. P. Winch, A. W. Wise, E. S. Wise, O. A. Wolcott, R. Wolcott, H. F. Wolff, C. D. Woodbury, L. W. Wright.

Medicine: R. E. Andrews, H. L. Bartlett, E. B. Beckwith, R. S. Benner, F. W. Blatchford, A. F. Chace, T. W. Clarke, P. H. Cook, J. H. Cunningham, Jr., E. Fahnestock, R. Fayerweather, G. A. Fried, J. C. Fyshe, R. Garland, F. Goldfrank, D. W. Granberry, F. B. Granger, J. Halliday, W. C. Hanson, J. T. Harrington, W. Healey, J. Homans, A. G. Kilbourn, J. W. Lane, H. D. Lloyd, D. S. Luce, C. F. McCaffrey, A. J. Nute, E. L. Oliver, A. W. Pappenheimer, H. C. Parker, J. C. Phillips, W. C. Quinby, C. Robbins, T. H. Robbins, W. B. Robbins, H. P. Robinson, W. A. Sherman, P. E. Somers, M. H. Sullivan, W. M. Tyler, B. H. Whitbeck, L. T. Wilson, A. M. Wose.

Ministry: R. M. D. Adams, H. W. Barker, E. F. Chauncey, J. P. Dresser, C. W. Harvey, E. E. Iungerich, V. V. Johnson, S. R. Maxwell, R. R. Miller, W. S. Nichols, R. E. Ramsay, G. H. Reed, M. Savage, C. E. Smith, W. P. Stanley, H. H. D. Sterrett.

Dentistry: G. E. Barrell, H. Clapp.

Teaching: H. I. Allen, E. F. Alexander, T. L. Bramhall, P. S. Brayton, C. C. Brown, (superintendent of schools), F.

N. Brown, (superintendent of schools), R. E. Burke, (assistant superintendent of schools), H. T. Burr, J. W. Byers, A. J. Calderwood, C. F. Chessman, A. J. Collins, I. Damon, I. H. Derby, W. R. Failing, E. V. Gage, A. V. Galbraith, J. S. Galbraith, W. C. Gerrish, C. E. Gilbert, A. F. Griffiths, H. M. Hall, T. E. Hamilton, W. S. Hayes, F. W. C. Hersey, J. Keiley, J. A. H. Keith, H. C. Leonard, C. W. Lockwood, W. H. Lynch, (superintendent of schools), G. N. McDaniels, F. M. Marsh, P. C. Miller, J. A. Moyer, C. E. Overholser, S. Peterson, C. E. Preston, A. J. Ritchie, F. D. Robinson, H. M. Shafer, M. E. Stickney, H. C. Strong, A. M. Sturtevant, E. B. Tewksbury, E. A. Thornhill, E. Webster, C. A. Wheeler, W. A. Wight, C. E. Williams, E. B. Wilson, J. W. Work.

Studying: G. C. Arvedson, H. L. Blackwell, B. Fairchild, J. W. Frothingham, C. W. Hood, M. P. Mason (philosophy), W. Weyman.

Journalism: M. B. Birge, G. C. Edwards, B. F. Griffin, M. M. Lee, C. F. Marden, A. B. Ruhl, J. MacA. Siddall, J. E. Sharkey.

Travelling: C. Thomson.

Not Given: R. W. Baker, J. C. Barron, E. Boody, H. B. Burlingame, T. H. Clarkson, C. H. Cleaves, Jr., S. C. Coleman, W. H. Conroy, F. C. Dickson, A. A. Dority, J. W. Dyar, G. J. Dyer, T. W. Griggs, F. W. Harley, F. W. Harris, R. W. Harris, F. Hayden, W. F. Hollings, H. C. Jenness, R. M. King, H. H. Lay, M. B. Lee, C. N. McCall, A. R. Meyer, S. F. Mills, H. E. O'Brien, L. H. Parsons, R. Perkins, C. P. Poore, H. P. Sanders, H. H. Shaw, G. R. Stratton, C. N. Talbot, Jr., G. R. Taylor, C. E. White, N. T. Wilson.

Library Work: M. Beaman, J. Lucht, E. H. Virgin, F. H. Whitmore.

Geology: L. La Forge, P. S. Smith.

Literary Work: J. B. Connolly (novelist), J. E. Goodman (editor and playwright), C. H. L. Johnston, J. A. Macy, H. M. Rideout (novelist), C. F. Speare, R. M. Wernaer.

Painting or General Art: R. N. Burnham (sculptor), S. M. Chase (painting), H. Haseltine (sculptor), J. Warner Norton.

Music: L. B. Canterbury.

Acting: W. Soderling.

United States Government Service: W. S. Simpson (postmaster), M. X. Sullivan (Department of Agriculture).

Diplomatic or Consular Service: G. Marvin.

Architecture: R. P. Bellows, G. H. Breed, W. B. Coffin, G. B. Ford, L. O. Gifford, G. D. Hall (landscape), E. S. Klein, L. Luquer, C. H. McClare, W. L. Mowll, S. P. Negus (landscape), W. S. Parker, F. L. W. Richardson, H. P. White.

Farming: G. Bancroft, F. T. Jackson, A. B. Lapsley (fruit), J. A. Macy, F. C. Shaw.

Chemistry: C. E. Baldwin, B. E. Schlesinger.

Engineering: E. M. Blake (civil), W. G. Blauvelt (electrical), F. W. Daggett (civil), L. A. DeBlois (electrical), M. Estabrook (mechanical), L. E. Eustis, L. W. Henry, C. R. Howe (mechanical), W. E. McHenry (civil), W. D. Murray, L. Pearse (civil), G. W. Pickard (consulting electrical), M. H. Ryan, J. F. Sanborn (sanitary), A. N. Sheldon (mill), C. F. Sherman (civil), H. E. Shore, J. Ware (civil), G. B. Whitney, S. C. Whorf, S. L. Wonson (civil), R. I. Wright (electrical).

Mining Engineering: E. Lissner, B. A. Tower.

Government Service: J. B. Rorer (Board of Agriculture, British West Indies.)

CLASS DIRECTORY

California

Belmont: I. Damon.
Long Beach: W. J. Desmond.
Los Angeles: H. W. Adams, T. S. Alexander.
Nordhoff: J. H. Barnes.
Redlands: F. W. Harley, H. P. D. Kingsbury, M. Savage.
San Diego: G. Bancroft.
San Francisco: P. Bancroft, S. H. Derby, B. H. Dibblee, S. B. Selander.
San Rafael: J. W. Byers.
Sausalito: H. M. Rideout.

Colorado

Denver: E. P. Costigan, W. P. J. Dinsmoor, G. A. Swan.
Marble: G. B. Taylor.

Connecticut

Bridgeport: J. T. Roche, Jr.
Greenwich: L. W. Wright.
Hartford: D. A. Richardson.
New Haven: H. H. D. Sterrett.
New London: W. V. Goldie.
Norwich: H. Bigelow.
Pomfret Centre: A. B. Lapsley, R. Perkins.
South Windsor: W. S. Farnham.
Stafford Springs: R. M. D. Adams.
Willimantic: H. T. Burr.

Delaware

Wilmington: H. W. Barker.

District of Columbia

Washington: H. F. Barker, M. Beaman, H. C. Jenness, C. H. L. Johnston, L. La Forge, G. Marvin, P. S. Smith, M. X. Sullivan, N. T. Wilson.

FLORIDA

Jacksonville: D. Hunter, Jr.

GEORGIA

Rabun Gap: A. J. Ritchie.

IDAHO

Lewiston: C. F. Chessman.
Richfield: E. M. Blake.

ILLINOIS

Bloomington: B. A. Franklin.
Cairo: J. Halliday.
Chicago: W. Adams, A. S. Allen, E. B. Beckwith, F. K. Bryant, S. C. Coleman, W. R. Dickinson, D. Fairbank, A. G. Fay, H. W. Finney, W. Healy, H. M. Huxley, W. Meriam, L. Pearse, W. M. Scudder, A. T. Simonds, F. J. Snite, A. W. Wise, E. S. Wise.
Decatur: P. L. Miller, R. P. Vail.
Evanston: W. W. McNeil.
Hubbard Woods: R. J. Dunham.
Kewanee: H. H. Lay.
Lockport: J. Warner Norton.
Princeville: P. Auten.
Riverside: H. Coonley.
Winnetka: F. W. Blatchford.

INDIANA

Indianapolis: F. C. Dickson, H. C. Parker, E. W. Stout, W. J. Taylor, C. E. Williams.
La Porte: G. R. Taylor.
Muncie: C. S. Davis.

IOWA

Davenport: T. W. Griggs, R. E. Ramsay.
Dubuque: M. B. Lee.
Ottumwa: C. S. Harper.

KANSAS

Blue Rapids: C. C. Brown.
Lawrence: A. M. Sturtevant.

LOUISIANA

New Orleans: S. I. Hyman, F. S. Weis.

MAINE

Bangor: F. Merrill.
Ellsworth: R. E. Mason.
Island Falls: C. E. Milliken.
Lewiston: A. J. Collins.
Livermore Centre: F. T. Jackson.
Portland: H. I. Allen, W. F. Hollings, P. E. Somers, F. Tomlinson.

MARYLAND

Baltimore: R. Fayerweather, T. H. Robbins.

MASSACHUSETTS

Abington: J. P. Dresser.
Amesbury: W. G. Pickard, H. P. Robinson.
Barre: H. A. Irish.
Belmont: G. H. Reed.
Beverly: W. W. Hill, C. D. Woodberry.
Billerica: F. F. Collier, J. B. Holden, Jr.
Boston: A. Adams, J. F. Bacon, G. E. Barrell, E. B. Barstow, R. P. Bellows, H. L. Blackwell, R. F. Blake, C. W. Blood, E. A. Boardman, E. D. Brooks, P. L. Brown, H. L. Burnham, J. A. Burnham, Jr., P. L. Burrill, L. B. Canterbury, P. G. Carleton, W. W. Carter, L. R. Chapman, H. Clapp, R. Clapp, E. P. Clark, T. H. Clarkson, F. D. Cochrane, A. B. Craven, G. G. Crocker, Jr., J. H. Cunningham, Jr., J. F. Curtis, L. A. DeBlois, M. Donald, J. W. Farley, H. H. Fish, P. French, J. A. George, F. E. Gibbs, J. L. Gleason, G. A. Goodridge, D. Gordon, F. B. Granger, A. S. Graves, G. D. Hall, R. W. Harris, W. C. Harris, P. D. Haughton, J. Homans, R. G. Hopkins, C. R. Howe, I. L. Jameson, C. R. Lamson, R. A. Leeson, H. D. Lloyd, L. Luquer, A. R. MacKusick, M. P. Mason, S. P. Negus, G. A. Nelson, M. E. Nichols, F. R. Nourse, J. Nowell, E. L. Oliver, W. R. D. Owen, W. S. Parker, J. F. Perkins, J. C. Phillips, W. Pierce, G. M. Poland, C. H. Pond, F. H. Purington, W. C. Quinby, E. W. Remick, O. W. Richardson, C. Robbins, W. B. Robbins, C. Sargeant, G. M. Sargent, R. G. Shaw, Jr., S. P. Shaw, Jr., E. B. Stanwood, J. B. Studley, E. B. Terhune, H. S. Thompson, P. M. Tucker, F. A. Turner, Jr., F. Vorenberg, H. A. Wheeler, F. O. White, H. P. White, H. D. H. Williams, R. W. Williams, L. T. Wilson, W. P. Winch, R. Wolcott, W. F. Wyeth, E. A. Young.

Bourne: C. A. Parker.

Brockton: F. H. Whitmore.

Brookline: R. N. Burnham, W. B. Coffin, A. B. Ewing, C. W. Harvey, H. H. Hill, J. C. Howe, J. Lovejoy, A. R. Meyer, B. E. Schlesinger, J. H. Sherburne, Jr., F. B. Taylor, H. Williams, Jr.

Cambridge: R. E. Andrews, F. D. Brannan, J. L. Crowley, J. L. Dyer, A. L. Fish, C. E. Gilbert, W. C. Hanson, F. W. C. Hersey, H. E. Hildreth, C. W. Hood, H. James, Jr., R. M. King, C. H. McClare, W. L. Mowll, C. P. Poore, H. N. Stearns, F. E. Thayer, J. Ware, R. M. Wernaer, E. B. Wilson.

Canton: E. B. Draper, D. S. Luce, S. V. Morse.

Charles River Village: F. L. W. Richardson.

Charlestown: M. E. Leen.

Chestnut Hill: P. Burrage.

Concord: C. C. Butters, A. V. Galbraith, P. Jewell, 2d, R. F. Jones.

Dedham: R. W. Baker.

Dorchester: C. L. Carr, H. N. Cheney, J. B. Connolly, J. J. Donahue, J. W. Lane, C. H. Morris.

East Dennis: W. Ross.

Everett: G. A. Nelson.

Fairhaven: F. M. Marsh.

Framingham: H. B. Hayden.

Gardner: W. D. Smith.
Georgetown: R. B. Brewster.
Gloucester: R. Garland.
Greenfield: S. R. Maxwell.
Groton: A. G. Kilbourn.
Haverhill: O. J. Carlton, S. M. Chase, C. M. Foster.
Hingham: W. L. Barnard, C. L. Bouvé, G. A. Cole, C. H. Knowlton.
Jamaica Plain: L. F. Buff, W. J. Osborn, R. W. Sherwin.
Lexington: W. M. Tyler.
Lowell: A. C. Spalding.
Lynn: J. J. Doherty, L. O. Gifford, P. M. Keene, A. E. Newhall, E. Webster.
Malden: B. F. Griffin, M. S. Holbrook.
Marlborough: D. H. Fletcher.
Medfield: L. K. Conant.
Medford: M. B. Birge, G. P. Bryant, E. E. Elder.
Melrose: H. H. Kimball.
Melrose Highlands: A. A. Dority.
Milton: J. E. Brooks, C. F. Marden, J. F. Perkins.
Natick: C. K. Bush.
Newburyport: E. Foss, J. T. G. Nichols, Jr.
Newton: E. O. Childs, Jr., C. S. Ensign, Jr., R. Merrill.
Newton Centre: W. B. Donham.
Newtonville: E. E. Wakefield.
Norfolk: D. Tucker.
Northampton: C. A. Wheeler.
North Wilmington: J. W. Hathaway.
Quincy: G. E. Adams, H. P. Dowst, S. C. Whorf.
Rockport: C. H. Cleaves.
Roxbury: J. P. Cotton, C. R. Howe, E. Lissner, W. S. Nichols, J. E. Rousmaniere.
Salem: G. C. Arvedson, S. H. Batchelder, E. D. Harlow, L. E. Hurd.
Somerville: C. F. McCaffrey.
South Boston: R. E. Burke, F. W. Falvey.
South Framingham: H. S. Dennison.

Springfield: R. S. Benner, R. A. Bidwell.
Swampscott: G. B. Whitney.
Taunton: C. J. Smerdon.
Watertown: L. W. Brooks, S. Peterson, G. R. Stratton.
Wayland: W. L. Raymond, E. H. Sears.
Wellesley: H. H. Shaw, R. G. Shaw, Jr.
Wellesley Hills: H. P. Macomber.
West Medford: P. S. Brayton.
West Newton: G. M. McCoy.
Weston: R. B. Baker.
West Roxbury: C. E. Preston.
West Somerville: H. B. Burlingame, J. L. Gleason.
Westwood: A. W. Rice.
Williamstown: J. S. Galbraith.
Winthrop: E. E. Perry.
Worcester: C. P. Adams, E. G. Adams, P. H. Cook, J. A. Denholm, T. K. Faxon, C. A. Hamilton, G. R. Stobbs.
Wrentham: J. A. Macy.

MICHIGAN

Ann Arbor: J. A. Moyer.
Detroit: G. Duffield, F. J. Mooney.
Grand Rapids: B. P. Merrick.
Grosse Pointe Farms: F. M. Alger, J. W. Dyar.
Houghton: D. L. Robinson.

MINNESOTA

Deephaven: W. C. Burton.
Duluth: H. C. Strong.
Minneapolis: I. H. Derby.
St. Paul: W. J. Beggs, E. P. Davis, H. P. Sanders.

MISSISSIPPI

Gulfport: J. A. Jones.
McComb: C. F. Sherman.

MISSOURI

Columbia: T. E. Hamilton.
Marshall: W. C. Gordon.

Springfield: L. Ullmann.
St. Louis: W. D. Becker, D. K. Catlin, T. E. Catlin, E. S. Klein, G. N. McDaniels, W. E. McHenry, R. McKittrick, O. F. Richards, F. K. Smith, G. S. Tiffany.

MONTANA
Butte: B. A. Tower.
Dillon: C. A. Ruggles.

NEBRASKA
Grand Island: E. J. Wolbach.
Omaha: C. H. Brown.

NEW HAMPSHIRE
Concord: V. V. Johnson.
Manchester: A. B. Carpenter, W. P. Straw.
Portsmouth: W. P. Stanley.

NEW JERSEY
Bound Brook: C. F. Speare.
East Orange: D. W. Granberry, T. L. Holmes.
Elizabeth: L. E. Ware.
Englewood: C. Blaikie.
Glen Ridge: T. L. Bramhall.
Grantwood: J. Keiley.
Netherwood: H. Talmadge, 2d.
Newark: B. W. Keen.
Plainfield: C. W. Lockwood.
Short Hills: J. T. Harrington, C. N. Talbot, Jr.
Verona: F. N. Brown.

NEW MEXICO
Albuquerque: H. Clarke.

NEW YORK
Brooklyn: H. C. Leonard, J. Lucht, C. E. Overholser, F. D. Robinson, E. W. Roovers, D. F. Urquhart, Jr., W. A. Wight.

Buffalo: H. C. Laverack, G. C. Vedder.
Fishkill: F. C. Shaw.
Hampton: F. W. Harris.
Keesville: O. A. Wolcott.
Long Island: Cedarhurst: A. M. Pappenheimer.
Huntington: J. E. Webster.
Mt. Kisco: E. F. Chauncey.
New York: G. F. Baker, Jr., H. P. Bale, J. C. Barron, S. S. Beardsley, W. G. Blauvelt, E. Boody, G. H. Breed, J. F. Brice, E. B. Brown, W. P. Burden, C. S. Butler, A. R. Campbell, A. F. Chase, T. W. Clarke, W. H. Conroy, C. S. Cooke, B. Curtis, F. W. Daggett, P. Davis, C. W. Dayton, H. B. Dean, G. K. Denny, G. J. Dyer, W. D. Eaton, N. Ehrmann, M. Estabrook, E. Fahnestock, B. Fairchild, D. H. Farr, J. C. Feder, R. L. Fernald, H. W. Forbes, J. D. Forbes, G. B. Ford, G. H. Foster, W. P. Frank, G. A. Fried, J. W. Frothingham, W. C. Gerrish, R. de K. Gilder, F. Goldfrank, W. V. Goldie, J. E. Goodman, W. H. Grant, H. M. Hall, E. K. Haskell, L. W. Henry, R. L. Hoguet, M. Holmes, M. Hyman, R. A. Jackson, W. S. Kendall, K. H. Kompfe, F. Lawrence, E. H. Litchfield, C. N. McCall, J. C. McCall, G. G. McMurtry, C. C. Mann, R. McC. Marsh, E. R. Marvin, B. Matteson, R. R. Miller, S. F. Mills, W. D. Murray, J. Watkinson Norton, A. J. Nute, H. E. O'Brien, A. G. Odell, W. C. Roper, A. B. Ruhl, F. A. Russell, M. H. Ryan, H. Sampson, Jr., E. A. Seasongood, J. MacA. Siddall, C. L. Slocum, W. Soderling, J. A. Smith, V. Spencer, M. Stearns, F. R. Stoddard, Jr., G. L. Stowell, Jr., H. W. Stowell, F. C. Sutro, F. R. Swift, V. Taylor, E. B. Tewkesbury, G. W. Thompson, E H. Virgin, A. Ward, Jr., B. H. Whitbeck, C. E. White, R. A. White, C. M. Whitman, M. D. Whitman, H. F. Whitney, H. F. Wolff.
Niagara: W. Leshner.
Northport: A. Cockcroft.
Poughkeepsie: R. F. Butts, J. F. Sanborn.
Richmond Hill: W. R. Failing.
Rye: H. D. Montgomery.

Staten Island:
New Brighton: T. Garrett, Jr.
West New Brighton: C. E. Baldwin.
Syracuse: G. H. Denison, R. H. Joy, A. M. Wose.
Tuxedo Park: L. B. Preston.
Westchester: C. E. White.

OHIO

Avondale: A. L. Wyler.
Cincinnati: E. F. Alexander, A. H. Boynton, S. W. Merrell, W. G. Silberberg, C. H. Stephens.
Cleveland: S. C. Cutler, R. I. Wright.
Granville: M. E. Stickney.
Toledo: G. B. Kerper,
Youngstown: G. E. Dudley.

OKLAHOMA

Shawnee: S. P. Freeling.

OREGON

Ashland: H. M. Shafer.

PENNSYLVANIA

Bryn Athyn: E. E. Iungerich.
Germantown: W. G. Morse.
Grove City: A. J. Calderwood.
Kane: J. W. McGurk.
Landsdowne: R. C. Brown.
Lock Haven: R. P. Cushing.
Merion Station: C. Thomson.
Philadelphia: E. A. Fleisher, A. S. Harding, M. M. Lee, P. C. Miller, L. H. Parsons, F. R. Plumb, A. G. Scattergood, H. E. Shore, W. Spencer, W. L. Thompson.
Pittsburg: C. Bowker, R. O. Hodges.
State College: E. V. Gage.

RHODE ISLAND

Central Falls: G. R. Humes.
Newport: W. A. Sherman, M. H. Sullivan.

Providence: A. N. Sheldon.
Woonsocket: T. Nickerson.

South Carolina
Charleston: D. McK. Frost.

South Dakota
Brookings: W. S. Hayes.
Huron: J. McD. Campbell.

Tennessee
Greenfield: H. C. Ward.
Memphis: F. Hayden.
Nashville: J. W. Work.

Texas
Dallas: G. C. Edwards, W. S. Simpson.
Sebastian: H. L. Bartlett.

Utah
Provo: E. A. Thornhill.

Vermont
Halifax: C. E. Smith.

Virginia
Norfolk: W. R. Mayo, Jr.

Washington
Bellingham: A. P. Dean.
Hoquiam: H. B. Hewitt.
Seattle: W. S. Fitz, S. Otis.
Spokane: R. B. Harris.
Tacoma: J. C. Dennis.

Wisconsin
Oshkosh: J. A. H. Keith.

CLASS OF 1899—THIRD REPORT

HAWAII

Honolulu: J. D. Dole, A. F. Griffiths.
Wailuku: A. M. Nowell.

BRITISH WEST INDIES

Trinidad: J. B. Rorer.

CANADA

Belleville, Ontario: L. G. Coleman.
St. Stephen, New Brunswick: F. B. Hill.

ENGLAND

London: C. D. Huntington.

FRANCE

Asnières: J. E. Sharkey.
Paris: H. Haseltine, W. Weyman.

INDIA

Bombay: W. J. Gunn.

MEXICO

City of Mexico: W. H. Lynch, S. L. Wonson.
Sonora: J. M. Lawton.

SIAM

Bangkok: J. C. Fyshe.

ADDRESSES

Adams, A., 50 State St., Boston.
Adams, C. P., 349 Main St., Worcester.
Adams, E. G., 349 Main St., Worcester.
76 Elm St., Worcester.
Adams, G. E., 71 Upland Road, Quincy.
801 Kimball Building, Boston.
Adams, H. W., Jr., 826 H. W. Hellman Building, Los Angeles, Cal.
Adams, L. P., La Luz, Guanajuato, Mexico.
Adams, Rev. R. M. D., "The Highlands," Rowley, R. F. D. No. 1.
Stafford Springs, Conn.
Adams, W., 103 Michigan St., Chicago, Ill.
Alexander, E. F., 341 Emming St., Cincinnati, O.
Brighton Bank Building, Cincinnati, O.
Alexander, T., 307-8-9 Merchants Trust Building, Los Angeles, Cal.
Alexandre, F. V., Larchmont Yacht Club, Larchmont, N. Y.
Alger, F. M., Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich.
Union Trust Building, Detroit, Mich.
Allen, A. S., 334 Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill.
Allen, H. I., 16 Bolton St., Woodfords Station, Portland, Me.
Allyn, R. B., 11 Berkeley St., Cambridge.
Andrews, Dr. R. E., 1044 Massachusetts Ave., Cambridge.
Quincy Chambers, 1218 Massachusetts Ave., Cambridge.
Arvedson, G. C., Salem.
Austin, A. J.
Auten, P., Princeville, Ill.
Bacon, J. F., 160 Tremont St., Boston.
Baker, G. F., Jr., 2 Wall St., New York, N. Y.
Baker, L. T., 37 Newbury St., Boston.
Baker, R. B., Weston.
Baker, R. W., 58 Village Ave., Dedham.

Baldwin, C. E., Bergenport Chemical Works, Bayonne, N. J.
15 St. Austin's Place, West New Brighton, Staten Island, N. Y.
Bale, H. P., "The Benedick," 80 Washington Square East, New York, N. Y.
Bancroft, G., 1251 Fifth St., San Diego, Cal.
Bancroft, P., University Club, San Francisco, Cal.
26 Montgomery St., San Francisco, Cal.
Barker, H. F., 74 Greenleaf St., Quincy.
233 New Jersey Ave., N. W., Washington, D. C.
Barker, Rev. H. W., "Living Church Annual," Milwaukee, Wis.
Wilmington, Del.
Barnard, W. L., 31 State St., Boston.
"Good Holding Ground," Hingham.
Barnes, J. H., Grove City, Pa.
Nordhoff, Ventura County, Cal.
Barrell, Dr. G. E., York Corner, Me.
179 Newbury St., Boston.
Barron, J. C., 34 Nassau St., New York, N. Y.
Hawarth, N. J.
Barstow, E. B., Hotel Canterbury, Charlesgate West, Boston.
50 Congress St., Boston.
Bartlett, Dr. H. L. Sebastian, Cameron County, Tex.
Batchelder, J. T., 418 Tremont Building, Boston.
Batchelder, S. H., 7 Cedar St., Salem.
Beaman, M., 58 Lake View Ave., Cambridge.
Law Library of Congress, Washington, D. C.
Beardsley, S. S., New York Cotton Exchange, New York, N. Y.
33 New St., New York, N. Y.
Becker, W. D., Security Building, St. Louis, Mo.
4048 Lindell Boulevard, St. Louis, Mo.
Beckwith, Dr. E. B., 766 West Adams St., Chicago, Ill.
Beggs, W. J., Polk, Pa.
378 Lookout Place, St. Paul, Minn.
Bellows, R. P., 29 Hereford St., Boston.
Benjamin, J. M.
Benner, Dr. R. S., 2 Temple St., Springfield.

Best, L. A.
Bidwell, R. A., 148 Main St., Springfield.
35 Avon Place, Springfield.
Bigelow, H., 30 Gloucester St., Boston; P. O. Box 5104, Boston.
62 Broad St., Norwich, Conn.
Birge, M. B., Boston American, 82 Summer St., Boston.
Blackwell, H. L., care Treasurer Harvard University, 50 State St., Boston.
Blaikie, C., Englewood, N. J.
111 Broadway, New York, N. Y.
Blake, E. M. Richfield, Lincoln County, Idaho.
302 Overland Building, Boise, Idaho.
Blake, R. F., 212 Beacon St., Boston.
Blatchford, Dr. F. W., Winnetka, Ill.
Blauvelt, W. G., care American Telephone and Telegraph Co., 15 Dey St., New York, N. Y.
269 West 73d St., New York, N. Y.
Blood, C. W., 60 State St., Boston.
Boardman, E. A., 60 State St., Boston.
Bonaparte, J. N. C.
Boody, E., 111 Broadway, New York, N. Y.
Bouvé, C. L., Hingham.
113 Devonshire St., Boston.
Bowker, C., 3548 California Ave., Pittsburg, N. S., Pa.
Boynton, A. H., care The John Van Range Co., Cincinnati, O.
1714 Clayton St., Cincinnati, O.
Bramhall, T. L., 113 Moreland St., Roxbury.
210 Hillside Ave., Glen Ridge, N. J.
Branch, A. E.
Brannan, F. D., 3 Berkeley St., Cambridge.
Brayton, P. S., 281 High St., Bristol, R. I.
High School, Medford.
Breed, G. H., 1026 Fourth Ave., Louisville, Ky.
30 West 24th St., New York, N. Y.
Brewster, R. B., Georgetown.
Brice, J. F., 693 Fifth Ave., New York, N. Y.

Brooks, E. D., 51 Willow St., Dedham.
18 Tremont St., Boston.
Brooks, J. E., 17 Water St., Boston.
229 Adams St., Milton.
Brooks, L. W., 705 Main St., Cambridge A.
103 Langdon Ave., Watertown.
Brown, C. C., 1747 North Lawrence Ave., Wichita, Kan.
Blue Rapids, Kan.
Brown, C. H., 101 South 32d Ave., Omaha, Neb.
Brown, C. T.
Brown, E. B., 7 Wyman St., West Medford.
545 West 148th St., New York, N. Y.
Brown, F. N., Verona, N. J.
Brown, P. L., 8 Pemberton Sq., Boston.
Brown, R. C., Westtown, Chester County, Pa.
195 North Owen Ave., Lansdowne, Pa.
Bruguière, E. A., Jr., 520 Montgomery St., San Francisco, Cal.
Bryant, F. K., 3000 Lake Park, Chicago, Ill.
Bryant, G. P., 18 Tremont St., Boston.
375 Salem St., Medford.
Buff, L. F., care Buff & Buff Manufacturing Co., Jamaica Plain.
Burden, W. P., 908 Fifth Ave., New York.
Burke, R. E., 156 M. St., South Boston.
Burlingame, H. B., 25 Day St., West Somerville.
Burnham, H. L., care Edward K. Burnham, Gloucester.
20 St. Stephen St., Boston.
Burnham, J. A., Jr., 70 Kilby St., Boston.
Burnham, R. N., care Arthur Burnham, 89 State St., Boston.
210 Winthrop Road, Brookline.
Burr, H. T., Normal School, Willimantic, Conn.
Burrage, P., 137 Suffolk Road, Chestnut Hill.
Burrill, P. L., 49 Federal St., Boston.
Rockland.
Burton, W. C., Deephaven, Minn.
Bush, C. K., Everett St., Natick.
Butler, C. S., St. James, Long Island, N. Y.
125 East 38th St., New York, N. Y.

Butters, C. C., 47 Main St., Concord.
Butts, R. F., 226 Union St., Poughkeepsie, N. Y.
Byers, J. W., Box 491, San Rafael, Cal.
Calderwood, Prof. A. J., Grove City, Pa.
Campbell, A. R., Harvard Club, 27 West 44th St., New York, N. Y.
25 Broad St., New York, N. Y.
Campbell, J. McD., Huron, S. D.
Campbell, M. V.
Campbell, S., 9 Bigelow St., Cambridge.
Canterbury, L. B., 218 Tremont St., Boston.
12 Follen St., Boston.
Carleton, P. G., 173 Jackson St., Lawrence.
1014 Exchange Building, 53 State St., Boston.
Carlton, O. J., 83 Merrimack St., Haverhill.
Carpenter, A. B., Manchester, N. H.
Carr, C. L., 13 Everett St., Dorchester.
15 Beacon St., Boston.
Carter, W. W., 43 Chestnut St., Boston.
Catlin, D. K., Security Building, St. Louis, Mo.
Catlin, T. E., Security Building, St. Louis, Mo.
Chace, Dr. A. F., 393 West End Ave., New York, N. Y.
Chapman, L. R., 2 Albemarle Chambers, Albemarle St., Boston.
18 Tremont St., Boston.
Chase, S. M., 4 Mt. Vernon St., Haverhill.
Chauncey, Rev. E. F., St. Mark's Rectory, Mt. Kisco, N. Y.
Cheney, H. N., 24 West St., Boston.
212 Savin Hill Ave., Dorchester.
Chesley, H. G., 173 Woodland Rd., Auburndale.
Chessman, C. F., care F. E. Yeager, Natick.
530 Fifth Ave., Lewiston, Idaho.
Childs, E. O., Jr., Lock Box 5, Newton.
Churchill, J. B., 25 Grove St., Chelsea.
Clapp, Dr. H., 238 Newbury St., Boston.
Clapp, R., 95 Milk St., Boston.
Clark, E. P., Harvard Club, New York, N. Y.
40 Beacon St., Boston.

Clarke, H., Albuquerque, N. Mex.
Clarke, Dr. T. W., 96 Park Ave., New York, N. Y.
Clarkson, T. H., 43 Salisbury Rd., Brookline.
384 Washington St., Boston.
Cleaves, C. H., Rockport.
Cochrane, F. D., 55 Kilby St., Boston.
59 Bay State Road, Boston.
Cockcroft, A., Northport, N. Y.
Coffin, W. B., 433 Walnut St., Brookline.
Colbert, J. J.
Cole, G. A., Hingham.
50 Congress St., Boston.
Coleman, L. G., Harvard Club, 27 West 44th St., New York, N. Y.
Belleville, Ontario, Canada.
Coleman, S. C., 594 East Division St., Chicago, Ill.
23 Lake Shore Drive, Chicago, Ill.
Collier, F. F., Billerica.
Collins, A. J., Lewiston, Me.
Conant, L. K., Medfield.
Conklin, F. M., 219 Berkeley Place, Brooklyn, N. Y.
Connolly, J. B., Charles Scribner's Sons, New York, N. Y.
44 Hewins St., Dorchester.
Conroy, W. H., 66 Liberty St., New York, N. Y.
Rye, N. Y.
Cook, Dr. P. H., 771 Main St., Worcester.
Cooke, C. S., 2 Wall St., New York, N. Y.
Coonley, H., care Coonley Manufacturing Co., Clyde, Ill.
Riverside, Ill.
Costigan, E. P., 810-814 Ernest and Crommer Building, Denver, Colo.
Cotton, J. P., 77 Walnut Park, Roxbury.
Craven, A. B., 218 Stevens St., Lowell.
104 Chestnut St., Boston.
Creden, B. T., 940 Broadway, South Boston.
Crocker, G. G., Jr., 1023 Old South Building, Boston.
Crowley, J. L., 54 Fairmont St., Cambridge.

Cunningham, Dr. J. H., Jr., University Club, Boston.
829 Boylston St., Boston.
Currie, B. W.
Curtis, B., 33 West 69th St., New York, N. Y.
Curtis, J. F., 28 Mt. Vernon St., Boston.
Cushing, H. H.
Cushing, R. P., care S. A. Cushing, Rocky Nook, Hingham.
Lock Haven, Pa.
Cutler, B. S.
Cutler, S. C., 310 Walnut St., Brookline.
University Club, Cleveland, O.
Daggett, F. W., 1010 Paddock Building, Boston.
170 Broadway, New York, N. Y.
Damon, I., 8 Wharf St., Quincy.
Belmont School, Belmont, Cal.
Davis, C. S., 330 East Washington St., Muncie, Ind.
Davis, E. P., 420 Germania Life Building, St. Paul, Minn.
Davis, Dr. F. A., 45 Newport St., Dorchester.
Davis, P., 57 West 48th St., New York, N. Y.
32 Nassau St., New York, N. Y.
Dayton, C. W., Jr., 27 William St., New York, N. Y.
13 Mt. Morris Park West, New York, N. Y.
Dean, A. P., Bellingham, Wash.
Dean, H. B., care Rev. Benjamin Angier Dean, East Hartland, Conn.
Nation Press, 20 Vesey St., New York, N. Y.
De Blois, L. A., 48 Gloucester St., Boston.
703 du Pont Building Wilmington, Del.
Denholm, J. A., 69 Hammond St., Worcester.
Denison, G. H., 5 The Snowdon, Syracuse, N. Y.
The Heffron Co., Syracuse, N. Y.
Dennison, H. S., South Framingham.
Denny, G. K., 62 Cedar St., New York, N. Y.
Derby, Prof. I. H., Lyme Center, N. H.
2157 Commonwealth Ave., St. Paul, Minn.
Derby, S. H., University Club, San Francisco, Cal.
1101 Merchants Exchange Building, San Francisco, Cal.

Desmond, W. J., 414 First National Bank Building, Long Beach, Cal.
Diaz, M. D., Obras Publicas, Havana, Cuba.
Dibblee, B. H., care E. H. Rollins & Sons, First National Bank Building, San Francisco, Cal.
Dickinson, W. R., 1605 Marquette Building, Chicago, Ill.
496 Chestnut St., Chicago, Ill.
Dickson, F. C., 209 American National Bank Building, Indianapolis, Ind.
Dinsmoor, W. P. J., Keene, N. H.
1748 Broadway, Denver, Colo.
Doherty, J. J., 294 Washington St., Lynn.
Dole, J. D., Honolulu, Hawaii.
Donald, M., 84 State St., Boston.
Mattapan P. O., Milton.
Donahue, J. J., Hamilton Street, Dorchester.
Donham, W. B., Hobart Hill, Newton Centre.
Old Colony Trust Co., Boston.
Dority, A. A., 26 Natalie Ave., Melrose Highlands.
Dowst, H. P., 44 Federal St., Boston.
10 High St., Quincy.
Draper, E. B., Canton.
15 State St., Boston.
Dresser, Rev. J. P., Abington.
Dudley, G. E., Youngstown, O.
Duffield, G., 407 Union Trust Building, Detroit, Mich.
203 Sayburn Ave., Detroit, Mich.
Duffy, F. J., Waldo, Kan.
Dunham, R. J., Hubbard Woods, Ill.
Durand, G. H., 816 Pine St., Yankton, S. D.
Durgin, A. F., Bradford.
Dutton, G. D., 31 West 23d St., New York, N. Y.
Dyar, J. W., Grosse Pointe Farms, Wayne County, Mich.
Dyer, G. J., 16 West 50th St., New York, N. Y.
Dyer, J. L., 72 Wendell St., Cambridge.
Eaton, W. D., 25 Broad St., New York, N. Y.
Edwards, G. C., 157 Parker St., Dallas, Tex.
Ehrmann, N., 11 West 58th St., New York, N. Y.

Elder, E. E., 235 Main St., Medford.
6 Beacon St., Boston.
Emery, A. B.
Endicott, T. H., 131 Marlborough St., Boston.
147 Milk St., Boston.
Ensign, C. S., Jr., 30 Court St., Boston.
104 Eldredge St., Newton.
Estabrook, M., 27 West 44th St., New York, N. Y.
Eustis, L. E., care Frank I. Eustis, 17 Highland St., Cambridge.
147 Milk St., Boston.
Ewing A. B., 1651 Beacon St., Brookline.
Care Bond & Goodwin, 35 Congress St., Boston.
Eyre, A. S., 15 Charles St., Boston.
Fahnestock, Dr. E., care Fahnestock & Co., 2 Wall St., New York, N. Y.
61 West 50th St., New York, N. Y.
Failing, W. R., 388 Welling St., Richmond Hill, N. Y.
Fairbank, D., 6106 La Salle St., Chicago, Ill.
Fairchild, B., Knickerbocker Club, 319 Fifth Ave., New York, N. Y.
120 East 36th St., New York, N. Y.
Falvey, F. W., 948 Broadway, South Boston.
Farley, J. W., 334-8 Tremont Building, Boston.
Farnham, W. S., South Windsor, Conn.
Farquhar, H. G.
Farr, D. H., care M. Knoedler & Co., 355 Fifth Ave., New York, N. Y.
983 Park Ave., New York, N. Y.
Faxon, T. K., 8 Ash St., Spencer.
311 Main St., Worcester.
Fay, A. G., 143 Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill.
Fayerweather, Dr. R., care Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, Md.
714 Park Ave., Baltimore, Md.
Feder, J. C., Hotel Ansonia, New York, N. Y.
42 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

Fernald, R. L., Orono, Me.
70 Fifth Ave., New York, N. Y.
Finney, H. W., 205 La Salle St., Chicago, Ill.
P. O. Box 495, Chicago, Ill.
Fish, A. L., 119 Oxford St., Cambridge.
Fish, H. H., 86 Equitable Building, 67 Milk St., Boston.
Fitz, W. S., 98 Homer St., Newton Centre.
The Fairchild, Seattle, Wash.
Fitzgerald, C. G., 36 Quincy St., Roxbury.
Fleisher, E. A., 28 South 6th St., Philadelphia, Pa.
Fleming, G. E., 741 Fifth Ave., New York, N. Y.
111 Broadway, New York, N. Y.
Fletcher, D. H., 40 Pleasant St., Marlborough.
Forbes, H. W., Canton, N. Y.
105 West 163d St., New York, N. Y.
Forbes, J. D., New York Stock Exchange, New York, N. Y.
54 West 54th St., New York, N. Y.
Ford, G. B., Harvard Club, New York, N. Y.
347 Fifth Ave., New York, N. Y.
Foss, E., 76 State St., Newburyport.
71 Lime St., Newburyport.
Foster, C. M., 20 Haverhill St., Haverhill.
57 Howard St., Haverhill.
Foster, G. H., 143 Liberty St., New York, N. Y.
Goshen, Orange County, N. Y.
Frank, W. P., 61 East 82d St., New York, N. Y.
15 William St., New York, N. Y.
Franklin, B. A., Unity Building, Bloomington, Ill.
506 East Washington St., Bloomington, Ill.
Freeling, S. P., Shawnee, Okla.
French, P., 200 Cmomonwealth Ave., Boston.
Fried, Dr. G. A., 47 West 87th St., New York, N. Y.
Frost, D. McK., 39 East Battery, Charleston, S. C.
Frothingham, J. W., care John S. Frothingham, 68 Broad St., New York, N. Y.
Fuller, M. B.

Fyshe, Dr. J. C., care Thomas Fyshe, 70 McTavish St., Montreal, P. Q.
Bangkok, Siam.
Gage, E. V., Bradford.
State College, Pa.
Galbraith, A. V., Middlesex School, Concord.
Galbraith, J. S., Williams College, Williamstown.
Garland, Dr. R., 96 Middle St., Gloucester.
Garrett, T., 2 Donald St., New Brighton, N. Y.
Hall of Records, New York, N. Y.
George, J. A., 6 Beacon St., Boston.
Gerrish, W. C., Harvard Club, New York, N. Y.
Hartley Hall, Amsterdam Ave. and 115th St., New York, N. Y.
Gibbs, F. E., Jr., 26 Franklin St., Boston.
Gifford, L. O., 39 Hawthorne St., Lynn.
Gilbert, C. E., 44 Dana St., Cambridge.
Gilder, R. deK., care Harvard Club, 27 West 44th St., New York, N. Y.
Care Crocker-Wheeler Co., Ampere, N. J.
Gleason, J. L., 6 Dow St., West Somerville.
200 Summer St., Boston.
Glenn, B. W., 19 Wells Building, Wilkes Barre, Pa.
Goldfrank, Dr. F., 12 East 81st St., New York, N. Y.
Goldie, W. V., 80 William St., New York, N. Y.
Goodman, J. E., care Selwyn & Co., 1402 Broadway, New York, N. Y.
Goodridge, G. A., 83 Franklin St., Boston.
Goodwin, M. F., Wolfboro, N. H.
Gordon, D., 82 Devonshire St., Boston.
Gordon, W. C., 342 East North St., Marshall, Mo.
Graham, J. B.
Granberry, Dr. D. W., 48 Harrison St., East Orange, N. J.
408 Main St., Orange, N. J.
Granger, Dr. F. B., 591 Beacon St., Boston.
Grant, W. H., High School of Commerce, 155 West 65th St., New York, N. Y.
Graves, A. S., 307 Pemberton Building, Boston.

Griffin, B. F., 62 Las Casas St., Malden.
Griffin, M. E.
Griffiths, A. F., Oahu College, Honolulu, Hawaii.
Griggs, T. W., 741 Brady St., Davenport, Iowa.
Gunn, W. J., 63 Kellogg St., Portland, Me.
National Bank of India, Bombay, India.
Hall, E. J., Calumet, Mich.
Hall, G. D., care Brett & Hall, 31 Beacon St., Boston.
Hall, H. M., 210 East 17th St., New York, N. Y.
Halliday, J., Cairo, Ill.
Hamilton, C. A., 35 Fruit St., Worcester.
946 Slater Building, 390 Main St., Worcester.
Hamilton, T. E., 72 Eagle St., Fredonia, N. Y.
1111 University Ave., Columbia, Mo.
Hanson, Dr. W. C., 36 Gray St., Cambridge.
Harding, A. S., 5960 Woodbine Ave., Philadelphia, Pa.
Hardy, C. W.
Hardy, T. S., 421 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.
Harley, F. W., Redlands, Cal.
Harlow, E. D., 210 Lafayette St., Salem.
Harper, C. S., 216-222 Commercial St., Ottumwa, Iowa.
311 Marion St., Ottumwa, Iowa.
Harper, W. R.
Harrington, Dr. J. T., Short Hills, N. J.
Harris, F. W., Harris & Lawton, Jewellers Building, Boston.
Hampton, Washington County, N. Y.
Harris, R. B., Box 1016, Spokane, Wash.
Paulsen Building, Spokane, Wash.
Harris, R. W., 131 State St., Boston.
Harris, W. C., care Harris & Lawton, 373 Washington St., Boston.
Harvey, Rev. C. W., High and Irving Sts., Brookline.
Haseltine, H., 20 rue Jasmin, Paris, France.
Haskell, E. K., 27 West 44th St., New York, N. Y.
Hathaway, J. W., North Wilmington.
Haughton, P. D., 50 State St., Boston.
Cottage St., Brookline.

Hayden, F., New Harmony, Ind.
760 Adams Ave., Memphis, Tenn.
Hayden, H. B., 337 West 76th St., New York, N. Y.
Framingham.
Hayes, R. B., Spring St., Hull.
Hayes, W. S., 36 Orchard St., Cambridge.
724 Williams St., Brookings, S. D.
Healy, Dr. W., 2185 Clarendon Ave., Chicago, Ill.
Henderson, C. A., Strother, Monroe County, Mo.
Henry, L. W., 306 McPhee Building, Denver, Colo.
Care J. G. White & Co., 43 Exchange Place, New York, N. Y.
Hersey, F. W. C., 61 Oxford St., Cambridge.
Hewitt, H. B., Hoquiam, Wash.
Hickman, W. A.
Hildreth, H. E., Harvard, Worcester County.
6 Linnaean St., Cambridge.
Hill, F. B., St. Stephen, New Brunswick.
Hill, H. H., 700 Harrison Ave., Boston.
18 Osborn Rd., Brookline.
Hill, W. W., 25 Washington St., Beverly.
Hodges, R. O., 1106 House Building, Pittsburg, Pa.
Wilkinsburg, Pa.
Hoguet, R. L., 27 William St., New York, N. Y.
76 Irving Place, New York, N. Y.
Holbrook, M. S., 21 Maplewood St., Malden.
404 Sears Building, Boston.
Holden, J. B., Jr., Billerica.
17 Water St., Boston.
Hollings, W. F., Hemenway Chambers, Westland Ave., Boston.
24 Newtonville Ave., Newton.
Holmes, M. B., 52 William St., New York, N. Y.
960 Park Ave., New York, N. Y.
Holmes, T. L., care Western Electric Co., 463 West St., New York, N. Y.
39 Amherst St., East Orange, N. J.
Holt, E. G.
Holt, F. H. F., Mackenzie School, Dobbs Ferry, N. Y.

Homans, Dr. J., 164 Beacon St., Boston.
Hood, C. W., 96 Magazine St., Cambridge.
Hopkins, R. G., P. O. Box 1616, Boston.
110 State St., Boston.
Howard, R. T., 32 Pearl St., Malden.
Howe, C. R., 642 Dudley St., Roxbury.
Howe, J. C., Essex and Ivy Sts., Brookline.
53 State St., Boston.
Hoyt, G. M.
Humes, G. R., 365 Dexter St., Central Falls, R. I.
Hunter, D., Jr., 268 State St., Albany, N. Y.
Jacksonville, Fla.
Huntington, C. D., care Mrs. G. P. Huntington, Leicester.
Savil Club, London, England.
Hurd, L. E., 78 Summer St., Salem.
Hutchinson, J. G.
Huxley, H. M., 1550 Monadnock Block, Chicago, Ill.
Hyman, M., 25 Broad St., New York, N. Y.
Hyman, S. I., 829 Union St., New Orleans, La.
3323 St. Charles Ave., New Orleans, La.
Irish, H. A., care First National Bank, Barre.
Iungerich, Rev. E. E., Bryn Athyn, Montgomery County, Pa.
Jackson, F. T., Livermore Centre, Me.
Jackson, R. A., 462 Beacon St., Boston.
1 Nassau St., New York, N. Y.
Jahn, C. G., Jr.
James, H., Jr., 95 Irving St., Cambridge.
84 State St., Boston.
Jameson, I. L., 1123 Tremont Building, Boston.
1 Batavia St., Boston.
Jenness, H. C., 179 Humphrey St., Lowell.
1723 G. St., N. W., Washington, D. C.
Jewell, P., 2d., Concord.
60 State St., Boston.
Johnson, D. D., 30 Summer St., Dorchester.
Johnson, Rev. V. V., 54 Pleasant St., Concord, N. H.
Johnston, C. H. L., "Single Oak," Woodley Lane Rd.
Washington, D. C.

Jones, J. A., 1024 Prudential Building, Buffalo, N. Y.
Great Southern Hotel, Gulfport, Miss.
Jones, R. F., P. O. Box 2148, Boston.
Concord.
Joy, R. H., 203 West Water St., Syracuse, N. Y.
211 Merriman Ave., Syracuse, N. Y.
Keen, B. W., Prudential Building, Newark, N. J.
Keene, P. M., Lynn Shore Drive, Lynn.
Keiley, J., Grantwood, N. J.
Keith, J. A. H., State Normal School, Oshkosh, Wis.
Kendall, W. S., Spencer Trask & Co., 52 William St., New York, N. Y.
Kenton, M. D., care Swift & Co., Havana, Cuba.
Kerper, G. B., Jr., 2841 May St., Cincinnati, O.
Toledo, O.
Kidder, H. H., Minneapolis, Minn.
Kilbourn, Dr. A. G., Groton.
Kimball, H. H., 271 Beacon St., Boston.
649 Tremont Building, Boston.
King, R. M., Riverbank Court, Cambridge.
Kingsbury, H. P. D., Redlands, Cal.
Klein, E. S., 1275 Goodfellow Ave., St. Louis, Mo.
Knowlton, C. H., 120 Boylston St., Boston.
Hingham.
Kompfe, K. H., 341 Fifth Ave., New York., N. Y.
La Forge, L., 1221 Fairmont St., N. W., Washington, D. C.
Lamson, C. R., 60 State St., Boston.
Lane, Dr. J. W., 223 Columbia Road, Dorchester.
845 Boylston St., Boston.
Lapsley, A. B., Pomfret Centre, Conn.
50 West 11th St., New York, N. Y.
Laverack, H. C., 911 White Building, Buffalo, N. Y.
Lawrence, F., 120 Broadway, New York, N. Y.
534 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.
Lawson, C. R.

Lawton, J. M., care Southern Arizona Bank & Trust Co., Tucson, Ariz.
Care Black Mountain Mining Co., Magdalena, Sonora, Mexico.
Lay, H. H., Kewanee, Ill.
Leavitt, W. L., 118 32d St., Weehawken, N. J.
Lee, E. B., 341 Sixth Ave., Pittsburg, Pa.
Lee, M. B., 1805 North Main St. Dubuque, Iowa.
Lee, M. M., 3528 North 18th St., Philadelphia, Pa.
602 East Woodlawn Ave., Germantown, Pa.
Leen, M. E., 2 Dexter Row, Charlestown.
Leeson, R. A., 95 South St., Boston.
Legnard, J. B., Jr.
Leitner, C. C., 729 Genesee St., Waukeegan, Ill.
Leland, LeR. W.
Leonard, H. C., Manual Training High School, Brooklyn, N. Y.
381 Dean St., Brooklyn, N. Y.
Leshner, W., Cataract Journal, Niagara Falls, N. Y.
409 Third St., Niagara Falls, N. Y.
Leypoldt, R. G.
Lissner, E., 69 Fenwood Rd., Roxbury.
Litchfield, E. H., 44 Wall St., New York, N. Y.
Lloyd, Dr. H. D., Puritan Club, Boston.
636 Beacon St., Boston.
Lockwood, C. W., Stuyvesant High School, 345 East 15th St., New York, N. Y.
936 Arlington Ave., Plainfield, N. J.
Lovejoy, J., University Club, Boston.
18 Tremont St., Boston.
Luce, Dr. D. S., Canton.
Lucht, J., 270 Westminster Rd., Brooklyn, N. Y.
Luquer, L., 1443 Rhode Island Ave., Washington, D. C.
31 Chestnut St., Boston.
Lynch, W. H., Windsor, N. Y.
3a Industria, No. 95, Mexico City, Mex.
McCaffrey, C. F., 44 Summer St., Somerville.
McCall, C. N., 25 Beaver St., New York, N. Y.
The Waldorf-Astoria, New York, N. Y.

McCall, J. C., New York Life Insurance Co., 346 Broadway, New York, N. Y.
McClare, C. H., 211 Pleasant St., Arlington.
649 Massachusetts Ave., Cambridge.
McCoy, G. M., Jr., 45 Kilby St., Boston.
72 Margin St., West Newton.
McDaniels, G. N., Cabot, Vt.
Board of Education, St. Louis, Mo.
McDuffie, C. H., care B. H. Dickson & Co., 147 Milk St., Boston.
McGurk, W. J., care James F. Bacon, 45 Milk St., Boston.
Kane, Pa.
McHenry, W. E., 1110 Chemical Building, St. Louis, Mo.
1554 Mississippi Ave., St. Louis, Mo.
McKey, C.
McKittrick, R., 911 Washington Ave., St. Louis, Mo.
MacKusick, A. R., 6 Beacon St., Boston.
65 Ashland St., Medford.
McMurtry, G. G., Jr., 812 Fifth Ave., New York, N. Y.
McNeil, W. W., care McNeil & Higgins Co., 3 State St., Chicago, Ill.
718 Emerson St., Evanston, Ill.
Macomber, H. P., 9 Oakland St., Wellesley Hills.
Macurdy, L. T., 2 Hawthorne St., Watertown.
Macy, J. A., Wrentham.
Mains, E. C.
Mann, C. C., San Gabriel Valley Fruit Products Co., 118 Hudson St., New York, N. Y.
Marden, C. F., 15 Oak Rd., Milton.
324 Washington St., Boston.
Marsh, F. M., Fairhaven.
Marsh, R. McC., 600 Park Ave., Paterson, N. J.
45 West 11th St., New York, N. Y.
Marvin, E. R., 27 Waverley Place, New York, N. Y.
10 West 33d St., New York, N. Y.
Marvin, G., Metropolitan Club, Washington, D. C., (Present address).
Mason, M. P., 347 Commonwealth Ave., Boston.

Mason, R. E., 19 Pine St., Ellsworth, Me.
Masten, G. L., Lingayen, Luzon, P. I.
Matteson, B., Darien, Genesee County, N. Y.
132 East 19th St., New York, N. Y.
Maxwell, Rev. S. R., 15 Crescent St., Greenfield.
Mayo, W. R., Jr., P. O. Box 114, Norfolk, Va.
114 Boissevain Ave., Norfolk, Va.
Mercure, G. T. J., 46 Chestnut St., Rutland, Vt.
Meriam, W.
Merrell, S. W., 2462 Observatory Rd., Cincinnati, O.
Merrick, B. P., 145 South College Ave., Grand Rapids, Mich.
Merrill, F., 21 Second St., Bangor, Me.
Merrill, R., New England Trust Co., Boston.
14 Boyd St., Newton.
Meyer, A. R., 156 Ivy St., Brookline.
1253 Beacon St., Brookline.
Miller, P. C., 320 South Broad St., Philadelphia, Pa.
Miller, P. L., care Le Forgee & Vail, 422 Powers Building, Decatur, Ill.
Miller, Rev. R. R., Scottsville, N. Y.
344 West 27th St., New York, N. Y.
Milliken, C. E., Island Falls, Me.
Mills, S. F., Metropolitan Club, 601 Fifth Ave., New York, N. Y.
Montgomery, H. D., Rye, N. Y.
Care Curtis & Sanger, 38 Wall St., New York, N. Y.
Mooney, F. J., 110 Johnson's Park, Buffalo, N. Y.
316 Penobscot Building, Detroit, Mich.
Morris, C. H., 74 Hamilton St., Dorchester.
Morse, F. W., Fairhaven.
Morse, S. V., Canton.
Morse, W. G., 5326 Baynton St., Germantown, Philadelphia, Pa.
Morton, H. A.
Morton, W. C.
Mowll, Prof. W. L., care Harvard University, Cambridge.
40 Avon Hill St., Cambridge.

Moyer, Prof. J. A., 1030 West Main St., Norristown, Pa.
1232 Washtenaw Ave., Ann Arbor, Mich.
Murphy, F. J.
Murray, J. T.
Murray, W. D., 73 Montgomery St., Boston.
212 West 80th St., New York, N. Y.
Negus, S. P., 15 Blagden St., Boston.
6 Beacon St., Boston.
Nelson, G. A., 191 Linden St., Everett.
7 Pemberton Square, Boston.
Nelson, T. S. R.
Newhall, A. E., Timsbury Terrace, Lynn.
Nichols, J. T. G., Jr., 63 Brattle St., Cambridge.
196 High St., Newburyport.
Nichols, M. E., 1020 Kimball Building, 18 Tremont St., Boston.
59 Falmouth St., Boston.
Nichols, Rev. W. S., Unitarian Building, 25 Beacon St., Boston.
8 Crawford St., Roxbury.
Nickerson, T., care Stone & Webster, 147 Milk St., Boston.
61 Providence St., Woonsocket, R. I.
Noel, D. O.
Norton, J. Warner, Lockport, Ill.
Willoughby Building, Chicago, Ill.
Norton, J. Watkinson, Harvard Club, 27 West 44th St., New York, N. Y.
Nourse, F. R., 53 State St., Boston.
Dedham.
Nowell, A. M., Wailuku, Maui County, H. I.
Nowell, J., 44 State St., Boston.
Nute, Dr. A. J., Ellis Island, New York, N. Y., U. S. Marine Hospital Service.
O'Brien, H. E., 45 Broadway, New York, N. Y.
Odell, A. G., care D. C. Health & Co., 231 West 39th St., New York, N. Y.
Oliver, Dr. E. L., 27 Brimmer St., Boston.
405 Marlborough St., Boston.

Oliver, M. W., 1025 Century Building, St. Louis, Mo.
Osborn, W. J., 78 Rockview St., Jamaica Plain.
Osborne, F. W., Oxford Club, Lynn.
Otis, S., 104 Exchange Building, Seattle, Wash.
Overholser, C. E., Millersville, Pa.
Owen, W. R. D., 101 Milk St., Boston.
14 Linden Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.
Pappenheimer, Dr. A. M., Bellevue Hospital, New York, N. Y.
Cedarhurst, Long Island, N. Y.
Parker, C. A., Bourne.
The Sunday Post, Boston.
Parker, Dr. H. C., 320 North Meridan St., Indianapolis, Ind.
Parker, W. S., 260 Clarendon St., Boston.
Parsons, I. H., 80 Broadway, New York, N. Y.
Parsons, L. H., 1534 Locust St., Philadelphia, Pa.
Pastorius, H. E., Colorado Springs, Colo.
Pearse, L., 317 Walnut Ave., Roxbury.
Sanitary District of Chicago, American Trust Building, Chicago, Ill.
Perkins, J. F., 278 Adams St., Milton.
53 State St., Boston.
Perkins, R., Pomfret Centre, Conn.
Perry, E. E., 14 Seymour St., Winthrop.
Peterson, S., Brighton High School, Boston.
72 Spring St., Watertown.
Phillips, Dr. J. C., care P. Dexter, 40 State St., Boston.
Pickard, G. W., Amesbury.
Pierce, W., care S. S. Pierce Co., Tremont Building, Boston.
Plumb, F. R., care Fayette R. Plumb, Incorporated, Frankford Station, Philadelphia, Pa.
Poland, G. M., Wakefield.
30 Court St., Boston.
Pond, C. H., care Ivers & Pond Piano Co., Boston.
Poor, E. W., 5 Franklin Place, Morristown, N. J.
Poore, C. P., Georgetown.
54 Garden St., Cambridge.
Preston, C. E., 11 Danville St., West Roxbury.

Preston, L. B., 165 Broadway, New York, N. Y.
Tuxedo Park, N. Y.
Proctor, M. F., Exeter, N. H.
Purington, F. H., 7 Pemberton Square, Boston.
410 Harvard St., Brookline.
Quinby, Dr. W. C., 330 Dartmouth St., Boston.
Quinn, C. S., 844 Old South Building, Boston.
Ramsay, Rev. R. E., 2104 Grand Ave., Davenport, Iowa.
Raymond, W. L., 178 Devonshire St., Boston.
Wayland.
Reed, Rev. G. H., 76 Common St., Belmont.
Rees, R. I.
Remick, E. W., 300 Marlborough St., Boston.
Reynolds, L. R.
Rice, A. W., Westwood.
Richards, O. F., Simmons Hardware Co., St. Louis, Mo.
4464 Maryland Ave., St. Louis, Mo.
Richardson, D. A., care Richardson Engineering Co., 6 Ford St., Hartford, Conn.
Richardson, F. L. W., Charles River Village.
31 State St., Boston.
Richardson, O. W., 84 State St., Boston.
1064 Beacon St., Boston.
Rideout, H. M., Marysville, Cal.
Sausalito, Cal.
Ritchie, A. J., Rabun Gap Industrial School, Rabun Gap, Ga.
Robbins, Dr. C., Weston.
259 Beacon St., Boston.
Robbins, Dr. T. H., 384 Commonwealth Ave., Boston.
1310 North Charles St., Baltimore, Md.
Robbins, Dr. W. B., Weston.
384 Commonwealth Ave., Boston.
Robinson, D. L., Houghton, Mich.
Robinson, F. D., Manual Training High School, Fourth St. and Seventh Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.
Robinson, Dr. H. P., 155 Main St., Amesbury.

Roche, J. T., Jr., Locomobile Co. of America, Bridgeport, Conn.
237 Myrtle Ave., Bridgeport, Conn.
Rogers, J. M., Jr.
Root, F. D.
Roovers, E. W., 170 Dean St., Brooklyn, N. Y.
Roper, W. C., 59 Wall St., New York, N. Y.
Rorer, J. B., Room 314, West Wing, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.
Care Board of Agriculture, Port of Spain, Trinidad, B. W. I.
Ross, W., care J. H. Ross, East Dennis.
Rousmaniere, J. E., 352 Walnut Ave., Roxbury.
84 State St., Boston.
Ruggles, C. A., Redlands, Cal.
Metlen Building, Dillon, Mont.
Ruhl, A. B., 27 West 44th St., New York, N. Y. care Collier's Weekly, 416 West 13th St., New York, N. Y.
Russell, F. A., Winchester.
85 East 56th St., New York, N. Y.
Ryan, M. H., 128 Washington St., Lynn.
401 West 118th St., New York, N. Y.
Sampson, H., Jr., 58 and 60 Reade St., New York, N. Y.
Sanborn, J. F., 299 Broadway, New York, N. Y.
236 Main St., Poughkeepsie, N. Y.
Sanders, H. P., 786 Summit Ave., St. Paul, Minn.
Sargeant, C., Plymouth, N. H.
60 State St., Boston.
Sargent, G. McC., 67 Milk St., Boston.
925 Boylston St., Boston.
Savage, Rev. M., Redlands, Cal.
Sayre, A. M.
Scattergood, A. G., 409 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, Pa.
Schlesinger, B. E., Warren St., Brookline.
Scudder, W. M., 282 Michigan Ave., Chicago, Ill.
Sears, E. H., Wayland.
246 Summer St., Boston.

Seasongood, E. A., Speyer & Co., 26 Pine St., New York, N. Y.
Selander, J. B., 816-817 Shreive Building, San Francisco, Cal.
Shafer, H. M., State Normal School, Ashland, Oregon.
Sharkey, J. E., 259 Elm St., Cambridge.
Villa d'Anjou, 17 rue d'Anjou, Asnières (Seine) France.
Shaw, F. C., Fishkill, N. Y.
Shaw, H. H., Wellesley.
87 Milk St., Boston.
Shaw, R. G., Jr., Wellesley.
20 Milk St., Boston.
Shaw, S. P., Jr., care City Trust Co., 50 State St., Boston.
Sheldon, A. N., 21 Wesleyan Ave., Providence, R. I.
Shepard, E. F., 34 rue Spontini, Paris, France.
Sherburne, J. H., Jr., 262 Walnut St., Brookline.
Sherman, C. F., 57 Ocean St., Dorchester.
311 Virginia Ave., McComb, Miss.
Sherman, Dr. W. A., 51 Touro St., Newport, R. I.
Sherwin, R. W., 10 Revere St., Jamaica Plain.
Shore, H. E., 2024 Green St., Philadelphia, Pa.
Siddall, J. MacA., care The American Magazine, 341 Fifth Ave., New York, N. Y.
Silberberg, W. G., 30-32 West 3d St., Cincinnati, O.
Simonds, A. T., 17th St. and Western Ave., Chicago, Ill.
Simpson, W. S., Dallas Club, Dallas, Tex.
Slocum, C. L., care Pennsylvania Tunnel and Terminal R. R. Co. Room 910, 10 Bridge St., New York, N. Y.
210 Orient Way, Rutherford, N. J.
Slye, R.
Smerdon, C. J., 27 Ashland St., Taunton.
Smith, A. J., 1038 Park Ave., Omaha, Neb.
15 William St., New York, N. Y.
Smith, Rev. C. E., 109 Proctor Ave., Revere.
Halifax, Vt.
Smith, F. K., 209 North 7th St., St. Louis, Mo.
Smith, H. St. C.
Smith, P. S., U. S. Geological Survey, Washington, D. C.
Cor. 33d and Newark Sts., Washington, D. C.
Smith, W. D., Gardner.

Snite, F. J., care Albert Snite, Elmhurst, Ill.
917 West Harrison St., Chicago, Ill.
Snyder, B. P.
Soderling, W., care Frank Gerth, Fort Lee, N. J.
John Drew Company, Empire Theatre, New York, N. Y.
Somers, Dr. P. E., 128 Free St., Portland, Me.
Spalding, A. C., 21 Astor St., Lowell.
Speare, C. F., 203 Broadway, New York, N. Y.
520 Watchuny Rd., Bound Brook, N. J.
Spencer, V., 115 Broadway, New York, N. Y.
45 Fifth Ave., New York, N. Y.
Spencer, W., 1507 Spruce St., Philadelphia, Pa.
Stack, T. H.
Stanley, Rev. W. P., 61 Middle St., Gloucester.
7 Middle St., Portsmouth, N. H.
Stanwood, E. B., Egypt.
53 State St., Boston.
Stearns, H. N., 6 Avon St., Cambridge.
28 State St., Boston.
Stearns, M., New Canaan, Conn.
50 Wall St., New York, N. Y.
Stephens, C. H., First National Bank Building, Cincinnati, O.
Sterrett, Rev. H. H. D., Pierce Mill Rd., Washington, D. C.
152 Temple St., New Haven, Conn.
Stevens, C. G., 147 Washington St., Lynn.
Stickney, Prof. M. E., Denison University, Granville, O.
Stobbs, G. R., 708 Slater Building, Worcester.
Stoddard, F. R., Jr., 168 Montague St., Brooklyn, N. Y.
12 West 18th St., New York, N. Y.
Stout, E. W., care John T. Stout, Paoli, Ind.
611-14 Newton Claypool Building, Indianapolis, Ind.
Stowell, G. L., Jr., care of Wood, Harmon & Co., 261 Broadway, New York, N. Y.
220 West 107th St., New York, N. Y.
Stowell, H. W., care Carl A. Mears, 42 Church St., New Haven, Conn.
377 Edgecombe Ave., New York, N. Y.

Stratton, G. R., 530 Atlantic Ave., Boston.
8 Morse St., Watertown.
Straw, W. P., Amoskeag Manufacturing Co., Manchester, N. H.
Strong, H. C., State Normal School, Duluth, Minn.
2331 East 5th St., Duluth, Minn.
Studley, J. B., 161 Devonshire St., Boston.
Sturtevant, A. M., Kansas University, Lawrence, Kan.
Sullivan, Dr. M. H., 60 Touro St., Newport, R. I.
Sullivan, M. X., 580 Pine St., Fall River.
U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.
Sutro, F. C., 127 Spring St., New York, N. Y.
44 West 76th St., New York, N. Y.
Swan, G. A., Denver, Colo.
Biloxi, Miss.
Swift, F. R., 25 Broad St., New York, N. Y.
Talbot, C. N., Jr., Short Hills, N. J.
Talmadge, H., 2d, Netherwood, N. J.
11 Wall St., New York, N. Y.
Taylor, F. B., 294 Walnut St., Brookline.
60 State St., Boston.
Taylor, G. B., Marble, Colo.
Taylor, G. R., 1506 Michigan Ave., La Porte, Ind.
Taylor, V., 1476 Lexington Ave., New York, N. Y.
Taylor, W. J., 1337 North Pennsylvania St., Indianapolis, Ind.
Terhune, E. B., 179-193 South St., Boston.
Tewksbury, E. B., The New York Institution for the Blind, 412 Ninth Ave., New York, N. Y.
Thayer, F. E., 44 Garfield St., Cambridge.
Thompson, G. W., 30 Pine St., New York, N. Y.
Thompson, H. S., 131 State St., Boston.
Thompson, W. C.
Thompson, W. L., care Brown Brothers & Co., 330 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, Pa.
Thomson, C., 932 Land Title Building, Philadelphia, Pa.
Merion Station, Pa.
Thornhill, E. A., Provo, Utah.

Tiffany, G. S., 101 South Main St., St. Louis, Mo.
14 Lenox Place, St. Louis, Mo.
Tilden, F. C., Greencastle, Ind.
Tomlinson, F., 191 Pine St., Portland, Me.
Tower, B. A., 405 West Quartz St., Butte, Mont.
Tucker, D., Norfolk.
Tucker, P. M., 35 Congress St., Boston.
24 Burroughs St., Jamaica Plain.
Turner, F. A., Jr., 340 Marlborough St., Boston.
340 Tremont Building, Boston.
Tyler, Dr. W. M., Lexington.
Ullmann, L., 927 East Walnut St., Springfield, Mo.
Urquhart, D. F., Jr., 85 Clinton St., Brooklyn, N. Y.
Vail, R. P., 422 Powers Building, Decatur, Ill.
Vedder, G. C., 310 Prudential Building, Buffalo, N. Y.
Virgin, E. H., Dedham.
Chelsea Sq., New York, N. Y.
Vorenberg, F., 67 Washington St., Boston.
504 Commonwealth Ave., Boston.
Wakefield, E. E., 185 Highland Ave., Newtonville.
Ward, A., Jr., 79 Wall St., New York, N. Y.
24 East 11th St., New York, N. Y.
Ward, H. C., Greenfield, Tenn.
Ware, J., 18 Ash St., Cambridge.
Ware, L. E., 1393 North Ave., Elizabeth, N. J.
38 Wall St., New York, N. Y.
Webster, E., Sachem Terrace, Lynn.
Webster, J. E., care Allen W. Jackson, 6 Hancock Ave., Boston.
Huntington, Long Island, N. Y.
Weill, B. C.
Weis, F. S., 1237 Jackson Ave., New Orleans, La.
Wernaer, R. M., 8 Prescott St., Cambridge.
Werren, H. H., 17 Leonard Ave., Cambridge.
Weyman, W., Shirley.
Care Morgan, Harjes & Co., 3 Boulevard Hausmann, Paris, France.

Wheeler, C. A., Guest Acres, Peterborough, N. H.
Clarke School, Northampton.
Wheeler, H. A., 28 Oliver St., Boston.
Whitbeck, Dr. B. H., 784 Park Ave., New York, N. Y.
White, C. E., Shelburne Falls.
Country Club, Westchester, N. Y.
White, F. O., 60 State St., Boston.
White, H. P., 15 Ashburton Place, Boston.
White, R. A., 24 Broad St., New York, N. Y.
Whitman, C. M., 39 Leonard St., New York, N. Y.
44 East 51st St., New York, N. Y.
Whitman, M. D., 115 East 60th St., New York, N. Y.
Whitmore, F. H., Brockton Public Library, Brockton.
Whitney, G. B., 74 Waban Park, Newton.
8 Greenwood Ave., Swampscott.
Whitney, H. F., care R. L. Day & Co., 37 Wall St., New York, N. Y.
546 Riverside Drive, New York, N. Y.
Whorf, S. C., Fore River Shipbuilding Co., Quincy.
76 Butler Rd., Quincy.
Wiel, S. C., 823 Merchants Exchange Building, San Francisco, Cal.
Wight, W. A., Montauk Club, 17 Eighth Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.
Williams, C. E., Windsor, Vt.
430 North Meridian St., Indianapolis, Ind.
Williams, H., Jr., 79 Walnut Place, Brookline.
35 Congress St., Boston.
Williams, H. D. H., 30 Broad St., Boston.
278 Eliot St., Milton.
Williams, R. W., 126 State St., Boston.
Wilson, Prof. E. B., Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston.
16 Lee St., Cambridge.
Wilson, Dr. L. T., 24 Marlborough St., Boston.
Wilson, N. T., 1741 Corcoran St., N. W., Washington, D. C.
912 Farragut Sq., Washington, D. C.
Wilson, R. G., Spring Valley Farm, Foxchase P. O., Philadelphia, Pa.

Winch, W. P., 84 State St., Boston.
Wing, H. M., 23 Monument Sq., Charlestown.
Winsor, W. P., Jr., Fairhaven.
Wise, A. W., 906 Association Building, 153 La Salle St., Chicago, Ill.
Metropole Hotel, Chicago, Ill.
Wise, E. S., 167 Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill.
Wolbach, E. J., Grand Island, Neb.
Wolcott, O. A., Keeseville, Essex County, N. Y.
Wolcott, R., 60 State St., Boston.
Wolff, H. F., 293 Franklin St., Buffalo, N. Y.
27 William St., New York, N. Y.
Wonson, S. L., 75 Lexington St., Waverley.
Care Mexican Railway, Mexico City, Mexico.
Woodberry, C. D., 52 Baker Ave., Beverly.
Work, Prof. J. W., Fisk University, Nashville, Tenn.
Wose, Dr. A. M., 315 James St., Syracuse, N. Y.
Wright, L. W., 172 West 58th St., New York, N. Y.
286 Old Church Road, Greenwich, Conn.
Wright, R. I., Electric Controller Manufacturing Co., Cleveland, O.
2230 East 82d St., Cleveland, O.
Wyeth, W. F., 50 Congress St., Boston.
53 Marshall St., Newton Centre.
Wyler, A. L., 308 Elm St., Cincinnati, O.
652 Forest Ave., Avondale, O.
Young, E. A., 93 Federal St., Boston.
97 Gainsborough St., Boston.